MERRY CHRISTMAS FOR ALL CHILDREN

Greeting of The Times, the St. Nicholas Girl, and Santa Claus.

Toys and Candies, Dolls and Playthings Just as Were Requested in Letters.

"Christmas Eve, and Merry Christmas to all the little children of Washington!"

This is the greeting which The Times, and Santa Claus, and the St. Nicholas Girl sent you today. And a busy day it is for the friends of the children.

Early Friday morning, when the first faint streaks of pink were tinging the Eastern sky, the Santa Claus car drew up before the Munsey Building, and Santa himself crept lightly up flight after flight of steps to peep into the store room that holds the children's treasures.

Then, for the first time in many a long day Santa Claus gave a sigh of relief, and laughed right heartily. The lines disappeared from his brow, and he rubbed his hands together and whistled softly. "After all, the men and women remembered the children," he said.

Early Friday morning, too, the Santa Claus sled began arriving at The Times Building. There was a small army of volunteer workers, and soon the store room was a sort of happy bee hive.

There were more bags to fill, and hundreds of bright Christmas labels to tie on bags already full to bursting. There were buckets of candy and gaily decorated boxes to hold the candy; there were big bundles of toys arriving every moment, and happy faced people coming to be shown the toys.
