

Austin Howard Reports to Lynn Club, of New England League, for a Tryout

AUSTIN HOWARD IS PLAYING WITH LYNN

Washington Boy Receives Telegram From Connie Mack and Reports Today.

CORNELL MEETS BANKERS

Sunday Games Are Booked by Teams Made Up of Star Amateur Players.

By BRYAN MORSE.

Austin Howard, Cornell Company third baseman, former member of the Atlanta team of the Southern Association, a Western High School boy, and member of the Cornell University baseball team in 1911, is in Lynn, Mass., today for a tryout with the Lynn club of the New England League, having been placed there by Connie Mack, of the Athletics.

Howard left Washington last night for Lynn, and is expected to get into the game immediately following a telegram from Connie Mack sent from Cleveland, saying that he had placed Howard with the Lynn club.

In 1911, after graduating from Cornell University, Howard went to Atlanta, under Otto Jordan and played exceptional baseball. Many big league scouts looked him over and Jordan received several offers for the player. The next spring Howard developed a bad arm and fell off in his hitting. He left Atlanta early and came to Washington for a short time and was with Manager Griffith.

This spring Howard expected to go away, but stayed and played here with the Cornell Company in the Capital City League. When Connie Mack came to town with the Athletics on his last trip, he met Howard and promised him a job. Mack wired from Cleveland yesterday, and Howard lost no time in hitting the trail for the Lynn club.

Unless a team is put in the Capital City League to take the place of Southland, guilty of three successive forfeits, or the Southland team is reformed and comes back into the circuit, the Capital City League will not be allowed to nominate a team for the post-season series and the game to meet Richmond for the inter-city title.

Under the ruling of the Amateur Association of Baseball Players of the District three teams cannot comprise a circuit, and as Southland has been put down and out by its failure to show up for the games, another club must be obtained to take the place of Southland or the league will be declared out.

The Capital City League has put up about the best article of baseball this season and fans are at a loss to know why Southland is out. No reason for the failure of the Southland team is given other than the fact that the players have signified their intention of getting into games elsewhere, and Manager Littenfeld is at a loss to know where to turn.

The team had another chance to appear yesterday in an engagement against the Bankers, but failed to show and the contest was declared a forfeit to the Bankers.

Tomorrow the big game of the week is scheduled in the amateurs. Cornell & company is to take the place of Southland for the second time this week, having won Tuesday's engagement by 4 to 2 in one of the best games played this season on the North Capitol and 6th street grounds. The Bankers will probably use Feinle again, or Dyer may go in, while Thompson or Johnson probably will be on the firing line for the Tigers.

The Cornell team has now won nine games and lost four, while the Bankers have won sixteen and dropped the same number as Cornell. Both teams have won games by the forfeit route this week, Southland having presented them with games.

Two of the independent teams are to take a turn at Union League Park on Sunday. The first game will be between Sam Edmonston's Tigers, composed of practically the Cornell team. The game is billed to be played for the semi-pro title of the South, which is quite a claim. Nevertheless the fans will be assured a good battle.

For the Tigers, Tor Sullivan or Don Johnson are picked to do the hitting. Sid Lodge or "Big Six" Brewer will be behind the bat on Saturday. For the Cornell team, Billy Martin will hold down short, Curly Brown on second, and Buck Howard on third. The Tigers' outfield will be Edmonston, Marcoron, Steele and McCarthy.

The Canaries will have a steady aggregation, picked from the following: Pitchers, Hasenstuh, Von Herblin, Haney, and Donaldson; catchers, Berger, Davidson, and Miller; infielders, Carroll, Myers, Blair, Hunt, Ward, Mulvey and Bob Murphy; outfielders, Walker, Reggie Rawlings, Shags Rawlings, Dyer and Morris.

The defeat of Interstate in the Treasury League by the Civil Service yesterday insures the flag for the latter. While there are more games to be played, Civil Service cannot be overhauled for the title.

The Aggies, while reckoning on easily defeating Interstate during the second part of the season, the association line has a unique record during the first half of the season's games. During these times, the team failed to land a single contest. The players never quit, and there was a reorganization at the start of the second series in the Central League. Since then the players have done good work in every game.

STAR GOLFERS TO COMPETE TOMORROW

Nichols Brothers Will Meet Sargent and McLeod on Columbia Club Course.

Judging from the notable entries in the professional golf match that will be contested over the course of the Columbia Country Club, commencing tomorrow morning, keen competition should develop at their meeting. Gilbert Nichols and his brother, Bernard Nichols, together with George Sargent and Fred McLeod, are the headliners who will be in competition. The former will meet the latter named for a handsome purse, which has been raised by the members of the Columbia Club.

Sargent is professional at the Chevy Chase Club, while McLeod occupies that same honor at the Columbia. The latter recently finished second in the open professional competition for the championship of Pennsylvania. Gilbert Nichols is recognized as one of the leading professional golfers of the United States, while his brother is classed among the top-notchers of this country.

It is conceded that MacLeod's familiarity with the Columbia course will give him some advantage, but the wonderful ability of the Nichols brothers to perform on almost any golf course is expected to offset, in a measure, this advantage. The Columbia Club has extended a written invitation to the members of the other golf and country clubs in Washington and their guests to come out and see this contest. Play will be for eighteen holes and will commence at 2:30 p. m.

BASEBALL NOTES

President Garry Herrmann of the Reds is a great believer in hoodlums and pinches, and now will have all of his athletes equipped with new stockings of solid red. Instead of those they have worn all season with a white border just above the shoetops.

First Baseman Pipp of the Tigers sure is a Pippin. His batting and fielding is very good and it looks as if Jennings has at last found a man to cover the initial sack.

It is reported that George McQuillen, former Philadelphia star, now with the Columbus club, is soon to join the Pirates. Mac has been taking care of himself and has been going well in the American Association.

It is said the fans down in Cleveland keep tab on the days when Cy Finkenberp is due to pitch and attend games only on those days. Cy has taken the place of Addie Joss, the one-time Cleveland star, in the hearts of the Naps' land fans.

Bill Carrington and Billy Sullivan can do more quiet and effective kidding of batmen than almost anyone else in baseball. The best of it is that they rarely make their victims aware.

When the season opened McGraw announced that he feared only the Pirates. Later he declared he feared only the Cubs. A bit later he announced that it was the Phillies he feared. And now he's declaring that the Dodgers are causing him worry. Next!

In that memorable fifteen-inning duel between Walter Johnson and Ray Collins the outfielders were kept pretty busy. Twenty-seven men flew out during the contest. Duffy Lewis was the busy little outfielder, getting nine flies.

Pitcher Jack Warhop, of the Yankees, is having trouble with a bad arm for the first time in his career.

PENN PLANS HONOR FOR MIKE MURPHY

Red and Blue Will Erect Administration Building as Memorial to Trainer.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., July 10.—When Mike Murphy, the famous trainer of the University of Pennsylvania, died several weeks ago it was suggested that it would be fitting to have a memorial erected in commemoration of the man who had done so much for Old Penn. It was pointed out that a fund necessary to erect a building could be easily raised through the medium of the student body and the alumni. It was quickly and firmly imbedded in the hearts of those who knew "Our Mike" and as a result H. Lausant Grelin, president of the board of directors of the University of Pennsylvania, has appointed a committee to make arrangements to attain means whereby a memorial will be erected.

The members of the board seem to think that the erection of an administration building at Third and Spruce streets would be just the thing. The plan no doubt will meet with general approval. Murphy was idolized by both Pennsylvania and Yale men. He has served both institutions well and there can be no question as to the support

Pinch Hitters Fail To Deliver the Goods In Games Yesterday

Eleven pinch hitters tried to come through in yesterday's games in the two big leagues and but one, Callahan, of the Dodgers, delivered the goods. His hit was a triple. Such famous pinchers as Easterly, of the Naps; McCormick, of the Giants; Nague and Paskert, of the Phillies; Yingling, of the Dodgers; Compton, of the Browns, and even the mighty Cobb, although Cobb drew a walk, failed to come through with expected hits.

that will be accorded any propositions toward memorializing the man who brought athletic honors to the Red and Blue and to Old Ell.

The public at large, acquainted as it is with the many achievements of Mike Murphy, will be only too glad to help erect anything that will perpetuate the memory of the man whose aim in life was the betterment physically and morally of youth.
