

WHITE PLAGUE IS BLAMED ON DRINK

Churches Observe Day Set Aside As International Tuberculosis Sunday.

Drink and tuberculosis were proclaimed as twin evils at the Sixth Presbyterian Church, last night, by the Rev. W. A. Spooner, one of more than fifty local ministers who observed the international "Tuberculosis Sunday" by making it the subject of a sermon.

The Rev. Dr. Spooner said that the white plague fell upon the drink evil, and that it was significant that the war against these two enemies of mankind was progressing simultaneously.

"It is only in recent years that the cause of tuberculosis have been understood and clearly defined," said the Rev. Dr. Spooner, "and the mere mention of them suggests at once the method of prevention. The prominent causes are a weakened physical condition, lack of proper food, alcoholism, and unhealthy environment, and of this brood alcoholism is the mother."

"It is not enough to find a cure for the white plague after it has seized upon its victim; it must be prevented. This service is recognized now as never before as a legitimate function of government, of medical science, and of the church."

The Rev. Dr. T. G. B. Pierce, pastor of St. Paul's Church, spoke at length to show that war against disease was a proper function of Christian organizations.

"God wants us to be good citizens, to work for great causes," he said. "Real religion should concern itself with the twin diseases of tuberculosis and alcoholism, the fight which is being made against tuberculosis."

At the Guston Temple Memorial Presbyterian Church, the Rev. Dr. C. Everett Granger last night continued his series on "Popular Excesses," dealing this time with the man who says "God Asks Too Much."

"This excuse comes more frequently from the selfish than from the silly," said Dr. Granger. "We will not deny it, we must not deny it. God demands the surrender of some pleasures, some ambitions, some time, strength, brains and money. But how little does He demand compared with what He gives! No sacrifice has ever been made for God but what has been infinitely more than compensated."

Home, the oldest of all earthly institutions, was set forth as the main bulwark against the present day evils of society by the Rev. Dr. James Shea Montgomery, at the Metropolitan Memorial M. E. Church yesterday. A revival of the old-time family life, said he, draws about the center table on which is the family library, the one more to sustain the high ethical tone of society than all that for which there is so much talk and effort and which is absorbing the time and attention of so many people.

A well filled house greeted Ricknell Young, Christian Science lecturer, at Boston, who spoke yesterday afternoon at Poli's Theater.

"I do not ask anybody to believe in Christian Science," said Mr. Young. "I should no more think of asking a person to believe in Christian Science than I should think of asking him to believe in the multiplication table. Neither one nor the other is in the realm of belief. We are not giving Christian Science lectures for the purpose of asking people to believe in it. We are giving Christian Science lectures because we want to help mankind; because we want to help ourselves, and have realized that the best way to help ourselves is to help others."

URGE RESTRICTIONS ON VIVISECTIONISTS

Animal Protectors From Europe and United States Meet in a National Capital.

America's first International Anti-Vivisection and Animal Protection Congress meets in Washington today, and from now until late Friday afternoon delegates from Europe and from five vivisection societies of this country will discuss ways and means of regulating scientific experiments performed on animals and children.

The congress opens with a reception on the fourth floor of the Raleigh Hotel at 4 o'clock this afternoon, and this evening a program will be in charge of Mrs. Florence Bell Waring, of New York, organizing secretary of the congress. Motion pictures of almost every form of animal activity, from the evolution of a silk worm to bull fights abroad, will be shown and explained.

Mrs. Waring also has some very valuable stereoscopic pictures of the famous dogs of the St. Bernard pass, and these will be shown, with a letter received only last week from the monastery there, describing the rescue service performed by the dogs.

Other stereoscopic pictures will show dogs, cats, and other animals in various stages of disease as a result of having been inoculated experimentally.

One of the principal features of tomorrow morning's session, which begins at 10:30, will be a talk on cruel methods of trapping, by Ernest Thompson Seton. On this occasion the address of welcome will be delivered by Secretary of State Bryan. The Right Rev. Alfred G. Harding, bishop of Washington, will make the opening prayer, and Mrs. Caroline Earle White will give a history of the anti-vivisection crusade.

Most of the delegates to the congress, it was explained today, are not in favor of the abolition of vivisection, but rather favor having a very rigid regulation of this method of scientific research. At present they say the perfect medical amateur is licensed to perform all sorts of horrors that serve only to maim and madden him and have no educational value.

The international congress was brought to this country through the co-operation of the American Anti-Vivisection Society of Philadelphia, the Maryland Anti-Vivisection Society, the New England Anti-Vivisection Society, the Vivisection Investigation League of New York, and the National Society for the Humane Regulation of Vivisection of Washington. Previously the congress has met in London and Copenhagen.

But Who Wants To Be 116?

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—"Cheerfulness does it," said Mrs. Hannah Kokosoff, when she celebrated her 116th birthday yesterday, in the Daughters of Israel Home here.

structure we rob the hair of its luster, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast.

If your hair has been neglected and is thin, faded, dry, straggly, or too oily, get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine at any drug store or toilet counter, apply a little as directed and ten minutes after you will say this was the best investment you ever made.

To Commercial Travelers

TWENTY years ago, when Munsey's Magazine struck out on new and popular lines, bounding as it did into a nation-wide circulation, you, the Traveling Men of America, were among the first to recognize its merits and did more than any other body of men to support it and commend it to your friends and acquaintances.

Now, just two decades later, I am giving you another new type of magazine in The Munsey—this time a far bigger and far better magazine than before.

With its full book-length novel, complete in each issue, Munsey's Magazine is pre-eminently the magazine for you commercial men who have long hours to while away on railway trains and in hotels away from home. So situated, there isn't much satisfaction in reading a fragment of a novel—just a sop, that's all.

But there is a lot of satisfaction in finding in your magazine a full complete novel—exactly the kind you would pay $1.50 for in book form. And there is a further satisfaction in the fact that in Munsey's Magazine you will get this novel for 15 cents—get novel and all the other features, illustrated and unillustrated, that go to make up a standard illustrated magazine.

Get the December Munsey and read George Barr McCutcheon's great novel, "Black is White." I strongly recommend it.
