Weddings.

Leverkus-Droop.

Miss Bertha Droop, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Droop, of this city, and Arthur Leverkus, of Cologne, Germany, were married yesterday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in All Souls Church. Green and white were the colors used in the decorations in the chancel. Tall palms, delicate ferns, Southern smilax, and masses of white chrysanthemums formed an artistic background for the bridal party grouped about the altar and served to screen from view the organ and choir.

At the appointed hour the bridesmaids, Miss Elise Leverkus, of Cologne, sister of the groom; Miss Anna Droop, sister of the bride; Miss Selma, of Sioux City, Iowa; Miss Rogge, of Baltimore, and Miss Alvarez, of Brooklyn, to the music of "Bannhauser," played by Dr. George W. Walter, passed through the chancel and down the aisle to meet the bride. They were joined by the ushers, Carl Hilgenberg, of Baltimore; Hans Lausberg, of Philadelphia; George Kluge, of New York; Clinton Hoy, of Chicago; Eugene Gough, and the bride's brother, Carl Droop, of Washington, who led the way for the bride, who was escorted by her father and preceded by the maid of honor, Miss Agnes Droop, and her attendants, to the altar, where the groom and the best man, Edward H. Droop, awaited them.

The handsome bride looked unusually well in a trained gown of white chiffon, made over a foundation of satin, and elaborately trimmed with duchess lace. The tulle veil, fastened high upon her head with sprays of orange blossoms, fell over her face in enveloping folds to the hem of her gown. She wore a corsage ornament of diamonds and pearls, and carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley.

The maid of honor wore a white lace gown, a tulle hat, trimmed with one long plume, and carried a bouquet of violets. The bridesmaids were dressed alike in frocks of white crepe de chine trimmed with Irish point lace, with which they wore sashes of green ribbon and tulle hats trimmed with large bows of white satin ribbon, and carried white chrysanthemums tied with green ribbon.

The Rev. W. S. G. Pierce, who celebrated the marriage, combined the Unitarian and the old Protestant service of Germany, the bride and groom exchanged rings as well as vows. In the interval between this exchange, Mrs. Shit-Chih sang "Be Thou Faithful unto Death," when the impressive ceremony ended with the benediction.

The bride and groom led the way from the altar to the strains of the Festive march of the "Meistersinger."

At the reception which followed at Raucher's, from 5 to 6 o'clock, Mr. and Mrs. Leverkus received the congratulations of their friends in the corner bay window of the ballroom, which had been converted into a bower of green foliage and white blossoms. The ceiling was festooned with Southern smilax, and the musicians' gallery, where an orchestra played, was screened with palms, vines, and chrysanthemums. Supper for about fifty guests was served in the green dining room. The long table was decorated with hundreds of bride roses, and lighted with many tapers.

An interesting feature of the occasion was the reading of the cablegrams and telegrams, which had been received in great numbers from friends far and near. Late last night, Mr. and Mrs. Leverkus left Washington for New York, where they will spend a few days, and then go to Moosehead Lake, where Mrs. Leverkus will join her husband on a hunting trip. They will return to Washington the first of November, and on the 17th will sail for their home in Cologne, where Mrs. Leverkus is already known, having spent two seasons there.

Among the out of town guests were Mrs. Christian Rogge, and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Hilgenberg, of Baltimore; Charles Stelway, of New York; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lathrop, of San Francisco, cousins of the bride, and Ernest Urechs, of New York. Others present were Horace Taylor, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury; Senator Stewart, the Rev. and Mrs. Dudley, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Pratt, Mrs. Hitt, Mr. and Mrs. Hoeko, Mr. and Mrs. Simon Wolf, Colonel and Mrs. Crook, Mr. and Miss Cross, Dr. and Mrs. Kimball, Miss Kimball, and Captain and Miss Burbage.

The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Charles N. Riley, of Georgetown University. The bride, who is a daughter of the late Capt. O. G. Hayden, of St. Mary's county, Maryland, wore white organdy and lace, with pearl ornaments, and carried a bouquet of bride roses.

Mr. Gough belongs to one of the old southern Maryland families.

Denty-Hyatt.

A wedding of interest to many Washingtonians took place in Philadelphia Wednesday at the Chapel of the Diocesan House, when Harry B. Denty, a well-known young business man of this city, and Miss Emma M. Hyatt, daughter of Dr. R. J. Hyatt, of the United States Weather Bureau Service, were married. The officiating clergyman was the Rev. Edward M. Mott, rector of the Church of the Advent, Le Droit Park. On their return from Atlantic City Mr. and Mrs. Denty will be at home to their friends in this city.

MRS. BAILEY DEBARRED FROM FURTHER DEGREES

Excluded From Study in Columbian School of Diplomacy.

At a meeting of the faculty of the school of comparative jurisprudence and diplomacy of Columbian University, held on Wednesday afternoon, it was resolved that no woman should be admitted to the course leading to the degree of master of diplomacy. It was also announced that this action was taken wholly without reference to the fitness or unfitness of any woman applicant, but largely because of the fact that there is no place in the diplomatic or consular service of the United States for members of the gentler sex.

Inasmuch, however, as Mrs. Emma Reba Bailey, to whom was given the degree of doctor of the civil law last spring, against the almost unanimous protest of the remainder of the class, had filed an application to pursue the course leading to the diplomatic degree, and as a protest against favorable action on such application was on Tuesday evening entered by some six students of the class, the latter had the faculty's resolution as a victory and are loud in their expressions of felicitation.

SOLDIERS CAMP OUT AT STAUNTON, VA.

Third Battery of Artillery on Its Way to Fort Myer.

The Third Battery of United States Artillery, under command of Captain Sumnerall, which is en route from Georgia to Fort Myer, Va., where it will be quartered and stationed after its arrival, reached Staunton, Va., this morning, and established camp there for the day. The command will leave Staunton tonight, and proceed on its march to Fort Myer.

Captain Sumnerall before leaving Georgia arranged a schedule and set forth the time he expected to reach various places along the route, and informed the Fort Myer authorities when to expect him. Owing to several severe storms encountered along the route, Captain Sumnerall is now far behind his schedule, but hopes to arrive at his destination about Monday morning. The battery has excellent quarters, both for men and stock, waiting for it at Fort Myer, where extensive building has been going on since last fall.

On Thursday the battery reached Lexington, Va., and the officers and men were welcomed by Major Walker, of that place, and Colonel Strathairn, commandant of the Virginia Military Institute. Thursday afternoon, by courtesy of Superintendent General Shipp, of the Virginia Military Institute, the artillerymen dined in the cadets' mess hall at the institution. On Thursday evening the battery left Lexington to go to Middlebrook, and from there proceeded to Staunton. The battery has now covered about 700 miles of the journey, and is in excellent condition. Staunton is about 200 miles from Washington, and so far as can be learned, Captain Sumnerall will have good roads all the way to Fort Myer unless he encounters another storm.

SEPARATE SCHOOL FOR EACH SECT

Archbishop Elder Says It Is True Solution.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 9.—In speaking of the public school system of the country and the objection of Catholics to the same, Archbishop Elder today suggested a remedy.

"Religion and soul instruction cannot be separated," he said. "The mind of man has a threefold aspect—the intellect, the will, and the feelings. Education that neglects any one of these is only partial. In its broad sense it must train and minister to all."

"Would it satisfy the church if the Bible were studied or read in the public schools by pupils and teachers?" he was asked.

"The talk about the reading of the Bible is with many little more than a shibboleth, a sort of electioneering device. We believe in reading the Bible, but that is not all of religion."

"What plan, then, would reconcile the two systems, satisfy the church, and yet not violate what is called the American idea?"

"I would say this—take, for instance, any ward in this city. There are one or more schools in it. Now, one plan would be to let the parents of the majority of the people in the school decide the nature and extent of the religious instruction that would be given in it. While this plan would be better than the present, it would be only an approximation to the correct plan."

"The true method, it seems to me, would be to have a school where Catholics could go exclusively. Then if there be any other sect that feels as strongly on this matter as we, there could be a school for them."

"Would not that mean a great increase in the number of schools and a breaking up of the uniformity that now distinguishes the common school?"

"Not at all. It would not be necessary to have in every ward a school for Catholics, one, say, for Jews, another for Methodists, and so on. All that would be required would be that there would be enough schools in the Cincinnati school districts to accommodate those who would want a distinctive religious instruction given."

"As to preserving the course of study, that need not be interfered with. It would still be prescribed by the board of education, but all that could reasonably be asked would be that this course of study should be carried out both as to subjects and time devoted to them."

CARROLL D. WRIGHT IS UMPIRE AGAIN

SCRANTON, Pa., Oct. 9.—The missing conciliation board having failed to agree on the question of the short working day on Saturdays in the Schuylkill region, Judge Gray, president of the anthracite strike commission, has appointed Carroll D. Wright umpire. Mr. Wright acted as umpire before and decided five questions upon which the conciliators failed to agree. In passing upon the most important issue submitted to him, his ruling was so bitterly disappointing to the miners that they freely expressed the hope that he would not be appointed again, but that some one familiar with coal mining should be chosen.

CARROLL INSTITUTE MAPS OUT YEAR'S WORK

Plans for Coming Season Discussed at Annual Meeting—Officers Elected.

The thirty-first annual meeting of the Carroll Institute was held last evening at the institute building. President Keane presented the report of the board of directors, showing the institute to be in a satisfactory condition, financially and otherwise. The treasurer's report showed a substantial balance in the treasury.

Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: President, James F. Shea; vice president, Nicholas H. Shea; secretary, W. C. Sullivan; treasurer, James A. Cahill, and the following additional members of the board of directors: Matthew Brady, Dr. William B. Daly, Henry W. Sohon, and Peter C. J. Treanor.

After the installation of the new officers, John J. Nolan, on behalf of the board of directors, presented the retiring president, Michael J. Keane, with an ivory-handled cane.

The new board will hold its first meeting next Monday evening to perfect its organization, and assume active direction of the work of the present season. The choir is now preparing for the presentation of "The Stabat Mater" at the Columbia Theater early in the season. The literary society has resumed its sessions. At the next meeting, on Tuesday, officers for the season will be elected.

The senior gymnasium classes have also reopened. Many improvements have been made in the bowling alleys. Two teams have organized, two more are in course of preparation, and an additional two are expected to be formed, so that the probabilities are the institute will have six bowling teams to enter the tournament.

Arrangements are under way for a smoker, October 22, and a dance, November 5. It is also expected that one or more courses of lectures, upon subjects of general and special interest, will be given during the winter months.

OPPOSE APPOINTMENT OF JUDGE THEW WRIGHT

Unexpected opposition has arisen to the appointment of Judge Thew Wright, of Cincinnati, to the vacancy on the District Supreme Court bench, resulting from the retirement of Justice Hagner. Senator Foraker favors Wright, but Senator Hanna and G. B. Cox, the Republican boss of Hamilton county, oppose him. It is possible this opposition will be fatal to Judge Wright, although he is at the head of the Cincinnati bar. Senators Proctor and Dillingham of Vermont have recommended a candidate, and other Senators have done likewise.

FOR THE UPBUILDING OF SUNDAY SCHOOLS

Plans to Extend the Work Discussed at Missionary Meeting.

The third day's session of the Christian Missionary Society of Maryland, Delaware, and the District of Columbia opened this morning at 10 o'clock, with a devotional service. The reading of reports from Sunday schools occupied most of the morning, and developed many interesting facts relative to the conduct of these schools through the District.

Lena Summy gave an entertaining illustrated lesson for the primary department, and Preston Fiddis conducted open parliament on "How to Make a Sunday School Go and Grow." Charles D. Wagman made a short and interesting address.

The report of the general committee was read at the afternoon session. Closing exercises will be held tonight at 7:30. The program includes a Christian Endeavor session, song service, an address, and open conference on "When I Go Home."

Last night's meeting proved one of the most interesting since the opening of the convention. The Rev. W. P. Bentley, of Shanghai, China, spoke on the work and workers in China; the Rev. W. J. Wright gave an address on the work of the Christian Missionary Society, and the Rev. George L. Snively, of St. Louis, spoke on the work of the Christian Church in this country.

JUDGE CAMPBELL SICK.
Judge Frank L. Campbell, Assistant Attorney General for the Interior Department, has been unable to appear at his office for the last two days because of sickness. Judge Campbell has been prominently mentioned as a candidate for the vacancy on the District bench and has the support of a large number of leading attorneys.

SEASONABLE FOOD SUPPLIES ON MARKET BENCHES.

The outlook for a good market tomorrow is good. It is predicted that good supplies of vegetables, meats and fish will find places on the benches. The cold weather has not affected the prices to any great extent. This morning there was little change in prices from yesterday. The supply of fish was exceptionally good. More Spanish mackerel and fresh smelts were to be had at 25 cents a pound. Rockfish were plentiful, as were trout.

Lima beans brought 25 cents a quart this morning. Cranberries still hold at 13 cents a quart. Cabbages brought 5 cents to 10 cents. Celery 10 cents a bunch. The supply of vegetables today was scanty.

Turkeys brought 18 cents a pound, and are still few and far between. Chickens and ducks remained about the same, 18c to 20c a pound.

The wholesale price of eggs was a couple of cents lower today than it has been recently. No change was made in the retail price, however, as it is probable that the wholesale price will be forced up again almost immediately on account of the cold weather.

Meats showed no change whatever.

COMING TO WASHINGTON TO STUDY GARBAGE SYSTEM

St. Louis Sends a Commission to Report on Sanitary Improvements.

The District Commissioners have been informed that the city of St. Louis recently created a garbage commission, of fifteen, with instructions that it proceed to Washington to investigate and report on the system of garbage collection and disposal here.

Commissioner West has informed Walter Edwards, secretary of the commission and also secretary of the city of St. Louis, that he will afford the garbage commission every opportunity to conduct its investigation satisfactorily.

The commission will consist of members of the board of public improvement, health commission, council, and house of delegates. It will reach Washington October 13, and remain two days.

ENTERTAINMENT TO AID UNION VETERANS' UNION

At the entertainment to be given at Masonic Temple tomorrow evening for the benefit of the Union Veterans' Union many interesting literary and musical features are to be presented.
