

WOULD WELCOME CALL FOR DATA

Peary's Friends Say Report on Soundings Would Strengthen Claims.

In case the House Committee on Naval Affairs decides to call on the Department of Commerce and Labor for such data as it has on hand to prove that Peary has been to the North Pole, it is declared by friends of Commander Peary that his case will be strengthened thereby.

The House committee has not acted on this matter. The sub-committee on private bills feels that the data in the possession of the Department of Commerce and Labor should be called for. Some of the members of the sub-committee in urging this step are unfriendly to Peary and others are not.

HIGH HONOR SHOWN BY SIZE OF MEDAL

One Awarded Peary Largest Ever Given by London Society.

Commander Peary's medal, awarded him by the Royal Geographic Society of London, which is considered the greatest society in the world in this field of activity, is the greatest honor ever conferred by that society. It has just come to light.

This is determined by the size of the medal, which is greater than either of the only two others ever conferred, and greater to such a degree that the intention is obvious. That granted to Nansen was two and one-half inches in diameter; that to Stanley was three inches; and the one awarded to Peary is four inches.

Friends of the Commander point to this as another reason why he is not in duty bound to submit his records for further examination by scientific bodies.

FOR FOUNDERS' DAY. CHARLOTTEVILLE, Va., Feb. 27.—Andrew Carnegie and Elihu Root have agreed to make the principal addresses on Founders' Day at the University of Virginia, which is April 15, the anniversary of the birth of Thomas Jefferson.

TALKING FREELY OF THEFTS CONFESSED, GLENN SHOWS ART IN HIS METHODS

Clings to Original Statement in Grueling Central Office Examination.

POSITIVE EVIDENCE OF TEN BURGLARIES

Alleged Accomplice Close-Mouthed and Fearful, When Men Meet.

"Sure! All those pieces of jewelry you have shown me, except those I told you about, I took. You've got the goods on me. Somebody squealed."

Nonchalant, willing, and ready to accept responsibility for every crime of which the police have positive, tangible evidence he committed, George Glenn, alias George Williams, alias George Smith, burglar, spent an easy, comfortable Sunday in his cell at the Third precinct station while the police of eleven precincts and busy detectives from headquarters sweated and fumed as they scoured the city to find more stolen jewelry, that they might clear the record books of more than the ten burglaries accounted for in Glenn's confession.

No gentleman burglar is Glenn, he protests, nor does he care to have the title applied to him. Just plain thief is a good enough handle for him, he says.

Inspector Boardman declares he is one of the most expert, and moreover the nervous, lawbreaker his men have been called upon to handle in many months.

Admits Game Is Up. Glenn made no trouble for the police after his arrest yesterday at noon. He admitted that the game was up with him, but a word could be obtained from him as to his operations in this city until he knew all the police knew about him—which was very little.

They had certain pieces of jewelry representing the loot of ten houses in the District. Some of these they knew had been stolen by Glenn because a weak-eyed young man named McCarthy, arrested Friday, admitted they had been given him by Glenn.

The others, they suspected, he had stolen, because they were pawned by an individual answering his description. Still others they held, morally certain the man had taken them from their rightful owners, but without evidence to that effect.

Glenn learned all this before he had been in headquarters half an hour, and without a trace of nervousness in the most matter of fact way—went over the pile piece by piece and made two little heaps.

Into one of these piles went the jewelry known to have been taken by him and some of that recovered from pawn shops and like places where they had been placed by a man that looked like him, who could easily be identified by the person who received them.

Prisoner Is Questioned. The other pile contained the articles concerning which the detectives could not get evidence. Then Mr. Boardman admitted the first pile and discarded the second. He was questioned and re-questioned, but not a whit would he depart from his original statement, although the detectives came away after the examination flushed and nervous.

Glenn was escorted back to his cell and then the detectives and policemen started out to get the evidence they believe will connect him with other crimes. Glenn and his alleged accomplice, McCarthy, were brought together at police headquarters last night, but no sign of recognition passed between them, and Glenn declined to talk. McCarthy was close-mouthed and fearful throughout his stay at the central office and seemed relieved when sent to the first precinct station. He is charged with receiving stolen property.

Just who Glenn is, where he came from and how long he has been in the District, the police have been unable to learn. Whether his real name is Glenn or Smith or Williams also is a secret. Nobody here knows him, and he is leaguely about the crimes he admits committing, is not so careless as to his identity and antecedents.

He informed Inspector Boardman he preferred to be called Glenn, intimating that is his real name. Copies of his photograph and measurements were sent out broadcast this morning.

Inspector Boardman is of the opinion that this bright light of the underworld must have operated elsewhere, although he maintains this is the first time the prisoner has ever been arrested. The inspector does not think that the cunning and daring shown by the man in his operations here are the result of sudden inspiration.

A man with the talent Glenn has shown, the inspector said this morning, "can be safely put down as a person of long experience. Experience in burglary work is necessary, and I believe we can find that this man had long practice. He's an artist."

Where Glenn Visited. The ten cases Glenn admits include: October 15, 1909—Mrs. Theodore W. Ingham, the Richmond Hotel, seventeenth and H streets northwest.

November 30, 1909—Mrs. Douglas Forrest, the Grafton Hotel, Connecticut avenue and De Sales street northwest.

January 27, 1910—Mrs. M. H. Sawyer, the Buckingham Hotel, 529 Fifteenth street northwest.

February 9, 1910—Mrs. A. D. Mack, the Logan Hotel, Iowa circle.

February 10, 1910—Right Rev. Bishop Alfred Harding, 1407 Massachusetts avenue northwest.

February 14, 1910—Miss T. E. Wilson, 1123 Thirteenth street northwest.

February 14, 1910—Mrs. N. Howard, 106 Thirteenth street northwest.

GEORGE GLENN, Man of Many Aliases, Regarded by Police As One of Most Expert Burglars Captured in Many Months.

Seals Lips When Questioned Concerning Crimes Suspected by the Police.

STYLES HIMSELF JUST PLAIN THIEF

Nonchalantly Surveys Piles of Jewelry, Admitting Some to Have Been His Loot.

committing, is not so careless as to his identity and antecedents.

He informed Inspector Boardman he preferred to be called Glenn, intimating that is his real name. Copies of his photograph and measurements were sent out broadcast this morning.

Inspector Boardman is of the opinion that this bright light of the underworld must have operated elsewhere, although he maintains this is the first time the prisoner has ever been arrested.

The inspector does not think that the cunning and daring shown by the man in his operations here are the result of sudden inspiration.

A man with the talent Glenn has shown, the inspector said this morning, "can be safely put down as a person of long experience. Experience in burglary work is necessary, and I believe we can find that this man had long practice. He's an artist."

Where Glenn Visited. The ten cases Glenn admits include: October 15, 1909—Mrs. Theodore W. Ingham, the Richmond Hotel, seventeenth and H streets northwest.

November 30, 1909—Mrs. Douglas Forrest, the Grafton Hotel, Connecticut avenue and De Sales street northwest.

January 27, 1910—Mrs. M. H. Sawyer, the Buckingham Hotel, 529 Fifteenth street northwest.

February 9, 1910—Mrs. A. D. Mack, the Logan Hotel, Iowa circle.

February 10, 1910—Right Rev. Bishop Alfred Harding, 1407 Massachusetts avenue northwest.

February 14, 1910—Miss T. E. Wilson, 1123 Thirteenth street northwest.

February 14, 1910—Mrs. N. Howard, 106 Thirteenth street northwest.

February 15, 1910—Owen Owen, 122 H street northwest.

February 15, 1910—Miss Marie Louise Reed, Mt. Vernon Seminary, Eleventh and M streets northwest.

SCIENTISTS DINE. More than seventy-five scientists, many of them accompanied by members of their families and friends, attended the dinner of the Pinks and Hammers' Society of the United States Geological Survey at Rauscher's.

The evening was a most enjoyable one. The toastmaster was Dr. Whitman Cross, and Director Nobody here knows him, and he is leaguely about the crimes he admits committing, is not so careless as to his identity and antecedents.

He informed Inspector Boardman he preferred to be called Glenn, intimating that is his real name. Copies of his photograph and measurements were sent out broadcast this morning.

Inspector Boardman is of the opinion that this bright light of the underworld must have operated elsewhere, although he maintains this is the first time the prisoner has ever been arrested.

The inspector does not think that the cunning and daring shown by the man in his operations here are the result of sudden inspiration.

A man with the talent Glenn has shown, the inspector said this morning, "can be safely put down as a person of long experience. Experience in burglary work is necessary, and I believe we can find that this man had long practice. He's an artist."

Where Glenn Visited. The ten cases Glenn admits include: October 15, 1909—Mrs. Theodore W. Ingham, the Richmond Hotel, seventeenth and H streets northwest.

November 30, 1909—Mrs. Douglas Forrest, the Grafton Hotel, Connecticut avenue and De Sales street northwest.

FREDERICK BUGHER IS HERE ON VISIT

Deputy Police Commissioner of New York Expected to See President.

Deputy Police Commissioner Frederick H. Bugher, of New York, whom the Republican delegation in Congress is trying its best to keep out of the job of surveyor of the port of New York, denied emphatically today that he had come to Washington on a political mission.

Mr. Bugher is stopping at the residence of his uncle, John R. McLean.

"I simply came to Washington to see my mother," Mr. Bugher said. "I expect to be here a couple of days, but I have no appointment with the President."

Nevertheless it is thought that Mr. Bugher's presence in Washington will bring his case to a crisis, and that he will be a visitor at the White House tomorrow or Tuesday.

Surveyor of Port. President Taft is anxious to make Bugher surveyor of the port to succeed the veteran Clarkson. Bugher has been deputy commissioner of police in New York for several years. Notwithstanding his wealth and a youth of comparative idleness, Bugher, who is only thirty-four years old, possesses real ability.

This has been demonstrated since he entered the police department of New York with that stormy petrel, Commissioner Bingham.

When Bingham was forced out of office by Mayor McCallahan last year Bugher loyally handed in his resignation, but the Mayor would not accept it and told him to stick on the job. Bugher stuck.

It is understood that John R. McLean called President Taft's attention to Bugher and asked him to give him a Federal position. The President picked out the surveyorship.

Organization Roars. When the New York organization heard of it a roar was let out from their headquarters in the Metropolitan building on Madison square that jarred every building from the Battery to the Bronx. Orders were issued to the New York Republican Senators and Congressmen and they have been going to the White House in droves to protest against Bugher.

Their protests checked the President, but he has not yet promised to withdraw Bugher's name. It is probable that the President will offer the young New Yorker "something equally as good," but Bugher's friends say he wants to remain in New York city.

It has been suggested that he be given a diplomatic post, but reports have it that Bugher has no aspirations whatever to a diplomatic career.

PRESIDENT ATTENDS ALL SOULS' CHURCH

No Appointments in Afternoon, Executive Goes for Drive.

Accompanied only by Secret Service men, President Taft rode in his automobile today, occupying her regular pew at St. John's, being driven to the church in her automobile. Afterward she took a short drive, returning to the White House in time for luncheon.

The President, having no appointments, this afternoon went for a drive.

BARBED WIRE FENCE CAPTURES A DEER

Animal Torn by Iron Points Dies in Patrol Wagon After Rescue by Boston Police.

BOSTON, Feb. 27.—A 200-pound buck deer, driven by cold and hunger from the woods surrounding the Mt. Auburn district of Cambridge, caught in a barbed wire fence near Huron avenue today, and so badly injured that it died in the police patrol wagon, which was sent out to rescue the animal.

The deer had been in the neighborhood for several days. This morning, frightened by a trolley car and the shouts of children, the deer tried to jump the fence, but became entangled in the wire. A patrol wagon was sent from the Brattle Square station, and two patrolmen got the buck clear from the fence and put him in the wagon, but he died on the way to the station.

Our Full Line of 1910 Refrigerators At 1-6 Off Regular Prices

Our Introductory Sale of Refrigerators begins tomorrow and lasts one week. All our White Frost, Leonard, and Grand Rapids Refrigerators, with the exception of two patterns, are included in the sale and you can take as much off the regular marked price if you buy this week.

Our full line will not be again reduced until September, so it will pay to make your selections now.

This $25 White Frost Refrigerator $20.84

Here's a chance to secure one of these beautiful pure white, all-metal White Frost Refrigerators at a good reduction. The White Frost is easily cleaned, has revolving steel wire shelves, all interior parts easily and quickly removed, and there are no corners to collect germs.

Mayer & Co. 409 to 417 Seventh Street N. W. 10% Discount on Accounts Closed in 30 Days

Advertisement for White Cross Milk. Features include: 'What Washington Physicians Found at the Home of WHITE CROSS MILK', 'Not What We Say--But What Those Say Who Saw', 'CLEAN and PURE', 'Bottles Sterilized, Filled and Sealed', 'By Machinery at Frederick, Md.', 'Our Milk is Sold at the Prevailing Price of Milk--9 Cents', 'WHITE CROSS MILK COMPANY', '9th and N Sts. N. W.', 'PHONES: North 1112, North 1113', 'VISITING PHYSICIANS AT WHITE CROSS PLANT', 'By Machinery at Frederick, Md.'