

BRIDE ON HER WAY FROM THE PACIFIC

Frank E. Wright and Clergyman Await Miss Carrie Davis' Arrival.

WEDDING IS CLIMAX TO ROMANCE IN WEST

Printer At G. P. O. Will Wed Sweetheart of His College Days in Washington State.

Miss Carrie Davis, of Seattle, Washington, will arrive in this city Friday morning and on Saturday will wed Frank E. Wright, of the Government Printing Office, a former schoolmate.

Miss Davis is traveling alone across the continent, having left her home on the Pacific coast last Saturday.

The romance which will see its termination on Saturday evening began over fifteen years ago in Seattle. Mr. Wright and Miss Davis were then fellow students at the State University of Washington. About ten years ago Mr. Wright received an appointment to the Government Printing Office.

Before leaving his home he married Miss Amelia Hamlin and brought her to Washington with him. Mrs. Wright died about three years ago and Mr. Wright's mother came all the way from Seattle to keep house for her son.

Last year Mr. Wright returned to his old home in Seattle and there renewed his acquaintance with his former sweetheart, Miss Davis, who had meanwhile become a school teacher in Seattle. Their renewed friendship soon ripened into something more, and before Mr. Wright left Washington he had her promise to come whenever he should send for her.

When Miss Davis arrives in the city she will go to the home of Mrs. A. N. Ward, of the Methodist Protestant Conference of this city, who will perform the ceremony. Mr. Ward was formerly pastor of the church. Miss Davis attended in Seattle.

Miss Davis is a daughter of Addison G. Davis, a retired minister of the Methodist Episcopal Church South of Seattle. Mr. Wright is the son of Dr. S. M. Wright, who is now living in St. Joseph, Mo.

REV. GILL GOING TO SEATTLE, WASH.

Pastor of Rhode Island Avenue M. P. Church Is Transferred.

BALTIMORE, April 12.—The Rev. John M. Gill, who has been for a number of years pastor of the Rhode Island Avenue Methodist Church of Washington, has been transferred to Seattle, Wash.

This change, with a number of others, was announced last night following the close of the Methodist Protestant conference, which had been in session in Baltimore for the past week. The transfer of the Rev. Gill was at the request of the board of home missions. Rev. P. T. Benson, of Denton, Md., succeeds him in Washington.

When notified of his transfer, Dr. Gill made a touching speech, in which he bade farewell to the ministers and delegates. Many were affected by his words and after he had finished the large congregation sang, "God Be With You Till We Meet Again."

Dr. Benson, who becomes the pastor of the Rhode Island Avenue Church, will be succeeded at Denton by the Rev. A. N. Ward. Mr. Ward's former pulpit was at Seattle, Wash. R. L. Shipley, formerly of Fourth, Columbia Avenue Church, goes to Centerville, Md.

The other Washington appointments and places near by are: First Church, W. A. Melvin; North Carolina Avenue, N. O. Gibson; Georgetown, E. D. Stone; Mt. Taber, E. L. Beauchamp; Potomac, W. L. Hoffman; Alexandria, Va., J. M. Holmes; Fairfax, Va., W. C. Mumford.

SOCIETY ATTENDS HOSPITAL BAZAAR

Opening of Annual Event at Arlington Draws Large Crowd.

Society in all its splendor attended the annual bazaar of the Episcopal Eye, Ear and Throat Hospital, which opened at the Arlington Hotel yesterday afternoon, and which will close at 10 o'clock tonight.

The ballroom of the hotel, in which the affair is being held, has been transformed into a veritable fairyland. Flowers, greens, blossoms and brilliant hangings have been artistically used in decorating the big room. Everlasting suggestions beauty and fragrance, and the opening was attended by a large crowd which presented a lively scene for several hours.

The reception committee is made up as follows: Mrs. Charles E. Buck, Mrs. George H. McGraw, Mrs. William H. Fox, Mrs. William Conrad, Mrs. E. J. Stellwagen, Mrs. Edward Roome, Mrs. G. F. Dudley, and Mrs. Robert Talbot.

CAVE DWELLINGS TOPIC. That the cave dwellings of the Old World and those of the New World show a remarkable similarity of construction was demonstrated at George Washington University last night by Dr. J. Walter Fewkes, president of the Anthropological Society. In an address to the society, the instrumental and vocal music and recitations were given. Mrs. Lewis, president of the circle, presided.

WILL MEET TONIGHT. Interior Council, National Union, will meet tonight at Fythian Temple.

PRINCIPALS IN ROMANCE.

GHOSTLY BURGLAR DEFIES THE POLICE

Makes Dozen Attempts to Rob While Hidden Detectives Watch.

NEW YORK, April 12.—Mystery has so colored accounts of a stealthy burglar to rob the residence of Dr. I. E. Castrnak, an eye, ear, and throat specialist, of Brooklyn, that the police, who lay flat on the roof for hours or patrolled the back yard, lying in wait, are much perplexed today to explain the noises heard within the house, and the continued efforts of the thief to break in.

During a month the burglar has tried at least a dozen times to rob the house, but no one has seen him. Once he got in the house from a fire escape and managed to wrap up much of the portable in a valuable rug, but the footsteps of the maid going upstairs to investigate caused him to leave his booty and flee.

At another time two heavy silver candlesticks were found by members of Dr. Castrnak's family in the back yard, where it is supposed the burglar dropped them in his flight.

Stones have been hurled through the windows several times, adding to the alarm caused by the burglar. The police were called out, and a dozen policemen in a patrol wagon were hustled around to the house.

They hung around all night and several men lying in wait on the roof, but nothing was seen of the burglar. All day at intervals the attempts to break into the house continued. Captain Savage of the Butler Street Station, had men on duty constantly. Last night strange noises were heard, as though a burglar were tiptoeing about.

Wrought up by this, Dr. Castrnak and members of the Flynn family, who occupy the top floor of the house, made a thorough search and went out into the back yard with revolvers and shot guns ready to shoot, but there was no burglar to be seen.

The maid, Annie Murphy, reported having heard footsteps several times while all the family were away. The police are mystified, and have nothing to work upon so far.

MAN'S WOODEN LEG BURNED BY WIFE

Heroic Measures to Keep Husband at Home Lead to Court.

WILKESBARRE, Pa., April 12.—A most unusual case was brought to the attention of Alderman Donohue when Mrs. Michael Kinsel was arraigned charged with burning her husband's wooden leg so he couldn't go out at night.

The husband was the prosecutor and the wife argued that the wooden leg was as much hers as it was her husband's, and that as such she had the right to burn the artificial means of locomotion if she chose.

The alderman held the case under advisement.
