

RUIZ CASE INQUIRIES BLOCKED IN LONDON

Powerful Influence Suppresses Newspaper Accounts of Suicide.

LONDON, June 11.—The uppermost question in the minds of the better class of London's public today is: "What influence was brought to bear on Coroner Thomas, the city authorities involved, and certain of the newspapers which were in possession of the facts as to suppress the news of the suicide of Mary Agnes Ruiz, who figured prominently at the time Mrs. Alfred G. Vanderbilt sued for divorce."

Despite the tremendous interest that has been awakened in the case since yesterday's disclosures, there is little likelihood of the public curiosity being satisfied, for there is every indication today that another powerful effort to suppress the facts in the case is proving successful.

The London press, after it found that the story was published, took it up with the keenest interest in last evening's editions.

Today the story is ignored entirely, with the exception of a perfunctory mention in the Morning News. It is hard to recall a case where the papers have acted with such concert, which is considered proof that some one with unusual power is behind the movement to suppress the facts.

It is declared that several of the city officials have been guilty of malfeasance by their conduct in the case, and there is a possibility—a bare possibility—that prosecutions will follow. This might clear up the mystery, but the same persons who have succeeded so far in hushing up the details probably will have sufficient influence to prevent the prosecution of those who failed to make the proper death returns.

An American named Langdon appeared in the scene today. He is supposed to represent the Ruiz family. One rumor is that he is in the employ of Antonio Ruiz, the divorced husband of the dead woman. He visited the American embassy in his quest for details, but feared that the embassy was as much in the dark as the public. Langdon then set out in search of various persons acquainted with the details.

He is keeping his London address secret.

There is evidence that a small fortune was spent by some one in keeping the details of the suicide from the public.

Vanderbilt Silent.

An effort was made today to get a statement from Alfred Gayme Vanderbilt regarding the intimation that Mrs. Ruiz took her life when she visits to her in her beautiful Grosvenor street house, ceased early in May, but the young millionaire, who has been having the time of his life at the horse show and with his coaching trips, refused to be interviewed.

One of young Vanderbilt's friends is given as authority for the statement that Vanderbilt knew of the suicide since the night of the tragedy, May 18. Miss Elizabeth Conroy, the American woman who lived with Mrs. Ruiz, is said to have notified Vanderbilt shortly after she discovered her friend dying from a self-inflicted pistol wound.

If Vanderbilt did know of it, it evidently had no depressing effect upon him, for he has been a busy man in London's social life for the last few weeks and lately has appeared jovial than in any of his former visits to London.

WOMAN RUNS SPEAKESKY.

VINELAND, N. J., June 11.—When agents of the Law and Order League searched L. Millini's house for evidence of illegal sale of liquor, Mrs. Millini declared her husband had been gone a week and that she was "boss around there." Today she was charged with keeping a speakasy, and pleading guilty, was held for the grand jury.

STEAMSHIP BLOWNS UP.

ALGIERS, June 11.—The German steamer Ava, from Hamburg for Vladivostok, blew up about ten miles off Pantellaria Island. Fire broke out in the steamer during the night, and as dynamite formed a large part of the cargo, the crew lost no time in making their escape in the boats.

TRIBUTE TO GRANT PAID BY SOUTHRONS

Confederate Veterans Cheer Son of Civil War General at Memphis.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., June 11.—The last big parade perhaps in which Confederate veterans will participate is over, and has been made more memorable because Gen. Frederick D. Grant, U. S. A., son of the Northern chieftain who received the surrender of the Southern army at Appomattox, was in the reviewing stand, where he was cheered by the grizzled veterans. More than one aged soldier in gray saluted the son of the Union commander as the parade passed.

Ten thousand United Confederate Veterans, clad in the rather faded gray homespun they wore in the '60s, and bearing their old muskets, marched along the Memphis streets, led by Maj. Gen. John H. McDowell, grand marshal.

At the head of each division rode the sponsors, Southern girls. Following the regular divisions came the survivors of Forrest's famous cavalry corps. The Sons of Confederate Veterans, several thousand strong, closed the parade.

PICTURES A COOLIE BEATING UNCLE SAM

Hawaii Puck Prints Incendiary Cartoon on Japanese Question.

HONOLULU, Hawaii, June 11.—The May issue of the Hawaii Puck, a Japanese political organ published in this city, has appeared with an incendiary cartoon. The picture shows Uncle Sam in the grasp of a husky son of Nippon, who is thrashing the old gentleman mercilessly. Above the picture appear the words: "The strike is on, but..."

The Hawaii Puck is edited by K. Ishida, a former editor of the Nippon Jiji, the incendiary Japanese daily which has been supporting the striking cane field laborers.

COMBERS POUNDING BIG LINER TO DEATH

Antonio Lopez Driven Further on Bar Despite Work of Wreckers.

NEW YORK, June 11.—After a night of struggling with the heavy combers off Fire Island shoal, the wrecking tugs at work on the Antonio Lopez today found the big liner driven fifty feet farther on the bar.

Half a dozen tugs, with long hawsers, strained at the grounded steamer all through the night, but without avail. The heavy running sea has buried the keel of the liner in the soft sand, and the pounding of the surf has already begun to spring her plates.

It is not thought that in her present position the Lopez could withstand a heavy easterly squall, and every attempt is being made to release her before the weather grows worse.

CALHOUN BRIBERY CASE NEARS CLOSE

Henry Given Until Tonight to Review the Record in San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 11.—The prosecution in the case of Patrick Calhoun, head of the United Railways, who has been on trial since January 12 for alleged bribery, has practically concluded its case, Henry being given until today to review the record.

If the defense follows its intention of refraining from putting in any evidence, it is expected argument will begin this afternoon.

ROBBED IN STATION.

CHICAGO, June 11.—One man was held up and left unconscious in the doorway of the Sheffield avenue police station and another was robbed an hour later while crossing the street in front of the station while detectives and policemen sat inside.

TO TRY EULENBURG.

BERLIN, June 11.—By order of the Berlin police, Prince Philip Zu Eulenburg has left Bad Gastein, where he has been taking the cure, for Berlin. His retrial for perjury in connection with the "round table" scandals is expected to begin immediately.

WOMAN MARSHAL MAKES AN ARREST

NEW ORLEANS, La., June 11.—Miss Dorothy Koek, New Orleans' twenty-year-old, 100-pound, blonde-haired marshal appointed recently by Marshal Victor Soisel, has made her first arrest.

Anacleto Miguel, charged with complicity in a violation of the immigration laws, has the distinction of being the first person arrested by Miss Koek. She went after him carrying a revolver in a handbag. He came willingly and afterwards she found that the revolver was locked in the bag.

Death's Agent—
The House Fly

Your house is invaded today by thousands of flies that have gathered the germs of Typhoid and other deadly diseases from manure piles, garbage cans and various accumulations of decomposed filth. With every flutter of their wings, every movement they make over your butter, sugar and bread, they are scattering these invisible germs in the air you breathe and on the food you eat. The unsightly fly paper with its sickly odor, attracts more to the home. Here is the only logical remedy. Pour a few drops of

into every pail of cleaning water you use, sprinkle it in the garbage can, stable and cesspool. Put a solution of it in rooms where food is kept—it is non-poisonous, therefore there is no danger to human life. Flies, mosquitoes, insects and bad odors cannot remain where C-N is used. There is no extra labor and scarcely any expense, for you use so little of it. Buy a bottle today—the lives of your family depend upon it. Sold everywhere, 25c, 50c, $1.00.
