

CURRENCY PROBLEM TO BE CONSIDERED BY MONETARY BODY

Final Work In Presenting Central Bank Plan to Congress Begins Tomorrow.

Final work in the task of presenting to Congress the Aldrich central bank plan will be begun in Washington tomorrow, at a meeting to be held by the National Monetary Commission. Three years have been devoted by the commission to an investigation of the problem of currency reform, and tons of literature, compiled at great expense by financial experts of the world, have been circulated for the enlightenment of the common people.

Now the commission will proceed with the preparation of a report to Congress. It also will draft a bill covering the features of the Aldrich plan, which will be introduced in Congress, and will present the subject in practical form for the consideration of the statesmen. It is expected subcommittees on various divisions of the report and the writing of the bill will be appointed at tomorrow's session. Congress ordered the commission to report on the subject, but the prospects are it will be delivered before that time.

Measure Opposed.
Nobody believes the bill will be passed at the next session of Congress. Strong opposition to the measure will be based largely on the belief that Aldrich's leadership in the enterprise is a sign that it will, if passed, be chiefly in the interest of the money power in New York. Deep protests also will be made by the populace against the notion of the surrender by the Government to the bankers of the privilege of issuing currency.

A feature of the bill that will be emphasized by its supporters is the fact that it would enable a farmer in the far West to borrow money from the banks at the same rate charged in Wall Street to a New York millionaire. It will be provided that rates for loans shall be the same in all parts of the country.

Raised Great Outcry.
When the Sherman law for the resumption of specie payments was about to become effective on January 1, 1873, there was a great outcry that the Treasury's store of gold would be quickly exhausted. On the eventful day when currency could be exchanged for gold, a New York man, fearful that the supply would soon be exhausted, paid $1,000 for a place at the head of the line at the subtreasury. It proved to be a very placid day at the subtreasury, people being satisfied with the assurance that they could have gold if they wanted it. More gold was deposited than was paid out. The Sherman law authorized the sale of bonds to buy gold, if that became necessary, but the only use ever made of that provision was when President Cleveland availed himself of it to issue bonds to meet the needs of the Government.

Fifty Boy Scouts on Cross-Country Trip
Fifty boys gathered at the Y. M. C. A. building at 9 o'clock this morning, and half an hour later twenty-five of them, designated as hares, started on a cross-country trip, going into Virginia by way of Chain Bridge. Later the remainder of the Boy Scout party, playing the part of hounds, set out in pursuit. It was agreed that the party should stop at 11:30 this morning. If the hounds fail to catch the hares by that time the first party shall have won the race. All of the boys carried lunches, many of them having bits of raw steak, which will be cooked at noon.

MRS. M'HENRY HERE FOR LIQUOR WAR

Says She Will Make Things Interesting for Congressmen.

ESCORTS DRUNKEN MAN TO STATION

Declares Her Methods Are Not Those of a Crazy Woman.

These are some of the terse things Mrs. Myra Warren McHenry, ardent temperance worker, militant suffragette, and world-famous crusader, had to say of herself in Washington today. She has arrived here to make things "interesting" for the Senators and Congressmen when they assemble next week.

Arrests Drunken Man.

"On my way to the Union Station to mail a letter last night," she said, "I saw a man standing on the corner. He was very drunk and was turning. I spoke to him and told him he should not swear like that, and he informed me that a man had run into him. I could easily understand how a collision would be possible.

"I said, 'You must come along with me to the sixth precinct station.' He declared he would not, but wobbled along with me nevertheless. Before we got to the station he was having trouble walking, and I thought I would have to assist him, but he got there all right.

"When I entered the station with this man, and he told the officers what I had for them, they looked at me as though it might be advisable to put me behind the bars too. They suggested that I prefer a charge of disorderly conduct against him, but I told them I did not care to do that. I simply wanted to afford the man protection for the night."

Mrs. McHenry had many amusing things to say about herself. In discussing her ability to "get around," she said she did not wear an extreme hobble, neither had she entirely abandoned the former custom of having hips.

"I wear a hobble, but I do not appear as an advertisement for a match," she declared, "and I still believe in wearing petticoats."

Not Entirely Crazy.
Speaking of the fact that she does not carry on her campaign against liquor in the hatchet-wielding manner of the former temperance leader, Mrs. McHenry said:

"I haven't gone entirely crazy, though the people of my home State say I have. One hundred pounds of humanity of the feminine gender is what is needed to carry drunken men to jail."

Mrs. McHenry confessed she weighs a little more than 100 pounds.

Actress Prevents Panic In Theater

RICHMOND, Va., Dec. 1.—Only the reassuring smile and clever acting of Miss Henrietta Crossman in the third and last act of "The Real Thing" prevented a stampede in the Academy of Music when a gallery god yelled "Fire!" after hearing a distant gong sound an alarm.

Instantly men, women, and children in the gallery arose and made a dash for the exits. Theater employees were prompt to act the orchestra instantly plunged into a lively strain, while the "Home, Sweet Home" scene was turned from one of tears of joy over the reuniting of the loved ones into a scene of indescribable comedy, with Miss Crossman the stellar feature in diverting the attention of the audience from the dreadful word from the gallery.

"Order!" cried in the audience, "Go on with the play." The audience caught the ridiculousness in the actors and actresses endeavoring to take up the thread of the act where they were interrupted, and instantly turned from stampede into laughter. The alarm was caused by a slight blaze in a hotel half a block from the theater.

Temperance Worker Gives Her Policies

I wear a hobble, but I do not appear as an advertisement for a match.

One hundred pounds of humanity of the feminine gender is what is needed to take Washington drunkards to jail. They call me "crazy" in Kansas. The only proof of that is that I deny it. They say crazy persons always deny they are insane.

I never had a drunken man insult me, though I always talk to them. I seem to have a soothing influence over them.

One drunken man in Washington told me I looked about as old as his wife, and that she was forty-three. You can tell how I look to a drunken man.

MYRA WARREN MCHENRY.

Aged Pastor Attacked By Son Who Goes Mad

PATCHOQUE, L. I., Dec. 1.—The Rev. James M. Denton, the venerable pastor of the Presbyterian Church at Yaphank, L. I., narrowly escaped being choked to death by his married son in a fit of insanity. Mr. Denton was visiting his parents, and while conversing with them after supper he suddenly jumped up and rushed into the yard.

Dr. Denton followed and found his son, who is about forty years of age, in the henhouse vigorously clubbing the chickens and chasing them about. When the clergyman begged his son to desist the younger man turned on his father, aimed a blow at him with a club, then sprang upon him and grasped him by the throat with both hands. The clergyman was borne to the ground.

Mrs. Denton's cries brought Jonathan Baker, superintendent of the Yaphank county house, and he dragged the young man from his father, hurried him into an automobile and took him to the Central Help Asylum.

SURPLUS IS SHOWN IN CAMPAIGN FUNDS BY TWO CHAIRMEN

Montgomery County Politicians Spend Less Than Contributed.

ROCKVILLE, Dec. 1.—The statements of R. G. Hilton and C. Scott Duvall, treasurers, respectively, of the Democratic and Republican State central committees for Montgomery county, clerk of the circuit court here, show that more than enough money was contributed to run the recent campaigns of the two parties.

The report of Treasurer Hilton shows that a total of $1,602 was contributed, while the expenditures were $1,477.4, leaving a balance of $124.6.

Treasurer Duvall reported contributions amounting to $683.25 and expenditures of $644.11, leaving a balance of $39.14.

The following cases have been disposed of in the circuit court here: Benjamin Hawkins, assault with intent to kill, not guilty; Benjamin Hawkins, carrying concealed weapons, guilty; William M. Silvard, larceny, sentence suspended; Hyeckah Johnson, larceny, two cases, four years in the penitentiary; James Pratt, assault, not guilty; Harold Laird, disorderly conduct, $5 and costs; William D. Jackson, bigamy, two years in the penitentiary.

Arthur Kikok has been appointed by Governor Crothers a deputy game warden for Montgomery county.

Dr. Charles K. Mace, a well-known veterinary surgeon of this vicinity, who has been critically ill of typhoid fever, is believed to be recovering.

Gilmer Duley, for many years a resident of this county, died Wednesday in Washington. The body will be brought to this county for burial. He is survived by two sons, Gilmore and Harry Duley.

Watch In Turkey.

NEW YORK, Dec. 1.—Joseph German, chief in a restaurant, has a watch he found in the interior department of a Thanksgiving turkey he was carving. It was in good working order.

OPIUM CONGRESS DELEGATES FROM NATIONS' MEETING

Uniform Laws to Control Production and Distribution to Be Discussed.

THE HAGUE, Dec. 1.—Representatives of many nations have assembled here to take part in the much-discussed and long-delayed international conference for the suppression of the opium traffic.

The purpose of the conference is to give effect to the resolutions of the international opium commission, which met in Shanghai early in 1906, and to endeavor to secure an agreement upon uniform laws and regulations to control the production, manufacture, and distribution of opium, its derivatives, and preparations.

The effort also will be made to regulate the shipment of opium, restrict the cultivation of the poppy, authorize the search of vessels for contraband opium, and, finally, to create an international commission to carry out the agreements.

Bishop Brent, of the Philippines, heading the American delegation, has been selected to preside at the conference. Other members of the American delegation are Dr. Hamilton Wright, of Maine, and Henry F. Finley, of California, with Frederic L. Hudekoper, of Washington, as secretary.

The British delegates are Cecil Clement Smith, who attended the conference at Shanghai; Sir William Stevenson Heyer, formerly financial secretary in the government of India; William Grenfell Max-Mueller, councillor of the British embassy at Peking, and Sir William Collins, an eminent medical authority.

Blind Musicians to Give Public Concert

Rehearsal of a pretentious musical program to be given by blind persons will be held tonight under the auspices of the Columbia Polytechnic Institute, preparatory to a public performance on December 8 at the Foundry M. E. Church. The program will comprise fourteen numbers, taken from twelve standard operas.

J. F. Germuller has had charge of the musical direction and R. W. Swann, vice president of the board of directors, has attended to the business affairs. Thousands of letters, addressed on typewriters by blind persons, have been sent to those who may be interested in the concert.

Turks Declare Arabs Cannot Be Controlled

CONSTANTINOPOLE, Dec. 1.—Semi-officially it was decided today the government is incensed over the atrocities committed by the Arabs in Tripoli. Turkish officials declare the government does not sanction violation of the rules of civilization, and maintain they cannot restrain the Arabs.

MAKES PUNY CHILDREN ROBUST

Plenty of romping in the open air is undoubtedly an ideal way to harden a child, and yet all the playing it might do will not keep it perfectly well unless its little organs are working harmoniously. Chief of these organs are the stomach and bowels. They are the basis of all health, in childhood as well as in maturity. Clogged bowels result in poisons. The blood is vitiated, and nervousness, lassitude and other disorders result. Soon the child complains of feeling ill, or does not complain but acts ill. The mother should be quick to notice it. Restless sleep and indifference to food are good evidences. It is easy, however, to correct the trouble, and the careful mother will always have a reliable remedy for the purpose at hand. The remedy needed, and which no family should be without, is a trustworthy, mild laxative that a child can take without nausea and yet effective enough for satisfactory results in a grown person. Such a laxative, filling all the requirements of an ideal family laxative is DR. CALDWELL'S SYRUP PEPsin. Few mothers have not heard of it, and fewer yet who do not keep it constantly in the house. Its use when a laxative is needed is sure to result in the good health of all the family, for all can use it. It has replaced in all intelligent homes the promiscuous use of salts, waters and cathartics generally—purgatives that are seldom needed, and especially not by children, women, old people and all others who require a gentle laxative only. The cost of keeping DR. CALDWELL'S SYRUP PEPsin in the house is trifling and the saving that results in doctors' bills, etc., is very important. Keeping the bowels open, at all periods of life, maintains good, robust health and prevents colds, fevers and the minor skin and blood disorders.

DIXIE ASKEW DUDNEY.

Dr. Caldwell: I cannot praise your Syrup Pepsin enough. After using it for a year I find it the best medicine I ever used. It cured my baby of colic when the doctors failed. It cured my husband of constipation. My home shall never be without Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin. I have put it in several homes and wish I could put it in every home. If any one wishes to write me I would be glad to answer. Mrs. Earl Dudney, Magnolia, Ark., R. F. D., No. 4.

Dr. Caldwell: I received your sample of Syrup Pepsin and was more than obliged to you for it. I used it and found it all right. I got a large bottle and it surely has done me good. I won't be without it now. I am telling all of my friends about it. Isaac Shafer, Claremont, W. Va.

Anyone wishing to make a trial of this remedy before buying it in the regular way of a druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a large bottle (family size) can have a sample bottle sent to the home free of charge by simply addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 405 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. Your name and address on a postal card will do.

Fry fish, then potatoes

You can fry any kind of fish, smoked or fresh, in Crisco, and the Crisco will not absorb the fish flavor or odor.

You then can use the same Crisco for frying potatoes or any other food without imparting to it the slightest fish flavor.

Try this and see that it is possible.

Heretofore it has always been wasteful to fry fish because it meant the throwing away of so much lard. With Crisco not a drop need be thrown away. It can be used and re-used.
