

Bird's-Eye View of Constantinople, Scene of the Clash Between the Young Turks and Troops of the Sultan

SULTAN AT MERCY OF INVADING HORDE

Disheartened by Desertions His Guard Surrenders to Young Turks.

ered by the officer in disguise. This seems to strengthen the rumor that the Young Turks were actually inside the Yildiz Kiosk at the time of the fighting.
First of all, however, he asked to have an interview with his brother, Rechad Effendi, his successor, whom he has kept under guard for years. It is doubtful if the committee accedes to his request, some of them fearing that Abdul is trying a ruse by which he would be able to put to death the Prince Effendi. A consultation of the members of the committee will be held to pass on the advisability of sanctioning the meeting between the brothers.
Mr. Garguile, the first dragonian of the United States embassy, who was wounded in the fighting yesterday, is doing well.

Ohioans Missing.

TOLEDO, Ohio, April 25.—Relatives of Mrs. Lucy Morley Marden, who, with her husband, the Rev. Jesse Marden, was last heard of while near Adana, the center of the Turkish massacres, have received no message from her and fears are expressed today for their safety.
Marden is a physician and surgeon as well as a missionary and in a case of massacres like the present would be pressed into field service. Both are Ohioans.

YOUNG TURK MAJOR KEEPS CITY IN ORDER

LONDON, April 25.—A dispatch from Constantinople says such complete investment of Yildiz Kiosk has been effected by the Salonica army that it would seem to a layman as if the palace could be made to fall without great loss of life by the besiegers.
Scheftek Pasha and Niaz Bey have directed the laying out of the line of investment. A bill to the northeast of Yildiz has given an opportunity for establishing an especially strong battery, and enough other batteries have been placed behind earthworks thrown up within range of the palace to put it under control.
The Turkish fleet which was in the road of San Stefano during the fighting of Saturday morning, came into the Bosphorus during the evening and menaced Yildiz from the water side. Accordingly, an artillery installation at the palace would be terribly destructive. However, an infantry assault would be met with spirited resistance. It is by no means sure that the Salonica artillerymen would actually open fire from their batteries on the home of the Sultan, knowing he is within while Scheftek Pasha has also given pledges for the personal safety of Abdul Hamid.
In the city the magnificent order which is prevailing out is credited to Enver Bey, the Young Turk major, who is a young man of intelligence and energy.

NEW ENGLANDERS IN CONSTANTINOPLE

BOSTON, Mass., April 25.—Inquiries have been made at Cook's tourist agency for the following New England people who were among the tourists and residents of Constantinople when the city was captured by the Young Turks' army.
From Boston—Albert E. Bailey, Edward W. Moylan, Mrs. John F. Perry, Miss H. D. Perry, Mrs. William V. Wolcott, Miss Marion Davenport, Mr. and Mrs. Dorr, and Eugene Felt.

From Fall River—Mrs. M. J. Leary and Miss J. W. Weatherly.
From Seneca, Me.—Dr. H. L. Porter.

FIGHTING WATCHED BY TOURIST PARTY

No Americans Among the Injured Except Frederick Moore, Correspondent.

VIENNA, April 25.—Reports here say that thorough inquiry has failed to discover any American injured in the fighting yesterday through the streets of the Pera quarter, excepting Frederick Moore, correspondent of the New York Sun, who is now in the French hospital with a bullet wound in his neck, but whose condition is not dangerous.
Rear Admiral Colby M. Chester, U. S. N., retired, who with most of the Americans here saw much of the fighting near at hand, greatly praises the generalship of Scheftek Pasha and the discipline of his troops. Among the other Americans here are Mrs. Chester, Arthur Chester, and Mrs. Arthur Chester, Frank Carpenter, who is a magazine writer, and Miss Carpenter, Miss Mary Lee, and Junius Morgan, of New York, all of whom are safe.

A tourist party of Americans was having breakfast at the Pera Palace Hotel when the fighting began yesterday. Many of them joined the crowds of foreigners in the Grande Rue de Pera and saw much of the fighting. Late in the day they were all taken to a Lloyd steamer, which later left for Naples. The party included the following:
Mr. and Mrs. Richard H. Pyffe, of Detroit; the Rev. and Mrs. Alfred E. Craig, of Columbus, Ohio; Mrs. Clara E. O'Connor, of San Francisco; Albert E. Bailey, E. W. Moylan, Mrs. John F. Perry, Miss H. D. Perry, Mrs. William V. Wolcott, Miss Marion Davenport, Mr. and Mrs. Dorr and Eugene Felt, all of Boston; Mr. and Mrs. Ralph D. Smith, of Binghamton; Mr. and Mrs. Zenas L. White, of Columbus; Mrs. M. J. Leary and Miss J. W. Weatherly, of Fall River, Mass.; J. G. Stansfield, of Mt. Carmel, Ill.; Miss C. E. Sutton, of Aurora, Ind.; Mr. and Mrs. George Ramsey, of Paterson, N. J.; Merman Large, Miss Large, Thomas Cross, Mrs. W. Laver, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Selwyn, Mrs. F. E. Einstein, Mrs. W. H. Edwards, all of New York; Mrs. James Strange, St. Paul; Miss Nina Baldwin, Lyons, Iowa; Dr. H. L. Porter, Seneca, Me.; Mrs. G. C. Baldwin, Troy, N. Y.; Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Markley, Dr. I. W. Jones, R. C. Jones, Cincinnati; Louis Schenabel, Caldwell, Idaho; Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Kranshage, Boscobel, Wis.; the Rev. and Mrs. Hirschman, New York, and Mrs. G. W. Rash, Brooklyn.

TROOPS GUARDING EVERY LOOPHOLE

Apparently Impossible for Sultan to Escape From His Palace.

PARIS, April 25.—According to advices received here this morning, negotiations are still preventing an armed assault on the Sultan and his little guard in Yildiz Kiosk by the constitutional forces.

The Second and Third army corps from Salonica, under command of Mahmoud Scheftek Pasha, has completely covered the Yildiz palace with artillery, and late yesterday afternoon and during the night various vessels of the Turkish navy anchored opposite the palace and trained their guns upon it. This evidence that the navy will support the constitutional forces on land is a most important development, for it seems impossible now that the Sultan can escape from the palace.

Inside Story.

The inside story of the negotiations now under way is difficult for a European to discover, but the best information is that while the sultan, through Tewfik Pasha, is trying to make terms, the Young Turks are at the same time trying to obtain from the Sheikh-ul-Islam a fetwah or decree which will give an opportunity for legally disposing of Abdul Hamid.

A leader of the Young Turks admitted this morning that they are beginning to believe they will have to abandon hope of obtaining the fetwah from the Sheikh-ul-Islam, and will have to depose the Sultan by force. It is known that Halid Bey, the most active of the leaders of the Young Turks, who has been their representative in some of the conferences at Yildiz in the last twenty-four hours, believes that forcible deposition is the only course.

Fanatics Cause Trouble.

All the difficulty is caused by the feeling among tens of thousands of Moslem fanatics in Constantinople, partly shared by the Sheikh-ul-Islam, that the Young Turks' program of liberalization means the destruction of the Sheri courts and many of the institutions of Mohammedanism.
Reports are current this morning that the Sultan has agreed to abdicate, and other reports have it that he has agreed to surrender everything of his power excepting the empty title, but all this is unconfirmed.

MAN'S BODY FOUND IN BURNED SHANTY

Scene of Watchman's Death Shows Evidence of Desperate Struggle to Escape.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., April 25.—His flesh charred and blackened, the body of John Day, a watchman, sixty years old, was found in the ruins of a shanty early today by firemen.
He had evidently made a desperate attempt to escape from the burning building, as his body was found across the room where he slept.

ARMY AVIATORS SAFE, ALIGHT IN MARYLAND

Balloon With Officers Lahm, Fulois and Bamberger Comes to Earth Near Great Mills—Lack of Telegraph or Telephone Delays Communication.

railes from either railroad or telegraph connection, and as the telephone wires blown down March 4 had never been erected again, there was no communication to be had.
"After the balloon was packed and loaded on a farm wagon the three of us drove to Leonardtown in the hope of being able to communicate with the outside world by phone. There were no wires here either, and a relay was obtained and the drive to Cox, Md., began.
All Night Drive.
"The roads were deep in mud, dark, and in spots difficult of passage. Through practically the entire night we drove through the isolated section of country. It was nearly 4 o'clock this morning when Cox was reached, and we experienced another difficulty in obtaining lodging for the remainder of the early morning. Finally, however, this was secured, and as soon as it was possible to obtain a telegraph wire this morning Washington was communicated with. The trip across country had taken about seven hours.
Brigadier General Allen, chief of the Signal Corps, upon learning this morning that the balloonists had landed safely, said he had not felt any uneasiness, knowing the capabilities of the men, and that heated descents were at times unavoidable.
It is not customary for army officers to report to the department on these little air trips, and probably no uneasiness would have been felt in any quarter had it not been for Lieutenant Fulois' promise to his wife. As she expected the voyage to be over within a few hours, the assurance of friends that a descent probably had been made in an out-of-the-way place proved of little avail in allaying her fears during the long vigil.
Cox, Md., is about sixty miles south of Washington, and in a section which is thinly settled.

DOCTOR QUALIFIES AS REAL SKY PILOT

CANTON, Ohio, April 25.—Dr. W. H. Thompson, of Salem, Ohio, is a sky pilot now—but he had a hard time qualifying for the degree, according to dispatches received by the president of the Ohio Aero Club from Bulger, Pa., where Dr. Thompson landed after a ninety-mile trip in a balloon alone. According to the rules of the club, an aspirant for the title of ascensions in balloons with other people and then make one alone. Dr. Thompson was covering the last section of the requirements when he started from Canton yesterday.

The winds that struck his big gas bag made it heave and roll like a ship in a heavy sea, and when the doctor landed at Bulger he announced that the trip was the roughest in his experience. His balloon started from this city and remained swaying in the air several thousand feet above Canton ten minutes before starting rapidly for the southeast. The railroad distance from here to Bulger is 125 miles.

WAR VETERAN DIES ON WAY TO CHURCH

James B. Austin Expires in Drug Store—Well-Known Clerk.

James B. Austin, seventy-two years of age, a veteran of the civil war and for forty years a clerk in the Treasury Department, died suddenly from heart disease shortly after 10 o'clock this morning in a drug store at 1518 New Jersey avenue northwest.
When he collapsed a physician was sent for, but before his arrival Mr. Austin had expired.
Mr. Austin was a member of Grace M. E. Church, and was on his way to the service there when he was stricken. His body was removed from the drug store in a patrol wagon to his former home, 2255 First street northwest.

SUICIDE'S BULLET WOUNDS ANOTHER

OAXACA, Mexico, April 25.—Because a school girl had rebuffed him, Ismael G. Pineda, for thirty-six years head of Porfirio Diaz College, in this city, shot and killed himself.
The bullet passed entirely through Pineda's body and mortally wounded E. Escobar, who was sleeping in another bed in the same room.

FINDS RICH CACHE LEFT BY HIS WIFE

YORK, Pa., April 25.—His economic wife, who died two weeks ago, neglected to tell Henry Emsenheiser, of Wind- sor, that she had stored up $200 in the folds of a discarded window shade, but her surviving husband found the money while going over the household effects in preparation for holding a sale.

Dainty Dresses of Linen and of Lingerie

Materials that contrast sharply with those found in department stores. Styles as only the French can conceive them. Exclusive creations that vie with the best Paris has produced this season.

Were it not for the fact that we adapt these styles instead of importing the original models, quite an advance over prices quoted would be absolutely necessary. If you appreciate the exclusive, especially when combined with prices that compare favorably with the ordinary, determine to inspect these dresses.
