SEATTLE FEARS MORE RIOTING AGAINST REDS

City Under Martial Law as Result of Outbreak by Soldiers and Sailors.

FULL POLICE FORCE OUT

Mayor Cotterill Blamed for Taking Drastic Action—Paper Defies Him.

SEATTLE, Wash., July 20.—Grave danger of further rioting by Uncle Sam's soldiers, sailors, and citizens against the red flag was apparent today as a result of Mayor Cotterill's order placing the city under riot law.

The full strength of the city's police force was on duty to prevent trouble. Little groups of indignant citizens, soldiers, and sailors stood about the streets mulling protests. There was fear on every side that riots might break out at any moment. Socialist leaders absent.

Leaders of the Industrial Workers of the World and Socialists, whose headquarters were smashed and burned, were not in evidence today. Mayor Cotterill, it was understood, ordered them to stay away, lest their appearance might start trouble.

Police were keeping a close guard to see that no liquor was sold. The saloons were ordered closed yesterday by the mayor, who favors State-wide prohibition. He was accused by some citizens of furthering his faction's cause by the action.

Mayor Cotterill yesterday denied the Seattle Times the right of publication, unless he certified the proofs of the entire edition.

Following this unexpected and drastic action, the Times got an injunction in the superior court preventing the mayor from interfering. The mayor refused to abide by the order of the court, but the Times came out late in the afternoon without police interference. The nation was indignant at Cotterill, and, in order to bring the matter before the courts, one saloon refused to obey the order.

Many Visitors in City. The Industrial Workers have been holding street meetings without police interference. Owing to the annual Polish celebration there are 20,000 visitors in Seattle, and several warships are in the harbor. Secretary of the Navy Daniels is the guest of the city.

Three events were being held from Fort Flagler and three sailors were badly beaten by the Industrial Workers in the lower end of the city. Uncle Sam's men were walking along the streets when they bumped into the meeting. The speaker was not saying anything complimentary to Old Glory or the Government.

The mob attacked the soldiers and sailors, who were cut and bruised before the police quelled the trouble. About the time this row was going on, Secretary Daniels was making a speech before the Rainier Club, in which he referred to the riot and made at Erie, Pa., some time ago.

Secretary Daniels' Speech. "This country has no place for the red flag, and it has no place for believers in the red flag," he said. He remarked that he honored the mayor of Boston who ordered the red flag torn down from the van of a red proponent, declaring that no flag but "Old Glory" should be at the head of parades in his city.

The Times, which the Cotterill order attempted to suppress, routed the attack on the sailors and soldiers with the speech of Secretary Daniels yesterday afternoon. In the article it was stated: "What the Secretary's expression of contempt and disgust with methods which permit and foster anarchy by such means as are employed in Seattle, and the almost simultaneous assault on the country's uniform by the reds, will mean to Seattle cannot be forecast. The situation is serious."

Mayor Cotterill's Views. Mayor Cotterill exonerates Secretary Daniels from any blame in the matter. The Secretary says he had no thought of local conditions.

Referring to his orders today, Mayor Cotterill said that he aimed at three contributing causes of the trouble—the saloons, the Seattle Times, and the street meetings.

Messages have been sent to Washington, and the Government is expected to order an investigation.

Concerning the Times, Mayor Cotterill says it can print anything derogatory it desires about him, but that he is bent on suppressing matter that tends to incite riot.

The socialists have retained a lawyer to sue the Government for damages.

Police Block Efforts Of Would-Be Suicide
BALTIMORE, July 20.—Dependent because she was ill and without a home and friends, an elderly woman who says her name is Lena Birmingham, attempted to drown herself in Patterson Park lake today. A park policeman stopped her at the water's edge. She was sent to jail.

ATHENS, July 20.—Peace between Greece and Turkey is about to be concluded formally. The Hellenic plenipotentiaries are on their way today from here to Constantinople to sign the treaty.

Trial of Mrs. Eaton Set for October 13

PLYMOUTH, Mass., July 20.—October 13 is the date set for the trial of Mrs. Jennie May Eaton, accused of murder in poisoning her husband, Rear Admiral Joseph G. Eaton, of Annapolis, on March 8, last.

The defense has been anxious right along for a speedy trial, but Judge Allen deemed it best for various reasons to assign the murder case to the week of Monday, October 13. Mrs. Eaton has been in jail since March 26, but is in good health.

DOMESTIC.

Lexington, Ky.—Many barns were blown down or set on fire and other damage was caused during a heavy rain, wind and electric storm in central Kentucky. The total damage is estimated at $150,000.

NICARAGUA PLAN IS SIGNIFICANT

Administration's Stand for Protectorate Far-Reaching in Its Meaning.

MONROE DOCTRINE BACKED

Democrats' Position Shows Admission of Wisdom of "Dollar Diplomacy."

Tremendous international as well as domestic significance is attached in Congressional and political circles today to the disclosure that the Administration has determined to advocate a policy that amounts to the establishment of a protectorate over Nicaragua.

When Secretary Bryan went before the Senate Foreign Relations Committee and advocated the ratification in revised and broadened form of the treaty with Nicaragua Republic and Democrats as well, were amazed.

"Dollar Diplomacy" Wisdom. They perceived that a Democratic Administration had practically admitted the wisdom of the much-assailed plan of "dollar diplomacy" in dealing with the Latin-American republics.

Further than this, the insistence of the Administration at this time on the ratification of the treaty with Nicaragua in its broadened and revised form in many quarters as a service of notice to Europe and Japan that this country, no matter under what Administration, does not intend to relinquish the Monroe Doctrine, and that it intends to exercise all of its power to guard every American interest having relation to the Panama Canal as well as to guard the canal itself.

Intends to Stand Firm. Moreover, there is no doubt that the Administration's course with respect to Nicaragua at this time will be accepted in the foreign chancelleries of the United States which insist on the rest of the world keeping hands off in Mexico.

Bitterly as the Administration is being criticized in many quarters for ten years for having assumed for itself the protection of the Mexican people, and for its admitted failure to have complete information about the Mexican situation, there is no sign that it intends to back down one iota from the Monroe doctrine. The terms of the Nicaraguan treaty doubtless will be generally looked on as meaning the exact opposite.

Democratic Senators and politicians for years have assailed for political reasons the policy of the State Department under Republican regime in establishing a sort of financial protectorate over Santo Domingo, and attempts to take the same course with respect to Nicaragua are being assailed, but as to the broad phases of that policy, was not justified.

Forerunner of General Plan. The proposal of Secretary Bryan amounts to one to establish over Nicaragua, a protectorate similar to the one over Cuba. It is looked on as a forerunner of a general plan whereby the United States will keep its finger over the affairs of all the Latin-American republics in the region of the canal, especially the Central American republics.

Broadly, its purpose is to insure the stability of the Panama canal and prevent any turned of petty revolutions in that part of the world or other troubles of the little republics from in any way interfering with the successful operation of the canal. The paramount influence of the United States in the Western world is to be maintained.

A prolonged and important debate is expected to ensue.

MONEY POURS IN TO TROPHY FUND

Unique Methods Devised by Johnson's Admirers to Get More Contributions.

AMUSEMENT PLACES AID

Invitation to Team to See Glen Echo as Guests of Its Management Extended.

This Is the Sort Of Fellow the Fans Are Going to Honor

CHICAGO, Ill., July 20.—"I will volunteer to pitch every other day from September 1 to the end of the season if at that time you think we are near enough to race the Athletics for the pennant," said Walter Johnson to Clark Griffith.

" regard that as a promise. I know that I will be able to do it without impairing my form and in the meantime instruct the other fellows to pitch their arms off every time without fear of what shape they will be in later. If Badbourne and other old-timers could do it so can I. You also can call on me for three games in each of the two remaining series with the Athletics."

If the invitation extended by Manager Schloss, of Glen Echo Park, is accepted, "Johnson Cup Night" at the resort next Friday will see the Climbers, headed by King Walter himself, and the St. Louis players, in attendance.

Through the courtesy of the railway officials their private palace car, the Columbia, will be placed at the disposal of the two teams and the start from the Ebbitt House probably will be made at 7:30 o'clock.

Guests of Management. Arriving at the park, the car will be detracked while the players make a round of the amusements as the guests of the management.

It will be a baseball night, all right, and the thousands of fans who are expected to attend should bear in mind that one-tenth of all the receipts will help to swell the fund for a fitting trophy for the greatest pitcher in the game today. Plans are under way for special features in which the national teams will prevail, and the loyal rooters can make it the biggest event of the kind ever held in Washington and a monster demonstration of the warm regard in which the premier pitcher is held in his own town.

Several unique methods are being considered for money to help swell the money for the fund. Nathan Stein, who runs the Eastern Theater, 513 Eighth street southeast, is going to give a benefit performance for the Walter Johnson Cup Fund Tuesday evening. Part of the money accumulated will be turned into the fund. Others are making a general collection for the fund. Joe Oliver, who is well known as manager of the Vigilants football team, is out with an authorization to collect for the fund. "I believe I can get $50 in nickels, dimes, and quarters, as I know lots of fans who will be willing to fork over a nickel," he says.

Get Dog Catcher Job; Now Mother Is Angry

HARRISBURG, July 20.—Mrs. J. Spangler, mother of George E. Spangler, who became city dog-catcher, called up the police station on the telephone shortly after her son received his badge, and requested him to either resign the job or change his name. She said that catching tagless canines is a disgrace, and that her family had never before had a dog catcher in it.

The son's reply was that he would keep the job and his name, too.

NEWPORT, July 20.—The Alfred Vanderbilt baby spent his first Sunday on American soil here today. His father and mother are delighted to be back at Oakland Farm, which has been put in the best of order.

One of the features is a glass in-enclosed nursery and a concert grand piano which can be played by electricity.

DEFICIENCY BILL SOON WILL BE REPORTED

The House Appropriations Committee will report during this week an emergency appropriation bill covering deficiencies for the fiscal year of 1914. Uncle Sam ran about $8,000,000 behind on the last fiscal year's accounts and the deficiency bill probably will amount to that amount.

The largest item in the bill will be for continuing the work on public buildings throughout the country and increasing the prior limit of cost. The Treasury Department has also asked for additional clerks in the office of the supervising architect, who is behind with the plans and specifications for buildings already authorized by Congress.

SPINSTER DROWNS SELF BY DIVE INTO BARREL

CORNISH, Me., July 20.—Filling a barrel of water in her kitchen and then committing suicide by standing on her head in the barrel, Miss Harriet Chase, an eighty-six-year-old spinster, was discovered dead this morning by neighbors, who were informed by her several days ago that she thought she had lived long enough for a single woman.

MEDIATORS REACH SCENE OF HEARING

Washington Men Appointed to Weigh Railroad Strike Case Are in New York.

NEW YORK, July 20.—With the arrival here today of Judge Martin A. Knapp, Judge William L. Chambers and G. W. W. Hanger, the former an appointee to the Federal board, the two last prospective commissioners and assistant commissioner of the Board of Mediation and Conciliation, another step forward was taken toward a solution of the threatened railroad strike.

The men named went to the Herald Square Hotel.

MEXICO CITY, July 20.—A committee of Japanese has appealed to the government to permit the colonization of the state of Morelos by Japanese and negotiations with that end in view are in progress.

Huerta's government is tottering to a fall, according to advices at constitutionalist headquarters today. So certain of this are both the Huerta followers and the constitutionalists that they are casting about for a compromise provisional President.

Gen. Geronimo Trevino, active compromise candidate, may meet Diaz in Los Angeles to discuss the situation. Constitutionalists declare that they are opposed to Trevino as a reactionary.

Madero family, fearing that Ambassador Wilson's mission here may result in recognition of Huerta, break their silence. Mrs. Madero repeats her story of killing of Madero, asserting that he was assassinated in cold blood by Huerta supporters, after being taken out of his bed as he slept.

Alfonso Madero, brother of the slain President, charges Huerta with being assassin, and brands Ambassador Wilson with moral responsibility for Madero's overthrow and assassination.

Ambassador Wilson's removal of silver service from embassy gives rise to opinion he does not expect to return to Mexico City. Telegram unearthed showing that Ambassador Wilson ordered Consul General Hanna to meddle in Mexican politics "in the interest of Mexico."
