

One Faint Hope Left Detroit in Games for World Pennant

CUBS EAGER TO END SERIES WITH STRAIGHT VICTORIES

Don't Want Their Triumph Attributed to Luck.

Mullin Against Lundgren or Brown Detroit's Hope.

By JAMES CRUSINBERRY.

DETROIT, Oct. 12.—Only luck can save the Detroit Tigers from a shut-out in the series for the baseball championship of the world.

The Cubs' team is so much stronger, as demonstrated in the four contests played, that they will surely defeat the Jennings squad in the final game, unless Dame Fortune steps into the contest and smiles on them. They haven't the ability to win a single game from Frank Chance's sturdy men when the luck breaks with Chance. Detroit has exhausted its resources already, and the record is three defeats and one tie. Jennings hasn't another charge to fire at the National League, and the series will end today, unless, as before stated, luck jumps into the fray and favors the Detroiters.

Jennings' Plans Smashed.

The plans of Hugh Jennings have been smashed at every turn since the battle started last Tuesday. He has not guessed right one single time. He failed to secure the Chicagoans by his daring, and when he decided to resort to a hitting game, he was hit down miserably. He had banked on the pitching of Wild Bill Donovan, and the Cubs slaughtered him. His left-handers failed, and George Mullin was unable to turn the trick. He has nothing left now but a tiny, faint hope that Mullin will come back today and slip over one victory. After that, it's all over.

The Chicago Nationals have surprised the world in their playing of the entire series. They have mastered the Tigers at every turn of the game. They have beaten them at hitting and fielding, and have outclassed them as base-runners. They have been even superior in the battery work, and Detroit has never once excelled in any department of the game.

Detroit Spirit Gone.

The result of such a slathering in three straight days had rapped the fighting spirit from the players of the Detroit team. For a time yesterday they showed a deal of fight. It was when they were one run to the good, and they immediately saw victory on the verge, and they were ready to fight, and fighting out the odd game next week. But when the Cubs so easily pushed over a couple of runs, the Tigers were through. They actually quit, and it was not for the first time. They were through four runs, and they were through a score of 6 to 1.

The Tigers' hope is hanging by a tiny thread today, and they are ready to fall down miserably. They have banked on George Mullin to preserve that thread. He will have to handle things with greater care, however, for if he lets up for one minute, the Cubs are sure to snap the last chance.

Cubs Want Four Straight.

In order to make it clear to the world that they are the best in existence, the players of the Chicagoans are going into the battle today with a terrible determination to win, and end it all with four straight victories. Then none of the wise fans can hold that they won it on luck. A team could hardly be so lucky as that. Four victories and one tie should demonstrate to the critics all over the world that the Cubs are the greatest ball players in the country, and for that reason they are going to put forth every effort to end it all today.

Manager Chance is counting on catching Mordecai Brown in the pitching box today to clean up the series. Brown says he is ready, and his trainer, Jack McCormick, also states that he believes the great three-fingered twirler will go the limit and never flinch. It is such a case, it is hard to believe that Detroit can win, even though Mullin is going good, for Mullin at his best was never good, and Mordecai Brown is a pitcher who has never been so good as he is now.

Carl Lundgren, who also has made a grand record this summer, is well timed for the game today, as well as being in the best of form. He is being begged for by the fans of Detroit. It might be a bit safer to send Lundgren in, as he has been in fine condition for some time and has kept out of the series this time simply because he was not needed.

Overall Beat Donovan.

Big Overall was superior to "Wild Bill" Donovan in their second meeting. Overall had it on the veteran Detroit flinger all the time in the contest here. He was put into the game because he wanted to show to the fans that he could be a better pitcher than the great American Leaguer. Chance proved to the fans that Overall because the big California boy is in perfect condition, and was not a bit injured by his struggles in the opening game of the series. In fact, he says he could go in and pitch again today if needed.

Overall Had Better Speed and More Curve Than Donovan.

Overall had better speed and more curve than Donovan. The Detroit batters could get over five hits off him, and only three of these were clean. The Cubs made seven beauties off "Wild Bill." Each pitcher gave two bases on balls. Overall got a little better support, and the entire Chicago team was better in fielding than was Detroit.

World's Champ Notes.

Just before the game began Mayor William Thompson, of Detroit, presented to the Cubs a gold watch on behalf of local admirers. Donovan, the hope of Detroit, failed miserably. He was expected to stem the tide of defeat, but was an easy mark for the Chicago sluggers. Detroit carried off premier honors for enthusiasm. Purchasers of admission tickets began streaming out toward Bennett Park before 7 o'clock. Two hours later there were four long lines waiting for the ticket windows to open. Baseball fanatics of Blue Island, a distant suburb of Chicago, resorted to carrier pigeons to carry the news of the game by innings. A pigeon fancier, accompanied by Major Gobel and a number of fans, took forty pigeons to the ball park and turned them loose after each inning to carry the news of the game to Blue Island. Detroit yesterday witnessed the first world's championship contest in twenty years. In 1887 Detroit, then a National League team, with its famous "Big Four" in the lineup, won the title, defeating St. Louis eleven games to four. The betting before the game was 2 to 1 in favor of Chicago. After the contest the odds were increased to 5 to 1, with very few Detroit takers.

Western Maryland and G. W. U. Today.

The long delayed opening of the George Washington season takes place this afternoon at Van Ness Park when the Hatchettes meet Western Maryland. The Western Maryland aggregation presents a formidable line-up, as was shown when it held Dickinson to 6-0 in a recent game at Carlisle. The Buff and Blue line-up will be entirely different from that which went in the field against the Navy Yard team early in the season. The team has been progressing rapidly under Coach Nyell's instruction and promises to make a good showing today. The game will start at 3:30 o'clock. George Washington will probably line up as follows: Whitten, left end; Alston, left tackle; Brooks or Couden, left guard; Harralson, center; Holmes, right guard; Sommers, right tackle; Neale or O'Neill, right end; McDermott or Mackey, quarterback; Hough or Robbins, left halfback; Gunning or Tullios, right halfback; Baker or Hocton, fullback.

Turner-Monday Match a Draw.

Joe Turner and Young Monday wrestled twenty-five minutes at the Lyceum last night without a fall. It was quite a busy match, more or less blood was sloped over the stage. Turner sat down on an incandescent bulb in the footlights, that went off with a noise like Rob Roy Mackay expressing an opinion, Monday was tossed into the royal box, and much cuticle was scraped off the arms and backs of both athletes, to say nothing of a drop, which was damaged to the extent of 16 cents and the great wrath of "Governor" Kernan. Who had the better of the engagement is hard to say. There were no near falls, and the men were so evenly matched that neither was in serious danger. They wrestled entirely too much time tussling around off the mat, where a fall would not have counted, and in future matches, at the same place, it would be well to arm Referee Pat O'Connor with a stout club with which to notify the gladiators that they are getting out of bounds and the audience out of patience.

DETROIT PLAYERS RATTLED

Adrian Joss Points Out Glaring Breaks in Fielding.

By ADRIAN JOSS.

Cleveland's Star Pitcher.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 12.—In yesterday's game the Tigers' all-around play was bad. Overall pitched good ball, while "Wild Bill" was hit steadily. The Tigers' only run was earned, being scored on Cobb's triple, followed by Rossmann's single. The Cubs' first two runs were the result of an error, a walk, a sacrifice, and a long fly. The most glaring offense by the Tigers happened in the seventh inning, which opened by Schulte beating out a hit to Donovan. On the next play Tinker bunted to Dogovan, and some one in the infield yelled to Hill to throw to second. He did, trying to force Schulte, when it seemed with even a perfect throw his chances for getting his man were slim. Overall then bunted, and O'Leary threw badly to the plate on Slagle's grounder. Had Donovan thrown to first on Tinker's bunt he would have retired the side without a run.

Another Bad Break.

Another bad piece of work by the Tigers happened in the same inning, when Rossmann found no one covering him after he had picked up Scheckard's bunt. The fielding star for Detroit was Cobb, who made a couple of fine catches on line hits and long flies. Considerable feeling was shown by members of both teams toward each other. This fact was noticeable when Cobb slid into Chance at first on his hit to Tinker in the first inning. Nothing short of a wonderful spurt and greatly improved form by the Tigers will ever give them a look-in, as with the Cubs three games to the good they will enter into the rest of the contest with confidence which always goes to a winning team.

Eastern's Team Shows Effects of Coaching.

Wins From Central by Better Old and New Football.

For the first time since 1897 when the football eleven from Eastern won the Interhigh championship, Eastern defeated the Dark Blue and White teams in a raggedly played but stubbornly fought contest yesterday afternoon by the small margin of 6 to 0. This is the second time that a team from the Capitol Hill school has ever had the honor of humbling the pride of Central. In '97 it took two of the most fiercely contested games in the history of Interhigh football for Eastern to win the coveted title. The first game that year resulted in a 9 to 0 score, and the second went to the Easterners by 4 to 0. The victory yesterday was a big surprise to the followers of both teams, and makes the winners strong contenders for this year's championship. Central's defeat reduces the chances of that team to a minimum, for it is to be remembered that the playing off of the Interhigh school sports is a thing unknown.

Central Outplayed.

The Central team that lost to Eastern, with perhaps one or two exceptions, was outplayed to the man by Coach Jim Kerr's well-trained squad. Not only were the O Streeters outplayed in nearly every way, but the winners demonstrated that they had been well drilled in every department. In all but punting, in which department Captain Hamilton carried off the honors, Eastern excelled. Time after time the fumbles, punts and forward passes, which went astray, would the Eastern men rush into a scrimmage and emerge with the ball, and it is this one fact which tells most clearly why Central lost. The losers' handling of punts, a most important factor in the "new game," was miserable. On not more than two occasions did the Central trio playing back for kicks retain the leather. Either it was misjudged or it was fumbled, and the Eastern men who fell on the ball.

Eastern Uses Forward Pass.

Central attempted the forward pass but oace and failed. Eastern succeeded beautifully in working this sensational long pass five times, with a score of from 10 to 20 yards in straight football. All the losers were to be seen in sharp contrast to the Easterners, who were given the Eastern backfield, the Central players appeared to know not the first rudiments of this important phase. When interference was at times afforded, the men from the Capitol Hill school failed to keep far enough ahead of the man with the ball to give him room for individual work in picking openings, and before it had moved two yards it would go down in a heap as a result. Still, Central team is badly handicapped through the loss of several of its best men on the eve of the game. The loss of these men, however, cannot be said to have been altogether responsible for the defeat.

Losers Were Game.

Although Central was outplayed, the men from that school were far from outgamed. On three separate occasions the Dark Blue and White eleven, fighting stubbornly and with spirit born of despair, held its opponents within its five-yard line. At one time in the early part of the first half and just after Martin had been pushed over the line for Eastern, Central showed a flash of what it might have done. Receiving the kick-off, Hamilton, Gripp, and McKeever tore off toward a touchdown in a perfect whirlwind of end and offensive plays, but after rushing the ball into Eastern territory, a costly fumble was made, and Eastern again carried the ball into Central lines and down to within fifteen yards of another touchdown, when the timekeeper's whistle ended the half.

A. S. Mattingly and L. L. Harben, of the Columbia Club, and G. C. Laffery and O. Horstman, of the Chevy Chase Club, meet this morning, and the survivors will play off the finals this afternoon.

Eynon Slumped.

The surprise of the day came when E. B. Eynon, whose work was the feature of Thursday's play, was defeated by Mattingly in the morning round. Both players put up a steady game until Eynon lost on the ninth hole by toppling his ball into the water. He took five, while Mattingly made it in four. Play was started this morning in the handicap stroke medal competition.

BASEBALL AT ACADEMY.

If wonders happen and Chicago falls to take the fourth straight game from Detroit today, necessitating another game tomorrow, there will be a reproduction of the Sunday game at the Academy. An automatic diamond and a special wire giving every play as it occurs will enable the Washington fans to see the game almost as well as if they were holding down a seat at the Chicago grounds.

BASEBALL AT ACADEMY.

The opening smoker of the fall season will be given tonight in the pretty home of the Washington Canoe Club, just above the Aqueduct Bridge, on the river. Two years ago the entertainment committee of the club adopted the policy of giving an occasional musical smoker and dance in the winter months. On the club, with its big open fireplace, should be taxed to its utmost capacity to hold its members and their guests. On the program will be the Apollo quartet, composed of Messrs. Mosher, Rodrick, Holland, and Myers; Ernest Schayer, "Cap" Morsell, Charles J. Murphy, Donald McLeod, orchestra; J. A. McCreery, William Clabaugh, Phillip Seanting, T. Brocke Ames, jr., with Harry Wheaton Howard at the piano.

Columbia and Chevy Chase Players to Meet in Semi-Finals.

First Annual Interclass Meet a Pronounced Success.

The class of '09 carried off the honors in the first interclass meet of the Georgetown Prep School, held at Georgetown Field yesterday afternoon. The class of '09 scored a total of 67 points, and '08 stood second, with a total of 36. T. Smith scored 20 points for the winning class, and he was easily the individual star. The seniors gave '09 a hard rub for the relay race, but the latter won the event by a narrow margin. Although the track yesterday was slow, the time was good, in view of the conditions, and the meet conclusively showed that the Preps are in possession of material which only needs developing to make an excellent showing in the indoor meets this winter.

An Annual Event.

It is the purpose of the athletic authorities at the Prep School to hold an annual interclass meet. A handsome banner was presented by Spalding & Bro. to the winning class, and this will be the trophy at stake in the annual competitions.
