News Received With Joy.

The Street received the news gladly, and almost immediately the bears started to cover, regardless of a sharp advance in values which the bulls forced upon them.

St. Paul rose 2 1/2 points. Reading 3/4. Southern Pacific 3. Union Pacific 5. and Steel common 2 points.

Where a few weeks ago the corporations were anxious to have the incorporation measure delayed, they are now just as much in earnest in hoping for its passage that they might dodge the Sherman anti-trust law under its wings.

Street Favors New Bill.

The President is reported as saying that this incorporation bill, drawn by Attorney General Clegg, need not be rushed at this session, and there are those who do not believe that it can be passed through at the short session next December.

It is an Administration measure, and the President has heretofore expressed anxiety for its passage. Now the Street wants it passed and quickly.

LOAN SHARKS DRIVE CHANDLER TO DEATH

Train Dispatcher, Said to Have Been Hounded by Usurers, Takes Life.

That George W. Chandler, a train dispatcher who died last night in the Casualty Hospital, killed himself because he was unable to meet his obligations to "loan sharks," into whose clutches he had fallen, is the opinion of Coroner Nevitt, who today issued a certificate of death by suicide.

It was first supposed that the shooting Thursday was accidental. When taken to the hospital Chandler is said to have nodded his head in assent when one of the surgeons asked if it was an accident.

White members of the family were in the sitting room. Chandler got up and said he was going to his room to take a nap. A few minutes later a pistol shot was heard.

Mrs. Chandler rushed into the room and found her husband lying on the floor with blood flowing from a wound in his neck. He never regained his consciousness up to the time he died.

The position of the wound was such that the coroner was almost certain to find it could have been accidentally inflicted. He discarded the theory that the weapon had been discharged while Chandler was examining it and questioned members of the family.

Borrowed From "Ten Percenters." Several months ago Chandler, it seems, had been in urgent need of a small amount of cash until pay day.

Not wanting to ask any of his friends to accommodate him, he went to one of the "ten percenters" and got the money. The interest rate was usurious and exorbitant.

After that it was the same old story of hundreds of others who have fallen victims of the "loan evil." When he went to pay the note he asked for an extension. The interest was almost doubled. Before he really discovered his predicament he found that he had practically mortgaged his property for several months in advance. It was almost impossible to keep up family expenses and meet the demands of the "sharks."

Finally he failed to make one of the payments. Then he was unable to meet another. He went to other loan companies to borrow from them to pay others. Each week he kept getting deeper in the mire.

Hounded to Death. He asked for more time to meet the obligations, but the "sharks" demanded their pound of flesh. They sent collectors to the house and office daily. It was a case of borrow from Peter to pay Paul.

Life seemed hardly worth living, and he became very despondent. He made a last attempt to straighten out his financial tangle, and, failing to do so, he ended it all.

Arrangements for the funeral are being made today.

INSURGENTS JOIN WITH DEMOCRATS

Conference Report Appropriating $2,500 for Speaker's Auto Rejected.

The old alliance between the Democrats and insurgents was again brought into effect today, in order to prevent Speaker Cannon from having an appropriation of $2,500 for the maintenance of the automobile which was given to him by Congress last year.

The appropriation was put into the legislative record as an appropriation bill in conference. When the conference report was brought up today, by Representative Gillett, of Massachusetts, Mr. Foster, Illinois, made a speech against the automobile provision, and on a roll call, the House disagreed to this Senate amendment, and sent the report back to conference by a vote of 111 to 132.

DR. BENNETT HYDE PLACED ON TRIAL

Murder of Colonel Swope Is Charged in Indictment.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., April 11.—Dr. Bennett Clark Hyde was placed on trial here today for the murder of Col. Thomas H. Swope, millionaire, and benefactor of Kansas City, who presented to the city before his death one of the most beautiful parks in the Middle West.

Half an hour before court opened this morning Judge Latschaw granted leave to Hyde's attorneys to withdraw and examine the venue before court opened. The closest scrutiny of the list was made to prevent any one from qualifying whose opinions may be prejudicial.

An extra heavy guard has been provided to insure order in the court room. Before court opened all the principals and witnesses had appeared prepared for the trial and both sides announced they were ready to proceed.

The charge of murdering Colonel Swope is but one of many indictments found against Dr. Hyde following the deaths of Colonel Swope, his nephew, Christian Swope, and cousin, James Moss Hunton, as well as the malady of typhoid fever that swept the Swope household and for a time threatened to exterminate the family. It is alleged that Colonel Swope came to his death directly as the result of a strychnine capsule prescribed by Dr. Hyde.

At the same time it is alleged by the State that he placed typhoid fever germs in the food prepared for the family with the intention of killing them. As a motive for these deeds the State claims that Dr. Hyde desired to kill off the heirs to the Swope estate, as each death increased the share which his wife, Mrs. Francis Swope Hyde, niece of Colonel Swope, would inherit. Mrs. Hyde, who is in no way connected with the charges against her husband, stands by him and refutes all charges as base slanders.

Trials to Follow. The State places its strongest case on trial today and on the outcome will undoubtedly hinge the result of the trials that may follow. With this in mind both sides were represented by an imposing array of legal talent. State's Attorney Conklin will conduct the prosecution in person, assisted by John G. Paxton, executor of the Swope estate. On the defense's side are Frank P. Walsh, former Judge William T. Johnson, and several other able attorneys.

It was assured by Dr. Hyde himself that there would be no delay in the trial. The physician insists that he is innocent, and is also confident that a visit of his work is soon expected in the Hyde home and for this reason the doctor is anxious to be cleared of the charges against him, if possible, so that he can be with his wife.

TAFT BILLS SAFE, DECLARES MURDOCK

Kansas Insurgent Dovelike in Conference at White House.

Victor Murdock, the "rebel," appeared at the White House today and talked like a cooing dove about the harmony, peace, and goodwill which now prevail in the House of Representatives.

"The President's legislative program is all right," he said with an air of confidence. "The House will pass the railroad bill, the postal savings bank bill, the anti-injunction bill, some of the conservation measures, and probably the bill against gambling in futures in cotton. It has already passed the Statehood measure."

Other reports, were brought to the President today that his legislative program is safe and will be put through without the loss of much more time. One of his informants along this line was Representative Seneca E. Payne, of New York, who bore about the same message as that of Representative Murdock.

Much to the President's satisfaction, a subcommittee of the House Committee on Appropriations, headed by Chairman Tanner, will soon begin the framing of an amendment to the tariff bill, which will set aside $25,000 to be used by the foreign tariff board in investigating the difference in the cost of production of manufactures in this country and abroad. Mr. Taft had a conference with Mr. Tanner this morning.

It is Mr. Taft's desire to have the tariff bill reported to Congress for changes in any specific duties should the investigations show that the rates in the present tariff law are unreasonable.

At present the foreign tariff board has nothing to report on which to base recommendations to Congress for changes in any specific duties should the investigations show that the rates in the present tariff law are unreasonable.

SECOND TERM BOOM LAUNCHED FOR TAFT

CHICAGO, April 11.—There is a certainty that before Mr. Taft's term expires, new questions of great importance, some of which I have in mind, will demand disposition. Under such circumstances there would be or might arise the desirability of another term for the present Executive.

This is the way Attorney General Wickersham started a second term boom for President Taft just before he departed for Washington. The Attorney General said that he intended to tell the Chief Executive that the insurgent movement in the West would not result in a party split.

"While I have no disposition to deride or underestimate the strength and sincerity of the insurgent movement, still I will be able to tell President Taft that I do not believe that the Republican party is to be split by the divergence over the tariff or other policies."

GIRL AGAIN FORGES PINCHOT IN ITALY, GREETING ROOSEVELT

Jesse Atchison Recaptured by Minneapolis Police. Stolen Goods Found.

MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., April 11.—Miss Jessie Atchison, the twenty-year-old forger who was sent to the St. Cloud reformatory from Minneapolis two weeks ago and escaped from the institution Thursday night, was arrested at the Nicollet House today.

During her brief freedom, Miss Atchison managed to pass six forged checks at department stores in the Twin Cities, for the total sum of $55.

When searched, a watch, ring, and several small articles of jewelry were found in her possession. All had been taken from the home of Superintendent Frank L. Randall, of the reformatory the night the girl made her escape.

Europe to meet Colonel Roosevelt became pretty general in official circles today, when it became known that Gifford Pinchot and the former President took a long walk together this morning at Porto Maurizio.

The name of Gifford Pinchot was cheered Saturday night in the face of the President at the Republican Club banquet. Nick Longworth mentioned it in making a point in defense of the tariff, and referred to Pinchot as the highest authority on forestry in this country. The diners decided that was the place to cheer, and interrupted his line of argument. The President was clearly displeased, and his close friends who were present, to offset Pinchot's story.

INDORSE DEPOSITS BY GAS CONSUMERS

Commissioners Do Not Approve Bill to Abolish Practice.

Accepting the statement of Capt. William Kelly, Assistant Engineer Commissioner, that "it is believed the legislation would not be advisable," the Commissioners today forwarded to Congress an adverse report on the bill introduced by Representative Coudrey "prohibiting any person or persons, company or companies who furnish gas or electricity in the District of Columbia from demanding deposits in certain instances."

The object of the bill is to prohibit the gas light companies and the electric light company from requiring consumers to make guaranty deposits as a condition to the introduction of gas or electricity into private premises.

As their reason for submitting an adverse report on the measure the Commissioners say "they believe that some such arrangement as this is necessary to protect the public service corporations and also the District against loss by reason of unscrupulous consumers, and they do not believe that the making of such deposits causes any great hardship to the consumer."

TERMS ACCEPTABLE, SAYS DR. R. D. HARLAN

Complete Victory Won for G. W. U. and People of District.

A complete victory has been won by the people of Washington in general and the George Washington University in particular by the favorable action just taken by the House Agricultural Committee upon the Gallinger-Boutell bill which appropriates $50,000 yearly in agriculture and the mechanical arts.

In speaking today of the victory Dr. Harlan said the limitation and requirements are very natural and are reasonable. That the limit will be extended each time it expires, in the event the Government has not erected a "State" or national institution within the District in the meantime, is the opinion of Dr. Harlan.

"Congress is well aware," he said, "that something in this respect must be done for the young men and women of the District of Columbia, and at the present recognizes our institution as the proper instrumentality for administering the Morrill acts in the District."

In explaining the victory over the outside educators Dr. Harlan today said: "From the standpoint of Congress the three years' limitation is a natural and entirely reasonable one. We gladly accept the friendly and sympathetic challenge which Congress would thus issue to the university. Such a bill will put the university on its mettle and will summon the university and its friends in this community to redoubled efforts in three directions: "An increase in our permanent endowment. "The purchase of a new and worthy site. "That work will become ten times as easy because of the determination which this bill will give to the university as the servant of all the people in the District."

"If after the amended bill has been in actual operation it turns out to be a fact that it lays too heavy a burden upon the institution that has been chosen by Congress for doing this work for the people of the District, we feel sure that in some way Congress will do the square thing and the wise thing, not only for the university, but for the young people of the District."

"But this feature of the bill fades into insignificance in comparison with the two main issues which were at stake on those two issues, the District and the University have won a complete victory over certain educators outside of the District who have so ungenerously attempted to defeat the only plan that is at present feasible for making the Morrill appropriation actually effective for the benefit of the young people of the District."

"The bill, even as amended by the House committee, is passed by Congress, two far-reaching results will have been obtained. "In passing, without amendment, the first section of the bill (which admits the District itself to the benefits of the Morrill acts) the District's own fight has been won, once and for all. Under no conceivable circumstances could any movement ever be organized to exclude the District from those benefits."

On the second issue at stake, namely, the designation of the George Washington University, the victory has been even more complete and far-reaching, because the opposition from those outsiders has been directed exclusively to this second feature of the bill.

"These gentlemen have contended that nothing should be done in the way of using the District's Morrill appropriation until Congress, and the District."

SENATE REJECTS HEYBURN CLAUSE

Westerner's Amendment to Railroad Bill Lost in Upper Body.

The first vote on the Administration railroad bill was taken today when the Senate rejected Senator Heyburn's amendment providing for the creation of land courts in the Western States. The vote stood 27 to 34 against the amendment.

While there was nothing in the amendment even remotely pertaining to interstate commerce, it was offered for insertion in the railroad bill. Heyburn (Rep. Idaho) is the author. He proposed the establishment of a system of land courts in the railroad area to have been suggested to him by the fact that the railroad bill provides for a commerce court to have exclusive jurisdiction over the interstate commerce cases.

It has been charged that such a court would have very few cases to occupy its time. The Idaho Senator felt that if Congress had a commerce court, it would have special courts he would present a field where such a court could work on thousands of cases, pressing and important. The Heyburn amendment proposed to treat the district land courts of the United States in States and Territories having 2,500 acres or more of Government land that is or may be subject to entry or sale. Public land of less area in States or Territories, he believed under the jurisdiction of the nearest district court. It was to deal with all kinds of land suits and disputed mining titles.

There was to be a judge in each district, at a salary of $5,000. Then there was to be a general court of appeals consisting of three judges, each to receive $7,500 a year. An appeal from the latter court would go to the United States Supreme Court if the amendment had become a law.
