MOTHER IDENTIFIES TORSO AND LIMBS IN MURDER CASE

Woman Positive Her Step-Daughter Is Victim—Police Don't Think So.

SHE BASES BELIEF ON SHAPE OF HANDS

Great Posse Continues Search for Head in the Tiverton Mystery.

TIVERTON, R. I., Oct. 14.—After a thorough examination of the limbs and torso of the Tiverton murder victim, Mrs. Sarah Grinnell, of 30 Murray street, Fall River, Mass., today identified the remains as those of her step-daughter, Julia E. Grinnell. She based her belief in the peculiar shape of the hands and big toe of the dead girl, which, she claims, corresponded with those of her step-daughter, who has been missing for ten weeks.

Medical Examiner Stimson believes, however, that the woman is wrong, since the missing girl is the mother of an eight-months-old baby, while the murder victim gives no evidence of ever having borne a child.

Miss Grinnell was of about the same size as the girl whose body was found, was immature in appearance, and walked with a limp. She was employed in the White-Sagamore mills, of Fall River.

The father of the child is Frank St. Cyr, of Fall River, who was released from the county jail in New Bedford two weeks ago. He will be interviewed at once by the Fall River police at the Border City hotel, where he is employed.

Search the Woods.

The woods are being scoured today by a great posse, and if the dead girl's head remains in this vicinity, it is more than probable that it will shortly be found and the identity of the girl revealed. When the head is found it will be known whether the girl was Miss Grinnell, Amelia St. Jean, D. of Woonsocket, or Mildred Higgins, 15, of Boston, or one of the other half dozen girls who have been reported missing in the past few days, though the police declare their belief that the body was that of Miss Grinnell. The Boston girl was only a child in years and not fully developed, while Miss St. Jean, who was nineteen years old, was more fully developed than the as-sembled body found here.

St. Jean Girl's Disappearance.

Amelia St. Jean, whose father is Joseph St. Jean, of Woonsocket, left her home there last Monday to live with an aunt, Mrs. J. B. Lamoreaux, of Fall River, with a view of working in the mills there. Shortly after her arrival at the home of her aunt the girl disappeared. Last night the Fall River police rounded up a young man at that city and put him through a grilling "third degree." They declare he could give a full account of his whereabouts on last Saturday and Sunday, and he was about to be placed formally under arrest when the news came that a medical examination of the girl's body revealed the fact that she was in such a condition that she could hardly have been Miss St. Jean. The young man was thereupon released under police surveillance.

The most likely clue to the girl's identity, the police declare, is the story that she is Mildred Higgins, of Boston.

Her fifteen years, her weight of 100 pounds, and the fact that she was five feet tall and had brown hair, makes her description more nearly fit that of the dead girl than that of any other girl so far mentioned.

Mrs. Higgins' Story.

According to Miss Higgins' mother, Mrs. Mary Higgins, of Roxbury, the girl disappeared October 5. Mrs. Higgins at that time accused Joseph Harris, alias Burnham, in connection with her daughter's disappearance, and told a remarkable story. Mrs. Higgins declared Burnham had chloroformed her husband, taken $200 of her money and then stolen the girl. The police believe it is possible that Burnham is the victim, and advise that Boston say that a drag-net has been sent through New England for Burnham, as

WEATHER REPORT.

The storm of the Great Lake region is developing again in energy. The pressure is rising throughout the Northwest, and it is probable, as a result, that the disturbance will gradually move eastward, accompanied by unsettled and rainy weather. The temperature will rise in its front throughout the Atlantic States, but colder weather in the Northwest will again move eastward and southward, reaching the middle and north Atlantic districts on Saturday.

FORECAST FOR THE DISTRICT.

Unsettled weather with rain tonight or Friday; warmer tonight; brisk southerly westerly winds.

"DOWN WITH SPAIN," CRIES PARIS MOB

Cavalry Detachment Reinforces Police Cordons at Spanish Embassy.

SOLDIERS MARKED FOR ASSASSINATION

Ferrer's Executioners Doomed by Anarchists—Hatred in France Fanned.

PARIS, Oct. 14.—Late this afternoon a great mob gathered around the Spanish embassy and the government re-enforced the cordon of police that stretched around the embassy with a detachment of cavalry. The mob was in an ugly mood, and repeatedly cried: "Down with Spain!" "Down with Alfonso!" "Flaming posters bearing the same words were stuck up all over the city during the night, and the police are now attempting to tear them down."

The names of the twelve soldiers who formed the firing squad that executed Ferrer have been published, and the anarchists have marked them for assassination.

The Temps says that two Frenchmen were executed in Mont Juich fortress, in Barcelona, today, and that five other Frenchmen are awaiting execution. They are accused of complicity in the July revolution in Barcelona. The Temps story has added fuel to the flames of Spanish hatred.

Many Mass Meetings.

Hundreds of mass meetings have been called for next Sunday, and the day promises to be one of the most eventful in years. No violence will be attempted at these meetings, it is said, but owing to the fact that many of the revolutionary speakers in France have been engaged to address the crowds, the police are making preparations and are preparing for a serious outcome.

Indicating the temper of the French people, President Fallieres, who spent the day at the Juvisy aviation meeting, constantly under a heavy guard. Several extra battalions of zouaves were on the scene in anticipation of a demonstration against the President's visit to the city.

A new dirigible balloon Espana, which has just been sold to Spain, is being prepared at Juvisy today, but the feeling against the Spanish government is kept in its stead.

Premier Briand, Prefect of Police Leclercq, and other officials are preparing to prevent a repetition tonight of last night's revolutionary demonstration, when about 30,000 engaged in a clash with the police, which resulted in the death of a sergeant of the police and injuring of scores of rioters.

Soldiers in Readiness.

Soldiers in all the barracks of the city and at Versailles have been ordered to be in readiness.

The Spanish embassy is cordoned with soldiers today to prevent an attack. When the Spanish ambassador left the embassy for a short time today, mounted police rode on either side of his carriage.

The city council will be asked to re-name one of the Paris streets in honor of Ferrer and to educate the children of Paz Ferrer, daughters of the executed revolutionary leader.

STORM OF PROTEST HORRIFIES ALFONSO

MADRID, via Hondaya, Oct. 14.—Information received today from Spanish court circles says King Alfonso is horrified at the storm of protest that has poured in over the execution of Francisco Ferrer at Barcelona yesterday.

He is denouncing the ministers on whose advice he allowed the court-martial sentence of death to be carried out, declaring they kept him in ignorance of the real state of the public mind, not only in Spain, but in all Europe.

It is reported that the Spanish cabinet offered to resign, but that Alfonso demanded that his ministers remain in office until he could extricate him from the difficulty.

There is no doubt in the minds of those who have seen the King since the execution that had he known Ferrer's death would have caused such a furor, he would have prevented it.

Scores of death threats have been received at the palace, to guard against the execution of which the palace guard has been doubled, and a regiment of troops mobilized for emergency action.

Opponents of the ministry are making the most of the opportunity and have succeeded in stirring up a feeling of animosity toward the King that exceeds that which characterized the days of Spanish reverses in Morocco. A clipping bureau is busy flooding the King with press extracts, which call Ferrer a martyr, his execution a plain murder and comparing Alfonso with Ferdinand II of Naples, who was nicknamed King Bombardier for his ruthless bombardment of Messina.

Many of the leading papers of the Continent openly predict a Spanish revolution, as either the direct or indirect outcome of Ferrer's death.

POPE DID NOT ASK TO STAY EXECUTION

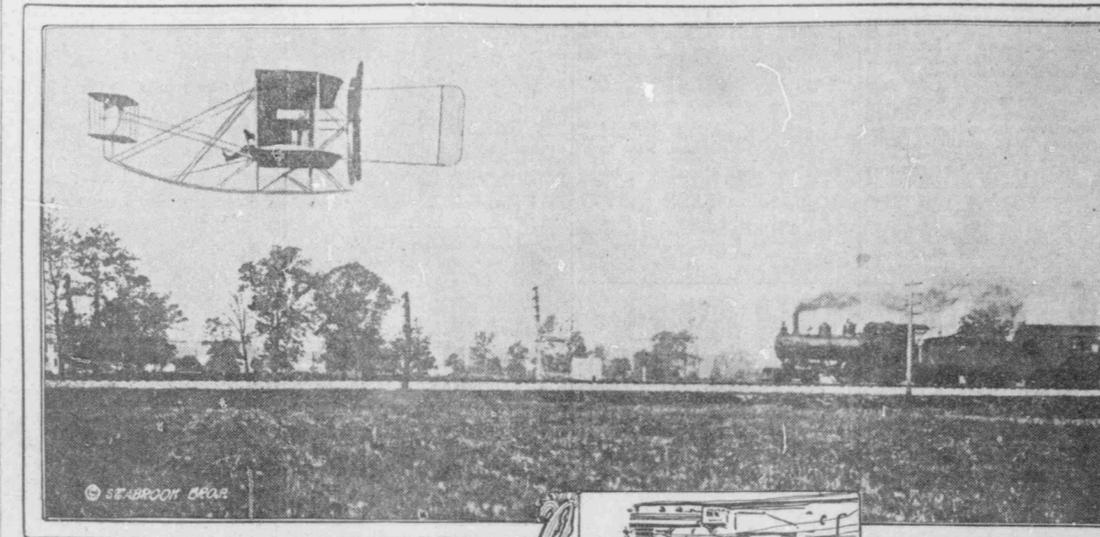

ROME, Oct. 14.—In view of the many conflicting stories that have been printed regarding the alleged attempt of Pope Pius to intervene to save the life of Francisco Ferrer, the Vatican today authorized the following statement:

"The Pope did not directly ask that Ferrer's life be saved. He merely instructed the Holy See to ascertain whether a plea for mercy would be acceptable to the Spanish authorities. Receiving a negative reply, the subject was dropped."

Previously the Pope wished to interfere for humanitarian reasons, but his execution was a plain murder and he has influenced him also. His advisers warned the Pope that Ferrer's execution would act as an impetus to the spirit of anti-clericalism in Spain and Italy and increase the hatred of the revolutionists and anarchists against the church.

JOHN PRENTISS POE DIES IN BALTIMORE

Venerable Maryland Lawyer and Father of Gridiron Heroes Passes Away.

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 14.—John Prentiss Poe, former attorney general of the State, one of Maryland's grand old men, foremost among the legal authorities of the United States, author of many works on law, the backbone of the Democratic party in this old line State, dean of the University of Maryland Law School, and graduate of Princeton, died this morning after an illness of but a few days. Mr. Poe's death was primarily due to paralysis.

Mr. Poe was author of the Poe suffrage amendment. He was a second cousin by blood relation and a nephew by marriage of Edgar Allan Poe, the author and poet.

After his marriage in 1862 to Miss Annie Johnson, they reared a family of nine children, six of whom were boys. All of these went to Princeton and each attained fame on the football field.

S. Johnson Poe, of the 1884 class, made the team and did good work; Edgar Allan Poe, the present city solicitor, was captain and quarterback of the '91 team, and John P. Poe, Jr., known as "Johnny" Poe, was halfback of the '95 team. Nelson Poe, Arthur Poe, and Gresham H. Poe all played on the team, the last graduating in 1902.

The other children are Mrs. Alfred Tyler, Mrs. S. N. Duer, of Philadelphia, and Miss Marguerita Poe.

Final details for the burial of Mr. Poe have not been completed.

It has been decided, however, the services will be held on Saturday. The funeral will take place from Old St. Paul's Protestant Episcopal Church, of which he was a member.

COUNTERFEITERS HERE, IS OFFICERS BELIEF

That there is a nest of counterfeiters operating in Washington is the belief of the Secret Service.

Operators under the charge of George F. Proctor, Chief Operator, for the Secret Service, got busy today along Seventh street, warning the business men against the acceptance of alleged counterfeit quarters and times.

The Secret Service agents declared a large number of these spurious coins had been passed in the department stores, saloons, and other places of business along Seventh street.

The coins are counterfeit of the 1908 issue, and are close to the genuine.

ROOSEVELT IS SILENT ON GOTHAM POLITICS

Former President Not Taking a Hand in the Mayoralty Contest—Even Friends Asked to Omit Politics in Their Letters.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—Theodore Roosevelt is taking no hand in the present New York mayoralty contest. Through one of the correspondents sent to Africa with the former President, the former President has denied absolutely the statement made in a Greater New York paper last evening that he is giving his attention to the present fight.

While it may be true, as stated, that Roosevelt engineered the recent Hearst-Parsons assault on the Tammany Tigers, it is certainly true that he is having nothing to do with the execution of the scheme.

WRIGHT FLYER PLAYS WITH SPEEDING TRAINS

B. & O. Expresses Beaten in Impromptu Races With Racing Aeroplane on Long Level Stretch at College Park Aviation Field.

About the best proof that can be given of the speed of the Wright biplane is the way in which, on one or two occasions, it sped along near the Baltimore and Ohio railroad tracks in un-sought competition with some fast expresses.

There is a long, straight level stretch of track from the point where the line crosses Paint Creek, a branch of the Eastern Branch of the Potomac clear up beyond College Park. The railroad borders one side of the Government aviation field, and since expresses buzz through College Park at frequent intervals Mr. Wright several times has had impromptu races while the flyer has had the momentum of miles of fast travel over ninety and 100-pound rails and rock ballast, the biplane without any special effort apparently upon the part of the aviator has kept up along side the speeding bus coaches and the little engine and has left it in the rear.

There was a ten-mile breeze, with some fifteen and twenty-mile variations blowing around College Park today, so Prof. Wright did not even open the doors of the hangar. Instead, Mr. Wright stayed within the hangar and sharpened chisels. Somebody told him that there was about $42,500 lying around in this vicinity looking for parties by the name of Orville and Wilbur Wright, he only laughed. Of this sum $12,500 has been awarded to Mr. Wright by the Hudson-Fulton Commission for his sky trips around the Statue of Liberty and up the North river to Grant's Tomb. This morning $20,000 is due the Wrights from the United States Government for the aeroplane now at College Park.

Wright's usual morning flight was not because of the high winds that he did not make ascents, but it was because his pupils and not he himself would not profit by instruction given while the machine was flying in a stiff breeze. When they have become proficient a little thing like a ten-mile wind will not bother them.

While College Park itself seems to be a healthy community, Signal Corps privates who sleep in a compartment at the aeroplane shed have been experiencing all the joys of a before-breakfast fog. Everybody's the people are reported to be flocking to the arms of the revolutionists. From the interior comes the news that the revolutionists have seized Rivas and also that Corinto, a seaport on the Pacific, has declared for the revolution and has overthrown the government there.

News from Greyton today is that there was some fighting there yesterday before the city was taken by the revolutionists. Colonel Uganda, at the head of the force of several hundred revolutionists, arrived at Greyton before the main body of the insurgents under Estrada. Colonel Uganda called upon the garrison to surrender but was answered with a volley. His men returned the fire and after a sharp fight, Uganda routed the garrison and took possession of the town with no further resistance. In the fighting there were some fatalities, several men being killed on either side, and a number wounded.

Upon the arrival at Greyton later in the evening of Tuesday of the body under Gen. Chamorro Estrada, the entire force left for the interior to meet their first real opposition at the fortified town of Castillo, where they expected to fight today.

MENELIK WORRIED BY A CIVIL WAR

Efforts to Succeed After Death of King Expected in Abyssinia.

ROME, Oct. 14.—A civil war is raging in Abyssinia, according to today's dispatches from Adis Abeba, the capital, owing to the province of Fiere resisting the appointment by King Menelik of Degiac Abate as the military commander of the province. Several battles have been fought with heavy loss of life and the conflict is spreading to other provinces.

The conflict is believed to foreshadow a war of succession to the throne after the aged King Menelik's death.

ANNAPOLIS JUNCTION THREATENED BY FIRE

All Trains Held Up by the Flames, Which Are Gaining Headway.

ANNAPOLIS JUNCTION, Md., Oct. 14.—Annapolis Junction is threatened with destruction by fire. The Howard House, located directly across from the Baltimore and Ohio station, is in flames, the trains are unable to pass. The Baltimore and Ohio station is on fire.

The population is fighting the fire with buckets. It is gaining headway every minute.

The Howard House is a two-story frame building owned by Joseph A. Bromatis. The house of Dr. Matthews, next to the hotel, was burned.

PRESIDENT GIVES TOAST ON PORTOLA

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 14.—President Taft's toast to the Portola festival, to which rulers and diplomats the world over will drink at noon on October 19, when the festival will be opened, was made public today. It reads as follows:

"Since Portola looked through the golden gate on the descending sun, San Francisco has twice become the imperial city of the Pacific, first by the energy of a pioneer race and steadily growth into a metropolis, and second, after the complete destruction by the greedy flames and in the face of seemingly insurmountable obstacles, by a regeneration so rapid and complete as to be the wonder of the world. May her future growth be as remarkable as her past, and may her civic righteousness and the individual happiness of her citizens keep pace with it."

Caspar Portola discovered San Francisco bay in 1769, and it is in his honor that the festival is to be given.

NICARAGUANS FLOCK TO REVOLUTIONISTS

Like Wildfire, Rebellion Sweeps Over Republic. Fighting Begins.

BLUEFIELDS, Nicaragua, Oct. 14.—(By wireless via Colon.)—The revolution headed by Gen. Juan J. Estrada against President Zelaya has aroused the entire country, and seems to be sweeping the republic like wildfire.

Everybody's the people are reported to be flocking to the arms of the revolutionists. From the interior comes the news that the revolutionists have seized Rivas and also that Corinto, a seaport on the Pacific, has declared for the revolution and has overthrown the government there.

News from Greyton today is that there was some fighting there yesterday before the city was taken by the revolutionists. TAFT SEES SUN RISE OVER GRAND CANYON

Leaves Tonight for Albuquerque—Arizona Politics Running High.

GRAND CANYON, Ariz., Oct. 14.—President Taft was up early today to see the sun rise in the wonderful colorings of the grand canyon. His train arrived a few hours ahead of time from Ashfork, so the President might have a longer stay on the brink of the gigantic chasm.

In company with Governor Sloan and two or three other celebrities of the Territory, the President had breakfast on his train and was then taken in a stage to various points of interest along the edge of the canyon.

The President will remain here until 8:30 when he will leave for Albuquerque.

Mr. Taft absolutely refused to discuss any phase of the Crane incident for publication, but it is understood he regards the matter as finally closed. He believes Crane was indiscreet in talking about diplomatic matters and thinks therefore that he is not suited for the place of minister to China or for any diplomatic position.

Postmaster General Hitchcock, who is traveling with the President through Arizona, has been in the State four days and politicians of this part are in a fever of speculation over the why and wherefore.

President Taft is making definite promise to the people of Arizona that he will do all in his power to get Statehood for them, but is warning them they must not frame a constitution like the Oklahoma instrument.

It is believed that the Postmaster General is quite as much concerned in discovering what sort of a constitution is likely to be framed, as he is over the probably political complexion of the new State.

WILD BILL DONOVAN TIGERS' LAST HOPE FOR CHAMPIONSHIP

"I'd Give $500 to Win," Says Jennings' Great Twirler.

DETROIT IS CHOSEN FOR FINAL CONTEST

THE UMPIRES.

Klem, Evans, O'Loughlin, and Johnstone.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 14.—Hughie Jennings and his battered but still confident Tigers and Fred Clarke's victorious Pirates reached here today, and this afternoon will engage in what may be the deciding game of the world's series.

If Clarke's team is successful no more games will have to be played, as they will have won four out of six, but if the Tigers win, another battle will be played at Detroit Saturday, the National Commission having decided to play the extra game here in case such a contest is necessary.

"FANS' BACKING TIGERS.

Tiger fans have not quit the team. They are confident now that Adams is out of the way and Wild Bill Donovan and George Mullin are ready to take their turn in the box, that the Tigers will capture the series.

Wild Bill is in splendid shape and is scheduled to work in today's game. He said last night that he would give $500 to win another game from the buccannars. Donovan, like the rest of the Tigers, is tired of holding the bag after every world's series and not one of them but would give half of his winnings to be numbered among the players who have battled on the world's championship team.

Jennings' Appeal.

Jennings gathered his team about him on the sleeper last night and pleaded with them to win from the Pirates today. Hughie's chief ambition is to win the world's championship. He has tried twice and been unsuccessful and if his men fail him again he will be heart-sick and discouraged.

Clarke invited club players into one of the large reception halls at the Ponchartrun Hotel today and gave them a line of talk very much like the one handed out by the leader of the Jungle crew.

"Don't be too sure we have the series clinched," the Pirate chieftain said. "The Detroit club is much stronger this year than either 1907 or 1908. Jennings' men will fight to the last ditch to defeat us today in order to get another chance Saturday. We have the advantage now but will have to put up a stiff battle to beat the Detroit club out."

No Odds Offered.

A delegation of Pittsburgh fans much larger than those who came to see the first two games accompanied the Pirates on this trip.

They think their pets will win, but are not willing to offer any odds, figuring that Donovan has a splendid chance to win today.

The morning dawned clear and cool, but the indications are that the fine weather will continue throughout the day.

Wills will probably pitch for the Pirates.
