ROOSEVELT'S TOUR TURNING TIDE OF NATION'S POLITICS

Tremendous Impetus to Insurgency Believed First Result of Trip.

LEADERS CONCEDE 1912 NOMINATION

West Convinced the Colonel, by Choice or Persuasion, Will Again Head National Ticket.

Snare's Summary of National Political Situation

Roosevelt has made insurgency respectable.

The progressives look for a great movement toward the hand-wagon.

It rests in Roosevelt's hands whether he shall get the next Republican nomination.

The effect of the Roosevelt trip will be to strengthen the Republicans in the forthcoming elections.

By JOHN SNARE.

SILOX FALLS, S. D., Sept. 4.—With two-thirds of the Roosevelt swing around the circuit finished, it is now possible to form something like a correct and comprehensive opinion as to its effects and its significance.

At the outset of the trip it was freely predicted that it would determine to what extent Theodore Roosevelt would be a factor in the 1912 campaign, and whether a Presidential boom would be started for him consequent on his visit to various States of the East, the middle West, and the far West.

It was also said that if Roosevelt returned from the present trip without a substantial movement being crystallized for him for President in 1912, then, in all reasonable probability, his chances of his being seriously considered for the 1912 nomination would not be great.

That the trip has demonstrated that Roosevelt must be given consideration, and the most serious consideration, in the forthcoming Presidential campaign cannot be doubted or questioned by any man who has followed the course of what has been happening in this remarkable swing around the circle.

American Public Mercurial.

It may be that he will not be the next Presidential nominee of the Republican party. In America, with its tendencies to hero worship, the public is inclined to be mercurial in its regard for its public men.

It is conceivable that there might be a sudden change in the currents of the affection of the American people for Roosevelt. They might shift over night. Roosevelt is, perhaps, on the highest pinnacle in the esteem of the citizens of this country that any American has ever attained. Lincoln and Grant, even, cannot be said to have risen so high, for it was not a united country that worshipped them.

In the case of Roosevelt it is the people North and South, East and West, who love him, and who exalt him. Such a position cannot be otherwise than dangerous. As the man is exalted today, so he may be sunk tomorrow in the opinion of the people. Those who are closest to Roosevelt know full well that he realizes this. He too much of a student of history to fall to understand that as the barometer changes, so the feeling of the people for him may change, and a year from now his grip on the country may be completely shattered.

But this is a contingency that cannot be factually taken into consideration. It is the business of the forecaster of politics and the observer of affairs

CALLS MORE TROOPS TO CURB STRIKERS

Governor Harmon Takes Precautions for State Fair at Columbus, Ohio.

COLUMBUS, Ohio, Sept. 4.—Six more companies of militia have been ordered here by Governor Harmon as reinforcements to the six now on strike duty.

This the governor has done as extra precaution against violence during the State fair, which opens here tomorrow. The troops, which are the remainder of the Fifth Regiment, comprising 400 men, will arrive here by special train from Cleveland today.

Arriving at the capital late last night, Governor Harmon was informed of the movements taken by organized labor leaders of the State to defeat him for re-election because of his refusal yesterday to comply with their request publicly to demand arbitration of the street railway strike. He refused to comment.

Determined to use their utmost influence to end the reign of terror in Columbus, the Chamber of Commerce today announces standing cash rewards for the capture and conviction of stone throwers and dynamiters.

Striking men are seriously crippled in their fight by the temporary injunction granted by Judge Dillon yesterday restricting them from picketing and persuading people not to ride.

DISTRICT COUPLE WEDS IN SECRET

W. R. Nagel and Pauline Viedt Announce Their Marriage on June 27.

Surprising their friends and the bride's parents, William R. Nagel, bookkeeper at Woodward & Lothrop's department store, and Miss Pauline Viedt, a saleswoman at Phillipsborn & Co.'s store, announced today that they were married at Alexandria, Va., June 27 last, by the Rev. William Morton, rector of Christ's Church.

The parents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Julius Viedt, who live at 1214 Ninth street northwest, stated today that they had given their consent to the marriage four months ago, with the understanding that the wedding would take place this month, so there was no parental objection to explain the secret marriage.

"I suppose they are just like most young people, and like to do romantic things," said the bride's father today. "We have no objection in the world to the marriage, but were greatly surprised when we learned that they had accepted our consent within a few days after it was given."

The money was missing. There is no evidence, the police say, that the lock of the safe had been tampered with or that the building had been forcibly entered. They believe that some one familiar with the combination obtained the money.

"TRUSTY" ESCAPES FROM WORKHOUSE

George Murray Goes on Errand and Fails to Return.

George Murray, alias "Hoggy," alias "Piggie," a "trusty" at the workhouse, escaped this morning. His flight, it is thought, is part of the well-concocted plan of escape successfully put into practice ten days ago at the Occoquan, Va., workhouse, where four prisoners, whom the police say were pals of Murray's, literally took to the woods, and have been seen no more.

Murray has been to the workhouse so many times, said Superintendent Zinkhan, that he was regarded as a "trusty," as those prisoners are called who are virtually allowed the liberty of the grounds. In all of his different periods of residence at the mansion of labor, Murray had never evinced any startling desire to leave before his visit had ended.

But when Murray was sent down about two months ago, on a charge of vagrancy, which entitled him to be Mr. Zinkhan's guest for 150 days, it is said he found among his fellow-prisoners the men who made their escape at Occoquan. They became friendly, according to the workhouse authorities, who believe that had the other four men not been transferred to Occoquan, where they were left behind, and according to the theory of the officials, found it necessary to play a lone hand.

This morning Superintendent Zinkhan sent him on an errand to one of the buildings. That was at 7:20 o'clock. When 8 o'clock came, and the message was still undelivered, a search was started, and Murray found missing. The man is known to the police, and Superintendent Zinkhan believes there will be no trouble in locating him. He says, furthermore, that Murray may lead the authorities to the hiding-place of the other four men.

MONEY IS MISSING FROM OFFICE SAFE

The door of the safe of the Home Ice Company, at Twelfth and V streets, was found unlocked this morning, and nearly $50 missing.

Central Office Detectives Cornwell and Bauer have been assigned to the case, and are investigating together with Captain Doyle, of the Eighth precinct.

When Ford Young, manager of the plant, arrived this morning and went to the safe he found the door closed, but unlocked. Investigation showed that the money was missing. There is no evidence, the police say, that the lock of the safe had been tampered with or that the building had been forcibly entered. They believe that some one familiar with the combination obtained the money.

WOODMEN DEMAND CORONER'S INQUEST

Lodge Members Feel Harris Did Not Kill Himself.

Unless the reopened investigation of the death of Norvick T. Harris, now being conducted by Detective Weedon under the personal supervision of Major Richard Sylvester, Superintendent of Police, proves conclusively that Harris committed suicide, the Washington camp, of the Modern Woodmen, of which the dead man was a member, is to demand an inquest to clear up the present mystery.

Harris' fellow-members of this order believe that he was murdered and they are well started on an independent investigation of their own.

With this development and the discovery to-day of still another young woman to whom Harris was engaged, the searching inquiry into the strange death of the street inspector entered into its second week.

The fact that two girls have been found, each of whom believed herself to be the "honey" of young Harris, and each of whom expected to have been married this month, lends another baffling element to the several love affairs of the dead man, one of which

CARDINAL PREACHES TO GREAT THROU

More Than 200 Archbishops Figure in Vast Assemblage at Montreal.

MONTREAL, Sept. 4.—Before two brother cardinals, more than 200 archbishops and innumerable lesser members of the Catholic Hierarchy of Canada, Cardinal Logue, of Ireland, preached at St. James Cathedral today.

The church was crowded to the doors, and a vast audience assembled in the streets leading to the church to catch a glimpse of the three members of the holy college, Logue, Vannutelli, the Papal Legate, and Gibbons, of Baltimore.

The solemn high pontifical mass was chanted by Archbishop Bruchesi, who, it is confidently expected, will soon be given a seat in the college of cardinals. He was assisted by Mons. Sbarretti, Archbishop Langevin, Bishop Pascal, Archbishop Begin, and other members of the Canadian church.

Brilliant Procession.

The music and the procession was one of the most brilliant yet seen in Montreal, yet it will be far surpassed next Sunday when the Holy Eucharist will be carried in open procession to Mont Royal, where services will be held in the open air.

Fully 150,000 persons are expected to take part in this procession, and thousands of dollars have been expended upon altar decorations, $15,000 upon the repository of the Blessed Sacrament alone. The ringing of Le Gros Bourbon, the largest bell in America, will announce the start of this parade.

Among the distinguished guests in the city now, besides the three cardinals and the Canadian bishops, are Father Vaughn, of England; Archbishop Ireland, of St. Paul; Archbishop Bourne, of Westminster, England; Mons. Tampieri, of Rome; Prelate Prince de Croix of Belgium, a member of the papal household; Mons. Heylen, bishop of Nemur; Mons. Redwood, archbishop of New Zealand.

Services Impressive.

The services at St. James this morning were most impressive, and lasted until the noon hour. Cardinal Logue spoke of the great growth of the Catholic religion in the western world, and predicted great good from this congress.

Precedent Is Set.

It is the first time to the history of the church that the congress has been held outside of Europe or Asia. The selection of Montreal for the 1910 meeting is due to the hard, intelligent work of Archbishop Broche, who made a personal campaign, seeing all the leading churchmen at the congress held in Brussels two years ago and securing their support for this city.

The greatest event in connection with the meeting will be the solemn procession of the Blessed Sacrament on Sunday through the streets of the city. It will be borne by the cardinal legate, Vincenzo Vannutelli, representing the Pope. Soldiers and police will guard the cardinals and prelates who accompany them in the parade.

BOY SHOT BY FATHER FIRING THROUGH WALL OF HYATTSVILLE HOME

William Drury, Clerk in Washington Postoffice, Critically Wounds His Eight-Year-Old Son With Bullet From Rifle, Discharged in Adjoining Room.

PARENT DENIES RECOLLECTION OF ACT

On Awakening in Jail, Where Drink-Crazed Man Was Taken After Shooting, He Expresses Sorrow for Deed—Family Terrorized by Conduct.

HYATTSVILLE, Md., Sept. 4.—Crazed by drink, William Drury, a clerk in the Washington Postoffice, shot and seriously wounded his eight-year-old son, W. B. Drury, at his home in Brentwood, near here, early today.

Drury is in jail, having been arrested shortly after the shooting by Constable E. W. Markward and his brother, Harry Markward. He declares he remembers absolutely nothing about the affair, his mind being a blank as to the incidents of the night.

PRISONER'S SANITY DOUBTED.

There are serious doubts as to the sanity of the prisoner, although his wife asserts that drink was the cause of his rash act.

Missing the last car from Washington last night, Drury walked home, reaching there about 3:30 o'clock this morning. It is said that he was intoxicated and ar used the whole house by his boisterous conduct.

EXPLAINED GUN'S WORKINGS.

Taking a shotgun and going to the bedroom where his eight-year-old son was sleeping, Drury awakened the boy and began to explain the workings of the weapon. Finally he left the gun in the bed with the boy and went into the adjoining room and continued to create a disturbance, arousing the whole family.

Shot Through Wall.

Shortly afterward the report of a gun was heard by Mrs. Drury and almost simultaneously came screams from her son. Rushing into his bed room, she found that he had been shot in the right shoulder and that the bullet had come out at the hip. The father had fired a shot from a 45-caliber rifle through the wall on the other side of which lay the boy. The bullet penetrated a feather bolster and struck the boy.

Calling for assistance from the neighbors, Mrs. Drury directed her attention toward the boy, who was suffering agonies. Dr. J. C. Ohlendorf and Constable Markward were summoned and were soon on the scene.

The constable, accompanied by his brother, entered the room where the father was and Drury without much difficulty, was soon locked up in the Hyattsville jail. He went to sleep almost immediately and when he awoke this morning disclaimed all knowledge of the shooting and seemed to be deeply grieved over the affair. He made numerous anxious inquiries about the condition of his son and begged for his release that he might go home.

Boy's Condition Critical.

Dr. Ohlendorf, who is attending the wounded boy, stated today that the wound, while exceedingly dangerous, may not be fatal, although the chances for complications and the shock to the boy make his condition critical.

Drury will be arraigned before Justice of the Peace Oscar Stickland tomorrow morning, but it is not yet known what charge will be preferred against him, the inclination of Mrs. Drury being to drop the matter.

The wife is nearly prostrated over the unfortunate affair, and says that it is a case of a good man being made crazy by drink.

BOY MADE PRISONER ON THEFT CHARGE

Lyle Magruder Is Arrested on Complaint of Neighbor, Who Lost $44.

Lyle Magruder, a twenty-year-old boy, was placed under arrest today by Detective Harry Warden of the Central Office, on a charge of grand larceny, and is held at the First precinct station.

The arrest is the outcome of a complaint filed yesterday by Cora Wilhelm, of 194 Massachusetts avenue northwest, at which house young Magruder also lives. The woman claims that $44 was taken from her trunk.

KENTUCKIAN HEIR TO LARGE FORTUNE

John Dormis Learns That He Will Get Slice of Ireland Estate.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, Sept. 4.—John Dormis, of Fairfield, O., near Fallons avenue, Bellevue, Ky., near this city, has received information to the effect that he is one of the heirs of the vast Ferguson estate in Ireland, reported to be valued at $22,000,000.

Dormis married Louise Tate, whose mother is a Ferguson. Relatives living in New York are taking an active interest in the case, and assure Dormis that he will receive a large portion of the estate.

CAVALRY ORDERED TO TAKE EXERCISE

Colonel Garrard's Men Must Improve Physical Condition With Riding, Golf, and Tennis.

Officers and enlisted men at Fort Myer, serving in the Fifteenth Cavalry, are expected to keep themselves in first-class physical condition. Colonel Garrard has given instructions designed to improve the physical condition of all under his command.

The men will be required to take regular and systematic physical exercise throughout the year. The exercises will consist mainly of horseback riding, walking, running, tennis, golf, polo, baseball, football, rowing, swimming, skating, dancing, bicycle riding, and other exercises designed to improve the skill in handling service arms.
