

A RUN FOR HIS LIFE. RUSSIAN OFFICER FLEEING FROM MOB

STRIKERS ATTACKING AN OFFICER ON THE OUTSKIRTS OF ST. PETERSBURG

It is the same as if Haas were on trial. The respondent is one of the persons mentioned in the report as connected with the leak, and if the statements and suggestions, direct and indirect, in the report, charge or indicate an offense against any law of the United States, such of the statements as concern the respondent directly or indirectly involve him in an accusation of crime against the United States.

Wilson Denounces Report That He Will Resign

"Maliciously gotten up, maliciously circulated by those that lie." This is the denial of Secretary of Agriculture Wilson to the story that he had sent his resignation to the President. "I have not resigned, and don't intend to resign," declared the Secretary with emphasis that lost nothing by the vigor with which he brought his fist down on his desk.

Wilson to Go West

Having thus emphatically disposed of the stories that he is contemplating resignation from the Cabinet, the Secretary has taken up arrangements for his Western trip, to begin about August 1, during which he will visit the forest reserves and make a study of them with a view to formulating further regulations for their government and development.

Continual Investigation

In eight and a half years that Mr. Wilson has been head of the department, there has been in progress a continual investigation. In that time no less than 29 persons, from low to high stations, have been dismissed by the Secretary, summarily, for the good of the service. Of this number, no less than 17 have been removed under charges.

Moore Is Hurt

In connection with the resignation of Dr. George L. Moore, the story is circulated today among his friends that the eminent physiologist and algologist was distinctly jarred yesterday when his resignation was accepted. It seems, according to the story, that Dr. Moore turned over his resignation to the Secretary, together with the explanation of his conduct, as published, fully expecting that the explanation would be accepted and the resignation rejected. Instead of this, Secretary Wilson accepted the resignation with a promptness that left Dr. Moore a trifle hurt.

Seeds Given Away

The newest story of graft in the department involves Representatives Hull of Iowa and Wadsworth of New York, owners of the High Point Dairy Farm, in Virginia. It is alleged that in the course of their agricultural operations these distinguished horticulturists have secured from the Department of Agriculture some hundreds of dollars worth of seeds, especially grasses, alfalfa, and clover. High Point farm is a place of near 4,000 acres, about thirty miles from the Potomac, and is owned by the bureau of plant industry the explanation is made that seeds had Paris, July 28.—"No peace, no money," the French financiers told Envoy Witte in effect while he was here this week. ST. PETERSBURG, July 28.—Orders have been issued to all the ministers to supervise the auditing of the accounts of their respective departments with a view of cutting down expenses.

Statistical Force May All Be Changed

The cotton leak scandal in the Agricultural department, which is under investigation by the grand jury, will result, it is believed, in an entire change in the personnel of the force employed in the statistical bureau of the department.

Wrong Statute

By an error made in the statement presented by the grand jury yesterday statute 541 was named as the one under which the grand jury is proceeding against Holmes. This statute relates only to those who bribe or attempt to bribe United States officers.

Holmes' Alleged Offense

The section which the jury is really proceeding under is Section 550, Every officer of the United States, and every person acting for or on behalf of the United States, in any official capacity under or by virtue of the authority of any department or office of the Government thereof, and every officer or person acting for or on behalf of either house of Congress, or any committee of either house, or of both houses thereof, who asks, accepts, or receives any money, or any contract, promise, undertaking, obligation, gratuity, or security for the payment of money, or for the delivery or conveyance of anything of value, with intent to have his decision or action on any question, matter, cause, or proceeding affected, or secured, by such money, or which may be by law brought before him in his official capacity, or in his place of trust or profit, influenced thereby, shall be punished as prescribed in the preceding section.

Fits the Crime

Section 550, it will be seen, fits the Holmes case in that one of the chief charges made by the Cotton Growers' Association is that Holmes "cooked" the figures to suit his Wall Street friends.

DRUGS AND PHOTOS FEED MAD FLAMES Alcohol Stove Explodes in Pharmacy. FIRE SPREAD VERY RAPIDLY Negatives, Drawings, and Prints Damaged or Destroyed—Narrow Escape of Druggist.

The explosion of an alcohol stove in the drug store of F. R. Richardson, Eleventh street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest, last night caused a fire which gutted the building occupied by the drug store and Prince's photograph gallery. The exact damage done by the fire could not be accurately ascertained from either Mr. Richardson or the representative of Mr. Prince this forenoon, though it was claimed that the druggist's loss would foot up to several thousand dollars, and that the loss to the photographer would be large. The explosion, which could be heard for several blocks, occurred about 9:30 o'clock and almost in a second's time the entire back part of the store was filled with flames and smoke. The report made by the explosion attracted the attention of Patrolmen Emermet and Young, of the First precinct, who immediately turned in an alarm. Before the fire engines arrived the flames had eaten up through the stairway in the back of the building into the rooms occupied by the photograph gallery. The back portion of the building was soon enveloped in flames. Druggist Narrowly Escapes. Mr. Richardson, who, just a few moments before the explosion occurred, was in the rear of the drug store mixing a preparation of cold cream, had little warning to escape, but managed to gain the door without injury. At that time there were, fortunately, but two men besides the druggist in the store, and they being near the front entrance rushed into the street at the first report of the explosion. The first explosion was followed by a second and louder report, which, it is claimed, was caused by the flames from the exploded stove coming in contact with a large can of alcohol which stood but a few feet away from where the druggist, a few moments before, had been standing. When asked about the explosion, Mr. Richardson said: "I had no idea that such a thing could happen, and had it not been for the can of alcohol standing near such a serious accident would have resulted. At the present time I do not make an estimate of any loss, believe it will amount to $1,000, which is completely covered by insurance. Valuable Photos Destroyed. The photograph gallery seems to have suffered in all probability the greatest loss, as many valuable negatives, drawings, and negatives have been completely destroyed. Mr. Prince is not in town at present, but has been informed by telegraph of his probable loss. The representative of Mr. Prince's gallery stated this morning that several of Mr. Prince's most valuable paintings and drawings, as well as a number of negatives, were a total loss. One picture, of Cleveland's first cabinet, which Mr. Prince valued at $1,000, was completely burned and it is said can never be duplicated. The fire department experienced some difficulty in getting control of the blaze, but it had gained considerable headway before they had arrived on the scene. A strong wind, blowing from the north, carried the flames from the rear of the building through to the front. It was only after the most heroic efforts and the madness of the flames was subdued. From the fact that in both the drug store and photograph gallery a quantity of explosive substances were stored, the firemen were compelled to exercise precaution, fearful of another explosion occurring. The drug store, which was one of the best in the city, was recently opened by Mr. Richardson, who took special pride in the appointments and gave it his personal attention. BLAZE IN WINE HOUSE DISCOVERED IN TIME. Policemen Cavanaugh and Young, of the First precinct, about 10 o'clock last night averted what might have been a serious fire in the basement of the Colonial Wine Company, at Ninth and D streets northwest. The blaze started in some waste paper and rubbish, and it was only after the fire department was called for the fire department to extinguish it when they once arrived on the scene. The loss will not exceed $45, covered by insurance. The firemen give it as their opinion that the fire was started by some one throwing a lighted cigar into the room through the open windows of the basement. The building is owned by Joseph Goldenberg.
