

AT THE LOCAL PLAYHOUSES

WOLLA ALLEN AS BETTY SINGLETON
Presents a New Play by Clyde Fitch.

COLUMBIA.
"Little Johnnie Jones" Caught the Theaters Last Night.
They advertise "Little Johnnie Jones," which opened at the Columbia last night, as "a musical frivolity," which is probably as good a designation as any; but they might truthfully add, "with melodramatic polka dots." Which is not knocking for "Little Johnnie Jones" is a good show of its sort.

GEORGE COHAN AS "LITTLE JOHNNY JONES"

Miss Viola Allen with the assistance of an exceptionally capable company and a typical Clyde Fitch play succeeded in taking her audience to the National Theater last night, back to the eighteenth century and the London playhouses of that period.

The plot, while not a new one, is skillfully handled. Betty Singleton is introduced as the idol of London theatergoers and the play opens with her final appearance on the stage which she is deserting to marry the Duke of Malmesbury. The Fitch touch is discernible in her valedictory, which is delivered to the real audience before a curtain dropped upon the greenroom scene.

Marriage Proves a Failure.
A year passes, which gives Betty's noble husband time to convince himself that he is not in love with his wife, but with his cousin, Lady Charlotte. He has been dissipating pretty steadily, and suddenly decides to reform, and vows to the cousin never again to indulge in the liquid that cheers.

George and Jerry Cohan were both good in their respective parts. George again made good his reputation as the best eccentric dancer on the stage. For "beat" read "most" and the statement remains true. He is strung on wires, as usual, and even more loosely strung than last time. And before leaving the men, there was Sam Ryan, whose part fitted him like a glove, much better than his clothes.

It ought to be "ladies first" but the ladies in this instance don't deserve it. The ladies of the Cohan family—Helen Cohan and Ethel Grey—were acceptable. Adele Rafter, as Floribel Flay, is pretty, but she isn't anything else—apparently doesn't think she has to be. And, perhaps she's right.

But oh, the chorus! You know it wouldn't be so bad, really, if it weren't for the chorus girls in it; but the make-up woman—well, she hasn't done a thing to them! Just a little more reserve with the rabbit's foot and that would be a good-looking chorus. It has some good chances; the "Yankee Doodle" chorus and the "March of the Frisco Chinks" are mighty pretty. One forgets the make-up for a minute.

Of course there's no plot. There doesn't have to be. There are bright lines and good songs, and an all-round good company, which is likely to keep the play here for a week or two. It was last night, and the audience was happy. It couldn't do more.

One thing more. The public owes the company a vote of thanks for the fact that there were practically no encores. There is no catering to applause. There were plenty of opportunities which most companies would have seized avidly, but which in this instance were absolutely disregarded. As the curtain went down about 11 o'clock.

Recalls Beau Brummel.
Miss Allen, as Betty Singleton, has a role that gives her an excellent opportunity to display her talents. The play is not as good as several of Clyde Fitch's former successes, and does not reach the level of "The King of the Kings." Nevertheless it is well worth seeing, and should prove a success for one reason. Let us take the audience was not as large as Miss Allen's first night in a new play deserved—particularly as in view of the fact that the "Toast of the Town" came to Washington well recommended by even the unenthusiastic critics of these Philadelphia papers.

The stage settings and costumes were not only in thorough keeping with the period, as might be expected from Clyde Fitch's knowledge of stagecraft, but were both elaborate and effective.

LYCEUM
"The Mascottes" Present an Olio With Several Very Pleasing Turns.

"The Mascottes" make their first appearance in Washington this week at Kerman's Lyceum Theater.

The burlesques were handled quite indifferently, and met with but scant approval. The olio, however, brought out several very pleasing turns, particularly noticeable being a monologue turn by Wilbur Held. The Batchelor Sisters, although not pretty, rendered very effectively several pleasing vocal selections with violin accompaniment. The rest of the turns were worthy of the little comment, with the exception of the Brothers Sing.

SECRETARY TAFT YIELDS TO SHONTS

His Personal Representative to Leave Panama.

EDWARDS LOSES CANAL JOB
Office of Chief of Administration Abolished—Holder Was Cause of Friction.

The office of "chief of administration" of the Panama Canal Commission, now held by Col. Clarence R. Edwards, will be abolished on November 15.

W. Leon Pepperman, Colonel Edwards' right hand man, stays in the office he now holds, and will discharge such of Colonel Edwards' duties as remain in that bureau.

Economy Gained.
The step is taken in the interest of economy and simplicity of administration, it is said, and because the duties of chief of the Insular Bureau, of which Colonel Edwards is still head, demand his attention, especially since he has been away so long on the trip to the Philippines. He is now with the Secretary at Panama.

When the canal work was organized, Colonel Edwards was assigned to the Panama establishment as Secretary Taft's personal representative with the title of "chief of administration." Secretary Taft communicated his wishes through Colonel Edwards to Chairman Shonts.

This was not a felicitous arrangement, as events soon showed. Shonts wanted full control in an enterprise for which he had assumed responsibility, although he recognized Colonel Edwards' administrative ability and high character.

Harmony Restored.
Since this change in the working organization has been agreed upon to the satisfaction of all concerned, the most harmony prevails between Shonts and Secretary Taft.

Joseph B. Bishop, who was executive secretary, has been made full secretary of the commission, in charge of its records and data.

RIDGELY CHARGES FRAUD IN ENTERPRISE BOOKS
The Comptroller of the Currency, in a statement of the condition of the Enterprise National Bank, of Allegheny, Pa., issued today, estimates the shortage at $1,500,000.

He charges that the books have been fraudulently kept, collateral securing loans fraudulently withdrawn, and fraudulent certificates of deposit issued.

O. G. STAPLES FINED FOR BREAKING SMOKE LAW
O. G. Staples, proprietor of the Riggs House, was fined $50 in Police Court this morning for violation of the smoke law at the building owned by him at the corner of Sixth street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest.

Mr. Staples has been fined several times on this same count. He said this morning that he had spent several thousand dollars trying to remedy the nuisance.

"Aunt Louisa's Advice," fairly brimming over with humorous situations. The audience was most liberal in its greeting of Will Rogers, a cowboy who gives a clever exhibition of the use of the lasso. Dan Harrington presents his ventriloquist turn; Dorsch and Russell please in a musical novelty, and Josephine Gassman struggles through fifteen minutes of work with three pickaninies.

The three Zoellers conclude with some excellent trapeze work.

CHASE'S
Vaudeville House Has a Strong Bill of Clever Specialties.

Whatever may be the shortcomings of some features of the entertainment this week at Chase's, the latter part of the bill is strong.

George Fuller Golden returns with a monologue over which he need have no worry. Mr. and Mrs. Howard Truesdell, and company appear in a little playlet.

ACADEMY.
Byrne Brothers in Their "New Eight Bells."

There is no limit to the laugh-producing ability of Brothers Byrne in their "New Eight Bells" at the Academy.

For two hours and a half this troupe presents one ludicrous feature after another, and it would take a Leica observatory telescope to find the slightest plot.

The dancing of Lillian and Lotta Hoover is unusually good, and the acrobatic stunts of the Byrne brothers are novel and new. Allen Schrock and Frank Rice do some sensational feats on bicycles.

WHAT JOY THEY BRING TO EVERY HOME

as with joyous hearts and smiling faces they romp and play—when in health—and how conducive to health the games in which they indulge, the outdoor life they enjoy, the cleanly, regular habits they should be taught to form and the wholesome diet of which they should partake. How tenderly their health should be preserved, not by constant medication, but by careful avoidance of every medicine of an injurious or objectionable nature, and if at any time a remedial agent is required, to assist nature, only those of known excellence should be used; remedies which are pure and wholesome and truly beneficial in effect, like the pleasant laxative remedy, Syrup of Figs, manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co. Syrup of Figs has come into general favor in many millions of well informed families, whose estimate of its quality and excellence is based upon personal knowledge and use.

Syrup of Figs has also met with the approval of physicians generally, because they know it is wholesome, simple and gentle in its action. We inform all reputable physicians as to the medicinal principles of Syrup of Figs, obtained, by an original method, from certain plants known to them to act most beneficially and presented in an agreeable syrup in which the wholesome Californian blue figs are used to promote the pleasant taste; therefore it is not a secret remedy and hence we are free to refer to all well informed physicians, who do not approve of patent medicines and never favor indiscriminate self-medication.

Please to remember and teach your children also that the genuine Syrup of Figs always has the full name of the Company—California Fig Syrup Co.—plainly printed on the front of every package and that it is for sale in bottles of one size only. If any dealer offers any other than the regular Fifty cent size, or having printed thereon the name of any other company, do not accept it. If you fail to get the genuine you will not get its beneficial effects. Every family should always have a bottle on hand, as it is equally beneficial for the parents and the children, whenever a laxative remedy is required.
