

CAPITAL WILL HAVE NEW COUNTRY CLUB

Columbia Golf Club to Be Absorbed in New Organization.

Washington is to have a new country club. A new social organization, that in the eyes of its founders, is to become one of the most pretentious and exclusive suburban clubs in the country will be launched within the next few days. It will be known as the Columbia Country Club, and will supplant the old Columbia Golf Club, which is to be absorbed in the new organization. The full membership of the new club, including the membership of the golf club, will meet at the Raleigh Hotel Wednesday night for the purpose of perfecting the organization, electing officers and a board of governors, and passing on the plans for a suitable clubhouse. Many of the city's most prominent business men and municipal and national officials are interested in the launching of the new club. Its membership will be limited to 900, and this will include the 300 members of the old golf club. Benjamin Woodruff, chairman of the organization committee of twelve, which is empowered to take any necessary action toward the erection of a suitable clubhouse, has completed negotiations for the purchase of a 125,000-acre tract of land in Chevy Chase, just north of the lake. Already the work of laying out the grounds is underway. Experts from New York have completed the task of laying off the golf course and seeding will be begun this fall. The tract which will afford the site for the clubhouse, contains 125 acres. It is situated between the Chevy Chase Inn, and the Lake. In addition to the golf course, there will be a baseball diamond, tennis courts, and possibly a handball court. The club will also probably have a cinder track and a well-equipped gymnasium. The clubhouse itself, to cost $50,000. Plans were received by Mr. Woodruff yesterday, as chairman of the organization committee, from four firms of architects, each being for a building to cost this sum. The committee will meet tomorrow night, to select the best plan. All four sets, with the committee's recommendation as to the best, will be submitted for consideration of the meeting of the full membership Wednesday night. Several local contractors have informed the committee that they will bid on the work, under promise to have it completed the June 1, next, provided, of course, they are permitted to begin work during the present month. A board of governors and officers will be elected by the club at Wednesday's meeting, and all of the work of the organization committee will be turned over to the new officers and governors. The membership of the organization committee is: Chairman, Benjamin Woodruff, J. M. Stoddard, E. S. Marlow, S. A. Reeves, L. B. Platt, A. B. Lee, John L. Weaver, E. E. Eynon, Jr., N. E. Dunforth, H. V. Sandford, J. T. Kendrick, and D. K. Jackson. Commissioner West, Gen. George H. Harries, Milton E. Ailes, H. Bradley Davidson, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Reynolds, and Senator Hughes of Colorado, are all working for the new organization.

COOK NOT ANXIOUS TO SEE WHITNEY

Explorer Does Not Consider Hunter Essential in Establishing Proof.

NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Without having seen Harry Whitney, the New Haven hunter and explorer, one of the important figures in the Cook-Pearly polar controversy, Dr. Frederick A. Cook left New York city at 5:45 o'clock this morning for Deal Lake, ... J., where he will have a conference with Col. George Harvey, of Harper & Bros., relative to his book, telling of experiences on his polar trip. After a talk with Colonel Harvey he will leave for Washington, where he is scheduled to lecture tonight. During the week Dr. Cook has attended at least three banquets, and has given a long lecture in Carnegie Hall. He does not look very tired and worn, however, and maintains a good natured poise. "Mr. Whitney is in Salem, Mass.," said Dr. Cook, just as he was leaving the Waldorf after an early breakfast. "I have not had communication with him or arranged to see him. I have seen one man who has talked to Whitney recently, and I am satisfied with the turn affairs have taken. The truth is that I am not particularly anxious to see Mr. Whitney. Mr. Whitney has been seen by newspaper reporters, and the statements he has made to the press are satisfactory to me. I do not regard Mr. Whitney as essential to me in establishing the proof that I have found the Pole. When the proper time comes the proofs will be available. I do not intend to allow myself to be rushed in the matter." It is reported that Dr. Cook has received an offer of $250,000 from one book publishing firm for the right to publish his forthcoming book. What the publishers are willing to give him is not known, and Dr. Cook did not care to say what terms he would ask of Colonel Harvey today. Hubbard in New York. NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—Gen. Thomas H. Hubbard, president of the Peary Arctic Club, with whom Commander Peary had a long conference at Bar Harbor yesterday, arrived in New York today, but refused to give out a statement until he had conferred with the Arctic Club. To General Hubbard Peary has entrusted the statement which will be laid before the Arctic Club, and which Peary thinks will blot Cook's claims. DIES AT AGE OF 106. PLAINFIELD, Conn., Oct. 2.—Mrs. Lucille St. O. Barre, of Voluntown, a native of Joliette, Canada, is dead at the age of 106 years. She died suddenly from heart failure, never having been sick a day in her life. No children survive her. AMBROSE BUTLER DEAD. NEW YORK, Oct. 3.—J. Ambrose Butler, formerly business manager of The Buffalo News, died suddenly at the Waldorf, where he had come to view the pageants of the Hudson-Fulton celebration. MISS GOLDSMITH ALEXANDRIA BRIDE Ceremony at Her Home This Afternoon Unites Her in Marriage to Milton Stanley Kronheim, of Washington. WASHINGTON TIMES BUREAU, ALEXANDRIA, VA., OCT. 3. One of the prettiest weddings which has been seen in Alexandria for some time was that performed at the home of Emanuel Goldsmith, in Prince street, near Royal street, at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon, when Miss Meryl Brager Goldsmith, daughter of E. Goldsmith, and one of the most charming of Alexandria's belles, became the bride of Milton Stanley Kronheim, of Washington. Rabbi Louis Stern, of Washington, performed the ceremony. The bride had as her attendants Misses Gertrude and Pauline Kronheim, sisters of the groom. The groom had as his best man his brother, Phillip Kronheim. The ceremony was performed in the Goldsmith residence, and was witnessed by the relatives and friends of the bride and groom. The bride wore a rainbow-colored traveling suit with a large black hat. After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Kronheim left on a wedding trip to New York, Niagara Falls, and Atlantic City. They will make their home at the Willard in Washington. subject of Mr. Wicker's sermon will be "Your Own Heartbeat." The winter schedule of services, went into effect today at St. Mary's Catholic Church. Masses were said at 7 and 10:30 a. m. Vespers and benediction will take place at 4 o'clock this afternoon. Services at Trinity. The services at Trinity Methodist Episcopal Church this morning were conducted by Prof. F. A. Spinger. This evening the Rev. G. E. Barber will conduct the services. Madame Mountford will this evening preach at the Methodist Episcopal Church South, taking for her subject "The Babe of Bethlehem." A delegation from Fitzgibbon Council, No. 69, Knights of Columbus, of this city, this afternoon paid a visit to the K. of C. Temple in Washington and witnessed the exemplification of the third degree. MEN DENY CHRIST, DECLARES WELLS "The prediction of the Bible that there would come an age when men would deny Christ and false Christs and religions would arise, is being fulfilled today," declared the Rev. Howard Wells, in his sermon at the Mt. Vernon Place M. E. Church this morning. "People have become tired of the old story of the cross," he continued. "In this age of culture and refined sensibilities, the thought of a man hanging on a bloody cross is abhorrent. It shocks the aesthetic taste. In this democratic age when men have overthrown earthly kings they have served God in the same manner. Each man says I am supreme, and I will obey no one, not God himself, and if His religion commands me to do something that I don't want to do, I will eschew His religion." This is a spectacular age, and the old religion is too tame, and commonplace. What we want today is something exciting. A religion that makes tables walk, and spirits talk is, in the kind that is popular. The world doesn't want to be saved nor uplifted, and will crucify those for whom he gave his life. "In the last fifteen years there have sprung up forty-eight new religions that deny Christ. But they are, nothing but old oriental cults reclothed in twentieth century garb to make them look new. The Greek religion is again being revived, and instead of progressing we are retrograding back to the days of Socrates' philosophy. Yet the Greeks were not satisfied with their religion, so built an altar to the 'Unknown God.'"

Unprecedented, But Not Surprising, Is View of Orville's Great Flight.

(Continued from First Page.) tious for some time to go up in an aeroplane and the conditions were probably just right for the ascent." "It is true as has been reported that there are hundreds of people some of them celebrities, who are anxious to make a flight with me or my brother, but so far as I am concerned, for the present they must be disappointed." "Will you make the long flight before leaving New York city?" "Yes, you can say that I shall not disappoint the people here. I shall not leave until I have made a flight of considerable distance north." Will Satisfy Spectators. "In flying around the Statue of Liberty and the harbor and part of Jersey I was merely giving exhibitions, which were seen by a small part of the population. Probably not more than 500,000 people witnessed these flights. The people of New York and the visitors here have been courteous and patient and I shall see that their courtesy and patience is rewarded. I shall fly a long distance north, and then millions can see." The aerodrome at Governor's island is closed tight today. A large number of visitors went there, however, to see the shed. Mr. Wright never flies on Sunday. Even if he did, the wind is blowing so hard today that the conditions are very unfavorable for a flight. Asked about aviator Curtiss, Mr. Wright said the courts would decide his controversy with him. TO PROVIDE RESTING PLACE FOR TROPHY Navy Yard Employees Will Meet Tonight and Consider Matter. (Continued from First Page.) Just what to do with the handsome sweepstakes trophy cup, won by the Navy Yard employees' entry in the Chamber of Commerce floral parade, has been keeping the committee representing the employees awake of nights. The committee, of which Thomas C. Carroll is chairman, has been formally presented with the trophy. It is now on exhibition in the flower store of F. H. Kramer, the florist who decorated the Navy Yard car, but the committee realizes that a permanent resting place must be found. Consequently Chairman Carroll has called a meeting of the committee for tomorrow night at 7 o'clock in Naval Lodge Hall, Fourth street and Pennsylvania avenue southeast, to discuss the question, and make some decision as to the final disposition of the cup. At the First Baptist Church this morning Evangelist Wicker delivered the sermon, talking for the subject "How to Get the Holy Ghost." At 3 o'clock this afternoon a meeting for men was held at this church, at which Mr. Wicker delivered a sermon on "Moral Courage." This evening the

KRAMER WINS!

Representatives of the Navy Yard came to KRAMER and asked him if he could design and decorate a float that would win the sweepstakes in the Chamber of Commerce Automobile Floral Parade. KRAMER'S reply was that he not only could, but he would design a Sweepstakes winning float—and he did, securing Still Another Tribute to "FLOWERS FROM KRAMER'S" and KRAMER'S Artistic Decorative Ability.

The Sweepstakes Trophy, won by the Navy Yard float, which was decorated by KRAMER, is on exhibition at KRAMER'S Ninth Street Store.

The fact that this float was in competition with the best efforts of Washington's most representative florists only emphasizes the supremacy of "Flowers from KRAMER'S" and KRAMER'S ability in the execution of artistic floral decorations.

KRAMER'S Flowers and KRAMER'S services will be found invaluable when desiring floral decorations or floral emblems of any description for all private or public occasions. KRAMER'S prices are as correct as his flowers are perfect, and his decorative ideas delightfully original.
