

TEMPERANCE UNION ABANDONS SINFUL; TURNS TO CHILDREN

No Hope For Those Who Have Formed Habits, Women Declare.

Abandoning as useless the efforts to reform young men and women who drink and go to places of questionable morality, the Woman's Christian Temperance Union will confine its attention to educating children against such evils. This is the plan of the temperance organization announced by its president, Mrs. Mary S. Shelton, at her residence, 921 S street northwest, this morning.

"We are powerless to check the tendency of young men and women to go to beer gardens and other places where low forms of amusement are provided," said Mrs. Shelton. "More young women are going to the beer gardens this season than ever before, but our sole hope is in education. If we can teach the young people the dangers of drink, we can be successful, but we have learned that it is useless to attempt to reform people who have already formed habits. Those who are reformed only in very rare instances stay reformed."

Work in Public Schools.

"Our attention in the future will be confined largely to work in the public schools. We do not believe in spasmodic crusades. They accomplish little."

Mrs. Shelton said she knew of no cases where liquor was being sold to girls under age, but said she was sure that many mothers were not familiar with the fact that their daughters visit the beer gardens.

"Our hope is to reach the young people through their parents," she said. "The conditions here are becoming appalling. Well-dressed young women go to the gardens and drink with their escorts until they not only become foolish, but lose all control of themselves. We seem powerless to remedy conditions, and must confine our efforts to education. The liquor dealers are living within the law."

Trend of the Times.

Mrs. Shelton was unable to account for her belief that more young people were drinking in Washington this year than ever before except by advancing the theory that the trend of the times is toward more liberal, less dignified living.

She says that the efforts in the past have been to rescue people from the mouth of the river after they have fallen in the stream of intemperance. This, she says, has been unsuccessful, so the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, by standing at the head of the stream and preventing the young people from falling in, hopes to accomplish what it has failed to do in the past.

Steel Bar Electrocutes Negro Working On Rails

While working on the Washington Railway and Electric tracks at New Jersey avenue and C street northwest this morning, Henry Cole, colored, struck the underground rail with a steel bar, and was so badly burned and shocked that he died shortly after reaching the Casualty Hospital. The rail carries about 6,000 volts which passed through the man's body. Cole was standing with one foot on the track and working between the rails with the bar. In some manner the bar slipped and came in contact with the trolley rail. The next instant the man's body was enveloped in flames from the current. Other workmen rushed to his assistance. He was unconscious when picked up. Cole was thirty-five years old, and lived at 225 Oakdale street northwest. An investigation is being made by the coroner.

Mormon's Likeness Apt To Go on Ship's Service

Preliminary to the appearance of a committee to protest against the acceptance of the silver service for the United States battleship Utah, given by the State of that name, the large artist's design, showing the picture of Brigham Young, has been sent to the office of Assistant Secretary Beekman Winthrop. "I have no sympathy whatever for the protest," said Mr. Winthrop this morning. "There is only one piece of the entire 128 in the service that bears any likeness or reference to Brigham Young. At first when the storm of protest arose I supposed his likeness appeared on every piece of the service. As a matter of fact, each piece carries some likeness of Utah scenery, and this picture of Young is but a likeness of the monument erected to him in Salt Lake City."

It is apparent that the protest brought about by women's clubs, the country over is going to be of no avail, and that the service, which is the most elaborate and expensive of any tendered by any State to a ship bearing its name, will not be declined.

GIRL PHARMACIST SAYS PHARMACY WILL BE HER LIFE WORK

Miss Mary Richardson Hopes To Open a Store Of Her Own.

Being entitled to place after her name the words "licensed pharmacist," Miss Mary Richardson, of 1333 Columbia road, is receiving today the congratulations of her friends. Miss Richardson passed the recent examination of the Board of Pharmacy with flying colors, and is authorized to compound prescriptions in any drug store in the District of Columbia. Unlike many women who study a profession merely for the sake of the knowledge gained, she intends to make it a career. Her life work and ambition is to own a store of her own. Her brothers, E. K. and S. A. Richardson are the owners of three drug stores at North Capitol and P streets, Third street and Pennsylvania avenue, and 152 Seventh street northwest. In one of these Miss Richardson will gain her practical experience. Although pharmacy is an unusual profession for a woman, it was chosen by Miss Richardson because, as she expressed it, she "just couldn't help it."

From her earliest childhood—and she is only twenty-two years old now—she has been accustomed to being around drug stores, and decided that the profession of pharmacy was the one most suited to her.

"Ever since I was a little girl I have wanted to be a pharmacist," said Miss Richardson. "I suppose it runs in the family. My brothers are the owners of drug stores, and there is no reason why I should not be also. I am going to work in one of my brothers' stores for a while, and later will open an establishment of my own."

"I had to study and work hard, but, having passed my examination, I feel amply repaid for all my efforts."

Miss Richardson is a graduate of the College of Pharmacy of George Washington University.

Pays Uncle Sam Back Years After Robbing Him

A conscience-stricken citizen of Topeka, Kan., contributed $5 to the Conscience Fund of the Postoffice Department today. In a pencilled letter he said the sender had robbed the Government of this money some years ago.

UNCLE SAM BURNS BILLIONS IN BONDS AND HAS HARD JOB

Destruction of War-Time "Seven-Thirties" Almost Balks Treasury.

"Uncle Sam" has money to burn in the most literal sense possible. In fact some of his employees would lose their jobs in a hurry, if they failed in the complete burning of more than $2,000,000,000.

This amount of money in Government bonds, and old 7-30s of war time days are being used for coal at the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. It is figured by the expert firemen and engineers of the Government, that the burning of all this money will save Uncle Sam the price of just two tons of coal and soft coal at that.

The committee of the Treasury charged with the destruction of old currency, was given the task of destroying $2,000,000,000 in redeemed bonds. The committee ordered them macerated in the machine at the bureau. Under the eagle eye of the regular watchers the bonds were dumped into the macerator in small lots, but the macerator refused to macerate. The bonds were too big, and the paper too heavy. After a consultation the committee decided to cut them up. But the cutter also struck out, and the committee sought for other means. To burn them was apparently the next logical course.

The bonds now being burned represent nearly the entire war-time issue of the Government, including those issued for the national bonded debt up to the year 1908, when several new war issues were made.

BAN UPON TRAMPS WHO HOPE TO USE SENATE CHAMBER

Precedent Will Prevent "Lower Ten" Conven- tion In Capital.

"The lower ten" will not be allowed to hold a convention in the Senate chamber or anywhere else about the Capitol Building. This is what Senators and officials about the Capitol said today when they read the dispatches from New York saying that J. Eds. How, "the millionaire hobo," at a meeting of the unemployed, said he would ask President Taft to convene the convention of "the lower ten" to be held in the Senate chamber from September 1 to 4. That convention will deal with the problem of unemployment.

Mr. How announced that appeals would be made to Vice President Sherman and Speaker Clark and that if the Senate chamber could not be secured an effort would be made to get the House. It was pointed out today that President Taft had no more to do with the disposition of the Senate chamber or the House chamber than any other citizen. And as to allowing those chambers to be used for meetings of private organizations or for non-official purposes, it is common to be the fixed policy of the Senate and House not to allow it. This applies no more to unemployed than to employed.

The disposition of Congress is to refuse to open the way in the use of the House and Senate chambers for other than the purposes for which they were provided.

If "the lower ten" holds a convocation in Washington they will be treated no better than in the days when Coxey's army had to keep off the grass, and any requests for use of the House or Senate chamber will be treated with courtesy, but will not be granted.

A. Lisner Close Tomorrow 1 P. M. G Street

Until 1 P. M.

Dr. Samuel will be in his office tomorrow until 1 p. m. No charge for consultation. Glasses fitted and guaranteed from $1 up. Amber or smoke Sun Glasses from 25c up.

From $1 Up

$4 Hats

$5 Dresses

$2 Parasols

The "Atlantic City" dress is pictured to the left hand—it's of pure linen, made in all white, and with touches of color. A lingerie dress creates a marked change. Put $10 in your purse tomorrow morning—buy two dresses.

The hats at $4 to wear with the dresses, were made to retail at $7 to $10. The usual $4 and $5 Hats are now only $2.00. The parasols at $2 include samples worth to $10, from the leading maker of the United States. Come tomorrow—before 1 p. m.—and secure stunning costumes at half their actual values.

Kayser's Long Gloves, 29c

Note—16 Not 12 Button Length

It should be noted that the latest Summer Girl vogue is to occasionally wear tan gloves and stockings to match in shade. While the white costume is still au fait, the tan shoes, stockings, and gloves create a diversity that's very attractive—and not expensive when supplies are got at the Palais Royal.

Tan Hose, 18c, 25c, 35c, 49c

Note 18c buys 25c quality; 25c buys 35c quality; 35c buys 50c quality, and 49c buys pure silk hose worth $1.00. Tans in all shades—but of course, white, black, and all colors are also here.

White Waists and Skirts

Prices mean nothing—the cheap stores offer Waists and Skirts at or about 65c and $1.00. Their garments and those here are: no more alike than is chalk and cheese. Prices mean nothing. Perhaps it's worth while to write you that the garments now here at 65c and $1.00 are not 65c and $1.00 garments.

$1.49 for $3 Puffs and Switches

The puffs, 16 in cluster, are here to match your hair. The switches, 24 inches long, are naturally wavy. $3 is a Palais Royal estimate of value—the price at the hair dressers' would be about $5.00.

Best Switches $2.50, Transformations $3.98

These best French Hair Switches, 26 inches long, now here at $2.50, cost a fancy price at the hair stores. The transformations, reduced to $3.98 from $5.00, are for all around the head, $7.50 at the hair stores.

Headquarters for Gray Hair

The Palais Royal's $5.00 Switches, 24 inches, reduced to $3.98; the best $12.00 Switches reduced to $7.49; the clusters of 24 Puffs reduced to $4.49 from $7.00. These reductions bring the prices to less than half asked at the hair dressers'.
