LORANDO AGAIN CHOSEN CAPTAIN

George Washington Track Candidates Held Annual Election Last Night.

OUTLOOK BRIGHT FOR 1907

Most of Last Season's Veterans Have Returned and Will Try for Honors on the Cinder Path.

The George Washington track team, entering upon the third year of its existence, met last night and elected officers for the coming season.

The team's record last year, while not remarkable, was nevertheless very satisfactory to its supporters, and a vast improvement over the preceding year.

Early in the season the men went over to Baltimore, where the two-mile relay team was defeated before the crack representatives from the University of Pennsylvania.

At the intercollegiate meet at Charlottesville, under the auspices of the University of Virginia, Lorando established a remarkable record by winning the mile, the two mile, and getting second in the half-mile.

Nearly all of last year's men are back at school this season, and the prospects of the team are extremely bright.

HOLY NAME THE GOODS AGAINST KELLY CLUB

The Holy Name basketball team opened its season Wednesday night in the Minute Men's Armory, by defeating the Kelly Athletic Club, in a close and interesting game, by 23 to 22.

The feature was the playing of Nash and Dawson for the winners, and Captain Kelly for the losers.

The Washington and Lee basketball quint was defeated last night in a rather slow exhibition by the large margin of 29 to 7, by the St. John's five.

St. John's Position, Kelly, Nash, R. F. (capt.) Kelly, Dawson (capt.), Lynch, J. Hogan, Center, W. Hogan, Hollender, R. B., O'Connell, Murphy, L. B., Nolan.

Goals from field—Nash (4), Dawson (5), J. Hogan (3), Murphy (2), Kelly (5), Lynch (3), W. Hogan (2). Free throws—Dawson and Kelly (3). Referee—Mr. Colbert. Timer—Mr. Carr. Time of halves—20 minutes.

Personal Comment on Men and Things in the Field of Sports

FOOTBALL.

Necessary distance to be gained in three attempts has been doubled, making it necessary to gain ten yards instead of five to retain the ball.

One forward pass is permitted to each scrimmage by a player who was behind the line of scrimmage when the play started, and if the ball does not touch the ground while being passed.

Number of officials has been increased to a referee, two umpires, and a head linesman.

Length of a regulation half has been cut to thirty minutes, shortening the game by ten minutes.

Harvard has apparently better material than Yale this year.

The Tiger team looks stronger than any squad Princeton has had for years.

Nate Stauffer, who generally umpires at West Point, has taken to refereeing.

Illinois is shy of veterans and it is difficult to get a line on the team for this reason.

Look out for the Gophers is the cry from Wisconsin to Chicago. But the maroons need no warning.

Quarterback Johnson, of West Point, has been discharged from the hospital, and is in a fair condition again.

The Michigan eleven looks almost like a two-man team this season—Curtis and Garrels being the ones alluded to.

Wisconsin fears Iowa, and with good reason. The Badgers are not the same bunch of former years by some little shot.

Smith, the Army's star left halfback, has received a sprain which will keep him out of the game for some little time.

Yale is beginning to "get wise" to the forward pass. The ends and quarterbacks are busy figuring out the chances of the rivals for supreme honors and they will be greatly assisted, it is expected by tomorrow's games.

After the splendid exhibitions of last Saturday renewed interest is being taken in the games of tomorrow. This is not to be wondered at. The 20,000 odd spectators who witnessed the Princeton-Cornell contest saw a game they are not likely to forget soon.

The fact most strongly impressed upon the spectators was, how football, as a game, has improved by the changes effected under the new rules. It is practically a new sport and one which may well arouse enthusiasm in view of the spectacular play that may be successfully executed and the better view afforded those present.

An important development in football under the new game is the experiments now being tried in rearranging the make-up of the rush line. Coach Yost, of the Michigan "Hurry Up" system, set the example in experimenting, and others have not been slow to follow in his footsteps, the coaches successfully following his suggestion.

Yost's principal change has been to send heavy but speedy men to the ends instead of relying on light, swift, runners. By this he gains the advantage of a heavy man who cannot be tackled easily to carry the ball on forward-pass plays. At Michigan the innovation has proved a good one and the new line-up will probably be made permanent.

The Princeton-Cornell game of last Saturday is naturally regarded as a standard by which the new style of game can be gauged, for the reason that it was the first meeting of teams of real merit, about evenly matched, where each was obliged to use its best tactics to win.

Cornell, in the early stages of the game, showed more complete mastery of the new system and fairly played

Nearly every player on the Princeton team has a separate coach. A few days ago Coach Roper's staff was increased by Booth, Edwards, Gresham, Poe, Vetterlein, Kafer, and Henry.

Bullock, a former famous Andover player, will not be allowed to play for Dartmouth this season. This is because of his being a special student and not up in all his entrance requirements.

Andover and Exeter are running an even race this year. Neither, however, has made an unusual record, and one hears little of star players on either team.

Holy Cross has a fleet little quarterback in Geary. In the Worcester Tech game he gained more than 150 yards, besides showing great generalship in running his team.

FOOTBALL GAMES TOMORROW

- George Washington University vs. Randolph-Macon, at Van Ness Park. Georgetown vs. North Carolina, at Norfolk, Va. Gallaudet vs. Rock Hill, at Kendall Green, D. C. Army and Navy Preps vs. Tome, at Port Deposit, Md. Virginia vs. Bucknell, at Richmond. Yale vs. Army, at West Point. Harvard vs. Brown, at Cambridge. Princeton vs. Dartmouth, at Princeton. Pennsylvania vs. Lafayette, at Philadelphia. Carlisle vs. Syracuse, at Buffalo. Swarthmore vs. Johns Hopkins. Amherst vs. Massachusetts Aggies, at Amherst. Navy vs. Pennsylvania State, at Annapolis. Minnesota vs. Nebraska, at Minneapolis. Wisconsin vs. University of Ohio, at Milwaukee. Ohio Wesleyan vs. Dennison, at Gambier. Michigan vs. Vanderbilt, at Ann Arbor.

YALE AND WEST POINT IN BIG GAME TOMORROW

While none of tomorrow's football games will rank with that of last Saturday between Princeton and Cornell, or with the contests still to come, the importance of several of the gridiron battles is not to be overlooked as giving the best opportunity of the season of "getting a line" on the real standing of the big teams.

Already the prognosticators are busy figuring out the chances of the rivals for supreme honors and they will be greatly assisted, it is expected by tomorrow's games.

The Princeton-Cornell game of last Saturday is naturally regarded as a standard by which the new style of game can be gauged, for the reason that it was the first meeting of teams of real merit, about evenly matched, where each was obliged to use its best tactics to win.

Cornell, in the early stages of the game, showed more complete mastery of the new system and fairly played

Princeton off its feet. Then the Tigers rallied, showed that they, too, knew a thing or two about the possibilities for ground gaining by revised plays, and won out in a hard-fought battle.

The game was not without its misplays and the ease with which forward passes and on-side kicks were blocked at times showed the inherent weakness of the new system unless team work is well developed. But the losses were about evenly divided, and with this taken into consideration, the spectators voted with practical unanimity the 1906 game a success.

Not alone was the Princeton-Cornell game worthy of note. The Pennsylvania-Carlisle contest was of prime importance for several reasons. First, it showed conclusively that Pennsylvania this year can hardly claim to rank as one of the "Big Four." Her defeat by Swarthmore and poor showing against other weaker teams might have been condoned, but when the Indians rolled up a score of 24 to 6 against the Red and Blue, prognosticators at once decided that Pennsylvania is not a quantity to be reckoned with this year.

Pennsylvania may come back, but it is a hard row the Quakers have to hoe to get into anything like championship form. This victory has brought the Indians to the fore in a way which cannot be overlooked. Their game was played with full attention to the new style play. It carried the Quakers off their feet and, as the Indians seem peculiarly adapted to the new style, it is freely predicted that Carlisle may soon become a quantity to be reckoned with in settling the football championship.

HONORS IN REGATTA GO TO SOPHOMORES

Juniors Led All Way But Lose, in Garrison Finish, by Six Feet.

Despite the biting winds which blew over the upper Potomac rowing course yesterday afternoon a large number of spectators were spread along the shore to see the Georgetown Sophomore eight-oared crew defeat the Juniors by less than six feet in the annual class regatta.

Although the winners had three of the varsity men, Le Plant, Fitzgerald, and Lynch, the betting favored the Juniors on the form showed in the trial spins that have been in progress during the past few weeks.

The Juniors were the first to get under way, and from the start until but a few yards from the finish, led the Sophomores. At the end of the first mile there was a boat length of water between the two, with the Freshies trailing along in the rear.

At the close of the ceremonies, those in charge attempted to arrange a match between the winners and a picked crew, but several of the oarsmen were due at football practice, and it had to be called off.

Personnel of Crews. Sophomore—Coxswain, De Gulgne; stroke, Fitzgerald; 7, Le Plant (captain); 6, Lynch; 5, Montgomery; 4, Fitzpatrick; 3, Bensing; 2, C. Stuart; bow, Culkis.

Junior—Coxswain, Jeffs; stroke, Dowd; 7, Moran (captain); 6, Spaulding; 5, Riley; 4, Crumme; 3, O'Neil; 2, Smith; bow, Kelly.

Freshman—Coxswain, Brynes; stroke, Chapman; 7, Cronin; 6, Murray; 5, T. Stuart; 4, A. McKinney; 3, Pallen; 2, Halliargeon; bow, Duff.

Kane, the left-hander, who was turned down by the Phillies, made a wonderful record in the Southern and Tri-State Leagues. Kane did not receive a fair trial from Duffy.

GANS AND HERMAN ON NEW YEAR DAY

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—The Joe Gans-Kid Herman fight is now assured. Word was received from Matchmaker M. W. Riley, of the Casino Athletic Club, of Tonopah, Nev., today, accepting the match for New Year Day.

Riley wired that as soon as Gans and Herman can come together to sign final articles the club will post the $25,000 offered for the match, with the leading bank there, and wire the transportation and training expenses.

Gans is at present at Cincinnati, where he is doing theatrical work. He wired E. Jay Geiger, a Chicago sporting editor, that as soon as the club accepted the match he would cancel all engagements and start work for the battle.

W. E. Smith, of Coatesville, Pa., will start Judex, 2:38 1/2, in the free-for-all at Hoboken, N. J., today. He is up against Angus Pointer, Jennie W. Hullock M. and a dozen other good ones.
