TAFT AND CURTIS MAKE ADDRESSES

President Speaks at Arlington. Floral Decorations in the Cemeteries.

Five hundred veterans of the civil war marched a few blocks today on their way to Arlington National Cemetery, where formal celebration of Memorial Day took place this afternoon. Here, where many thousands of their former comrades lie in everlasting sleep, the survivors of the civil war heard addresses by President Taft and Senator Curtis of Kansas.

Memorial Day has been most elaborately observed in the District of Columbia. This morning exercises took place in ten cemeteries. At Arlington, a memorial program began at 1 p. m. On the graves of 15,000 soldiers of the Union Army, flowers have been laid with loving reverence, and small flags set out, emblems of the cause for which these dead are honored, the cause for which many of these thousands gave up their lives.

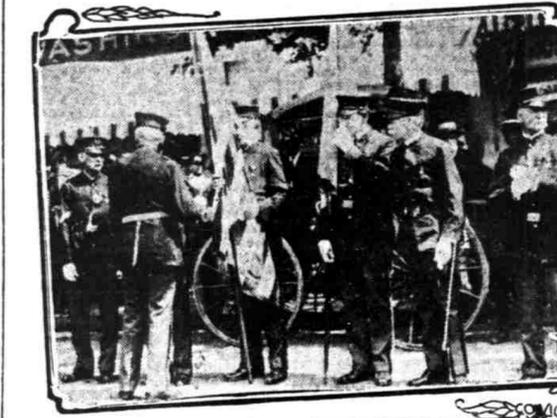

The Greatest Tribute. Bands have played, survivors have marched, graves have been marked, and orators declaimed today, but the greatest tribute of all to the patriotic dead which Washington and other cities have paid today is the strengthening in the minds of all citizens of the consciousness of what the veterans of the civil war did for the United States.

Flowers Set Adrift. One of the features of the day was the sending of a huge box of flowers to Old Point Comfort to be cast into the deep waters of Hampton Roads, in memory of the sailors who lost their lives during the naval engagements in those historic waters. This is a custom that has been observed here for nine years, and this year the flowers were sent to Stephen K. The New, of Lincoln Post, G. A. R., who originated the idea, from the White House, by order of President Taft.

Program at Arlington. An elaborate program was given at Mt. Olivet Cemetery this morning, but the most extensive was at Arlington this afternoon. Fully 15,000 people were assembled at the amphitheater when the Marine Band began "Our Fallen Heroes." George C. Ross, department commander, presided at the exercises, the first number of which was the invocation by Major D. R. Lowell, department chaplain. The choir of the Dumbarton Methodist Episcopal Church sang "The Gettysburg Address" as read by Samuel Stratton. After two more musical numbers President Taft was introduced. Senator Charles Curtis, of Kansas, followed the President.

The exercises came to an end with the pronouncement of benediction by the SPEEDWAY, INDIANAPOLIS, May 30.—Arthur Greiner, millionaire pilot of the Amplex car No. 44, is injured, and his mechanic, S. P. Dickson, dead.

The remaining thirty-nine cars in the 500-mile race were reeling off the miles at better than eighty miles an hour when the seventh-fifth mile of the race was passed before noon today.

The accident to Greiner's Amplex, which was known as the "hoodoo" car, occurred during the thirtieth mile. Dickson was horribly mutilated when the car turned over three times.

Greiner was painfully but not fatally injured. Standing of Drivers. On the fifty-first lap, Grant's Amplex dropped from the race on account of engine trouble.

Maderists' Celebration Ends in Bloody Battle This Morning.

MEXICO CITY, May 30.—Forty-three lives were lost and several hundred were wounded in serious rioting early this morning at Chulula, near Puebla. The outbreak followed an all-night celebration of Maderists. Drunken mobs paraded the streets all night, madly cheering "Vive Madero," waving flags, and firing rifles and revolvers. In the early morning hours, the hostilities began when troops attempted to disperse them. Turning on the officers' volleys of shots were exchanged between the Maderists and the soldiers, many falling dead at the first fire. Scores of bystanders were wounded, some being shot while in their homes. The troops are temporarily in command of the situation, but a repetition of the fighting is expected hourly.

MRS. DIMOCK PLANS TO HOLD NATIONAL PEACE CELEBRATION

Proposes Great Gathering at Yorktown on October 19.

A great national peace celebration upon the occasion of the 120th anniversary of the surrender of Lord Cornwallis to General Washington at Yorktown on October 19, 1781, under the auspices of the George Washington Memorial Association, is the proposal which Mrs. Henry F. Dimock, of New York, president of the association, is known to have suggested to President Taft at a conference at the White House yesterday.

Mrs. Dimock came to Washington yesterday to keep an appointment with the President. To the President and to others in this city she made known her plans for the organization of a national peace celebration at Yorktown next October, and is believed to have received encouragement.

Mrs. Dimock made no public announcement of her plans while in Washington, but before leaving this morning she gave the impression that she would at once devote her energies to organize the celebration and make it a nation-wide affair. Letters are to be sent at once to the mayors of the cities of the country informing them of the proposed celebration and requesting them to give it publicity in their respective cities.

In connection with the peace celebration it is thought that Mrs. Dimock will lay before the delegates her plans for the proposed George Washington Memorial Convention Hall in Washington. The interest in that project which will be added by the gathering in celebration of Washington's great victory and consequent peace between the colonies and Great Britain is expected to complete the fund of $2,500,000 necessary for the building. Definite plans for the celebration are expected to be made by Mrs. Dimock upon her return to New York this afternoon.

NATIONALS LOSE TEN-INNING GAME BY ONLY ONE RUN

Drive Cicotte to Bench and Give the Red Sox a Scare.

The Nationals forced the Red Sox into an extra inning in the first holiday game today, and even then threw a scare into the enemy by showing over a run before giving up the ghost by a 6-to-5 score. Eddie Cicotte was driven to the bench in the eighth inning, Charlie Hall succeeding him. It was Hall's double in the tenth that scored Williams and Carigan with the two runs necessary to the victory.

The following is the score by innings: First Boston—Hooper smashed a single past Cunningham in right center.

LORIMER HIMSELF MUST GO ON GRILL IN SENATE INQUIRY

Will Be Compelled to Give Under Oath Details of His Election.

For the first time since the bribery charges were brought against Senator William Lorimer, of Illinois, that Senator is to be called before the Senate committee which investigates the scandal and is to be required to testify under oath as to the things that happened in connection with his election.

It was learned today that the decision to summon Lorimer and compel him to give sworn testimony had been reached. Unless Lorimer resigns he cannot escape the ordeal.

Thus far in the investigation and discussion of the Lorimer case the Illinois Senator has not been required to say a word under oath. What he has said, he has said on the floor of the Senate, and the Constitution declares that for what he may say there he shall not be held to account in any other place.

Plan to Meet Criticism. Last winter there was much criticism because the subcommittee of the Privileges and Elections Committee, which made the investigation, did not compel Lorimer to testify under oath. On account of this criticism, it has been determined this early in the game, in informal conferences of Senate leaders, that Lorimer must be required to testify.

SHIFTS PROBLEM OF SUMMER HOME OVER TO CONGRESS

In Letter Taft Settles Question So Far as He Is Concerned.

President Taft today settled the question of a new summer home, so far as his choice in the matter is concerned, when he wrote to Governor Eberhart of Minnesota telling him that Congress was the authority in this matter and not the President.

The governor and J. H. Preuss, secretary of the Republican State Central Committee, had written to the Executive and urged him to favorably consider the Wayzata site on Lake Minnetonka. They said that the Northwest would welcome the head of the nation, and would feel honored to accord him hospitality.

Mr. Taft replied, thanking the governor and Mr. Preuss for their generous offer, but advising them that he could not take up part in the summer home controversy, and that Congress alone should be consulted. That is, of course, if the new Capital is to be a Government-owned piece of property.

An invitation has been received by the President to speak at the annual dinner of the National Association of Piano Dealers, to be held in Chicago on June 6. This the President was unable to accept on account of his Executive office in Baltimore on that day for the Cardinal Gibbons celebration.

The President has promised, however, to press the button that opens the piano exhibit of the association in Congress Hall. He will do this on his way to Executive Hall from the Blackstone Hotel on the night of June 2.

The Chicago speech will be devoted to a reply to the attack of organized labor. This is known as the "injunction speech."

President Taft did not come to the Executive office today. He remained in his library, where he opened his mail and cleared away some work that was pending. He went to Arlington this afternoon at 1 o'clock.

Secretary of War Stimson and Minister Sherrill at Argentina called at the Executive office this morning, but did not see the President.

Negro Boys Use Hoax To Rob Hardware Store

Two negro boys robbed Robert F. Yeatman's hardware store this morning of two small wooden boxes containing about $2.

The store is at 1013 Four-and-a-half street southwest. Yeatman says the boys, one about seventeen years old, the other about fifteen, pretended they wanted to buy a wash boiler. They couldn't find one to suit, they said, and left, returning and stealing the boxes.

Manassas Youth's Sightseeing Confined to Ride in Patrol Wagon.

Decoration Day was a day of mourning for eighteen-year-old Julius Lutz, but he is not sorrowing over the grave of a departed warrior. He is only sorry because his trip to the city from Manassas, Va., was ended suddenly by the police.

Before Lutz starts back to Manassas tonight he will have spent many hours in Union Depot where the time will have availed him nothing in the way of seeing sights, save such sights as may be glimpsed from the rear of a patrol wagon going from Union Station plaza to Police Headquarters, where he was given ample time to study the interior architecture of the Central Office.

Comment Withheld On Papal Encyclical

ROME, May 30.—The anti-religious attitude of the government of the Portuguese republic is roundly scored in an encyclical addressed by Pope Pius to the Catholic bishops throughout the world. The denial of even common civilities to Catholic citizens is charged. Comment on the encyclical is largely withheld, pending a declaration from the Portuguese government.
