

JULIA SANDESON IN "SUNSHINE GIRL"

Latest Frohman Musical Production Comes Next Week With Many Stars in Cast.

The attraction at the Columbia next week will be Julia Sanderson and a company of 18 in the latest Frohman musical production, "The Sunshine Girl." This is the premier of the piece and it goes shortly to Broadway. Unusual interest attaches to this opening, not alone because it is the annual musical production for Charles Frohman, but because it serves to launch, as a star, a young woman who has earned this honor by hard work in "The Arcadians," "The Siren," and other attractions.

Miss Sanderson will be supported by a cast of unusual strength, headed by Joseph Carver, and including Eva Davenport, Tom Lewis, Alan Maudie, Vernon Castle, Florence Hope, Eileen Kearney, J. J. Horvitz, and others.

As a departure from the usual haughty show girl, Mr. Frohman has engaged twelve "Sunshine Girls," especially picked for their ability to dance and sing.

At last the long awaited queen of musical comedies, "The Quaker Girl," is to be seen in Washington, at the New National for a week's engagement, beginning next Monday. Coming here after a year's run at the Park Theatre, New York, the show is headed by 30 singers, headed by Ila Claire and Percival Knight, will arrive on a special train.

Concerning "The Quaker Girl" but little need be said so widely have its praises been sung. The story is by Lionel Monckton, the book by James T. Tanner, and the lyrics by Adrian Ross and Percy Godwin. It is a musical comedy in two acts, and has been running in Paris, and one year in New York.

Mrs. Leslie Carter, who was last seen in Washington two winters ago, in a piece called "Two Women," will return again next week with two plays. They will be "Zaza" and "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray." Both of these plays will be handsomely mounted and well acted. "Zaza" will be the attraction on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Saturday nights, and "The Second Mrs. Tanqueray" will be played on Thursday and Friday nights and at the Saturday matinee.

"Zaza" is of intense dramatic interest, the story being that of a woman who, after an emotional stage and a passionate outburst of feeling rarely presented. "Tanqueray" is intense and dramatic— one of those plays that absorb attention and give the greatest satisfaction.

Mrs. Carter is said to give a complete, consistent and lasting embodiment of the role.

Straight from London, where she has been reaping laurels of success for two years past, Percy Hawell comes back to the city in which she was born and reared and enters vaudeville for the first time at Chase's next week. Miss Hawell has starred in the Fitzgibbon, in Shakespearean productions, in modern dramas, and is rated as the most popular rock star ever presented in Washington, Baltimore and other cities. Miss Hawell has acquired from Miss Fawcett, Master Will's, a one-act comedy of Elizaean times in England, and its plot is arranged so as to permit the interpretation of a scene from "As You Like It," in which she plays the romantic Rosalind, and also a scene from "The Taming of the Shrew," in which she portrays the vixenish Katherine.

The extra added attraction will be Frank Fogarty, an Irish traveler, who will give a new fund of stories, songs, and dances. Charles Black and company will be present in "Come Back to Erin," an Irish playlet.

From the Berlin Wintergarten will come Germany's hippodrome novelty, the Jungmann troupe, in aerial exploits. Al and Fanny, comedians, will present their "Piano Capers." The Ramsdell trio of dancing stars are included.

The Kinetograph photo-play will be a drama in two parts, "The Husband's Story." The pipe organ recitals at 1:30, 4:30, and intermission, will offer varied programs.

Lovable "Sis Hopkins," that Hoosier composite of naive innocence, wisdom, and pure delight, is to be the Academy's guest star in a new musical comedy, "The Wholesome Joy," sponsored by Time change, fashions come and go, what was new yesterday is old tomorrow, but "Sis" retains her hold upon the playing public as firmly as she did at her first triumph some years ago. She is a child of no one time, no one era, no one generation. She and her play constitute an incarnation of rural American humor, finding as quick and sympathetic response from the audience today as at the beginning.

It is Rose Melville's production of the play which comes here, and it is under the management of the imitators in which is sufficient guarantee that it will be well presented.

To those who love Nature in her most impressive garb, E. M. Newman's third travel talk, "Switzerland," at the Columbia Theatre, Sunday evening and Monday afternoon next at 2:30, will be gratifying. The easy-chair traveler will ascend the highest peaks, viewing wondrous glacial formations, picturesque water falls, and mountain scenes, and will describe the most charming lakes, and visit all the most popular resorts and cities.

The new views and motion pictures will also afford opportunities for intimate studies of the inhabitants in the Alpine homes. It will comprise a tour to all the out-of-the-way places, as well as those in the beaten path of tourist travel, giving a comprehensive idea of the "Playground of Europe" as it is today.

Tom Mizer's "Bohemian Bachelors" are to present their two musical comedies, "Patsy" and "The Bohemian Beauty," at the Lyceum next week. Andy Gardner, who has been seen in the comedies of Patsy Bollar and Roxie. The olio presents several musical comedies, including the Bohemian trio, consisting of Hughie Barnard, Dolly Sweet, and Marie Revere. Mizer's Minstrel Maids, numbering forty, Floe Gaylor, Charles Storm, Frank Austin, Sam Green, and a beauty chorus of twenty-five will be seen in the excellent entertainment.

Full of vim and vivacity, Max Spiegel's "College Girls" will come capering into the Gayety Theatre next Monday for a week of jollification in a new two-act musical farce which will provide ample fun-making opportunities for a company of fifty singers and dancers. The story of the piece concerns the efforts of a college student to wed a girl to whom his father objects. The youth enlists the aid of an Irish janitor who masquerades as his aunt from Paris, and all goes capitolly until the real aunt appears on the scene.

The return of "The Waltons," the beautiful musical and scenic spectacle is the extraordinary dream of next week's bill at the Cosmos. It is

The Pathe Weekly, with its pictures of events of worldwide interest, will lead the film features.

Four other acts to be announced Sunday and a selected series of entertaining motion photoplays will complete the bill.

A brilliant variety program will mark the closing of the vaudeville season at the next week. The management wishes the public to retain only the pleasant memories of the vaudeville season at his avenue playhouse, and he will therefore send a surprise entertainment of ten big feature acts, aggregating 4,000 feet of feature film.

On Saturday night will mark the close of the vaudeville era, to be followed on Monday, the 3d, by the return of the popular Pol Pol Players, in "Man From Home."

Word was also formally received at headquarters today that the troop of petticoat cavalry would leave New York February 2d and ride all the way to Washington, arriving here the day before the pageant.

Green, purple, and white decorations with white dresses will be worn by members of the New York Women's Petticoat Cavalry, according to information received today from Mrs. Harriet Stanton Blatch, president of the organization.

Miss Louisa Lewis, a debutante, will be the guest of honor at the annual ball of the "Liberty Bell," with figures representing Liberty and Justice.

Elmer Lewis, fourteen years old, who was knocked down by an automobile on Congress street, is believed today to be much more seriously injured than was thought at first. Physicians fear one of his ribs has punctured the lungs, but the actual extent of his injuries will not be determined until the x-ray photograph is taken some time today.

The boy has been given a special room, and the attending physicians are attending him. Congressman Burke has left orders that no expense be spared in doing everything possible for the boy. The Congressman made two visits to the hospital last night, and there was again early this morning to inquire into the boy's condition.

Boy On Roller Skates.

The accident happened at Tenth street and Pennsylvania shortly after 6 o'clock last night, while Congressman Burke, accompanied by his wife, was on his way home from the Capitol. The boy was on roller skates, and, according to witnesses, turned suddenly and started across the street, directly in the path of the automobile.

Aaron Jackson, eight years old, living on Foxhall road near the new Conduit road, was knocked down by the automobile driven by Francis J. Poe, a real estate dealer at 324 Seventh street northwest. The boy was injured and taken to the Georgetown University Hospital in Mr. Poe's machine.

Automobiles Collide.

Charles Miller, driving an automobile of Ord Preston, of 1321 I street, collided with a machine belonging to E. C. Graham, of 1330 New York avenue northwest, which was standing in front of 120 F street northwest. The rear of Graham's automobile was damaged.

Mrs. W. W. Cross, of 313 Bancroft place, and Mrs. N. Stenham, of the same address, narrowly escaped injury in a carriage accident at Connecticut and N street last night. Alex. Horn, the driver, lost control of the horses when they became frightened, and the carriage crashed into a big oil

If headachy, bilious, dizzy, tongue coated, stomach sour and full of gas, you belch undigested food and feel sick and miserable, it means that your liver is choked with scum and your thirty feet of bowels are clogged with effete waste matter not properly carried off. Constipation is worse than most folks believe. It means that this waste matter in the thirty feet of bowels decays into poisons, gases, and acids, and that these poisons are then sucked into the blood through the very ducts which should suck only nourishment to sustain the body.

RIGHT TO PARADE NOT DENIED WOMEN UNDER GOVERNMENT

Uncle Sam, However, Does Not Recognize, in Official Way, Pageant on March 3.

Women workers for Uncle Sam can march in the suffrage pageant to their heart's content, so far as that benign old gentleman is concerned. Government officials approached on the subject declare that there is nothing with such a procedure. That, pageant will, of course, it was explained, not be given any official or other recognition by the Departments, but the clerks are free Americans, and if they wish to take a day off against their annual leave they may do so, provided they can be spared.

Notices have been sent all departments by Miss Lily R. Glenn, chairman of the department section, asking all women who wish to register and march in the pageant to send in their names to Mrs. W. S. Moore, 120 F street.

A men's section, lead by Congressman Richmond Pearson Hobson will be one of the features of the pageant.

Among those who will take part in this division are Commodore William Moore, U. S. N.; Congressman William Kent of California; the Rev. L. G. P. Pierce, pastor of President Taft's church here; Justice Wendell P. Stafford, of the District Supreme Court; Justice J. S. Peck, Chief Justice of the United States Court of Claims; Col. Sellden Allen Day, U. S. A.; Judge W. H. D. Lacy, of the District of Columbia; William F. Guise and Oswald Garrison Villard, editor of the New York Evening Post.

Formal notice was received here today that "General" Rosalie Jones, the noted suffragette leader, will leave New York February 12 and expects to arrive here March 1.

Needs of Capital Told in Testimony Of Colonel Judson

"Commissioners should have larger powers. Police patrols and fire apparatus should be motorized. Public Service Commission needed to hold mergers and monopolies. Capital should make asphalt at municipal plant. Consolidate all police in District under authority of Commissioners."

DISTRICT REFORMS URGED BY JUDSON

In what he termed "probably my farewell appearance before this committee," Col. W. V. Judson, Engineer Commissioner, told the subcommittee of the House Appropriations Committee in charge of the District bill that a number of changes are needed in the conduct of the Municipal Government.

Among other things, the Commissioner, in his parting shot asserted that Congress should have the Commission-ers should have larger powers. Entirely too much time, he said, is consumed by Congress in consideration of minor street bills, and measures of this character, which should be the regulation of the Commissioner.

Colonel Judson made one more plea for a municipal asphalt plant. He urged the creation of a public service commission and attacked the proposed merger of the public utilities of Washington.

"We have no public utility law like those already enacted or now under consideration in the various States," he said. "Arguments for such a law seem almost superfluous. I need only mention the recent organization under the laws of Virginia of a gigantic holding corporation known as the Washington Utilities Company, which, with the usual accompaniment of inflation, and practically without public supervision or the expressed consent of Congress, is thrusting itself into our local public utility situation."

"The asphalt paving industry in a city of the size of Washington is perhaps a natural monopoly. If there are two independent plants, for self-preservation they enter into more or less close agreements, and the public find itself supporting two plants and two organizations. If they enter into no such agreement, for a year or two there may be cut-throat competition, and the public must pay the price demanded by the plant remaining."

I am convinced that it would be wise and economic to motorize the apparatus of the fire department, the police, and the police. If there were done there would be little or no increase in any material increase in the apparatus for ten years more or less.

I wish to emphasize the need for immediate adjustment of the deficiency in the police and fire departments. The Police and fire departments are in a fixed and permanent financial basis on the basis of Senate bill 324 and House bill 337.

Philadelphia marchers will have a float called "The Liberty Bell," with figures representing Liberty and Justice.

morning, and the suffragettes will present their side of the case also.

The contract for the Avenue stands, awarded to William S. Riley, came in for much discussion. The meeting decided that if Mr. Riley had offered $400,000 for the stands, it would have been a view to capitalizing the pageant feature and "holding up" the women, he ought not to have the contract. Chairman Peter, of the reviewing stands committee, declared there had been no consideration of the March 3 proposition when the contract was promised to Mr. Riley at a figure about $2,000 higher than four years ago.

A letter from Robert L. Bains, requesting the return of his $100 subscription to the inaugural fund, created quite a sensation. Mr. Bains declared he made the contribution with the understanding that there would be an increasing income to better the inaugural plans, were voted: illumination committee, $7,000; fireworks committee, $2,500; finance committee, $15; civic organizations committee, $1,000.

The illumination and street decoration committees reported a comprehensive plan of decoration of the city. Green bunting will predominate in the Avenue decorations.

Major General Wood and R. N. Har- per reported satisfactory progress in their committees.

The fact that there is considerable opposition felt among members of Congress to the use of the Capitol for the proposed inaugural reception developed today. The matter was discussed in the meeting of the joint inaugural committee yesterday. At that meeting it was the unanimous feeling that the committee had not power to go ahead and make inaugural reception arrangements. However, in addition to this, there is a feeling among some of the committee and it is said to be quite strong in both houses that it would be unwise to have a reception in the Capitol because of the danger of destruction of the building by fire.

While this feeling exists, prominent Republican Senators said today they did not see how anybody on their side could well offer any opposition to the use of the Capitol. If a resolution for its use is expected to pass unless Democratic opposition manifests itself.

Senator Martine said today he had not fully made up his mind whether to introduce a resolution for the use of the Capitol for the inaugural reception. He said he found there was considerable opposition to the use of the Capitol for that purpose. At the same time, his personal inclination is to put in the resolution.

still discussion of it in Senate circles, and while this continues the friends of the new appointments have some hope.

Plans are completed for the mass meeting to be held at the National Theater this afternoon, the purpose of which is to obtain an expression of opinion from the whole community regarding the appointments. The statement was made by the committee of arrangements this morning that the meeting will be devoid of factional differences, and that invitations are extended to all classes of citizens, regardless of political affiliations.

Special invitations are extended to representatives of citizens' associations, other civic organizations and employees of the Government departments, the desire being to impress upon the Senate the practical unanimity of the citizen body in desiring the confirmation of Mr. Rudolph and Captain Oyster.

William F. Guise, former president of the Chamber of Commerce, will preside. Among those who will make addresses are A. Lettich Sinclair, who was a prominent candidate for Commissioner, and Aldis B. Browne. Invitations to deliver addresses have been issued also to W. T. Gallinger, P. T. Moran, Maurice Rosenberg, Henry France, the Rev. Wallace Radcliffe, W. C. Col. R. N. Harper, Capt. John Miller, Eldridge E. Jordan, and John P. Ryan.

The speeches will be limited to three minutes each. Music will be furnished by the National Theater
