

CHICAGO TO PLAY INSPECTION GAME

Will Send Spies to Look In Gotham's Affairs.

PROBE POLICE DEPARTMENT

Democratic Club of Illinois City Will Retaliate and Endeavor to "Outpipe" Piper.

CHICAGO, Ill., March 17.—A new power promises to take its place among the forces which make for good. The Chicago Democratic Club is reported to emulate the City Club in able, energetic reform work.

The City Club got New Yorkers to investigate Chicago. The Chicago Democratic Club plans to get able Chicagoans to look into New York affairs, particularly the Police Department. The club hopes to be able to "out-pipe" Piper.

A prominent member of the Chicago Democratic Club, who has had experience in police affairs, said: "I favor sending men to investigate the New York Police Department. There is a great glass house down there and a few bricks should be tossed through it. New York has been having a lot of fun at Chicago's expense. Let us turn the tables. Piper? Yes, I guess he has got a few things on Chicago's police. They are not angels; no one ever pretended they were. But there are no 'White Wings' in Gotham, despite all this bunk talk.

Could "Lose Them."

"Say, our Chicago 'coppers' can lose these 'guys' down in New York. They are not in it with our boys. Get after any set of men and you'll find short-comings. Why, the papers here are authority for the statement that the honored judges of Cook county do not 'pull box' on time, that they do not travel best as they should. Maybe it could be found that some of them were sitting in saloons when they ought to be on duty. If the distinguished judges do not 'pull box' on schedule time, what can be expected of the 'coppers'?"

"New York's department would look like a paste diamond if shown up alongside of the real thing here in Chicago. It wasn't many years ago when an investigation showed a notorious state of affairs in New York."

The exposure with reference to Mme. Mandelbaum, the fence, beats anything ever shown up against the Chicago department. We'll send a Captain Piper of our own down to New York and make those fellows think they have set down upon a pin cushion."

He leaves six sons, five daughters, seven grandchildren and forty-seven great-grandchildren, an even one hundred descendants.

Dr. Mary Walker Saves Life of Glazier Loose

DR. MARY WALKER.

Noted woman physician, who never appears in public except in male attire.

With Handkerchief and Pencil She Stops Flow of Blood Until Emergency Hospital Ambulance Arrives on Scene.

Improvising a tourniquet with a handkerchief and lead pencil, Dr. Mary Walker gave first aid to August S. Loose, a glazier, who cut the artery of his left wrist yesterday afternoon while putting in a new pane of glass at 326 Pennsylvania Avenue.

The man had the pane of glass in his hand when he fell to the ground and it struck his arm. Blood spurted as from a miniature fountain, and although a hurry call was sent in for the Emergency Hospital ambulance, it was believed he would bleed to death before the conveyance arrived. But Dr. Walker appeared upon the scene and stopped the flow of blood.

When the ambulance finally arrived Loose was taken to the hospital and permanent dressing was applied to the laceration. Later he went to his home, 343 Pennsylvania Avenue northwest.

CAROLINE DAVIS DIES OF MORPHINE POISONING

Evidences of Having Used the Drug Hypodermically for Several Years. Came From Philadelphia.

Her senses deadened by numerous hypodermic injections of morphine, Caroline Davis, an aged woman, employed as a household servant by Mrs. Florence Hill, 326 B Street southeast, swallowed a quantity of morphine pellets with suicidal intent, and despite the efforts of the physicians at the Emergency Hospital, died about 7 o'clock last evening.

The woman had been a victim of the morphine habit for many years. She became melancholy and despondent yesterday morning and acted strangely throughout the day until she was found by Mrs. Hill in the afternoon in an unconscious condition.

Coroner Nevitt issued a certificate of death by suicide, and the remains were removed to the morgue, where they will remain until the woman's record in Philadelphia, where she said she worked in a hospital, can be investigated, and her friends located.

Mrs. Davis was a widow, and came to Washington several weeks ago. She said she had been employed in a Philadelphia hospital as a trained nurse, but was in ill health and went to the Emergency Hospital, where she was treated for grip. After recovering she obtained a position with Mrs. Hill.

UTTER SATISFIES PECULIAR GRUDGE

Pulls Down House He Was Flogged In.

VENGEANCE AFTER 40 YEARS

School Teacher Dead and Girl Who Caused Beating Is Mother of Large Family.

MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., March 17.—Because he was flogged severely forty years ago in the little old schoolhouse in the village of Amity, Orange county, Wisner Utter, now one of the substantial citizens of the community, is tearing the building to pieces, and thus relieving his mind of part of the load it has carried so many years.

In the days of his early educational experience, Utter was flogged severely by a pedagogue at the instance of a girl, who wrongfully accused him of breaking a pane in the door. He then swore vengeance against the school, the teacher, and the girl, and has harbored the feeling of revenge ever since. He became owner of the school building, and his feelings in pulling it down were pleasurable in the extreme. Whether he will ever have the pleasure of getting even with the girl, who is now the mother of a large family, is a question. The old school teacher has been dead and buried many years.

CARROLL INSTITUTE WINS AGAINST THE Y. M. C. A.

Interesting Debate on Panama Policy Goes to the Negatives.

The debating team of the Carroll Institute Literary Society last night triumphed over the team of the Young Men's Christian Association Lyceum in a debate at the Young Men's Christian Association building. The subject under discussion was whether Congress should sustain the President in his Panama policy.

The negative was upheld by the Carroll Institute debaters, Arthur J. May and Joseph D. Sullivan, while the Y. M. C. A. was represented by Sylvan Kronheim and Edwin F. Brown. The judges were Representative Joseph Crowley, Joseph F. Smith presided.

In opening the debate, Sylvan Kronheim, for the affirmative, said the instantaneous recognition of Panama had been a master stroke of diplomacy, and had been so recognized by the world. He cited historical instances to show that President Roosevelt had done only what his predecessors had done.

Arthur J. May, for the negative, said the President's action was unjustifiable from a moral and legal point of view. A magnified hate was displayed in recognizing the new republic, he said, and it seemed as though the rebellion had been inspired in the United States. The country would soon gain the reputation of land glutted if such proceedings did not stop.

Edwin F. Brown, for the affirmative, and Joseph D. Sullivan, for the negative, were the next speakers, following up by the fact that their colleagues with forcible arguments.

Sylvan Kronheim then spoke in rebuttal, and the judges rendered a unanimous decision for the negative side.

FAILED TO IDENTIFY FOOTSTEPS IN SNOW

The police failed to identify Benjamin Campbell, a negro, by footprints in the snow, and he was yesterday acquitted in Criminal Court No. 1, of a charge of assault with intent to rob. The complaining witness was Gertrude Freeman, who was assaulted at the corner of T and Tenth Streets northeast, on the night after the heavy snow storm last month.

Miss Freeman did not identify Campbell as the person who assaulted her. An effort was made to connect the negro with commission of the crime by the fact that his shoes fitted certain tracks found in the snow several hours after the assault was made. Thomas L. Jones represented the accused.

CUPID SHOT THE GUN-SHOT

Pretty Romance in New Orleans in Which Mina Gage Swapped Professional Duties for Matrimony.

DANBURY, Conn., March 17.—Miss Mina E. Gage, a trained nurse, of Danbury, who went to New Orleans to practice her profession last October, was married recently to Le Roy Leach, the New York rifle shot, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Charles E. Rice, of 2085 St. Charles Avenue, New Orleans.

The marriage was the culmination of a sickroom romance. Mr. Leach went to New Orleans five weeks ago to visit a friend, Maurice Kauffman, and give exhibitions of rifle shooting. He fell ill soon after arriving there, and Miss Gage, who is only twenty, and pretty, was engaged to nurse him. Before he had been long convalescent the rifle shot found his match in the winged archer, who aimed at a double mark and scored. Leach had only begun to regain his strength when he declared his love, and the blushing nurse replied: "Yes, yes; anything to keep you quiet. Here, it's time to take your medicine."

The Rev. A. E. Kiemer made patient and nurse one as soon as Leach had recovered, and they are now on their bridal tour. They will live in New York city.

MRS. MURPHY NOT LEGAL CHILD OF VON GLAHN

Chicago Court Decides Evidence Given Is Not Sufficient.

CHICAGO, Ill., March 17.—Mrs. Anna P. Murphy is not the legal daughter of Baron August von Glahn, according to Judge Carter, who rendered the decision in Mrs. Murphy's suit for the reduction of her inheritance.

"There is not sufficient evidence to establish a marriage with Martha McCabe, mother of the petitioner," the court ruled. The marriage with Martha Busse, in 1863, is legal, and the petition of the petitioner is denied.

Judge Carter declared that no positive proof existed of the alleged marriage between Baron von Glahn and Mrs. Murphy's mother at St. Andrew's Catholic Church, New York, May 22, 1850. Baron von Glahn left a legacy of $10,000 to Mrs. Murphy.
