

Probable Return of Georgetown Star Increases Confidence in Team for Virginia Game

HEGARTY MAY PLAY IN VIRGINIA GAME

Georgetown End Will Probably Be In His Accustomed Place on November 12.

STUDENTS TO HOLD ROUSING MEETINGS

Most of Blue and Gray Players Will Watch Charlottesville-Indian Game.

Georgetown's chances in the Virginia game received a boost today when it was learned Hegarty, the regular end, would probably be in his accustomed position on November 12.

Hegarty has not yet entirely recovered from the effects of the rough game with the University of Pittsburg, but the long rest has brought about a decided improvement in his condition and he will be depended upon to stop the sweeping end runs which the Virginia backfield has worked with such marked success in their early games.

Captain Dalley, who had to go home for a rest, is expected back today or tomorrow.

The question of officials for the Virginia game is gradually reaching settlement. While no definite decision has yet been reached, it is understood that the men Virginia wants are Donnelly, of Trinity; Bergin, of Princeton; Gass, of Lehigh; and Armstrong, of Yale.

Most of the Georgetown players will be at National Park Saturday to get a look at Virginia in the game with the Indians, although one or more may be sent to Annapolis to size up Lehigh, the team which plays Georgetown here on Thanksgiving Day.

Starting early next week a series of mass meetings will be held in the various departments of the university, at which arrangements will be made for the organization of what is expected to be the biggest cheering section that has supported a Georgetown team in years.

Football Notes

It is said that Cornell is depending upon Pletcher to kick a goal against Harvard on Saturday. The Cornell coaches plan to substitute Pletcher when the Cornell team gets anywhere within striking distance of the Crimson goal. The new rule allowing a player to return to the game in another quarter makes it possible to do a great deal of maneuvering.

Not "Brown of Harvard," but "Brown of Princeton," who played fullback for the Tigers last Saturday, laid on with a slight attack of "Charlie horse."

Princeton meets Holy Cross on Saturday, and the Tiger student body will get the first opportunity to see how their team compares with the Yale eleven. Yale defeated Holy Cross a few weeks ago by a score of 12 to 0.

The feat of young Perkins, of Swarthmore, in getting three points from the field on Saturday night was a season's record. He may have had a fourth had not the ball been passed high to him, enabling the Lehigh players to block the kick.

Critics agree that Fendleton, the Tiger who won the game for Princeton on Saturday, is one of the best backs in the East, and that he has an excellent chance of making the All-American team.

The Army-Navy game this year should prove a hummer. The Navy has not been scored upon, while the Army defeated Yale and held Harvard to one touchdown.

Captain Houser and Newshaw, two of the Carlisle gridiron stars, are expected to play in the game with the Blue-Grays on Saturday.

"Red" Sparks, the talented Princeton halfback, received his early instructions in knowledge of football and less important things at Luke's School, Wayne, Pa.

Dud Dean should know what he's talking about when he says that the present day football men know vastly more about interference for the runner than they did in his day—and Dud helped win the Yale game, 12 to 6, for Harvard just twenty years ago this month.

Scott, Pennsylvania's punter, gets the ball off from the spot side. Very few of the college kickers are left-footed.

Al Sharpe, the former Yale star, has been quite successful this season as coach of the Penn Charter School in Philadelphia.

When Villanova played Penn State to a scoreless standstill Saturday, it was the first time that a foreign eleven had accomplished this since 1906.

With the sort of material he has had to work with, Fred Croul, the former Dartmouth star, has worked wonders with the Villanova team this year.

Bill Roper is not famous as an optimist, but he was pleased with the showing the Tigers made against the Big Green eleven.

The Washington and Jefferson faculty has rescinded the one-year resident clause of the athletic council constitution which prohibited freshmen from participating in athletic events.

Little Isard, who substituted for Libbey in the Pennsylvania-Carlisle game, proved a sensation and it looks as though Glenn Warner has got an exceedingly fast quarterback for next season.

Clarence Childs, Yale's tackle, figured in a bit of philanthropic work in New Haven the other day. Mrs. Arthur Jacobs, whose husband had been committed to jail for theft was the recipient of a collection taken up by Childs.

The Carlisle Indians offered the strongest defense that any team that has appeared on Franklin Field this season has been able to show. Ramsdell and Meeker, Penn's best ground gainers, were repeatedly thrown for losses.

Dartmouth presented the best end of the two teams, Dartmouth and Princeton, Saturday in New York in Daly. He was declared to be the best man on the field, by the New York papers. The chances are that he will be Dartmouth's next captain.

KILPATRICK LOSS WILL WEAKEN YALE

Star End Unable to Be In Line-Up for Rest of Season.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 3.—An x-ray examination was made on Kilpatrick, the star end on the Yale football team, today to ascertain the full extent of the injuries which he suffered yesterday afternoon during a scrimmage, when he was kicked in the side.

Gloom pervaded the campus today for it was said by the physicians attending the veteran player that he would hardly be able to play in the annual Yale-Harvard game. This was the worst accident of the season here and has crippled the Yale team to a great extent.

More changes in the varsity eleven were ordered by the coaches yesterday. The return of Jack Savage to right tackle has shown him to be in such fine fettle in the two days he has played that he already looks a fixture for the place. This forecast was strengthened by the action of Captain Daly in moving the veteran Charley Paul from right tackle, where he has played two years, to right guard, and sending Fuller from right guard to left guard. McDevitt, who has been left guard, will be first sub for both center and right guard.

Bomelsier was trotted out at right end, and indications are that he will be played in that position in the big games, displacing Brooks. Neither Bomelsier nor Paul was ordered to do any scrimmaging. Both are in poor physical condition, and will not get into a game till the Princeton match on October 12.

Just thirteen coaches shouted inspiration at the players yesterday. After the practice they said the team had taken a fine brace and should lick Brown easily. The coaches here included Walter Camp, Foster Sanford, Pat Corbin, Burr Chamberlin, George Adee, Frank Butterworth, Jim Rodgers, Dewitt Cochran, Jack Owsley, Harmon Graves, Sam Hammond, Ted Coy, and Harry Holt. The scrimmaging line-up:

The coaches were stirred up by an article in a New Haven newspaper this morning which said there is friction among the coaches and that Walter Camp leaves the field whenever Foster Sanford appears there. Mr. Camp denied the statement tonight in the following interview:

"It is a mistake for anyone to suppose there is the least bit of friction among the football coaches at Yale Field. We are all on hand to help Captain Daly all we can, and everyone is working in perfect harmony.

"On account of the pressure of business at my office it has been necessary for me to cut short many of my afternoons at the practice. Last Monday I took the players in charge, and for twenty minutes ran them through a scrimmage which I had talked over with Captain Daly, and which we both wanted to see worked out. When my twenty minutes wore up I had to leave.

"Yesterday was no different from any other day. I ran the men through several plays, and then, as my twenty minutes were up, I had to hurry away. I am not sure I cannot spend more time at the field, I should like to do so."

ANDOVER PREPARED FOR EXETER GAME

Sale of Seats for Big Contest Suggests Record Attendance.

ANDOVER, Mass., Nov. 3.—The work-out of the Phillips Academy football team, in preparation for Saturday's all important contest, consisted mainly of a long and thorough signal drill yesterday.

The practice was open. Following the signal drill a short ten-minute scrimmage between the first and second teams was held, in which the varsity showed a slight superiority. None of the new formations were tried out and it seems very doubtful whether any secret practices will be held on Brother's Field during the remaining days of the week.

The tickets for the game were placed on public sale Monday evening and the supply is almost completely exhausted. Additions to old and several new stands will be built during the remainder of the week, which will materially relieve the great demand for seats. The automobile parking reservations are also selling rapidly, and all who desire to attend the game in automobiles should send in their applications as soon as possible to the Phillips Andover Athletic Association.

The management is making all arrangements to handle the large crowd expected at the contest. Work on a new 50-foot grandstand was commenced this morning on the Andover side of the field, which will accommodate quite a number more.

This afternoon the entire student body will march to the field and cheer the players during the practice, which on Friday evening in Borden gym a mass meeting will be held.

PRINCETON RENEWS CORNELL RELATIONS

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 3.—The schedule of the Princeton swimming team as announced today includes a meet with Cornell for the first time in several years. This meet will mark a renewal of athletic relations with Cornell which promises to extend to all branches of athletics except football.

The baseball game which has been tentatively arranged for next spring needs only the sanction of the faculty committee on athletics to become official. This renewal of relations with Cornell comes as a result of the friendly settlement which has always existed between the undergraduates of the two universities, and the announcement of the swimming meet is highly satisfactory to all Princeton men.

Virginia's Offense Completed.

CHARLOTTEVILLE, Va., Nov. 3.—Virginia's offensive work for the game with the Carlisle Indians at Washington on Saturday has been completed and today and tomorrow nothing will be coached but the details of defense.

Eight graduates helped Head Coach Crawford yesterday afternoon until it became too dark to follow the ball. Bob Williams, the former end, was the latest addition to the staff.

Bradley Walker, '02, and Hammond Johnson, '06, are expected with the team at Washington in addition to the other members of the coaching staff. Walker will remain over to help the team for the Georgetown game.

INDIANS TO RELY ON FIELD GOALS

CARLISLE, Pa., Nov. 3.—The impression here today is that the Carlisle Indians will depend largely upon field goals to win from Virginia at Washington on Saturday.

The football squad was made up of its last man in practice yesterday afternoon. So few of the first team men were in condition to play that Warner put in the bare half dozen that were able to play on the second eleven, which was given a short, fast scrimmage against the third team. The preliminary work of the day was confined to ordinary rudiments and new material for the backfield was coached separately.

The new fullbacks, Nevada and Powell, were given a thorough try-out at goal kicking. Both worked to Coach Varner's satisfaction. Carlisle's management has not definitely determined the advisability of playing the suggested game against Harvard on Saturday. This afternoon the Indian coach tried his men in various positions. It is possible that Virginia may, on Saturday, see an almost entirely new Indian line-up.

BUSINESS-EASTERN IN GAME TOMORROW

While the Tech-Central game is a much talked of topic, many are looking forward to the Business-Eastern game tomorrow at National Park, and are wondering if the stock Easterners will be able to repeat a victory.

Business is considerably weaker, while Eastern is gaining in strength every day. If Eastern is able to win out over Business and makes it two straight wins in a series, the team will have accomplished what no other Eastern team has done in a decade.

Coach Donnelly, of Eastern, has had his squad in hand since the last game and the team is ready for the battle of its life. Parker and Weaver, the mainstays of the team, are in good shape and are looked upon to repeat their sterling performances of the last game.

Tech and Central are putting in strenuous work for their game, which comes off next Tuesday. It is estimated that Central will outweigh the Macclintock in the line and in the backfield. Both teams are working on new plays, and Central is developing the forward pass to a great extent.

The followers of Tech expect Morris and Sinclair to fully offset the speed of Reuter and Hamilton, and are banking upon this pair.

High School Football Safe This Year

Barring unforeseen contingencies inter-high school football is safe for this year. This fact became known today through a statement of W. V. Cox, president of the Board of Education, and by the failure of the board to talk football at its meeting yesterday afternoon.

"The football schedule will be played out—unless some one mixes up the schedule," said President Cox today.

That the matter was not brought before the board meeting yesterday probably was due to the absence of Mr. Cox, who did not attend because of illness.

AN EXETER VICTORY.

EXETER, N. H., Nov. 3.—Princeton's victory over Dartmouth gratified many in Exeter because of the fact that Captain Hart, of Princeton, lives there, and because of the exceptional number of Phillips Exeter graduates who figured in the Tigers' squad—Hart, Macgregor, Wilson, Blumenthal, White, and Bredemus.

INDIANA MAY CLAIM CONFERENCE TITLE

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Nov. 3.—Coach Sheldon is getting his Indiana football team in shape to defeat Illinois here Saturday, and if it does he will claim the conference championship.

The game, which will be the most important that ever has been played in Bloomington, is creating great interest over the State, and a half dozen excursion trains will be run from different sections to bring the crowds here.

CORNELL STUDENTS DREAM OF VICTORY

ITHACA, N. Y., Nov. 3.—In good condition and confident of making a better showing against Harvard than last year, when the Crimson won by a score of 15 to 0, twenty-five members of the Cornell football squad will leave tonight for Cambridge.

The students, who have visions of a possible victory over Harvard, will give the team a rousing send-off and several hundred of them will start tomorrow for the battlefield. Coach Reed refuses to make any prediction on the score. He says if Cornell doesn't get rattled Harvard should have her hands full to win.

PRACTICE AT NIGHT FOR G. W. U. ELEVEN

Hatchettes Will Play An Hour Longer Each Night By Arc Light.

George Washington will practice an hour longer each afternoon by arc lights.

Coach Magoffin has realized that the team is in need of longer practice, and has asked that arcs be distributed at one end of the field so the team might get more practice. At present, owing to the fact that many members of the team are unable to get to the park until late, practice has been held up for such a period of time that darkness has seriously interfered with the work.

The men will now work as in the past seasons under the arcs, which will be put near the centerfield fence. In this manner the team will get from three-quarters to an hour in addition to the regular practice. Poles will be placed this afternoon, and the arcs will probably go on tomorrow.

It is understood that Crafts and Heaton will not report with the team in future. Crafts has found it impossible to get into condition, and Heaton cannot find time to get into the game. While Ellis has come out, the backfield is still in a bad way, and Coach Magoffin is realizing that he must build up the strongest defense to offset the shortcomings of the defense.

C. U. GYMNASIUM READY NOVEMBER 15

Brookland Men to Have Modern Place In Which to Train.

The new gymnasium of the Catholic University will be ready for the athletic association about November 15. A first-class gym is something which the university has never had before, so the students are all looking forward to the opening of the building, which is being fitted up as a gymnasium. The house which is being prepared is one that was used by Prof. Langley and Zahn, who experimented on air currents and air ships. The house is 160 feet long, and will be fitted up with all of the modern improvements.

With the opening of the new gym, the university will employ the services of an expert athletic trainer. Among the men under consideration for the position are LeMat, Jimmy Mulligan, and Britton. At the present time, however, neither of the three has been engaged.

The new gymnasium will be fitted with a good track for the benefit of the sprinters during the winter.
