Central—At the school, Monday evening.
Central concert—At the school, tonight.
Western—At the school, Monday evening.

With the largest graduating classes the five Washington high schools have ever known, recitations ended this afternoon with the ringing of the dismissal bell at 2 o'clock. For those who have successfully completed the year's work today closes the school year. Tomorrow will see only those who have been "conditioned" in one or more studies attending in an attempt to make up what they have missed.
Technical has already held its class night exercises for both the two and four-year courses. The four-year pupils celebrated appropriately in the assembly hall of the Business High School Tuesday night. Last night the two-year class held its exercises.

Beginning with tomorrow evening, when the Business class exercises will be held in the assembly hall of the school, until the graduation of pupils of Eastern, Central, and Western in Convention Hall Wednesday evening, the next six days with the exception of Sunday will be given over to class celebrations by the remaining four schools.
The graduates and the programs for commencement day are announced as follows:

ing is not yet completed. The Technical graduates of both classes will receive their diplomas Friday afternoon at 4:30 o'clock in the New National Theater.
The principal, Dr. Meyers, will preside, and present the diplomas. The Business graduation exercises will be held in the New National Theater Tuesday afternoon, at 4:30 o'clock. Principal Davis will preside, and present the diplomas.
Wednesday evening in Convention Hall those who have successfully completed the four-year academic courses at Eastern, Central, and Western will receive their diplomas. This year's graduation from the academic courses is larger than any previous class, and will number approximately 280. Last year's class numbered 215, and was larger than any preceding class.
Capt. James F. Oyster, president of the board, will preside. The program will be as follows: Invocation, by the Rev. James H. Taylor, of the Central Presbyterian Church; address by Han-nus Taylor, special counsel for the Spanish Treaty Claims Commission; award of diplomas by Thomas H. Allen, superintendent of public schools, and award of diplomas by the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia. Music will be furnished by the Marine Band.

LOCUSTS OF EXODUS.
The majority of those who have written upon the subject are of the opinion that they were "real locusts." The locust used to be a very common food in eastern countries, and are still eaten in many localities. The locusts of the other authorities, however, it is contended that the "Salvini" used by the writer of the Exodus means quails, and not locusts.—New York American.

McKinley Commencement.
The commencement exercises of the McKinley Manual Training school will be held tomorrow afternoon at the National Theater. The invocation will be made by the Rev. Dr. Samuel H. Woodrow, pastor of the First Congregational Church. Merrill E. Gates, L.L.D., former president of Amberst College, who is in charge of the exercises, will be invited to make the address. Ph. D. vice president of the Board of Education.
Alexander T. Stuart, Superintendent of Schools, will award the scholarships, and the diplomas will be presented by William V. Cox, of the Board of Education.
The class exercises of the members of the two-year special course were held last night at the Business High School.
The program was as follows:
Address by President David L. Brewster, class history, Miss Leah R. Lucas; Miss Virginia Lewis, Dr. George E.
Myers; class poem, Miss Virginia Pumpfrey; class prophecy, Fred G.
Hoffman; recitation, Miss Virginia Lewis.
The program was interspersed with musical selections by members of the class and the Tech orchestra.
The graduating class held its class day exercises Tuesday evening, with the following program: Fred G. Hoffman, principal, presided; class history, recitation, Ralph W. Frey; prophecy, A.-I.

DAVID B. HILL SAILS;
FIRST OCEAN VOYAGE
Renounces Politics to Enjoy Outing He Has Planned for Ten Years.
NEW YORK, June 11.—David B. Hill will start for Europe this afternoon on the Baltic, of the White Star line. It will be his first trip across the Atlantic, and he has been planning it for more than a year.
His departure at the beginning of a national campaign leaves no doubt in the minds of those who felt that he might get back in the political harness that he has finally retired from all political activity. The Denver convention, on July 7, will be the first national convention of his party in more than thirty years that he has not attended, either as a delegate or a potential leader. Two months ago, in discussing his trip with friends, he said he had been looking forward to such a journey for more than ten years.
He arrived at the Hoffman House yesterday with his secretary and a courier.
He has set no time limit on himself. He will visit the principal cities of England and the Continent, and will stay all summer if he likes it. For the first time in many years he declined last night to see newspaper men. He sent his secretary downtown to tell the reporters that he hoped to have a pleasant trip and expected no red fire either at the pier when he started or at home when he returned.

CAPE COD BLAZING
WITH FOREST FIRES
Twenty Men Given Up for Lost Find Refuge in Clay Pit.
NORTHEASTHAM, Mass., June 11.— Cape Cod is praying for rain today. For more than two months the ground has received scarcely a drop of moisture, and forest fires have been burning intermittently for a week. Yesterday morning the flames reached the beach and the worst seemed over, when a shift of wind started the conflagration in a new direction.
Today the whole country between Northeastham and South Wellfleet is in flames or ashes. The fire wardens, with a small army of volunteers, have been able to save the dwellings in the path of the flames, and so far as is known no deaths have resulted.
Hemmed in all night in a clay pit, while forest fires raged around them, twenty men escaped with their lives owing to a fortunate change in the wind. The men had been given up for lost when they arrived here and told of their experience. They had been fighting the flames, when suddenly a wall of fire bore down upon them and forced them to take shelter in the pit.
There they spent the night, singed by the heat and half suffocated by the smoke, expecting each moment to be their last.

STEINHEIL MURDER
STILL UNSOLVED
Paris' Police Fail in Their Efforts to Belittle Death of Artist.
PARIS, June 11.—Unless the Paris police come to the front quickly with evidence to support their claim that the recent murder of Adolphe Stein-heil, an artist, and his mother-in-law, Mrs. Japy, was the work of common burglars, the public will accept as true the theory of Henri Rochefort that the crime was political.
Rochefort's sweeping denunciation of the police and charges of intrigue raised a storm of comment and Parisians at first were loath to credit his statements.
The position of Mme. Steinheil in the case is one of its perplexing features.
She, too, was attacked by the murderers, and though nearly two weeks have elapsed since the crime, her stories of the attack are still so inconsistent that the belief is general that she is trying to shield certain persons.
The efforts of the police to belittle the crime have failed utterly and the Paris public is talking about it more now than on the morning following its discovery.

SAYS $500 PER MONTH
WILL NOT KEEP HER
Millionaire's Wife Raises Her Request for Alimony—Gold Littered House.
DENVER, Col., June 11.—A train of lawyers, witnesses and private detectives are working to ascertain the income of Joseph Terry, the millionaire mine owner, whose wife has sued him for divorce. Mrs. Terry first asked $50 a month, but later she raised the amount, on the ground that she could not support herself on that sum.
Mrs. Terry has purchased several hundred dollars' worth of goods, and a few more hundred dollars' worth of bonnets and other necessities, and Mr. Terry says the bills had been coming in so thick that he has been unable to figure out how much money he has. Terry alleges that his wife's bills were augmented by the fact that she had to take treatment for alcoholism.
One of the statements brought forth in the litigation was that Mr. Terry used to keep sacks of gold dust and nuggets lying about the house in a careless manner.
CAPITAL GIRLS GRADUATE.
DOUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 11.—
The young Washington girls, Estelle Dunnells, Catherine Curtis, and Caroline Shepard were graduated at Vassar college yesterday. With others in their class they will hold their farewell reception at the college tonight.
