

ARCHBISHOP KAIN DIES IN BALTIMORE

Distinguished Prelate Had Been in St. Agnes Sanitarium Since Last May.

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 14.—The Most Rev. John Joseph Kain, Archbishop of St. Louis, died last night in the St. Agnes Sanitarium, this city, where he had been a patient since May 12. Dr. J. M. Stone and a number of priests and relatives, including his sister, a Sister of Charity known in the religious world as Sister Mary Joseph, were at his bedside when the end came.

Heart disease was the ailment for which the archbishop was first treated when he arrived at the institution. Recently appendicitis developed, and the prelate rapidly sank, an operation which was deemed necessary being impracticable owing to the enfeebled condition of the patient. No arrangements have been made for the funeral and it is not known whether the body will be buried in the family lot at Martinsburg, W. Va., or taken to St. Louis for interment.

For more than thirty years John Joseph Kain had been hailed as one of the most eloquent, zealous, and popular prelates in this country. He was born in 1841 at Martinsburg, W. Va. His father died when he was young, leaving a widow and four small children. The burden of the family fell heavily upon the youth, but he went bravely to work to help his mother and his three little sisters.

TREATY EXPECTED HERE EARLY IN NOVEMBER

Secretary Hay cabled Minister Conger yesterday, inquiring the probable date of the arrival of a commercial treaty recently signed at Shanghai. He also inquired whether Japan had negotiated a similar treaty. An answer from Mr. Conger, received this morning, said that the treaty may be expected here about the middle of November, and that Japan had negotiated a similar treaty.

TO LAY RESOLUTIONS BEFORE PRESIDENT

Secretary Hartsell and Commissioner of Education Lindsay, of Porto Rico, have sailed from San Juan for New York on their way to Washington to lay before President Roosevelt resolutions adopted by the Porto Rican coffee growers. The document appeals for aid from the Federal Government to assist in obtaining a market. It is their belief commercial treaties should be made with France, Germany, and several other European countries.

ITEMS OF INTEREST FROM NEARBY STATES

MARYLAND. ANNAPOLIS.

The question as to the effectiveness of a blank ballot has again been brought before the circuit court for Anne Arundel county and involving in litigation once more the title to municipal offices in Annapolis. Yesterday James H. Murdock, the market master under the late administration, filed a petition for a writ of mandamus to compel Robert E. Strango, the Democratic appointee to that position, to surrender the office to him.

THROUGHOUT THE STATE.

The forty-eighth annual exhibition of the Washington County Agricultural Association began yesterday. The weather was ideal. The crowd was estimated at 10,000. Merrick Huyett, the chief marshal, and his aides met the incoming trains and escorted the visitors, headed by the band, to the grounds.

The body of Engineer George B. Askew, of the Philadelphia, Baltimore and Washington Railroad, who was knocked from his engine into Big Elk Creek on January 3 last, was recovered yesterday floating in Elk River, opposite Holly Hall. The discovery was made by Hooper Freeman. The skull was crushed, showing how Askew had met his death.

Yesterday at the home of William Francis Stonebraker, near Weyerton, Washington county, Ellen Stonebraker was married to J. Clagett Gray, of Charles county. The ceremony was performed by the bride's pastor, the Rev. Father O'Connell, of St. Mary's Church, Pottsville.

The outbuildings on the farm of County Commissioner Perry B. Raslin, near Chestertown, were burned Monday, together with several hundred bushels of wheat, a lot of hay and farming implements. The property was insured for $600 in James G. Beck's company.

The funeral of Col. David C. Winebrenner, who died suddenly Saturday at Frederick, took place from his late residence yesterday afternoon and was largely attended. Services were held at the house by the Rev. Dr. Osborne Ingie, rector of All Saints Episcopal Church.

Ten monuments erected by Ohio as memorials to those of her sons who fell at Antietam in the war between the States were dedicated on Antietam battlefield yesterday. The exercises were held on the open plain near the old Dunkard Church. Major David Cunningham, president of the commission having charge of the erection of the monuments, presided at the exercises, which were opened with prayer by the Rev. Dr. O. Kriebel, of Pennsylvania. Major Cunningham made a short address, at the conclusion of which he turned the monuments over to Ohio.

DEATH WINS RACE.

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—The race against death of Walter H. Field, of Portland, Me., was won by death as a Santa Fe train was nearing Chicago yesterday. Mr. Field had been in Carlsbad, N. M., taking treatment for tuberculosis. Finding the end near, he began a hurried trip East, in the hope of dying in his old home.

VIRGINIA. RICHMOND.

Once a nun, then authoress, then actress, Mrs. Josephine Andrews died in the almshouse here, and has been buried at the expense of the city.

The tenth annual meeting of the stockholders of the Southern Railway, held here yesterday, was largely attended, as the directors who are on a tour of inspection with President Spencer, were present. The most important feature of the meeting was the approval of the merger with the Southern of the Knoxville and Ohio, Knoxville and Bristol, and Villa Branch Railway Companies, branch lines which have been controlled for some time by ownership of securities.

THROUGHOUT THE STATE.

The Hon. J. Body Sears, State senator from the district composed of Essex, Gloucester, Middlesex, and Mathews counties, has decided not to be a candidate this year for re-election as commonwealth's attorney of Mathews county and therefore will continue to serve as State senator. Under the new constitution he was compelled to give up one office or the other, and much interest was felt in his decision.

With the subsidence of the terrible storm of the past few days comes a showing of the havoc that has been wrought on Chincoteague Island. For miles the beach is strewn with wreckage, and several fishing craft, including two small schooners, are high and dry in Toms Cove. Thousands of dollars have been lost in the destruction of wharf properties and fish pounds.

The Democratic primary which was held in Norfolk yesterday resulted in a great deal of friction. Several fights occurred, and a number of prominent citizens were arrested. The Dey-Riddick-Montague faction won in every ward on members of the executive committee, except in the single instance of the second ward.

Senator John W. Daniel has accepted an invitation to attend the reunion of the Grand Camp, Confederate Veterans, October 25, in Newport News. He will be the principal orator of the occasion.

Late Monday night a couple obtained a marriage license in Newport News and were married by the Rev. Dr. Porter. They were Samuel Snow Cox, a Norfolk student, and Ladaski M. Shultz, of Graham, N. C. Mr. Cox is twenty-three years old, and his bride twenty-eight. Mrs. Cox, whose parents objected to the marriage, is said to be an heiress to a large fortune.

Four Chinamen were sent to jail in Norfolk last night to await deportation. They are Yo Get, Mon Willie, Yung Lung, and Wung Lung. All of them have resided here for years, but they were arrested three months ago on the charge of living here in defiance of the G. R. exclusion act. The information was given by a Chinese detective.

The cornerstone of the Norfolk public library, for which Andrew Carnegie subscribed $20,000, was laid yesterday under the auspices of the Owens Lodge of Masons. The Rev. Carl E. Grammer delivered the oration.

THE MISSOURI READY FOR OFFICIAL TRIP

Maine Sails for Culebra, on Her Boiler Trial, From Newport News.

NEWPORT NEWS, Va., Oct. 14.—The battleship Missouri left dry dock yesterday and is now practically ready for her official trip, which will take place over the New England coast October 21. The Missouri will leave here Sunday, manned by a picked shipyard crew, and with her bunkers filled with picked steam coal. She is expected to make 15 1/2 knots.

The battleship Maine sailed yesterday for Culebra on her boiler trial. A specially appointed board of naval officers is on the ship. The Maine will turn about at Culebra and return direct to Newport News to be made flagship of Rear Admiral Barker's squadron, which will assemble in Hampton Roads.

DID BRYAN DRAW THE BENNETT WILL?

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 14.—The impression prevails here that William J. Bryan drew the will of the late Philo S. Bennett, of whose estate he is an executor and in the disposition of which he and Mrs. Bryan have so much authority by the terms of the will. They will have the disposition of $30,000 among colleges and poor students of both sexes. Whether the mysterious letter to which the will makes reference, and which the Merchants' Safe Deposit Company, of New York, has refused to surrender to the messenger of the New Haven Probate Court, contains a request to Mrs. Bennett to turn over to Mr. and Mrs. Bryan the trust fund of $50,000 is still an enigma.

VICTOR AND HELENA ARRIVE IN FRANCE

Patrols of Soldiery Guard Railroad Tracks From Dijon to Paris.

DIJON, France, Oct. 14.—King Victor and Queen Helena, of Italy, arrived in France this morning, en route for Paris, where they will be the guests of President Loubet and the Republic. The royal couple were met here by the mayor and a number of army officers. From Dijon to Paris, a distance of 197 miles, the greatest precautions have been taken to guard the royal trains from attack. Patrols of soldiery have been placed at frequent intervals along the tracks and in the neighboring woods.

NATIONAL BANK NOTES.

National bank notes received yesterday at the Treasury amounted to $502,158. Government receipts and expenditures were: Internal revenue, $469,259; customs, $788,125; miscellaneous, $54,530; expenditures, $1,625,000.

NO THURSDAY MATINEE.

Extra Effort Too Much for Marie Cahill's Delicate Nerves.

The demand for seats for Miss Marie Cahill, who will make her first Washington appearance in "Nancy Brown" next Monday night at the Metropolitan, has been so great that the great theatrical engagements of this city have been postponed. Many inquiries and requests for seats at the Thursday matinee have been received, but there will be no Thursday afternoon performance on account of Miss Cahill's rule to play only one matinee a week. This regulation was made necessary on account of the star's highly-strung temperament. In addition to singing seven songs, which are invariably encored a number of times, Miss Cahill bears the vocal burden of two heavy finales.

Like most great artists, she possesses a nervous disposition, and an extra effort is likely to affect her work for a week thereafter. Owing to the great demand for seats during Miss Cahill's extended Boston engagement, at the beginning of the present season, she made an attempt to give a Wednesday matinee at the request of a number of her admirers, who were unable to secure seats for the other performances.

The strain upon her resulting from this additional effort, however, proved so disastrous that she was threatened with an attack of nervous prostration, and was forced to suspend her appearances for a number of days. She had been scheduled for the following week.

There is only one person in the world for whom Miss Cahill will make an extra effort, jeopardizing her health, and that is her mother. Mrs. Cahill is nearly sixty years old and makes it a rule to attend two of the New York theaters every week. On these occasions she frequently hears a song that strikes her fancy, and thereafter she is never content until she hears her daughter sing the same song in the latter's inimitable style.

"My dear Marie," she will write to the star of "Nancy Brown," "I heard a song last night which was excellently rendered, but I am sure you could sing it so many times better than I can. Enclosed you will find a number and hope you will learn it before returning to New York, in order that I may hear it sung to the best advantage."

Miss Cahill, who is devoted to her mother, studies these extra songs with the same care she gives the numbers which she sings upon the stage. Sometimes these rehearsals demand an extraordinary effort, but rather than disappoint her mother Miss Cahill will subject herself to any effort.

GAIN THEIR LIBERTY BY FORGED PARDONS

Four Military Prisoners Escape From Alcatraz Island.

Dispatches from San Francisco announce four military prisoners have been released from the prison on Alcatraz Island on forged pardons. Those released were James H. Darling, Cornelius Cokes, Joseph White, and John L. Moore.

The fraudulent documents were in regular form, bearing the usual seals, stamps, and the approval of the President. Signatures on the documents were forged, but by whom the forgeries were committed is unknown, and an investigation is in progress.

The prisoners were given sentences of five years each, and had more than two years each to serve.

The signatures forged were those of Major E. R. Hills, acting assistant adjutant general at Washington; Major Henry M. Morrow, judge advocate of the Department of California, and Major J. R. Williams, assistant adjutant general of the Department of California. Both Major Williams and Judge Advocate Morrow saw the signatures on the papers were not their own.

WOMAN TREASURY CLERK FOUND DEAD IN HER ROOM

Eliza Barker, Thirty-five Years a Government Employee, Expires Suddenly.

Eliza Barker, sixty-five years old, and for thirty-five years a clerk in the office of the Comptroller of the Currency, died suddenly yesterday afternoon.

Miss Barker lived at the Oxford Hotel. Yesterday she went to work as usual. Before noon she was seized with an acute attack of indigestion and was assisted home. At 4 o'clock Mrs. Amelia M. Simons, a friend, called and found her dead in bed.

Coroner Nevitt made an investigation and found death due to indigestion and heart trouble. The relatives of Miss Barker, who live in Sandusky, Ohio, were informed of her death.

TOOK A STRAW VOTE.

Interesting Experiment in a Restaurant

An advertising agent, representing a prominent New York magazine, while on a recent Western trip, was to dine one evening in a Pittsburg restaurant. While waiting for his order he glanced over his newspaper and noticed the advertisement of a well known dyspepsia preparation, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets; as he himself was a regular user of the tablets, he began speculating as to how many of the other traveling men in the dining room were also friends of the popular remedy for indigestion.

He says: I counted twenty-three men at the tables and in the hotel office I took the trouble to interview them and was surprised to learn that nine of the twenty-three made a practice of taking one or two of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after each meal.

One of them told me he had suffered so much from stomach trouble that at one time he had been obliged to quit the road, but after using Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets had been entirely free from indigestion, but he continued their use, especially while traveling, on account of irregularity in meals and because like all traveling men he was often obliged to eat what he could get and not always what he wanted.

Another, who looked the picture of health, said he never ate a meal without taking a Stuart Tablet afterward because he could eat what he pleased and when he pleased without fear of a sleepless night or any other trouble.

Still another used them because he was subject to gas on stomach, causing pressure on heart and lungs, shortness of breath and distress in chest, which he no longer experienced since using the tablets regularly.

Another claimed that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets was the only safe remedy he had ever found for sour stomach and acidity. He had formerly used common soda to relieve the trouble, but the tablets were much better and safer to use.

After smoking, drinking, or other excesses, nothing restores the stomach to a healthy, wholesome condition so effectually as Stuart's Tablets.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets contain the natural digestives, pepsin, dinstase, which every weak stomach lacks, as well as nux, hydrastin, and yellow parilla, which are carefully selected on a radical cure for every form of poor digestion. Sold by druggists everywhere.

Clothing Finds Its Ideal In Parker-Bridget Ready to Wear

Ready - to - wear clothing means more today than it ever has—because of our efforts toward its perfecting. We've assumed a leadership—struck out on lines of improvement. Others have followed— but obviously followed behind—and while they are offering you better clothing than they used to, it's not up to the Parker-Bridget standard, and never will be. The man who creates puts an unrecorded copyright on his work that can never be infringed, because he is always creating, always improving. —The $15 and $20 lines of suits and topcoats of this season have gained more prestige in a short time than any lines ever put out. So many men have found that they have no inclination to look at higher-priced goods because they've met their ideal in these. The style of the times that takes its principal feature from the broad concave athletic shoulders find: its proper interpretation in these garments.

Boys' Clothing

A department equipped for every demand—Clothing that represents the limit of value its price will pay for.

Combination suits are popular (the suits with two pairs of pants). We've made it a point to get up a line of these suits—to sell at $3.95 that in many instances can't be matched for 50 per cent more. We look after the boys well—giving them the style wanted—and the parents well—giving them the quality wanted. The suits are made of black and blue all-wool chevots—with double breasted coats in sizes 8 to 16 years. Every seam is taped—every detail that results in service $3.95 and satisfaction well cared for. The price.

—Another line of Boys' Suits of equal importance—a little higher in price—but proportionally better in value. 3-piece suits in black and blue $4.95 chevots to sell at.....

Overcoats—for the Boys—Long cut—in the Belfast frieze—in blue and gray effects. Sizes for $4.95 boys from 6 to 16 years.....
