CHILDREN TO HONOR VIRGIN MARY TODAY

Processions Through Streets in Accord With Tradition of Catholic Churches in East—Program of St. Patrick's Parish.

Thousands of Catholic children will march through Washington streets this afternoon in the annual May procession in honor of the Blessed Virgin. Each Catholic church will have its individual procession, but in essentials all will be alike.

The procession is in accord with a traditional custom as a part of the May devotion of the Catholic churches in the East. In the West and middle West, the custom is unknown. It is a devotion in which the children of the church take part, publicly paying homage to Mary, in her own month of May.

Some of the churches will hold their processions next Sunday, but the most of them will be held this afternoon. At 4 o'clock, the boys and girls of St. Patrick's parish, with the boys and girls from St. Joseph's and St. Vincent's orphan asylums, will form in Carroll Hall. They will march west on G street, to Eleventh, south to F street, east to Tenth, and thence into the church. When the crowning of Mary, by the queen of the May will take place.

Sermon For Children.
The Rev. Father James A. Smyth will preach the sermon to the children, and Miss Elizabeth Milovick, as May Queen, will crown the statue of Mary.

John Dunworth will be the page, and Helen Quinn, Mary Judson, and Frances Deen, the train bearers. The maids of honor will be the Misses Genevieve and Lucile Gaskins, Annie Conners, May

PRESBYTERIANS DO HONOR TO CALVIN

Today the 400th Anniversary of Great Reformer's Birth.

Presbyterian believers everywhere today paid tribute to John Calvin, the reformer upon whose teachings the Presbyterian creed is based. It is the 400th anniversary of his birth.

In honor of the day, all the Washington churches of this denomination sent from their pulpits fervent words of tribute to the life, character, and achievements of the man whose work has been the guide post and inspiration of millions of churchmen, the world over.

Calvinism and its value to the world was told of by the Rev. Dr. Wallace Radcliffe at the New York Avenue Presbyterian Church in a special sermon. Taking his text from the first chapter and sixth verse of John, he referred to Calvin as having been "a man sent by God."

"There was a man sent from God in the early days and he was John Calvin," said Dr. Radcliffe. "There was a man sent from God in the sixteenth century, and he was John Calvin. Calvin was the intellectual leader of his day. He was the organizer of religious truth. Battling with life with physical infirmities, he despised the rich, and loved the poor. He gave them a religion and elected to be one of them. He wrote the 'Institutes of Religion,' and so commanded the attention of the world."

"Dying at fifty-four, Calvin had revolutionized the intellectual world; had founded the belief that serves men in all parts of the known world and will live through the countless generations to come. Unduly severe, he gives us challenge and life today because of the truths he taught."

Extolling Calvin as a great intellectual giant, Dr. Radcliffe declared him to be the founder of the American school system.

"The American school system traces its origin back to Geneva and Calvin," he said. "The university system of today is but a monument to Calvin's intellectual foresight."

"Calvin has been blamed for the burning of heretics," he continued, "but the spirit of the time was to blame, and not Calvin. It was wrong, but if it was wrong, Protestantism and Catholicism were wrong, because by those of that faith it was considered that heresy should be punished by death."

Concluding, Dr. Radcliffe declared the word "Calvinism" to be misunderstood. "It is a word I hesitate to use," he said. "Predestination is not Calvinism, nor did Calvin present that thought. Calvinism does not rest upon any distinct doctrinal idea. It is not the doctrine of special atonement nor of special grace. Calvinism may be described as divine sovereignty—in other words, God."

On and Off Chat About Fat

The society reporter picked up the following gem at Madam Brewster's not twenty-four hours ago. One of her millionaire customers struggling into a new gown asked the famous customer how she kept her figure in such superb shape. "You habitually eat and drink heartily and even thoughtlessly, not to say raptorially at times," she complained, "whereas I live like a hermit. Yet I can't keep slim and apparently, you can't get fat." "Guiltily," replied the fashion czarina. "I admit I don't fasten up nor do I thin down, but it is because I have the power, my dear Mrs. (the name almost slipped out), to say to my fat, 'Thus far and no farther.' I don't exercise, nor die, nor run any danger of wrinkles or stomach trouble, either. Here is the secret." She wrote a few words on a slip of paper and handed it to her questioner. "Get that filled at the drugist's," she concluded, "take a teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime and you will never get any fatter than you want to be. You can take off a pound a day with this receipt, if you want to."

Being fat herself and fully alive to the tremendous value of these statements to fat folks everywhere, the society reporter consulted an unimpeachable social sin; she peeped over the lady's shoulder—and this is what she saw: "For Excess Fat, simplest, safest, cheapest, most helpful receipt of any. One-half ounce Marmola, 1/2 ounce Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic, 3/4 ounce Peppermint Water."
