

HEAVY LITERATURE
CALLED BOOKWORM

Sad Fate that Befell a Ptinus Brunneus.

HIS DIET WAS TOO RICH
Dined First Off Shakespeare and Then Used Ruskin as a Dessert Dish.

When some of the old books belonging to the late Dr. Swan M. Burnett, of this city, were shipped to New York recently, there was found between the covers of an ancient Shakespeare folio a small, sure enough bookworm. The book containing the books was opened Friday, by Henry Thorpe, an employe at the Merwin-Clayton auction rooms, and as soon as the book was picked up and dropped the worm.

He had been dining upon Shakespeare, and was greatly embarrassed when he was exposed to the light of day. In falling he dropped upon one of Dr. Burnett's favorite books, John Ruskin's "Praeterita," which showed that his tastes were cultured and discriminating, and all that a well brought up bookworm's should be. He became very much interested in page 4, chapter v of the volume, and was about to bury himself in its text in a sort of brown study when he was seized upon and imprisoned in an envelope.

Rich Literary Diet.
No post-mortem has been held, and so the cause of his death, which occurred soon thereafter, is not positively known, but New York bibliophiles think that it may have been due to his unusually rich and heavy diet. Too much Ruskin and Shakespeare is bad, the knowing ones say, for even the most confirmed bookworm, particularly when the binding is of heavy hand-tooled leather, and the paper of the old-time weight.

One learned gentleman said that the insective stranger was traveling under an alias, and that his real name was Ptinus brunneus, of the pininid family. There are many branches of this family, all of which have an overwhelming fondness for literature, although it cannot be said that each is so particular in his tastes as the one discovered in Dr. Burnett's book. On the other hand, they are all antiquarians by nature, and betray a fondness for old books.

F. H. Crittenden, of the Bureau of Entomology of the Agricultural Department, said yesterday that the Ptinus brunneus is a domestic pininid that we have with us always. "Mr. Crittenden is disposed to be omnivorous and is somewhat of a scavenger, frequenting cellars and attics, storerooms, and pigeon lofts, being competent to eat out a living almost anywhere anything animal or vegetable substance that affords it sustenance—books, feathers, skins, etc. It sometimes gets into drugs, and is recorded to have attacked musk root and the powdered leaves of senna and jaborandi."

Bored Heavy Saddle.
There are several articles at the Agricultural Department that have been attacked by the species. Among them is a part of a heavy leather saddle that has been bored so much by one of the animals that it almost resembles a sieve. The holes are about as large as would be made by an ordinary sized pin, and the large number of them shows that the little bookworm had no trouble in penetrating the eighth of an inch of solid leather.

There is a prevalent belief that the bookworm is a myth, and in reality that no such animal exists. Many people are of the opinion that the word is merely a term applied to very studious people or those that read a great deal. This, however, is far from the truth, and this little animal has made such inroads during late years that fully a dozen books have been written on the subject. Mr. Crittenden has made an extensive study of the pininid family, and in one of the department's bulletins he treats the subject fully.

MACCABEES PLAN RALLY AND PICNIC AT LUNA PARK

D. W. Gall, commander of the Grand Lodge of the Knights of Maccabees in the District, accompanied by committees from each tent and live in the city, will go to Luna Park in a special train this afternoon to make the preliminary arrangements for the holding there in July of a monster rally and picnic. All of the arrangements are not complete as yet, but it is proposed to invite here Maccabees from Philadelphia, Baltimore, Richmond, Norfolk, and other cities for that day and to provide an entertainment that will make the day long to be remembered in Maccabee circles. In this the Maccabees will have the assistance of the publicity, amusement, and excursion departments of the Luna Park Company.

Work on the park has progressed so rapidly during the past week that there is not now the slightest doubt but that the park will be completed in time for the scheduled opening, May 28. Nearly all of the buildings are well under way and half a dozen are ready for the painters who have been ordered to report tomorrow. The decorating will be under the direction of Alfred Robinson, who designed nearly all of the big amusement parks in this country.

MENTAL NUTRIMENT.

Fiction has decreased in popularity among users of the public library in the District of Columbia, for while during the last year, the circulation has increased 27 per cent, the proportion of fiction has decreased 12 per cent. For this improvement the cause is to be found in the use of their libraries by library employes and directors and by teachers in the public schools, who have been taking the trouble to give the attention of younger readers to books containing mental nutriment. The Chicago public library, which for many years has shown uncommonly intelligent management, has also recently been giving increased attention to methods of circulation. For books not fiction, both through bulletins about various classes of reading and by inviting the public school teachers to cooperate. Whether a child's thoughts are fed on the empty romance of which the world is full, or on books which can do for the mind something of what nourishing food, good air and exercise accomplish for the body, depends largely on the sense of the adults surrounding him, and the choice is no small part of any teacher's or parent's responsibility.—Collier's Weekly.

LONDON, March 24.—The people of Ripon, a small town in Yorkshire, are becoming modernized. They think it's about time to do away with the curfew.

PREHISTORIC BODIES FOUND IN TENNESSEE

Excavators Unearth One Hundred in Vicinity of Memphis. Remains Show Indications That Death Was Result of Most Horrible Torture.

Excavators have discovered over 100 bodies of Indians or mound builders near Memphis, Tenn. The Smithsonian Institution had not yesterday received any further information regarding this valuable archaeological and ethnological find, but is interested in making all possible investigations, and to obtain the bodies.

Nine years ago Dr. Palmer and others reported the discovery of two important mounds at Fort Pickering, but the work of the excavators in western Tennessee has within late years been held in abeyance.

The height of the mounds discovered in Tennessee was probably, originally, from fifteen to thirty feet. The burial grounds discovered near Nashville contained nearly 4,000 graves. The adjoining farms contained smaller cemeteries.

PARSON LEAVES PULPIT TO SELL LIGHTNING RODS

TRENTON, N. J., March 24.—Declaring he had given up the saving of souls to sell lightning rods because he believed the saving of lives by destruction from the heavens was equally as good as preaching the gospel, Rev. F. J. Tomlinson, of Pittstown, N. J., created a sensation at the annual meeting of the Mercer County Board of Agriculture here.

SPEAKING OF SPEECH!

"The English language is one that few of its users can have any luck with," as the slang phrase is, remarked a man the other day. "A young friend of mine, discussing politics, declared that one 'rigamee' went out and another 'rigamee' came in. Not until I thought of the word 'regime' could I imagine the only one in the world which cannot be spoken by its own children. And if we, who are brought up on the language, cannot speak it, what can we expect from the foreigner?"—Kansas City Times.

RILEY TO BUILD RESORT FOR FAMOUS AUTHORS

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., March 24.—James Whitcomb Riley, the Hoosier poet, and John Dickey have purchased Bear Wallow hill, in Brown county, and are going to improve the place with a magnificent house, which will be a kind of intellectual summer resort, and when improvements are completed the resort will be opened to people who wish to spend a quiet month or two in the atmosphere which has inspired some of Riley's most beautiful poems.

Here it is the purpose of the Hoosier poet to gather around him men and women who have made the country famous for literature.

PERCY ROCKEFELLER'S PITY FOR MUCH-ABUSED HORSE

GREENWICH, Conn., March 24.—John Bell, aged seventy-three, was arraigned here today charged with cruelty to a horse, the prosecuting attorney's informant having been Percy Rockefeller, son of William Rockefeller, and a nephew of John D. Rockefeller.

LEGAL WIFE OF KILEY STILL LOVES BIGAMIST

Declares She Will Not Prosecute Missing Banker Who Hides From Police.

NEW YORK, March 24.—The police today are searching for Thomas W. Kiley, the millionaire Brooklyn banker, who has been hiding since he confessed to having two wives. T. Willard Kiley, the stepson and nephew of the banker, appealed to the police to press the search.

District Attorney Clarke said that while he had ordered that Mr. Kiley be arrested, he was convinced that he only could be tried on the bigamy charge in Indiana, where he married Mrs. Flora B. Colt, while on his way to the banker's conviction.

The genuine Mrs. Kiley declared unflinching love and belief in her husband, and said she would neither sue for a separation nor appear against him on criminal charges. It is known that Kiley effected a reconciliation with his wife and has been in communication with her since he went into hiding. She refused to deny or affirm today that he had been at her home.

VETERAN OF CIVIL WAR TO REST IN ARLINGTON

Funeral services for John O'Neill, a veteran of the civil war and for many years an employe of the record and pension division of the War Department, who died Friday, will take place from St. Aloysius' Church Monday morning.

MEXICO PUSHES ROAD TO GET CANAL TRADE

Consular Reports Also Show That Milan Manufacturers Are Shipping Large Quantities of Wares to Philippines, Marked Made in United States.

Special Agent Pepper has made a report to the Bureau of Manufactures on the Mexican railroad, across the isthmus of Tehuantepec, and its relation to the Panama canal.

This interocean line, with its termini and harbor works at Coatzacoacoals, on the Atlantic side, and at Salina Cruz, on the Pacific, has been opened to international trade after an expenditure of $5,000,000. Intimations are given that Mexico will now enter upon a series of trade treaties with Pacific coast countries of South America to secure their international traffic and also to extend Mexican commerce.

Though the harbor works at Salina Cruz have not been fully completed, the transshipment of cargoes is announced to begin there in June, 1906. Mr. Pepper believes it cannot be started until September. The American Hawaiian Steamship Company is to operate nine 8,500 ton steamers on a triangular service, touching at San Francisco, Salina Cruz, and Honolulu. On the Atlantic side a weekly steamer service is to be maintained between Coatzacoacoals and New Orleans.

Consul Dunning, of Milan, reports on the methods of Italian manufacturers in building up their trade in the Philippines. For the six months ended December, 1905, the shipments from Milan to the Philippines amounted to over $3,000. Every article sent by the Italians is being marked "Made in the United States," and they include hats, paper, cottons, umbrellas, boots, milk, macaroni, paint, soap, pottery, and wearing material.

SNOWSTORM STOPPED WORK OF NATIONALS

Also, Repairs to Gym Kept Them Away From It—Williams Lands and Has Adventure.

UNIVERSITY OF VIRGINIA, March 24.—Another snow storm has struck the Nationals' camp and there will be no more practice of any sort until Monday. Repairs to the floor of the gymnasium are in progress and everything is in confusion there, making indoor work out of all question. The players did not leave the hotel this morning.

Otto Williams, the new utility infielder, joined the squad this morning. He got in about 3 o'clock over the Chesapeake and Ohio, but as there was no room to be had at the Clermont, and he failed to make known his identity to the night clerk, he was sent out in the snow storm to look for a night's lodging.

After drifting around in the dark about an hour, he finally located himself. Williams is a little taller than Nill, but not quite so stocky as the new shortstop. He is a handsome fellow. The men are anxious to take some sort of exercise this afternoon, but just what form it will take cannot yet be determined, as the snow is coming down rapidly, with no signs of a let-up.
