

SCHOOL LECTURES MAY BE RESUMED

Officials to Submit Plans to the Board of Education.

WOULD ASK FUND OF NEXT CONGRESS

Appropriation Formerly Granted
Was Dropped Three Years Ago.

A free lecture course, that will embrace popular scientific and historical subjects, is contemplated by officials of the public schools.

If the project meets with the favor of the Board of Education an appropriation may be asked of Congress for this purpose, and in the meanwhile lectures may be given by volunteers.

Such an appropriation was formerly granted the schools, but it was discontinued three years ago, and at that time the work was dropped.

Superintendent A. T. Stuart today said he was a staunch advocate of a popular lecture course, such as is now in vogue in New York city.

"They have a splendidly organized system of lectures there, which has greatly interested me, and I have watched their work with the heartiest approval," the superintendent said today. "Washington is an ideal city for the same kind of work, both because the audiences would be appreciative and because the lecturers we could command here are superior to those afforded by any other city in this country."

"The plan of volunteer lectures has its drawbacks. The lecturer is likely to cancel his engagement for a social function. To carry the project properly we should have an appropriation."

Free lectures, Mr. Stuart explained, were becoming a strong factor in high school work.

"We have had no trouble in procuring business and professional men of high standing, Government officials, and even Cabinet officers, in addressing the pupils and teachers of our high schools," the superintendent said. "That department of high school work is one of our most valuable assets."

W. V. Cox, president of the Board of Education, declared he was in favor of the project, if it could be accomplished without sacrificing the children of the schools in any manner.

"Our first duty is to the children," he said, "and we must see that they are adequately provided for in every detail. We can consistently take up post-graduate work, and the general education of the older folk."

TRICKY MARKETS ARE SOON TO PASS

Garden Season's End Reduces Hazards of Produce and Commission Men.

The wholesale produce and commission men today ventured one more prediction. A capricious market has thus far this year made their hazards particularly noticeable for their inaccuracy. "A steady run of red while we were guessing black" as one man put it.

But they now claim that the beginning of next week will see a material advance in a great many of the summer market features and they do not see how they can possibly be wrong.

Many of the summer gardens are almost ended and have to be squeezed to yield anything at all. During the last few days they say the market has been supported along these lines by consignments brought in during the early part of the week, and that the supply will not be sufficient to meet the demand next week.

Late fall products will not be affected. Eggs and poultry remain the same, no material change having been noted for two weeks. A movement on these markets is expected soon also.

OUSTER OF BRUCE, NEGROES' DEMAND

Superintendent of Colored Schools
Called "Menace" in Resolutions Passed.

The colored people of the District are today vigorously pushing their plans launched last night at True Reformers' Hall, for the removal of Roscoe C. Bruce, superintendent of the colored public schools.

Meetings are being arranged for every section. Resolutions passed by the negroes last night charge that the present superintendent has been "trying to establish a lily-white aristocracy in the colored schools," that gross irregularities exist in the schools, and that he is a "menace to their good government."

VISITING PYTHIANS GIVEN A BANQUET

Rathbone Temple, No. 8, Pythian Sisters were hosts at an entertainment given in honor of the Mount Vernon and Hermone Temples of Baltimore, and Washington Company No. 1, prize winners at the Milwaukee convention, at Pythian Temple last night.

The evening was spent in speech, music and song, and a banquet. The tables were arranged in the shape of a triangle, emblematic of the order.

ACCOUNTS IN BAD SHAPE.
NEW BEDFORD, Mass., Oct. 8.—Unofficially the shortage in the accounts of former Representative George W. Weymouth, president of the Atlas Tack Company, who was killed in an automobile last month, is placed at $100,000. His attorneys, however, say the shortage will be much less, and that the company, which is controlled by the estate of the late H. H. Rogers, is in no wise financially embarrassed by its losses.

MEMORIAL SERVICE FOR HEBREW DEAD

Rabbis Egelson and Simon Conduct Ceremonies in Cemeteries.

Hebrews of the city are today holding memorial services in their cemeteries in honor of their dead. The services are a part of the ceremonies which began on the Jewish New Year and which will extend to October 13.

Rabbi Louis I. Egelson will officiate at services held this afternoon at 3 o'clock at the cemetery of Adas Israel, and Rabbi Abram Simon will lead the services held at the cemetery of the Reform Temple congregation.

The work of the penitential season for the Hebrews will come to a close with the celebration on October 13 of the Feast of Yom Kippur, or Day of Atonement. This is the most sacred day of the Hebrew year, and is observed with very strict services and fasting. The Hebrews believe that if during the time of prayer and fasting they are truly penitent they will be forgiven by their Maker. On the final day the Hebrews eat nothing and endeavor to get into communion with God.

At Adas Israel Synagogue the observance of the final day will begin at 6 o'clock Wednesday evening, with the intonation of "Kol Nidre." Rabbi Egelson will preach.

Thursday morning the services will begin at 7 o'clock, and the memorial service will be read by the rabbi at 10:30 o'clock.

MAMMOTH FIG TREE PROSPERING HERE

Brought From Italy Eight Years Ago, Now 25
Feet High.

Amato Tassa, of Arthur place, between B and C streets northwest, lives, literally, under his own fig tree, although he has neglected to plant a vine.

The fig tree, however, makes up for the lack of a vineyard, because of its size, and Tassa's neighbors are given a privilege, unusual in this climate, of eating fresh figs.

The tree, which was brought from Italy as a little plant, eighteen inches high, only eight years ago is now twenty-five feet in height, and bears between three and four bushels of figs annually. Tassa, who has had much experience in fruit growing, says the Italian fig tree is the only one that can thrive in this latitude, and even then it does not bear as prolifically as on its native soil.
