ACTIVITY IN KOREA CAUSE OF SHOOTING

Prince Ito's death at the hand of a Korean was undoubtedly the result of his activity in subduing Korea. He became Japanese resident general at Seoul after negotiations extending over a long period, and marked by determined opposition and much rioting.

Ito's life was constantly threatened in Korea, and by the Koreans after he resigned his post there in June of this year. The discovery of a plot by Koreans looking toward the murder of Ito, the casting of Yamagata into prison, and the independence of the Koreans...

Became Council Member.

Prince Ito became a member of the privy council of Japan when he resigned his post as resident general at Seoul in June. The Mikado raised him in rank at that time. He had a brilliant record in the service of Japan, first during the Chinese war, when Japan first appeared as a world power...

Is Made Governor.

In 1899 he was made governor of Hogo, and in 1903 he became minister of finance. He visited Europe four times after his rise to the cabinet. In 1871, 1882, 1891, and on each occasion was received with great honors at the European capitals.

NICHOLAS REGRETS ATTACK UPON ITO

PARIS, Oct. 26.—No one will regret the attack made upon Marquis Ito more than the Czar, according to Russian foreign Minister Iswolsky, who is with the Czar on his trip through France...

JAPANESE ON COAST EXCITED BY CRIME

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct. 26.—The shooting of Prince Ito at Harbin today has caused great excitement among the Japanese here. The general impression is that the prince was the victim of the Korean native societies that have been doing their utmost in a campaign of attempted assassination against Japanese officials ever since Prince Ito assumed control of Korea.

SAKS BRINGS SUIT FOR HEAVY DAMAGES

Furrier Declares Certain Parties Have Injured His Credit.

The second gun in the warfare between Samuel Saks, a local furrier, and his creditors, who yesterday asked that he be adjudged a bankrupt, was fired late yesterday when Mr. Saks filed suit for $100,000, naming as defendants the New York merchants who signed the petition in bankruptcy.

Shot Down by Korean

PRINCE ITO, JAPANESE STATESMAN N.

DEATH OF ITO A BLOW TO U. S. DIPLOMATISTS

To the United States, the death of Prince Ito is a great blow in a diplomatic sense because the logical result of the end of Ito's career is the raising to supreme influence in Japan of Prince Yamagata, the leader of the "military party."

The militarists are those who have clamored on various occasions for war with the United States, and there is no denial possible of the fact that Yamagata's rise to the post of principal adviser to the Mikado will make relations between this country and Japan much more liable to rupture than was the case when Ito was alive.

In spite of all that has been said and written about the friendship between this country and Japan, there is no doubt that in Japan there is a strong party inimical to Americans and American influence in the Orient. This sentiment is represented by Yamagata and his many followers.

In recent years he worked as the resident general of Korea, where he was opposed by the best classes of Koreans because they realized that he mitigated as far as he dared the cruelty and oppression of the Mikado's government toward them.

The Czar expected great things of Marquis Ito's meeting with the Russian minister of finance at Harbin, and when told that the Marquis had been shot down, he at first refused to believe the report, but later, when the shooting was clearly established, the Czar expressed his sorrow and ordered a message sent to the Japanese government.

WILBUR LOOKS ON AS HIS PUPILS FLY

Wright Permits Humphreys and Lahm to Make Trip.

(Continued from First Page.) the skill for which he has become famous at College Park. Over the heads of the spectators gathered around the shed, he shut off his motor and started to glide to the ground.

Only once before at College Park has Mr. Wright made this glide. On the first attempt he slid along the air lanes for probably 1,000 feet before he touched the earth. This morning he came down much more quickly, but in just as surprising fashion as before.

Both Signal Corps officers sat this morning in the seat which they have previously occupied as passengers. That was not the one which Orville and Wilbur have used in their trips. In order to balance the machine so that the operator would not be confronted by some problem of equilibrium of which he knew nothing, Mr. Wright before the flights this morning put two wind weights on the left forward corner of the lower main plane. By this means the operator was not thrown off in his calculation of a turn.

Surprise to Spectators. While the flights this morning by the pupils came as a surprise to many of the spectators, Mr. Wright always has asserted that he could teach a man to manipulate a Wright biplane in about one hour of actual flying time. While he has taken longer than this with both lieutenants, still the flying has been done intermittently and under varying wind conditions.

After the flight Mr. Wright made alone, the machine was taken into the shed, and the officers and the professor started to do a little inside work. Both lieutenants were immensely pleased with their trips as real aviators and both looked happy.

It is not probable that Mr. Wright will leave College Park for Washington to attend the public meeting in the Chamber of Commerce this afternoon, when Washington and Baltimore business men will consult about the chance of obtaining the international aviation meet.

TARIFF BOARD MEETS TO OUTLINE ITS WORK

New Congressional Body Has Long Conference—Will Watch Particularly for Discrimination Against United States—To Promote Good Feeling With France.

The new tariff board, consisting of Prof. H. C. Emery of Yale, Alvin Sanders of Chicago, and Assistant Secretary Reynolds of the Treasury Department, is in conference today at the Treasury. This is the first meeting of the board since it was organized some weeks ago. From now on, all three members of the board will be here and its work will be practically continuous.

Meetings of the board will not be held in the sense that the members will come in conference today at the Treasury together at stated times. But the board will go ahead steadily collecting and collating information on the question of what countries are discriminating against the United States. Particularly it will seek to find out what countries are discriminating "indirectly." Under the law, those that "indirectly" discriminate against this country will be subjected to maximum tariff rates after March 31.

Prof. Emery, chairman of the board, said today it would not be necessary to do any traveling or send experts about over this country or Europe, at least for the present, and that the board had all it could do here in the examination of documents and study of the information at hand.

In an effort to promote good feeling between this country and France, as well as between this country and Switzerland and Bulgaria, it has been ordered by the Treasury that the customs houses keep open until 4:30 Saturday afternoon. The trade agreements with those countries will expire October 31, Sunday next. Ordinarily, this would mean expiration when the customs houses close business Saturday, which is at 1 o'clock. But it has been ordered that the custom houses keep open for the usual length of time until 4:30 Saturday afternoon. Any vessel that makes entry up to that time from France or containing Bulgarian or Swiss goods, will be allowed the lower rates on those goods so far as they are affected by the agreement.

ROOSEVELT PARTY REACHES LONDINA

Colonel Anxious to Push Onward to Uganda Country. LONDINA, British East Africa, Oct. 26.—The Roosevelt party, consisting of the colonel, Kermit, Major Heller, Prof. Loring, Dr. Mearns, Guide Cunningham, and the army of runners and attendants, arrived here today from Nairobi and will probably go into this afternoon to Njoro, another station on the Uganda railway.

This trip to Londina is the beginning of the movement toward the Uganda country, though the party is still many miles from the protectorate. An indefinite stay will be made at Njoro, the party being the guests of Lord Delamere. The hunting around Njoro is said to be exceptionally good. Colonel Roosevelt, however, is anxious to reach the Uganda, and the party may push on by the middle of November.

FOUR VANDERBILT CUP CARS OFF ROAD

"Billy" Knipper and Joe Matson in Accidents on Course.

GARDEN CITY, L. I., Oct. 26.—Only great luck prevented a number of accidents on the Vanderbilt cup course today from ending seriously. Twenty-three cars, entered in the cup race and great stakes on Saturday, were out for practice spins over the 2.54-mile course, and four of them ran off the ribbon of cement track, through ditches or into ditches. The cars that went askew were the Moon, driven by Philip Wells; one of the Nationals, piloted by Jack Aiken, and two of the Chalmers-Detroit type, with Joe Matson and "Billy Knipper" at the wheels. That no one was seriously hurt or the machines badly damaged by the accidents was remarkable, as all of the cars were going at better than a mile-a-minute when they slipped from the track. The fastest time of the day was made by Bert Dingley in a Chalmers-Detroit "Blue Bird." He traveled the course in eleven minutes flat.
