

GEN. EDWARD BRAGG, FRIEND OF CLEVELAND, DEAD IN WISCONSIN

Author of "We Love Him Because of Enemies He Has Made," Well Known Here.

Gen. Edward S. Bragg, civil war hero and author of the famous expression, "We love him for the enemies he has made," which he uttered of Grover Cleveland when seconding his nomination for the Presidency, who died at his home in Fond du Lac, Wis., yesterday, was well known in this city, where he served in three Congresses as a Representative of Wisconsin.

With the passing of the veteran who was the leader of the Iron Brigade during the war on the eve of a Democratic convention, the expression which gained him more fame, and the incidents surrounding it, are fragrant in the minds of many leaders of the Democracy. It was said of General Bragg, following Cleveland's election, that "We love him for the enemies he has made" worked wonders in gaining him the Presidency. General Bragg was also well known in Washington as a diplomat, having served in diplomatic and consular capacities in Mexico, Cuba and China. While in the House of Representatives he was regarded as the most dangerous antagonist who could be challenged in debate. Small of stature and belligerent in bearing, he was particularly in the thick of the fight, and had few equals in acrimonious retort and invective.

General Bragg was born in Unadilla, N. Y., February 23, 1827, and was educated at Hobart College. He was admitted to the bar in 1848, moved to Fond du Lac shortly afterward, and was elected district attorney of Fond du Lac county in 1854. As a Douglas Democrat he went to the Charleston convention in 1860, and when war broke out the following year he entered the military service as a captain. He was mustered out with the rank of brigadier general October 1, 1862. After the war he was active in politics, and was a delegate to the Democratic convention in 1872, which nominated Horace Greeley for President. He was elected to Congress in 1884, and served three terms. He was a strong partisan Democrat, but never failed to criticize his colleagues harshly when he thought they needed it.

Wants Office Buildings Named for Statesmen

Proposing that the House Office building be known as Jefferson Hall, and the Senate Office building as Hamilton Hall, Mrs. Martin W. Littleton, wife of the New York Congressman, will appear before the House Public Buildings Committee today in support of the Humphries bill, which provides for these changes in name.

Mrs. Littleton believes, inasmuch as there is no memorial to either Thomas Jefferson or Alexander Hamilton in the city, and that these two statesmen sat on either side of George Washington when he planned the city, that they should be honored in the manner outlined. If her plan is carried out, bills naming the two office buildings will be passed without delay and the christening will be held July 4.

Bathing Beach to Be Opened July 1

The opening of the municipal bathing beach, which was set for today, has been postponed until July 1. This action was necessary because of the delay in Congress on the District appropriation bill. Boys and men—Week days, from 10 to 12, 2 to 4, and 4:30 to 6, except on Wednesday afternoons.

Four Persons Die In Feud Battle

SHERMAN, Tex., June 21.—In a feud battle between the Sharp and Waldrop families at Sperry's ranch, near here, four persons were killed and two wounded. Before she was slain, Miss Georgia Sharp killed one man and wounded another man and his wife. The battle began when the Sharp family, consisting of Miss Georgia Sharp, her father, W. L. Sharp, and her brother, Waller, passed the home of the Waldrops.

Apparently both sides began firing simultaneously. Henry Waldrop killed Walter Sharp and his father. As they fell Miss Georgia Sharp seized her father's smoking magazine rifle and took up the battle. She killed Russell Waldrop, then shot his parents. Prone on the ground, Henry Waldrop returned the fire, and shot Miss Sharp. She died almost instantly. Yesterday's battle was the culmination of a long-standing dispute between the two families.

MRS. BABETTE FRANC DIES THREE MONTHS AFTER HER HUSBAND

Widow of Former Merchant Passes Away in Fifth Street Home.

After an illness dating almost to a day from the death of her husband three months ago, Mrs. Babette Franc, widow of Henry Franc, died this morning at the old family home, 734 Fifth street northwest. She was seventy-three years old, and had been a resident of Washington for nearly fifty years.

In anticipation of the end, which had been expected for some time, all her children had been summoned, and were present at her bedside when death came. They are Henry Franc, Washington; Sidney Franc, and Jerome Franc, of New York city; and Mrs. Leo Stiefel, of Washington. Mrs. Franc was born in Germany, coming to this country when a young woman. Shortly prior to the death of Mr. Franc the aged couple had celebrated the forty-seventh anniversary of their marriage. For many years Mr. Franc had run a furnishing business in Seventh street. Mrs. Franc was well-known for her quiet deeds of charity, and although of a retiring nature she had a large circle of warm friends.

TEXAS GOVERNOR ASKS DEPARTMENT FOR MORE TROOPS

Prospect of Battle Across Border Makes Need Imperative, He Says.

As a result of an appeal from Governor Colquitt of Texas, the War Department has increased its vigilance along the Mexican border in the section about El Paso, where a battle is impending between the federals and the insurrecto garrison which holds Juarez. The Second Cavalry, on its way to this country from the Philippines will be rushed to El Paso just as soon as possible, and horses are now being sent there for the use of the troops.

Unless the federals change their plans and attack Juarez from the west, there is grave fear that Mexican shots will again bombard American property just across the Rio Grande. It is possible officials of the War Department may order several additional regiments to the frontier in the next few days should the danger become more menacing.

The consul at Acapulco has informed the State Department today that no recent change has occurred in the disposition of troops, that conditions in the neighborhood of Acapulco continue quiet and that General Figueroa has about 1,000 men scattered through the small towns. General Viazar commands a total of 1,400.

Eighty Years Ago Came Plague Visit

The Asiatic cholera plague made its first appearance in the United States eighty years ago today, the year of the great plague that ravaged Europe and spread hundreds of thousands of deaths. The first case in America appeared in Quebec, Canada. From that city it spread southward into the United States, hitting New York city first. By October it had spread to New Orleans, and had caused 6,000 deaths in Montreal, Quebec, New York, and New Orleans.

Inigo Jones, a pioneer English architect, who died on this day in 1632, was the first man to introduce classical architecture into England. His principal work that has endured was the old palace at Whitehall and the west front of old St. Paul's.

Miss Evelyn Hurdle reported to the police of the Second precinct today that her apartment, in the Rockingham, Rhode Island avenue, between Thirteenth and Fourteenth streets northwest, had been entered during her absence yesterday and $20 in money stolen. The thief used a duplicate key.

Matrimonial Freedom Soon Becomes Irksome

Divorced from their respective spouses within the past two years, in this city, Dr. John K. Haywood, of the Bureau of Chemistry, and Mrs. Margaret O'Brien Palmer, both known to a large circle of friends here, were quietly married in Philadelphia yesterday. Only a few intimate friends of the couple in this city knew of their intention to marry, and announcement that the ceremony had been performed caused surprise.

Mrs. Palmer made her home at 240 Eighteenth street northwest. She was legally separated from her first husband September 25, 1910. Dr. Haywood is chief of the miscellaneous division, Bureau of Chemistry, and was divorced from his first wife February 16, 1911. The bridegroom is thirty-seven years old, while the bride is eight years his junior. Friends of the couple say that they will return to this city and take up their residence about July 1.
