

TAFT MAY VISIT
FAT OF ISLANDS

Will Visit Philippines in Summer of 1905.

MAKE TOUR OF ARCHIPELAGO

His Impressions Likely to Settle
Question of Self-Government Under Act of Congress.

Secretary Taft will probably be called upon to decide in 1905 whether the Philippines have shown themselves worthy of having an assembly composed of Filipinos elected by popular vote, which shall join with the Philippine Commission in making laws for the islands.

It is Secretary Taft's purpose to visit the Philippines in the summer of 1905 and make a tour of inspection with the members of the commission. This tour will be for the purpose of determining whether the islanders have made sufficient progress to justify the establishment of an assembly, according to the provisions of the Philippine law, which stipulated that in two years after the completion of the Philippine census the Filipinos should be permitted to elect lawmakers in case they prove themselves peaceable, law-abiding citizens.

Compiling the Census.
General Sanger, who was in charge of taking the census last year, is busily engaged in compiling the returns, and the results will probably be announced in a short time. This census will form the basis for representation in the proposed assembly, and will be of great value to Secretary Taft and the commission in case they make their contemplated tour of the islands.

Secretary Taft's optimism has not lessened in the least since he has been away from the islands, and he is still of the opinion that the future of the islands is bright. He believes the improvement of the archipelago within the next year will be very marked, and is confident the time will soon come when the Philippines will be capable of having a voice in their government.

Granting that President Roosevelt is re-elected, Secretary Taft will probably leave Washington early in the summer of 1905 for the Philippines and will spend several months in visiting every part of the islands which is accessible.

MR. CANNON PREDICTS
ADJOURNMENT MAY 1

Will Insist Upon All Appropriation Bills Having Been Disposed of.

Callers at the White House.

Speaker Cannon, at the White House yesterday, gave it as his opinion that the session of Congress would end about May 1. The speaker is understood to be insistent that the appropriation bills shall be out of the way, or a thorough understanding reached with the Senate leaders regarding them, before there is any agreement on the time of adjournment.

Senator Dietrich and Col. Edward Rosewater are insisting as vigorously as ever on the removal of W. S. Summers, and have laid before the President charges of his unfitness for the office of district attorney for Nebraska, based on other grounds than those relating to the Dietrich prosecution. Summers' confidence of Summers' early dismissal.

Representative Gibson of Tennessee, who stands next to Representative Sullo way on the House Pensions Committee, and who has been recently consulted by the President on the recent order regarding pensions, was yesterday at the White House. He assured Mr. Roosevelt that the pension order just issued is a fair one, and that the pension bill will be so heavily reduced by deaths in another year as to counterbalance the increase made by the order.

Col. Bingham Sustains

COL. T. A. BINGHAM.

Former Superintendent of Public Buildings and Grounds, Now Located at Buffalo, N. Y.

Former Superintendent of Public Buildings
Severely Injured While Directing Government Work at Depot in Buffalo.

BUFFALO, March 19.—Col. Theodore A. Bingham, who came here from Washington to take Colonel Symons' place as head of the United States Engineering Department, sustained a fracture of his left leg and was otherwise severely injured, and Quartermaster Peter Duffey's right leg was broken in an accident at the lighthouse depot, on the south pier in the harbor, at 12:15 o'clock this afternoon, as a result of the falling of a derrick.

Keefe and Michael, boat builders, delivered a launch at the lighthouse depot today. Colonel Bingham, with about fifteen men, went to the depot to superintend the lifting of the launch from the water to the Government pier. A derrick was placed in position to lift the launch.

Scarcely had any weight been put on the derrick when it toppled over, striking both Colonel Bingham and Quartermaster Duffey.

Colonel Bingham was taken on a tug to the dock in Main Street, and thence to the General Hospital. It is said late tonight that he is resting comfortably, and that no complications are expected.

MISS RENA NELSON
KILLED HERSELF

This Is Theory of Pierre Investigation.

MAILED POISON TO HERSELF

Attempted to Involve Mrs. Dye in Trouble and Her Own Death Followed.

PIERRE, S. D., March 19.—The authorities here after a thorough investigation, believe that Miss Rena Nelson committed suicide after fixing up the box of poisoned candy in an attempt to make trouble for Mrs. Sherman Dye, of Boone, Iowa, who she thought stood between the marriage of herself and Sherman Dye.

It has been learned that Miss Nelson purchased a box of candy in this city on the day before she claimed to have received the box from Boone, and a thorough search has failed to find a similar box in Boone.

Ingenious Story.
Sheriff Laughlin and County Attorney Goddard say that to them the dying girl told an ingenious story to fasten suspicion upon Mrs. Dye, and both officials declare the girl's statements were false. They have found that the fatal box of candy was purchased from Dehoff & Co., confectioners, of Pierre, S. D., on the afternoon of February 28, the day before Miss Nelson received the package at the postoffice. She then received it in the hands of the same condition as when it was bought, save that among the chocolates were some tablets of corrosive sublimate, resembling the ordinary peppermint tablet.

Miss Nelson, they claim, had mailed the package to herself, pasting on the wrapper as an address, the face of an envelope which she had received from Boone a short time before, bearing her own name and address.

Remarkable Feature.
Then came the remarkable feature of the girl's plot. She evidently did not contemplate suicide. Everything points to an intention on her part to take just enough poison to produce a slight illness and show that she was the victim of attempted poisoning. She ate, however, an entire tablet and was seized with an illness that resulted in her death nine days later.

It appears to have been her purpose to have secured a conviction of Mrs. Dye as a murderer, by making the girl die of the poison, and then to have secured a divorce and herself become his wife.

But when she found death was inevitable, she declared that Mrs. Dye was the guilty person.

CONVENTION
DEVELOPS A RIOT

Forakerites and Dick Men
Strive for Mastery.

PANDEMONIUM BROKE LOOSE

Disgraceful Scene Enacted in Naming Candidate for Congress in the Twelfth District.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, March 19.—The Twentieth District Republican Congressional convention, composed of delegates from Cuyahoga, Lake and Medina counties, was held in the West Side Turner Hall today. It was a regular bombardment from the start. The Dick and Foraker men fought like brigs. Men banged each other with their fists; others with their hands at each other's throats, clutched until eyes bulged out and the victims shouted hoarsely. Both sides had conventions and both renominated Representative Jacob Beidler, of Painesville.

The trouble began when Harry Hammer, chairman of the Congressional committee, a Forakerite, tried to dictate the selection of convention officers.

Leach for Chairman.
Collector of Customs Charles Leach was nominated for chairman by the Dick delegates, and John C. Ward, of Lakewood, was selected by the Forakerites. Leach and Ward both started for the platform, followed by their adherents. The Dick line swept up from the side of the hall over chairs, tables, and Forakerites, to their leader. The Forakerites closed in and a line of blue-coated men, led by their sergeant-at-arms, and the thud of blows among the mobbing delegates beat a rolling tattoo. On the other side of the stage the Dick men fought their way with Leach tightly held in their arms. On all sides wrestling, throttling, and fighting were the bloodthirsty Forakerites. The Leach men gained the stage through the Dick men's backs, and their way until Leach had reached the front of the stage. Then the Forakerites made another onslaught and they reached the stage with Ward, their chairman.

Held Rival Conventions.
Leach on one end of the stage and Ward on the other held conventions. Ward's convention nominated Beidler for Congress, A. T. Spitzer, of Medina, and F. H. Eggers, as delegates to the national convention, and Miner G. Norton, of Painesville, as president. The Leach convention nominated Beidler for Congress, J. B. Zerbe and George E. Spitzer for delegates to Chicago, and E. C. Steele, of Painesville, and D. C. True, of Lakewood, were named as delegates to Chicago. The Dick men certified their nominations to the boards of election of the counties comprising the district.

After the business of the evening was transacted nearly all the large number present remained for a social hour. President Needham and the retiring and new presidents of the alumni were in the library and met a large number of those assembled. Refreshments were served in the west hall.

The following members of the Alumni Association were present:

MR. FORAKER DECLINES TO DISCUSS MATTER

"This would seem to be a topic for General Chaffee and the general staff to discuss; I am a civilian," dryly remarked Senator Foraker tonight when asked for an expression of opinion on the conflict of factions in the Cuyahoga, Ohio, district.

Intense interest is being manifested in the election of the district at-large. While Senator Foraker is still sanguine, the belief prevails that but three Forakerites can be elected to the Republican National Convention from that State will be selected.

Countess Cassini Has Second Narrow Escape

Thoroughbred, Frightened by Car, Dashes
Into Auto a Few Moments After Noblewoman Alights in F Street.

The blooded French horse of the Countess Cassini, frightened at a passing street car, ran away yesterday afternoon with the pony cart, from which the countess, only a few moments before, had alighted to enter an F Street shop.

The runaway occurred in F Street northwest, between Fourteenth and Fifteenth Streets, about 3:30 o'clock. An automobile standing against the curb in front of a stock broker's office, was collided with. The cart was overturned and Edward B. Bailey, the chauffeur of the auto, was thrown to the ground.

The horse was imported from France by the Russian ambassador, for the use of his adopted daughter, and is unaccustomed to the street cars. This is the second runaway in which it has figured within three months, and, fortunately, the countess escaped injury both times. Although she was in the vehicle when the horse first ran away. The horse was placed in the embassy stables about four months ago, and because of the fact that it was not accustomed to the busy thoroughfares of Washington, the head of the stable would not use it until it had been there about one month, and then it was used only after the countess made a demand for it.

Yesterday there was an unusually large number of vehicles in F Street, and the streets were also filled with pedestrians. As a car swung around the curve near the Ebbitt House, the animal dashed forward in front of the automobile. Bailey was unhurt, but the cart was almost demolished, and was taken to a wheelwright to be repaired. The countess went home on a car.

SAVE THE CHILDREN.
Scarlet fever is unknown in countries where cow's milk is not used as food, hence milk from unsanitary stables may contain the poison producing it.
Milk is also known to have caused epidemics of DIPHTHERIA, TYPHOID, and other ENTERIC DISEASES.
A proper and simple precaution consists in SCALDING MILK (Don't boil it) for children and invalids—and scalding will not affect its digestibility. After scalding, keep cool and covered.
A regular diet for children on condensed milk is inadvisable.
