

STORM WILL GRIP CAPITAL TONIGHT

Temperature Will Drop to 22 Degrees and More Snow Will Fall, Says Weather Man—Much Suffering Among the Poor.

course, is in the homes of the poor, who are never able to get much ahead.

Charitable organizations are being besieged for help, and some of them are unable to meet the demands made upon them. At the Central Union Mission, the Gospel Mission, and the Salvation Army the suffering of the destitute classes is plainly noticeable. Applications for help are pouring into these places in large numbers.

This morning more than 200 men and women, most of them homeless, formed a bread line at the Gospel Mission. To all coffee and bread and butter were given, but it was noticeable that a large percentage of them wore no overcoats, while few of them had sufficient clothing. The superintendent of the home, H. W. Kilde, has made an appeal for cast-off clothing, declaring that the demand is greater by far than the supply.

Coal Dealers Besieged.

Coal dealers have been besieged these last two days by persons who have run out of fuel. All want the black diamonds delivered to them at the same time. Extra teams have been pressed into service by most of the dealers, and men are working overtime, and every effort is being made to supply the demand.

Seldom has Washington experienced such a storm as the one it is passing through now. It is almost a duplicate of the infamous blizzard of 1899. The snow has fallen, and the additional promised by the Weather Bureau, probably will bring the total up to a foot. This is an unusual amount for this section of the country, and it may be months before such a heavy snow is experienced here again.

The storm has done little or no damage to property, although it has caused much inconvenience in addition to the suffering in some quarters.

Although railway traffic has been maintained, the companies were compelled to give up the idea of running on schedule time. They are satisfied to get the cars through on any time. The opinion is generally held, however, that the service has been excellent in view of the conditions under which it had to be maintained.

That the service is as good as it is is due to the foresight of the companies. As soon as the snow assumed serious proportions, sweepers were sent out and every section of the city was covered. In that way the tracks were kept clear and the trains were able to run, if not on schedule.

Big Trucks Stalled.

The greatest difficulty in getting around the city probably was experienced by automobile trucks. In many cases they had to be abandoned, pending the clearing of the streets. Several of them became stuck in the snow and had to be dug out. A large express

Three Score Are Hurt In New York Blizzard, and Hundreds Suffer

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—The first real blizzard of the winter struck New York today. A heavy fall of snow, accompanied by cutting winds, caused injuries to more than three score persons and drove hundreds of poor people to shelter in charitable institutions and lodging houses. Traffic was crippled to a great extent.

Ambulances were kept busy through the morning hours, and before 8 o'clock there had been 10 calls to the various hospitals in Greater New York. At the municipal lodging house 600 persons were cared for, a record this year. Of these, thirty were women and ten children of tender ages who were found wandering in the snowstorm.

The injuries came mostly from falls, although a number were hurt by being struck by street cars and automobiles while blinded by the snow.

A stylishly dressed woman about forty-five years of age was found unconscious in the snow at Second avenue and 146th street. At the Harlem Hospital she gave the name of Nellie Berger. The physicians said she had lain in the snow twenty minutes longer she would have perished.

Charles Demaree, N. J., fell on the pavement and sustained concussion of the brain. He is dying at the New York Hospital. Practically all the other injured are suffering from broken limbs and dislocated joints. Many of the injured are women.

Street Cleaning Commissioner Edwards started this morning on his first job of the year. With an army of more than 4,000 men at work he undertook the task of keeping the streets clear. He sent a letter to Mayor Gaynor asking that the police compel all property owners to clean the streets in front of their homes.

Ten Inches in Baltimore.

BALTIMORE, Md., Dec. 6.—Baltimore today is in the grip of real winter. Snow has been falling continuously since 8:30 o'clock yesterday morning. The ground is covered to a depth of 10 inches.

This is the coldest day of the season, the thermometer at 8 o'clock registering twenty-six degrees above zero.

Pittsburg Snow Bound.

PITTSBURG, Dec. 6.—A snowstorm amounting to almost a blizzard is raging in this city today. About six inches of snow already has fallen. Street car lines are badly crippled.

Suffering in Kentucky.

LEXINGTON, Ky., Dec. 6.—The mountain and lowland districts of Kentucky are snowbound today, and the whole State lies under a thick blanket. Two feet of snow cover the mountain regions, and communication is completely cut off. In the Blue Grass section a blizzard which has raged for nearly twenty-four hours has tied up traffic. There is a foot of snow on the ground.

The storm was the heaviest known in years, and reports from rural districts state that stock is perishing. In the towns and cities the suffering is intense. In the highlands the thermometer is below zero, but it is slightly warmer in the lowlands.

HUSTON JURY MAY GET CASE FRIDAY

Cross-Examination of Everett Dufour Finished by Wilson.

It was declared today that the case of James N. Huston, Harvey M. Lewis and Everett Dufour, on trial in Criminal Court No. 1 for alleged conspiracy to use the mails to defraud, probably will go to the jury on Friday.

Dufour was severely cross-examined today at the hands of United States Attorney Wilson, but in no material point was his testimony shaken. He sat throughout the ordeal with his head resting on his closed hand, and only occasionally became ruffled.

In each and every transaction relating to the trust companies, Dufour declared, he had acted within the bounds of the law. The intent of the prosecutor was to bring out indication of collusion between the defendants and companies in which they were interested.

Lewis will not take the stand. The remaining witnesses will testify solely as to the character of the defendants.

At the conclusion of the testimony if the attorneys for the defense can convince the court or jury that Dufour and Huston were ignorant of any fraudulent dealings the basis of the conspiracy contention will be destroyed and the defendants will be acquitted.

Berlin Has 3,400,000.

PRICE ON FOWLS GOES UP SO DOES CHARLES DAVIS

The price of living has gone up, and feeling the pinch of the altitudinous prices, Charles Davis, decided that he would get some chickens for Sunday dinner as cheaply as possible.

But on looking in his pockets he discovered that, after taking out of his week's pay the price of the three chickens demanded by his family, he would not have enough to meet the current expenses, so he decided that the best thing to do was to corral a trio of the birds that looked to be without a home.

Accordingly, when it grew a trifle dark, he sneaked to the front of the store of Aaron Goldstein, at North Capitol and L streets, and purloined a coop containing ten of the covered fowls. Finding this too much of a burden, he deposited the coop minus three birds, one of them a white rooster, in a rear by alley and wended his way homeward.

It was the cackling of geese that saved Davis from destruction at one time, but it was the white feathers of that rooster that was responsible for Charles' appearance in the Police Court to answer to a charge of larceny of the three birds.

When the officers of the law entered Davis' house in their search for the chickens, one of them spied the tell-tale feathers under the table, where Davis' wife had thrown them after picking the birds.

"Ah, ha," cried the minion of the law, "we have the culprit," and, shutting the action to the world, he haled Charles to the station house where he was held on a charge of larceny.

When Davis appeared before Judge Malloy, he stoutly denied his guilt and said that he wouldn't know one of Goldstein's chickens if it were to walk up and speak to him.

But the feathers were against him and the white rooster had his revenge, for Davis was let out of the room, to serve four months at Occoquan—where they do not make a practice of serving chickens to their boarders.

A SERMON IN A PIPE STEM

The Secret of "Smokers' Breath" Revealed in Unique Manner.

Run a straw through your old pipe-stem. Mr. Smoker. Now look at it. That dripping liquid is the nicotine left by the tobacco smoke as it was drawn through the pipe-stem. My, what a poisonous, too.

Incessant smoking saturates the mucous membrane lining of your mouth and throat with this vile-smelling, irritating substance. Obnoxious "smokers' breath," and "smokers' sore throat" are two sure results unless you use Paxtine.

Paxtine is a purely white powder of delicate fragrance. You dissolve it teaspoonful in a glass of hot water, brush the teeth, gargle the throat, and rinse the mouth thoroughly several times. The result will be a mouth and throat as sweetly clean and sweet and without the least trace of any odor.

In addition to its pronounced superiority Paxtine is more economical than tooth powders, liquids, and pastes, because it does more and does it better. Buy a box today. Sold by O'Donnell, People's Pharmacy, Henry Evans, Nine Best Drug Store, Atlee, S. Kann, Sons & Co., and all other druggists.
