RELEASED ON BAIL

Playwright Denies Guilt of Conspiracy Charge—Father Defends Son.

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 24.—Released from custody by Judge Lockwood Honore on bonds of $1,500 each, George C. Hazelton, Jr., the New York lawyer and playwright, and his partner, L. Scott Kemper, charged by James H. Channon with conspiracy to extort money from the estate of the late George C. Hazelton, Sr., declared they will fight to the end to secure vindication from the criminal charge.

Mr. Hazelton asserts that when the court examines the flimsy character of the evidence on which the prosecution is based, he will be shown to be guiltless of the Channon charge. According to Mr. Hazelton, Mr. Channon, against whom action had been started to recover money alleged to be due Mrs. Mabel A. Ludlum, client of Hazelton & Kemper, has no other grounds upon which to base an extortion charge except a letter addressed to him by Hazelton serving notice of the suit. This letter was given out by Mr. Hazelton as follows:

"Chicago, Ill., Sept. 15, 1909.
Dear Mrs. Channon: We are in Chicago with a bill of complaint which we have prepared to file in the United States Circuit Court here against you and your husband and the American Surety Company of New York for the purpose of recovering about $50,000, which we maintain has been misappropriated from the estate of our client, Mabel Arcey Ludlum. We also claim overcharges which the court will be asked to settle.

"We have traced about fifty trust deeds which were not turned over by your husband to his ward, nor has he accounted for or turned over the money derived therefrom. This matter is so serious in view of the laws relating to a guardian's control of a ward's estate, that we are willing to give you an opportunity to assist us in effecting a settlement.

"You must realize that if we cannot effect a settlement and are compelled to go to court immediately the facts in the whole case would become public and beyond our power to control.

Jealousy Inspires Charge.
George C. Hazelton, Sr., father of New York lawyer-playwright, who is a lawyer with offices in the Munsey building, said today that he was entirely confident that his son would be vindicated as soon as the charges were sifted. He added that the charges were largely inspired by the jealousy of a firm employed by Mrs. Mabel Ludlum to prosecute a former suit against Channon, in which she received a valuable house in consideration of dropping the case. This firm became offended when not employed in the present suit, says Mr. Hazelton, Sr.

PLANS FOR SAVING
IN POSTAL SERVICE
Hitchcock Will Hold Extensive Investigation of Money Order System.

Postmaster General Hitchcock, in his general plan of retrenchment and reform covering all branches of the postal service, will shortly investigate the money order system to see what changes for the betterment of the service can be made.

Arthur M. Travers, chairman of the special committee, appointed by the Postmaster General to investigate the money order system and recommend such changes in its management as will reduce expenses without loss of efficiency, today addressed a circular letter to the postmasters of sixteen of the large postoffices of the country, requesting them to designate a valuable piece of office best equipped to serve the committee in its important work.

The postoffices of the following cities are to be represented in the conference: New York, Chicago, Philadelphia, Boston, St. Louis, Brooklyn, Cincinnati, Baltimore, Detroit, Milwaukee, Washington, D. C., Louisville, Atlanta, Denver, Seattle, and Indianapolis.

NEW TARIFF MEASURE IS A PATRON OF ART

Flood of Old World Treasures Follows Going Into Effect of Law Permitting Duty-Free Entry of Works
More Than Twenty Years Old.

Since the new tariff law went into effect, permitting the free importation of art works more than twenty years old, a flood of paintings and sculptures' products has started in the direction of America from Europe. It is already beginning to pour into the various ports. Such an influx has never been known in the history of the United States.

It is said at the Treasury Department that the number of art shipments entering New York is so great the examiner there does not have room to turn around. It is with great difficulty that he can find space to tell whether a production is an old Rubens or a new lithograph.

Official notice has been received at the Treasury that one Van Dreck worth $200,000 has just reached New York. The name of the owner is not disclosed.

Dealers are taking advantage of the law to import large quantities of art works for sale. Individuals desiring paintings and statuary for their own use are also importing heavily.

RUSSIA CONFESSES
"SLIGHT DISORDERS"

"A Few Persons Were Injured at Kieff," Authorities
Now Admit to World.

BERLIN, Sept. 24.—After repeated denials that there had been "any trouble at all" at Kieff, the Russian authorities now admit that there have been "numerous slight disorders," there, and that in the suburb of Siobodka a clash occurred between the Jews and reactionaries, during which the "reactionaries" called forth and attacked the Jews and in the struggle a few persons were injured. Still a third "small fracas" on September 21 is admitted to have taken place.
