MAY BUILD CANAL ON LOCK SYSTEM

Stevens Said to Have Won Undecided Senators.

ENGINEER SUBMITS FACTS Views of Administration Are Almost Certain to Prevail in Construction of Waterway.

It is now practically assured that the Panama canal will be constructed on the lock system in conformity with the views of the Administration.

Mr. Stevens completed his testimony this afternoon. He came out more emphatic than he did at yesterday's meeting in advocating the lock system for the waterway across the Isthmus of Panama.

Carried through nearly an hour's oral by Senator Kittredge, the engineer of the great works went into technical details as to why, in his opinion, a lock canal would be the most feasible plan to adopt.

Mr. Stevens said to be in favor of a sea level ditch, and in view of this, Mr. Stevens had to submit actual facts to satisfy his questioner.

Mr. Stevens had to submit actual facts to satisfy his questioner. Resuming the thread of questions where the committee left off yesterday, Mr. Kittredge took up the cost of the two types as outlined in the reports of the board of consulting engineers.

More had weather greeted those who gathered today for the second day of the speed meet on Ormond-Daytona Beach. The delayed northern finally swept down, lashing the sea into foam, while the stiff wind chilled spectators to the bone.

Mr. Hemery was obliged to curb his temper and run with the Darraq 80-horsepower as C. D. Cook, a leading stockholder in the Darraq Company, arrived yesterday and read the riot act to Hemery when he learned the situation.
