

KENTUCKY UNVEILS STATUE OF LINCOLN

Hodgenville Thronged With Distinguished Visitors for the Ceremonies.

scene of the ceremonies began. The exercises began promptly at 11 o'clock.

Speechmaking.

Judge George Durell accepted the statue on behalf of the Lincoln Monument Commission, Gov. Augustus E. Wilson accepted it on behalf of the State of Kentucky, and the Hon. D. H. Smith on behalf of the county, all making brief addresses.

After this the benediction was pronounced by John Matherton, of Louisville, presided at the exercises.

After they were finished the visitors were escorted to the court room where lunch was served. Carriages were in waiting, and the visitors were then taken for a drive to the Lincoln farm, to see the work in progress on the memorial hall. The returning train left Hodgenville, for Louisville at 3:30 o'clock.

Watterson's Address.

In his address Col. Watterson began with a sketch of the men who laid the foundation of the Republic and the conditions which had provoked the war of the sections, evolving Abraham Lincoln out of the primitive elements of American life and thought, and continued:

"I grew to manhood in the mid-period of the Republic. The keynote of the popular aspiration was love for the Union. It was intense, overmastering, all-pervasive. The merest handout at the North, scarcely more than a group at the South, ventured a discord.

"But when the final trial came, the one American who held to the keynote was Abraham Lincoln. He could not be diverted from it. He stood for the embodiment of the Union. We owe its preservation to his wisdom, to his integrity, to his firmness and his courage. As none other than Washington could have led the armies of the Revolution from Valley Forge to Yorktown, none other than Lincoln could have maintained the Government from Sumner to Appomattox. All of us now are Unionists, and although upon the South side of the school room the educational process was somewhat warming, seeming extra disciplinary, partaking overmuch, as some thought, of birch and fettle, we are none the less Unionists that we ranged our ranks in Confederate ranks and made faces at the schoolmaster.

God Rules.

"God rules the world, the winds, and the wave. He raises mortals to the skies, and He casts them down beneath the surface of the earth. In Abraham Lincoln, He gave a symbol of American liberty and a type of American manhood which might be marked and known of all men and seen from afar, stamped in bark, fine of grain, of fiber solid, and texture adapted to all uses and capable of exquisite polish.

"In his career we may learn what an American partisan ought to be as distinguished from what he ought not to be. We only need to read the documentary history of his administration to discover that he was not merely in intellect the foremost man of his time, but that in character he ranks with the few great men of all time.

"In collision with him, the rest rank as but pasteboard men. He grows, in length, in breadth, and thickness the longer we survey him. True to his ideal, he never missed the cue, but through rough, a constant stress of weather, sorely tried from hour to hour, he never lost his balance or tore a paselon to tatters. His was the gentle common sense of the soul, the common honesty. Knowing the people, he put his hand to the pulse of the nation, judged its temper, and was ready with a remedy.

Lincoln's Politics.

"I have said that he was a Republican partisan. In point of fact, he was an old conscience Whig, commissioned by God to steer the bark of the Union through the two extremes and to rescue it from shipwreck. He was an anti-slavery man, but he was never an Abolitionist. He became a war commander, but he still stood in awe of the Constitution and his oath as a magistrate. His one aim, his single purpose, was to save the Union, with or without slavery.

"He did save it; yielding not at all to party clamor, too often estrived by shouting zealots and whooped up by noisy minorities; and today it is the example which moves a calm, enlightened and patriotic citizen of the Presidential office-like himself, a life-long Republican, and a Republican partisan, to reach forth his arms as it to grasp in their embrace the whole people, seeking to win their good opinion, yearning for the approval of each and everyone of them.

"Whether they give it in detail, or dip into the incidental issues, of the time, they will not withhold their respect, and since a vigorous opposition is indispensable to good government, his wise moderation and respectful, upright, clean and kind.

DRYS WANT PENNSYLVANIA.

PITTSBURG, Pa., May 31.—The Rev. Dr. W. G. Young, of Louisville, vice president of the National Anti-Saloon League, who spoke here today, declared that the entire force at the command of the Anti-Saloon League were to be thrown into Pennsylvania in the fight for a local option law.

BERRIES CHEAP.

WOODSTOWN, N. J., May 31.—There is an immense crop of strawberries in the vicinity of Woodstown, and fine ones are selling at retail on the streets six boxes for 25 cents.

Veterans of Memorable Battle Launch Floral Boat Tomorrow

Tomorrow morning there will float over the watery graves of the warships Cumberland and Congress in Chesapeake Bay, a floral boat, fashioned of flowers, some of which came from the gardens of the President of the United States, some of them from the North and others from the South.

Two veterans of the battle waged in Hampton Roads almost half a century ago, will place this tribute on the waters, a loving tribute to the comrades who hoisted the "No Surrender" flag to the truck of the Cumberland or who went to the bottom on the bloody decks of the Congress.

The boat was launched here this afternoon by Stephen H. Whitney and his son. Mr. Whitney is a veteran of the Second Corps and for seven years he has launched a floral tribute to the sailor on the waters of the Potomac. This year his boat is to be an inter-sectional affair and will be taken to the scene of the great fight between the Merrimack and the Monitor on the Norfolk boat this evening. Tomorrow morning it will be turned over to W. F. Larabee and J. Fraise Richards at Old Point Comfort, two veterans of the navy, who will launch it again in Hampton Roads, over the spot where the Cumberland sank.

ST. PETERSBURG, May 31.—Grand Duke Michael Alexandrovitch, the youngest brother of Emperor Nicholas, has been appointed commander of a line regiment of cavalry stationed at Yelitsa. He will serve the customary period with the regiment in the little provincial town.

This course is unprecedented. Grand dukes up to the present time have been permitted to serve entirely in the elite guard regiments at St. Petersburg, the regulations requiring service in the line regiments before promotion having been disregarded in their cases.

Grand Duke Michael, however, smarting under the recent criticisms in the duma with reference to favoritism shown to the grand dukes in army affairs, insisted that there should be no exemption for him.

The flowers with which the boat was decorated were contributed by President and Mrs. Taft and hundreds of citizens in all parts of the country. Boxes were received from Salem, Mass.; Newark, N. J.; New London, Iowa; Rochester, N. Y.; Richmond, Va.; Springfield, Ill., and many cities and towns in the vicinity of Washington.

MAJOR E. R. CAMPBELL, Chief Marshal of Parade.

CHICAGO, May 31.—Because she was kind to her servant, Miss Mary Synn, a public school teacher, has been paid $1,500 out of the estate of Mary O'Donnell, a former servant girl.

ENGAGED BY WIRELESS.

NEW YORK, May 31.—The first wireless theatrical engagement was affected during the voyage of the Celtic, when the vaudeville team of Macy and Hall, in private life Mr. and Mrs. Carlton Macy, were engaged by William Morris, now on his way to Europe on the Mauretania. Macy knew Morris was on the Cunarder, and sent a message wishing him a pleasant voyage. The answer came back: "Thank you. You open in Chicago." It was Macy's first intimation that he and his wife were engaged.

HONOR WASHINGTON AT MOUNT VERNON

Descendants of Signers of the Declaration of Independence Pay Tribute to Father of His Country at the Nation's Shrine.

A group of descendants of signers of the Declaration of Independence, together with a large number of patriotic celebrants, gathered at Mount Vernon this morning to pay honor to the life-work of George Washington. It was a remarkable gathering—this assemblage of the children of those of revered memory who were the first President's contemporaries in the cause of liberty—and none never before seen either before or since Mount Vernon became this grateful nation's shrine.

While from the deep emotions of another group that had assembled in that hallowed cemetery at Arlington, where rests the nation's hero dead, there swelled another memorial tribute to the character, fame and deeds of the Father of His Country. He were told in song, reading, at "The Last of the Founding Fathers" on the verdant lawn of Mount Vernon.

Within Sacred Precincts.

It seems altogether fitting and due that within the sacred precincts of Washington, the story of his part in the struggle of liberty be retold on the day when the nation, young and old, high and low, gathers to sing the glory of those whose sacrifice was made that the spirit of liberty might live forever.

Along with the floral tributes that were placed on the graves of George and Martha Washington were those of the President and Vice President of the United States. A feature of the celebration was the reading of the story of "The Last of the Founding Fathers," written not long after the first President's death by George Washington Park Custis, adopted son of Washington.

Senior Owen Speaks.

The exercises, which began at 11:45 o'clock, were opened by invocation by the Rev. George Washington Dame, of Baltimore, chaplain of the Descendants of the Signers. The principal address

SPREAD OF TYPHOID DUE TO HOUSE FLIES

TRENTON, May 31.—House flies are held responsible by the health authorities for the spread of typhoid fever in this city. For the first time in twenty years the disease has broken out in the New Jersey State prison, and a general epidemic among the prisoners is feared.

The disease has also broken out in the State asylum and in the New Jersey State Home for Girls. Dr. Alton S. Fell, city health officer, says there is no doubt the outbreak is due to house flies. The disease is in its most virulent form.

was made by Senator Owen of Oklahoma, who spoke on "Washington, the Patriot." Representative James Lloyd, of Missouri, who presided, also delivered a patriotic address, in which he paid tribute to the nation's dead of all the wars, from the beginning to the greatest of all American struggles—that of 1861-65. William Shields McKean, founder of the Descendants of the Signers, made the introductions. Following the singing of "America" by the assemblage, the Rev. Dr. Dame pronounced the benediction.

The exercises, which lasted more than an hour, were in charge of a committee composed of Robert John Walker, a descendant of Benjamin Franklin; Dr. Arthur Mathewson, a descendant of William Williams, of Connecticut; Braxton D. Gibson, a descendant of Stephen Hopkins of Rhode Island; Arthur E. H. Middleton, whose ancestor was Arthur Middleton, of South Carolina; Henry F. French, descendant of George Read, of Delaware; Mrs. Anne G. Draper, a great-granddaughter of Josiah Bartlett, of New Hampshire; Miss Sallie S. Beach, a descendant of Carter Braxton, of Virginia; Mrs. E. A. Macomber, whose ancestor was John Hart, of New Jersey, and Mrs. Thomas D. Water, a descendant of John Witherspoon, of New Jersey.

HANDS AND FEET ITCHED 12 YEARS

Suffered Terribly from Eczema which Made Hands and Feet Swell, Peel and Get Raw—Arms Affected, Too—Gave Up Hope of Cure.

USED CUTICURA AND WAS QUICKLY CURED

"I suffered from eczema on my hands, arms and feet for about twelve years, my hands and feet would swell, sweat and itch, then would become callous and get very dry, then peel off and get raw. I tried most every kind of salve and ointment without success, only got temporary relief. As soon as I would leave off using them I would be as bad as ever. I tried several doctors, but for two years and at last gave up thinking there was a cure for eczema. A friend of mine insisted on my trying the Cuticura Remedies but, supposing they were the same as other 'cures' I had tried, I did not give them a trial until I got so bad that I had to do something. I secured a cake of Cuticura Soap, a box of Cuticura Ointment and a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent and by the time they were used I could see a vast improvement and my hands and feet were healed up in no time. I used several bottles of Cuticura Resolvent. This was over a year ago and have had no trouble since. I am entirely cured. Charles T. Bauer, R.F.D. 65, Volant, Pa., Mar. 11, 1902."

BABIES CURED

Of Torturing, Disfiguring Humors by Cuticura. The suffering which Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment have alleviated among skin-tortured, disfigured infants and children, and the comfort they have afforded worried and worried parents have led to their adoption in countless homes as a priceless treatment for the skin and blood. Eczema, rashes, and every form of itching, scaly humor are speedily cured in the majority of cases, when all else fails.
