"Syrup of Figs" For Constipated Child

Delicious "Fruit Laxative" can't harm stomach, liver and bowels.

Every mother realizes, after giving her children "California Syrup of Figs," that this is their ideal laxative, because they love its pleasant taste and it thoroughly cleanses the tender little stomach, liver and bowels without any harm.

The first thing I looked for was the Classified or Want Ads. The sum total of Want Ads. carried in this first issue of the Star would make about three-quarters of a column in this newspaper. There were only half a dozen classifications—"Boarding," "Lost and Found," "For Sale," "Wanted," "To Rent" and "Miscellaneous."

Of course, Classified advertising was something new in those days. But did you ever stop to think how tremendously the volume of such advertising carried by modern newspapers has increased? Today the Kansas City Star carries in its daily issue twenty or more columns of Want Ads., under goodness knows how many classifications.

Classified advertising has had tremendous growth because it is "the advertising of the people for the people." The Classified pages are a daily market-place where human wants are advertised and exchanged.

No matter what you want, you can get it by becoming an advertiser in the Classified columns. That is why Want Ad. advertising has grown and is still growing. IT IS A MEDIUM OF PUBLIC SERVICE THAT IS BECOMING MORE AND MORE APPRECIATED BY THE PUBLIC.

Lack of Red Beef Will Wreck American Race, Meat Packers Predict

CHICAGO, Sept. 22.—"The twenty-first century American will be an anaemic creature, nourished by rice and vegetables, slothful, and lacking in initiative as a lower caste Chinaman. This is the transformation that will be wrought when the present supply of rich red beef is completely exhausted."

The American Meat Packers' Association brought this gloomy prediction into town when they arrived for the first session of their annual convention today. Gustav Blachoff, sr., of St. Louis, president of the association, voiced the sentiment of the packers.

PRESIDENT URGED TO AID U. S. SHIPS

Congressman Would Allow a Discount on Tariff for Goods in American Boats.

Desiring to enlist the aid of the President in their efforts to encourage American shipbuilding, a delegation consisting of Congressman Alexander of Missouri, chairman of the House Committee on Merchant Marine and Fisheries; Guernsey of Maine, Small of North Carolina, and Jones of West Virginia, called at the White House this morning.

They laid before the President a proposed amendment to the tariff bill allowing a rebate of 1 per cent on all tariff duties collectable on imports brought to this country in American-built vessels.

In its original form the tariff bill contained a provision allowing such a rebate on goods "built and owned" in the United States, but this was stricken out by the Senate on the ground that it violated treaty agreements with Germany, England, and other European governments, in discrimination in favor of American-owned ships.

President Wilson explained to the delegation that he was avoiding anything like dictation to the conference committee, but that if the committee asked for his opinion on the subject he would give it. He declined, however, to commit himself on the merits of the proposition.
