

GOULD, NEADA, RICH MINES DISCOVERED THERE BY A RANCHMAN.

Rich Mines Discovered There by a Ranchman.

ONE MINER IN WASHINGTON

Great Boom in Goldfield, Name Given to Mushroom Town on Site of New Finds.

Like a fairy story from real life, an Aladdin's lamp tale with basis in fact, seem the statements concerning fortunes already accumulated by miners in the recently discovered belt of gold deposits in and about Goldfield, Nev.

W. S. Anderson, owner of several valuable tracts in the new bonanza land, is in Washington for a few days, explaining the good fortune which awaits a small coterie of Washingtonians for whom he purchased claims not far from Goldfield.

First Strike in Goldfield.

"The first strike in Goldfield was made about three years ago," said Mr. Anderson. "It seems that one Jim Butler, a cattle rancher in a small way, had been digging over his grazing lands for some time, and in one place he had run a drift in about fifty feet. All along there was evidence of heavy dirt, and the gold would not respond to ordinary methods, and he was about to give up in disgust when two prospectors from Australia happened to pass that way. Gold is found under almost identical conditions in Australia, and these men, Hammond and Rundell, saw at a glance that Butler's little mine was of great value. Specimens were secured, and while Hammond went to Seattle to have an assay made, Rundell stood by the mine to see that no other prospectors beat them out. The result of Hammond's trip was that he and his partner made an immediate offer to lease Butler's holding. This was refused, but Butler's suspicions having been roused, but Hammond and Rundell did succeed in gaining title to the dump where Butler had deposited the seemingly worthless earth and rock from his excavation. Since then the two Australians have cleaned up $2,500,000 from that castoff pile of dirt."

Got Rich Quick.

Mr. Butler is now reputed to be worth $2,500,000. He is associated with Charles Schwab, of Steel trust fame, and the original Butler claim is said by experts to contain at least $100,000,000 worth of the precious metal.

But the most phenomenal part of this story of the new gold field was that dealing with the rush of fortune seekers to the spot once it became hinted about that gold was to be found there. In 1902 what is now the center of the belt boasted a population of eighteen men and the entire territory, comprising a strip forty miles wide and 180 miles long, could muster less than 1000 souls. At that time a spur of the Southern Pacific Railroad running through Carson City, Nev., terminated in Virginia City, Nev., that time a spur of the Southern Pacific Railroad running through Carson City, Nev., terminated in Virginia City, Nev., that time a spur of the Southern Pacific Railroad running through Carson City, Nev., terminated in Virginia City, Nev.

Great Lack of Water.

At first mining in the Goldfield district was hampered only by lack of water to wash out the gold in the plant, and the precious fluid was hauled for miles in tiny donkey carts. Fabulous prices were demanded and paid, and only as recently as February Mr. Anderson paid $50 for one barrel of water. In no other section does Mother Earth yield up her riches so ungrudgingly—many of the miners having struck streaks paying as high as $2,000 per ton of ore, within six feet of the surface.

Handling of the vast wealth so quickly gathered in the early days of the rush—and that was no more than a year ago—was accomplished by means of two and three wagons hitched tandem to twelve and fourteen-horse teams, the ore, worth millions, being transported in sacks to the then narrow gauge railroads and stacked on the ground in heaps to await its turn for shipment.

Since Mr. Anderson's discovery in the East water has been found in abundance in many wells drilled throughout the section, and the lack of exercise enormously the work of the mines.

WINTER EATING RUINS STOMACHS

"Now Is the Time You Need Mi-o-na," Says Henry Evans.

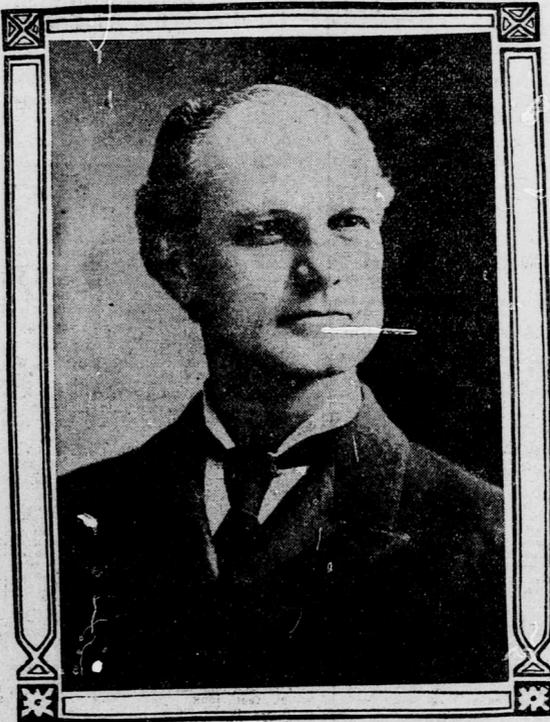

Think for a moment of the extra strain you put upon the stomach in the winter. The hearty food, the late suppers, and the lack of exercise and outdoor life all weaken and strain the stomach, laying the foundation for poor health and suffering.

Chronic stomach troubles, nervous irritability, and serious bowel and kidney diseases have often dated from a week of extra "hard living." Nearly everyone is bothered with more or less headaches and backaches, tired tongue, poor appetite, and aching joints, heart burn, spots before the eyes, dizziness, or vertigo, sleeplessness, lack of energy, loss of flesh or a general weak, tired feeling.

Now is the time when Mi-o-na is needed to repair the ravages and waste the hearty eating of winter has caused in the stomach and digestive system. This is the only known agent that strengthens the stomach and effective organs, so they can and will readily digest whatever food is eaten. A Mi-o-na tablet taken before each meal will remove all irritation, inflammation, and congestion in the digestive organs, and so strengthen them that they will extract from the food all the nutrients and make good, rich blood, firm muscle, and a sound, healthy body.

This remarkable remedy costs but 50 cents, and its use does not restore your full vigor, vitality, and health. Henry Evans, 922 and 924 F Street Northwest, in this section, will refund your money. Unbounded faith like this deserves your confidence.

Tennessean Who May Succeed the Late Senator Bate in the United States Senate.

GOVERNOR FRAZIER WILL WEAR TOGA

Opposition to His Election to Succeed William B. Bate as Senator From Tennessee Unlikely to Prevent Ratification of Caucus' Action.

In spite of a threatened bolting of the Democratic caucus nomination of Governor Frazier, of Tennessee, to fill the vacancy in the United States Senate due to the death of Gen. William B. Bate ten days ago, it is confidently predicted by Tennesseans in Washington that nothing will prevent the ratification of the caucus action when the Tennessee Legislature meets in joint session for this purpose tomorrow.

GEN. HAWLEY'S BODY TAKEN TO HARTFORD

Quiet Services Yesterday at the Residence—Intimate Friends in Attendance.

The body of the late General Hawley left Washington this morning for Hartford, where the last services over the remains of the dead soldier and statesman will be held.

Yesterday afternoon at 5 o'clock, with only intimate friends attending the service, a short service was held at the residence of General Hawley, at 1716 N street. The Rev. Alfred Harding, pastor of the St. Paul's Episcopal Church, read from the Bible and offered a short prayer. The honorary pallbearers were Senators Platt and Burleigh of Connecticut, Gen. John M. Wilson, and Admiral Van Rypen. Senators Hansbrough and Wetmore, General Greely, General Black, and one or two members of General Hawley's regiment, and a number of Loyal Legion comrades were in attendance.

Tomorrow at Hartford there will be a state funeral, the remains resting in the State capitol until late tomorrow afternoon.

Eyes of New Senators On Committee Places

Important Vacancies to Be Filled—Many Plums for Which Newcomers Will Strive. List of Assignments Follows.

With the extra session of the Senate ended, most Senators will hurry away to their homes in the States they represent on the floor.

Exceptions to this rule will be men like Lodge, Hoar, Aldrich, and Foraker, who keep their Washington homes open for the greater part of the year.

The departure of the Senate leaves new Senators in a position of expectancy regarding the committee appointments they are likely to command on returning to duty next fall, at the opening of the first session of the Fifty-ninth Congress. The new Senators have been fraternizing a good deal with the men of long service in the Senate, and the impression they thus create for personal capability will be taken into account together with political "pull" and geographical location.

The New Senators.

The new Senators who will have to be assigned to committees next fall are as follows: Burleigh of Connecticut, Burckett of Nebraska, Carter of Montana, Flint of California, Hemenway of Indiana, Nixon of Nevada, Piles of Washington, Sutherland of Utah, and Warner of Missouri, all Republicans, and Rayner of Maryland, Democrat.

In addition to these La Follette of Wisconsin, has been elected, but is not expected to qualify. Instead, it is thought that after the Legislature has adjourned he will resign his seat, and then, having the power to appoint to the vacancy, will name Isaac Stephenson, who has been credited with financing all the La Follette campaigns against the railroad interests of the Wolverine State.

Scared by Missouri.

Tennessee tomorrow will elect a Democrat to succeed Senator Bate. The State Legislature, in separate caucuses, has already named Governor Frazier and this choice is considered sure of ratification, although since Niedringhaus lost the Missouri seat, after caucus endorsement, no candidate feels sure of the future.

Delaware is not likely to elect any Senator, the deadlock between the Regular Republicans and the Addicks Republicans having become settled, it seems, for another two years' vacancy.

Under these circumstances there are ten Senators now on the list, with Wisconsin and Tennessee to be added before the Senate reconvenes in the fall; the roll will bear the name of Senator Frazier of Tennessee.

Governor Frazier, who is a man of about fifty years of age, and a native of east Tennessee, had never held public office prior to his election, two years ago, as executive of his State. He had been before that time a prominent attorney of Chattanooga, and had built up a lucrative practice.

He was nominated by the Democrats without any campaign on his part to attain the honor of leading his party. He defeated the Republican nominee, Jesse W. Littleton, of Winchester, by a very large majority.

Governor Frazier served out his first term, and was again inducted into office only in January last.

For several generations Governor Frazier's family has been prominent in State politics. He is a man of distinguished bearing, and very courtly manners.

Dizzy Spells

That dizzy spell is an important message from the heart—a plea for help. If this message receives no attention others come: Shortness of breath, palpitation, weak, or fainting spells, smothering or choking sensations, pains around the heart, in sides or shoulders, and so on, until it receives the necessary help, or is compelled to give up.

Dr. Miles' Heart Cure

Which cures heart disease in every stage. Every day we read of sudden deaths from heart disease, yet it is a fact that the heart had been pleading for help, and gave up the struggle only when it had exhausted the last spark of vitality—and they call it sudden.

For more than six years I was troubled with my heart. I would have dizzy spells, then difficulty in breathing, choking sensations, my heart would flutter, become painful. I could not breathe lying down. I commenced taking Dr. Miles' Heart Cure, and in a few weeks I was entirely cured.
