

TENNESSEE REACHES HOME IN WHIRLWIND

Seventeen Girls on Way to Europe Stop to "Do" Capital.

All smiling and beautiful a perfect avalanche of animation descended on Washington today, in the form of seventeen young girls, all Southern beauties, comprising the Nashville Tennessee's European party. As the guests of the Tennessee, the girls are starting on a tour of Europe. They only stopped off in Washington and are doing the "City Beautiful" in whirlwind fashion.

From the moment they walked into the Ebbitt House this morning they owned the place and every attaché, body and soul.

After a hasty luncheon at the hotel, they were off again for Mt. Vernon. While there they planted a small hickory tree on the tomb of Washington, which was brought by them from the tomb of Andrew Jackson, at the Hermitage. Miss Gretha Williams, of Birmingham, Ala., did the honors as speechmaker.

J. B. MILLER ILL; TRIAL POSTPONED

Continuance of Contempt Proceedings Is Granted by Judge Anderson.

Because of the illness of J. Barton Miller, Justice Anderson, of the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia, this morning granted a continuance of the contempt proceedings instituted by William E. Ambrose, receiver of the First Co-operative Building Association, against the deceased treasurer, Mr. Ambrose agreeing to postponement. No date was set on which the matter shall be brought up.

Dr. K. Shute and Dr. George W. Wood, the committee appointed by Justice Wright last week to determine whether Mr. Miller might be removed from his home without endangering his life, were present, but did not make an official report.

Attorney John E. Laskey, counsel for Mr. Miller, stated, however, that Dr. Shute concurs with Dr. Wood, who is Miller's attending physician, that the man was too sick to be removed.

600 CHILDREN GIVEN OUTING AT BEACH

Youngsters Are Guests of Chesapeake Beach Railway Co.—All Attractions Free.

Six hundred Washington children will spend all day tomorrow at Chesapeake Beach, and will have full sway at the popular resort and over all its attractions. They will be the guests of the Chesapeake Beach Railway Company. They may revel in the water, play in the sand, ride on the roller coaster, and do anything else they please. They will realize the ambition of every child's life—to have everything as they wish at the beach. All of the privilege holders have joined with the railway in an effort to make the day one to be long remembered by the children.

The children will be under the charge of Miss Green, acting secretary of the Associated Charities, who will be carried in special cars to the District line station and there board a special train for the beach. S. L. Heacock, of the railroad company, will be on hand to see that the children get about everything they want, as this is the company's treat.

RESIDENCE YARDS TO BE INSPECTED

penalty of the law has not been decided. District Attorney Baker said that his office had not been requested yet to push the cases before Judge Oukam, but that he was prepared to go on with the cases as they were presented to him by the Health Department. No warrants have as yet been made out against proprietors of hotels, but inspectors today continued their investigations of certain hostilities and will, it is said, request warrants as soon as the twelve cases now pending have been disposed of.

Find Soja Counter Dirty.

A warrant was recommended also for the proprietor of a drug store in the northwest. In this place the soda-water fountain, counter, ice-cream ladies and glasses are alleged to be unclean. The inspection is extending also to stables, and warrants will be asked for two proprietors of stables, which, it is said, have violated the sanitary regulations.

As the result of an inspection of the bakeries, the inspector discovered conditions which he has recommended be rectified by an additional inspector before action is taken. In one bakery, the lard barrel, it was said, was found open and surrounded by flies, the ceiling was covered with dust and cobwebs, and a lavatory opened into the bakery. In another the stable was in close proximity to the bakery, and flies swarmed from one to another.

Two Lunchrooms Close.

The proprietors of two lunchrooms have reported to the Health Department that they are unable to comply with the regulations and have closed their doors. A watch will be kept on these places to see that they are not again opened for business without making necessary improvements.

In accordance with recommendations made some time ago by the health committee, the Commissioners have served notice on W. W. Riley to vacate the premises used as a fish wharf for failing to make certain improvements in the interests of the public.

Corporation Counsel E. H. Thomas was directed today to take the necessary legal proceedings. Among the improvements suggested by the Commissioners are connections with the public sewers, concrete flooring in all the fish houses, and other repairs in the buildings necessary to make them sanitary. It is estimated that the repairs will cost approximately $3,500.

The food inspectors today continued their investigation of cafes and restaurants in all sections of the city. Many of the places which have hitherto escaped examination will be investigated and reports made. Those places already warned will be gone over again, and a minute report concerning their progress in complying with the law will be made.

ASTOUNDS MOURNERS BY SUICIDE STORY

Friend of Two Killed by Train, Tells of Their Compact to Take Lives.

GREENFIELD, Ind., July 20.—The relatives of David B. Hall and Ernest Harper, the two young men who were killed by a Pennsylvania train late Thursday night, were dumfounded yesterday afternoon when John Grigsby, a well-known young man, entered the room where the bodies lay and in the presence of the mourners and the Rev. Conde Hill, pastor of the Philadelphia (Ind.) Methodist church, announced that the two young men only a week before had told him that they intended to commit suicide together.

Grigsby was not excited when he called and asked the Rev. Mr. Hill permission to make a statement which he said the families ought to know. The minister consented, and the young man, standing beside the dead bodies of the two young men, and in the presence of twenty relatives of the victims, told of Hall and Harper having said to him that they intended to die together.

The two young men were intimate, and Coroner Allen, at the inquest today, will try to substantiate Grigsby's story. The men were killed in a buggy at Leonard's crossing.

TUBERCULOSIS CURE HELPFUL TO MANY

ALBANY, N. Y., July 20.—Raybrook State hospital, for the treatment of incipient tuberculosis, has now passed the experimental stage, according to the report of the special committee of the State board of charities, which was made public today.

The large amount of recoveries reported from the institution, it is claimed, shows the treatment to be most efficacious, and especially when the patients received are in the incipient stage.

In addition to its curative work, the committee claims that it is also doing educational work, the cured patients repeating to their friends at home the lessons learned in the hospital. The main question now, the committee says, is to determine who should be admitted.

Speaking of the institution, the report says: "It is not desirable to take patients from their homes and place them in institutions similar to Raybrook. Far better if some local hospital, provided for the city and counties, as these will give the patients the opportunities which they require."

DROPPED COFFEE Doctor Gains 20 Pounds on Postum.

A physician of Washington, D. C., says of his coffee experience: "For years I suffered with periodical headaches which grew more frequent until they became almost constant. So severe were they that sometimes I was almost frantic. I was pale, constipated, irritable, sleepless, my memory poor. I trembled, and my thoughts were often confused.

"My wife, in her wisdom, believed coffee was responsible for these ills and urged me to drop it. I tried many times to do so, but was its slave.

"Finally wife bought a package of Postum and persuaded me to try it, but she made it same as ordinary coffee and I was disgusted with the taste. (I make this emphatic because I fear many others have had the same experience.) She was distressed at her failure and we carefully read the directions, made it right, boiled it full 15 minutes after boiling complete, and with good cream and sugar, I liked it—it invigorated and seemed to nourish me.

"That was about a year ago. Now I have no headaches, am not nervous, sleepless and irritability are gone, my brain clear and my hand steady. I have gained 20 lbs. and feel I am a new man.

"I do not hesitate to give Postum due credit. Of course, dropping coffee was the main thing, but I had dropped it before, using chocolate, cocoa and other things to no purpose.

"Postum not only seemed to act as an invigorant, but as an article of nourishment giving me the needed phosphates and albumens. This is no imaginary tale. It can be substantiated by my wife and her sister, who both were of about 70.

"I write this for the information and encouragement of others, and with a feeling of gratitude to the inventor of Postum.

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich., Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

TRACTION BOARD GETS SECOND SLUR

Washington Railway and Electric Snubs It—Appeals to Commerce Commission.

Another slur was cast on the legal existence of the District Electric Railway Commission today when the Washington Railway and Electric Company notified the former body, in effect, that it would ignore its existence. This followed closely upon the heels of the action of the Capital Traction Company in expressing a similar policy of ignoring the requests of the traction board.

Both of the two principal street railway companies enjoying franchises in the city proper have now taken issue with the Interstate Commerce Commission by refusing to recognize the powers which that body has given to the District Electric Railway Commission.

Appeals to Higher Board. Twice snubbed since Saturday, the commission, through its executive officer, H. C. Eddy, has appealed to the Interstate Commerce Commission, requesting that body to secure from the railway companies the information which it had sought and which has been refused. The commission has no intention that they are not ready to accede to the demands of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

The question is one of refusal to submit to the powers which that commission has given to the traction board under what the larger commission asserts to be a clear statement in the statutes.

General Harries Replies. As in the case of the Capital Traction Company's action in refusing information, the District Electric Railway Commission has requested the Washington Railway and Electric Company to give it the schedules and number of cars. The company, through Gen. George H. Harries, its vice president, wrote a reply, received today, that the company had been advised by counsel to give such information only at the expressed wish of the Interstate Commerce Commission, adding that the company would act in such matters, in accordance with the advice of counsel, to what it considers the law, by the Interstate Commerce Commission of a specific act, which was the basis of a complaint.

In other words, the Washington Railway and Electric Company says that although the Interstate Commerce Commission has given the traction board power to act in such matters, the railway company, like the Capital Traction Company, denies the right of the Interstate Commerce Commission to grant such powers.

COURTS PROTECT ORDER OF ELKS

NEW YORK, July 20.—Supreme Court Justice Morschauer, at White Plains today filed his decision in the suit brought by the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks for an injunction restraining the improvement of the street and Protective Order of Elks of the World, an organization composed of negroes, and the grand lodge of the latter order, from using the name or title of the plaintiff, "or any name or title similar or identical thereto, or a colorable imitation thereof, or in any way used as a part of the corporation of the Elks" and "Elks" in any way.

Justice Morschauer grants the injunction asked for.

AIRSHIP SPEEDING UNDER LAW'S BAN

Mayor of Kissimmee, Fla., Which Never Saw a Flying Machine, Fixes Penalty at $500. KISSIMMEE, Fla., July 20.—Though no one in this town ever has seen an airship, Mayor T. M. Murphy has prepared an ordinance with a $500 fine for over-speeding them, and for the purposes of its enforcement, would have the town's jurisdiction proclaimed over twenty-five miles of air, straight up.

Section two of the ordinance as drawn fixes a 100 tax on all dirigibles, and section three provides for the purchase of an aeroplane in which the town marshal will chase offenders.

MAN BADLY BEATEN, POLICE SAY ROBBERY

PITTSBURG, Pa., July 20.—Suffering from internal injuries, his nose and left leg broken, and with many cuts and bruises on his face and body, a man supposed to be William M. Dickinson, of 116 Walnut street, Philadelphia, was found unconscious here today near the Here's a Hint bridge.

The police here suspect that he was robbed and then thrown over the bridge.

SEVEN HOUSES SOLD; BRING GOOD PRICES

Biggest Realty Deal of Summer Is Put Through by T. J. Fisher.

One of the largest residential property real estate deals of the summer has just been completed in the sale of seven brick houses on Ames street northeast to a man from Scotland whose name is withheld for the present.

The cost was $3,500 to $3,500 each. The sale was made by Thomas J. Fisher & Co.

These houses were built by the Kennedy and Davis Company on land which they had bought to improve. The houses are of brick, Flemish bond design, each with six rooms and bath, concrete cellar, and furnace heat. They are of colonial design, with frontage of 20 feet on Ames street. They are known as "box houses," as they do not adjoin any alleys.

Ames street is north of East Capitol street, between Fourteenth and Fifteenth streets and A and B streets northeast. Kennedy & Davis are now building on the land at North Carolina avenue and B street northeast.

The old English bungalow on the south side of Northampton street, in Chevy Chase, has been sold through the same office to John W. Gardner. The price paid was $7,500. A Spanish bungalow on the north side of Northampton street was sold to Thomas S. Merrill for $7,500.

Thomas J. Fisher & Co., incorporated, have also sold for George E. Fleming and Anson Taylor, trustees, two two-family apartment houses on Massachusetts avenue southeast, the price being $5,000 each. The purchasers will hold this property for investment purposes.

The following lots have been sold during the past few days in Chevy Chase: 100 feet front on Connecticut avenue, price $2,000, purchaser's name being withheld for the present; 120 feet front on the south side of Quincy street, section 2, to S. J. Venable, price $3,500; 120 feet front on the north side of Primrose street, section 2, to Judge Sto bridge, price $3,500; 70 feet front on the north side of Primrose street, near the Brookville road, section 2, to M. R. Heister, 29 feet front to Wilbur J. Carr, adjoining his home on the south side of Grafton street, at 20 cents per square foot; 100 feet on the south side of Grafton street to Gen. W. W. Wallace, for $3,500.

The real estate corporation of Boss & Phelps has sold for F. Tillet the residence at 1421 Twentieth street north west to Miss Jennie Daley for about $6,000. The house contains ten rooms and bath and is heated by a furnace. It is now leased, and it is Miss Daley's intention to hold the property as an investment.

for the hospitality of the county government for inviting me to be present at this function. We have come up here to these courts for health and rest, and we are getting all that and inspiration, too."

After saying that he had not yet taken the waters or the medicated baths, Mr. Taft laughed and said: "Perhaps it is because I remember the epiphany the graveyard, which I took physic, and here I am. Or perhaps, when I heard that these baths first bring out and then cure all the ills in your body, I was afraid they might bring out so many ills in me that I might die and be reminded of a story in the Rev. Dr. Hill told me the other day.

"It seems that a wayfarer, after a long tramp, came to a house and asked for some supper. The good lady of the house told him she had nothing but a mince pie. He said he would eat that. In the middle of the night he was taken seriously ill with acute indigestion and the doctor told the lady of the house to tell him to prepare for his end.

"Are you afraid to die?" she asked him. "No, not at all," he answered, and as he lay under such circumstances."

Mr. Taft then pointed out that the courthouses of the United States are reminders of the blessings of having a free country.

Sorry He Left Bench. "In many other countries," he said, "The people regard the government as something hostile to them, something with which they have nothing to do. Here we are all a part of the government. We are called to jury service and we help in the administration of justice. And, as long as the people feel their right to do this, justice will be safe and the principles of our free government will be upheld. I cannot go into the atmosphere of a new building without feeling a sincere regret that I ever left the bench.

After thanking the audience once more for having invited him, Mr. Taft left the platform and was introduced by the Honorable Jake to the pretty girls, the mountaineers, and everybody in the court room, not to mention those who were being outside.

One of the gems of the scene was the speech of J. A. Rivercomb, a member of the board of county supervisors, who introduced Mr. Taft. He pounded the desk, shattered the ambient atmosphere with a militant fist, filled his speech with the word "distinguishing," and ran in about sixteen sentences beginning with "a man strikes below the belt. Lawyers are necessarily an influential body in any community. They are called to the bar to defend the innocent and to prosecute the guilty. If I don't know what would become of the country."
