

WHERE, OH! WHERE, IS J. S. FARLEY

Is He in That Dear Lancaster County?

DID HE RAISE TEMPERATURE?

Perhaps Strong Man Tried to Emulate Samson Little's Feat of Lifting a Fog.

What has become of J. S. Farley, the strong man?

Arrangements have been made for an extensive wrestling campaign for him next season, but a special delivery letter sent to his house produced no results.

It has been suggested that Farley may have gone to that dear Lancaster county, Va., but others claim that he is in Washington, and is the one who has been raising the temperature, even as Samson Little raised a fog.

Have Coach for Him.

A competent teacher of wrestling has been engaged to coach the strong man to use his strength on the mat, and as it will not be long before the season opens it is time for him to get busy.

SETTLEMENT PROPOSED IN ZIEGLER WILL SUIT

Negotiations Under Way, It Is Said, to Prevent Sensational Disclosures.

NEW YORK, July 20.—Negotiations are under way to compromise Mrs. William Ziegler's suit to set aside her husband's will, which left $300,000 to a fourteen-year-old adopted son.

NAVY MACHINISTS HOPE BONAPARTE WILL YIELD

At the regular weekly meeting of Columbia Lodge, No. 174, of the International Order of Machinists, held in Naval Lodge Hall, last night, it was decided to again confer with Secretary Bonaparte in the matter of getting the half holiday on Saturdays at the naval gun factory at the local navy yard.

EXCURSIONS.

The ideal short trip on the river at this season of the year is the Friday or Saturday evening trip of the steamer Charles Macalester to Indian Head, the boat leaving these evenings at 6:30 o'clock, and stopping at Marshall Hall both ways.

SULLIVAN AND BRITT HOLD THE FLOOR

Last Day of Training For Tomorrow's Scrap

Kid Sullivan and Jimmy Britt Reported in Excellent Condition—Washington Boy Heavy But Hard.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., July 20.—This is the last day of routine training by Jimmy Britt and Kid Sullivan preparatory to their battle for the lightweight championship.

Both men are pronounced in perfect physical condition by their managers. Tomorrow they will do a short turn on the road and in their training quarters, but the arduous grind of the daily preparation has already accomplished its object.

Britt Alarmed.

Britt has not made the mistake that has dragged so many other champions off the pedestals. Whether he regards Sullivan as a dangerous opponent or not, he has expected as faithfully as he can, the hardest battle of his career.

Formidable Opponent.

The courage and staying powers of Sullivan, together with his ability to hand out disheartening and weakening jolts in clinches, will make him a more formidable antagonist than the alleged wise men have thought.

Referee Jack Welsh has arranged to meet the fighters to talk over articles of agreement and a mutual understanding of the style of fighting.

While it is accepted on all sides by sporting men that Britt will win from Sullivan, and he is a 1 to 2 favorite, there has been a disposition on the part of the critics recently to take Sullivan more seriously than they did at first.

The self-sufficiency of some of the critics has caused them to take the Washington boy as a joke because he has done most of his fighting in Baltimore. They have been inclined to consider lightly the draws he has had with Young Corbet, Battling Nelson, and Eddie Hanlon, but they are waking up now and are not so cocksure that he will be easy money in a letter tomorrow night.

BATTLE WITH LOCKJAW MAY SAVE STREET WAIF

Surgeon Uses New Method in Treatment of Tetanus, Which, So Far, Has Been Successful—Spinal Canal Punctured and Fluid Extracted.

STAMFORD, Conn., July 20.—Morris Rabinowitz, a poor little street arab, who lies at the Stamford Hospital suffering all the agony of tetanus, is watched over as carefully as though he were heir to a crown.

Morris, or "Spider," as he is best known, is the pet of Stamford. His private room at the hospital is full of flowers, and visitors call constantly to inquire for him.

Morris shot himself in the hand with a blank cartridge pistol on the Fourth of July. He took off the bandage too soon, and last Saturday was taken to the hospital suffering from lockjaw.

Ralph Dunn, a New York broker, is paying for his treatment, and has given orders that no expense be spared to save the boy.

Dr. Thomas J. Riggs, a well-known surgeon, is treating him by a new method. To make the diagnosis an aspirating needle was inserted into the spinal canal and thirty drops of the spinal fluid was drawn out.

GRAFTING MUST STOP, SAYS MAJOR McDOWELL

Leaders Will Have to Become Old-Fashionedly Honest, He Says.

PITTSBURGH, July 20.—"The leaders of the Republican party of Pennsylvania will have to get back to the old-fashioned honesty if they want to keep control of the States," is the way Major Alexander McDowell, of Sharon, clerk of the lower house of Congress and a life-long machine Republican, spoke today of the trouble in the eastern part of the State.

"Grafters and stealers in the State, nation, counties and cities," he said, "must stop. And the sooner the office holders get to thinking that office is a public trust and that the people must be consulted, the better it will be."

Major McDowell said such contents as that in Philadelphia were healthy and always did the party good, and he wanted to see them kept up until the cleaning was such that the most radical reformer would be satisfied. He said he did not think Plummer would be asked to step aside.
