

NEW PHONE SYSTEM IN SUBURBS PLANNED

Negotiations May Bring Flat Rate of Five Cents to City of Washington.

Telephones throughout the territory embraced by Alexandria county and part of Fairfax county, Va., will be placed on a regular city basis, if negotiations now under way between the Falls Church Telephone Company and the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone Company, of this city, materialize.

These negotiations, if successful, will mean that residents in all the Virginia suburbs of Washington and in Alexandria city will be able to communicate with Washington at a flat rate of five cents.

Under the present system, communication between points embraced in the territory of the Falls Church Company are required to pay 10 cents for calls between Washington and Virginia points.

President M. E. Church, of the Virginia company, has already expressed hope that the plans to place phones in the territory of his concern on a regular city basis will be successful.

Is Not Definite. "The matter has been under consideration for some time," he said, today, "but so far nothing definite has been decided on."

The change proposed in the system means a loss of about $1,800 a year to the Falls Church concern—one-half the amount of tolls exchanged between the two systems. When a resident of Washington or Alexandria county telephones from the Capital to points in Virginia or vice versa the toll for the call is equally divided between the Falls Church concern and the Chesapeake and Potomac company.

The loss which will ensue as the result of the change will be amply compensated for, according to officials of the Virginia concern. Increased business will result, they declare, and this will eventually bring to the coffers of both corporations larger receipts.

Rapid growth of the Falls Church system within the past few years has brought it to the status of practically a city system. As a consequence the practice of allowing telephone subscribers free use of toll stations on its lines has become impracticable, since the operators are unable to keep in personal touch with all the company's subscribers, as was formerly their capacity.

Unable To Tell. Now there is no means of determining whether a person is in fact a subscriber, entitled to free calls. Abuse of this privilege by strangers is believed to be general. Remedy of this condition by the new system will, it is believed, make the proposed change successful. Subscribers will have to pay the rate of five cents for local as well as city calls, and the company will abolish the free use of the telephones by strangers.

The courtesy of the free use of pay stations to subscribers has been peculiar to the Falls Church company, no other instance of such a privilege being accorded to patrons by a telephone company being known of in this section of the country.

W. A. Farlee Left 5 Wills Making Same Provisions

Five wills executed by William A. Farlee, all making the same distribution of his estate, were filed with the Register of Wills today.

This is the first time in the history of the office that so many wills executed by the same person and making practically the same provisions have been filed. Usually, when more than one will is offered for probate, it is for the purpose of changing bequests or provisions, but Farlee's wills provide that his estate be divided equally among Arthur W. Farlee, Helen M. Farlee, and Margaret Crapner.

The wills bear the dates of August 1, 1906; August 2, 1906; September 1, 1906; May 1, 1907; and September 1, 1907. The last document will be offered for probate. No hint is given in the wills for the unusual series of testaments.

THREE ARTISTS GIVE CITY MUSICAL TREAT

Ysaye, Godowsky, and Gerardy Hold Audience Spellbound by Their Magic.

The unusual opportunity of listening to the work of three great artists was given to the audience which attended the performance of the Ysaye-Godowsky-Gerardy trio at the concert at the National Theater yesterday afternoon.

Besides being of unusual proportions, the audience stayed until nearly 7 o'clock for the entire program, and many stood. Two numbers were given by the three, and individual numbers were given by each. The two former numbers were the Beethoven Trio in B flat (to the archduke), and the Saint-Saens Trio in F, a decided contrast which distinctly showed the two forms of composition, classic and romantic, flawlessly interpreted and executed. The Saint-Saens Trio provided a rich part for each instrument, calling for a limpid emotional tone which made a fitting close to an unusual performance. All three artists were gracious in their response to encores, were in a happy mood, and seemed to relish the appreciation of the listeners.

"Variations Symphoniques," by L. Boulanger, was a powerful weapon in the expression of the most alluring tones of M. Gerardy's cello, and Davidoff's playing of the technician or the artist. The Handel Aria and "Havanaises" by Saint-Saens, handled with a depth of tone and intonation rarely displayed, were followed by an encore, "Lointain Fosse," Ysaye's own composition.

The accompaniments of Camille Decrus were worthy of the artists for whom he played. F. E. Y.

Denies Urging Bill to Regulate Stock Sales

Samuel Untermyer, counsel for the "Money Trust" investigating committee, today denied reports that he was at the Capitol Friday to urge legislators to enact a bill to regulate stock exchanges.

"I came to Washington on purely professional matters, pursuant to previous appointment with the Judiciary subcommittee to argue on a bill to amend the Judiciary act," says Mr. Untermyer's formal denial.

"After the hearing I discussed anti-trust legislation informally with several Congressmen. I may say, incidentally, the statement that exchange legislation is disapproved for this session is inaccurate. Legislation will be vigorously pressed. The fact that this bill was recommended by all Democratic members and three of the four members of the last House banking subcommittee is generally overlooked."

While in Washington Mr. Untermyer consulted Congressmen Clayton Adcox, Henry and others regarding the anti-trust bills which were made public yesterday. He is expected to appear before the Judiciary and Interstate Commerce Committee to present his views upon their hearings are begun.

WILL HEAR VIEWS OF EXPERT ON CANCER

House Committee to Be Told Dr. Kelly Opposes Withdrawal of Radium Lands.

Thomas F. V. Curran, a mining prospector who has entered claims upon valuable lands containing radium-bearing ores in Colorado, said today he would tell the House Mines Committee that Dr. Howard A. Kelly, the cancer expert, is not an uncompromising supporter of the plan to withdraw from entry all the radium lands in the West. Mr. Curran says the exact attitude of the surgeon has been misunderstood.

"Dr. Kelly and I had a long talk in his office in Baltimore," said Mr. Curran. Dr. Kelly told me that the thing he would like most to see would be the discovery by the Government of a sure method for obtaining the radium from the carnotite ore, and the publication of such a process to the world's committee of scientists. "In this way, Dr. Kelly explained to me, the miners would have at their disposal a reliable process for the extraction of radium from the ore. Being in this position, they could put up mills and factories to produce the ore and the radium in any amounts required by the public welfare. He regarded it as a sure thing that such a process would result in there being enough radium at a reasonable price for the treatment of cancer and other diseases and afflictions."

"He said he did not favor the withdrawal of the radium lands from public entry if the Government could satisfy itself in any way that private monopolization of them could be avoided. What we want, he declared, is not any restriction of the production of radium, such as is proposed to be sure to follow the withdrawals, but the freest and largest production of it possible. He thought it but natural to assume that the Government's discovery of a process for extracting the radium would solve the whole problem."

The committee on Mines and Mining will meet at 7:30 o'clock this evening. Mr. Curran expects to be one of the witnesses.

In a previous statement before the committee, Mr. Curran, who owns several acres of radium-bearing ore in Colorado, paid a high tribute to Dr. Kelly's work and philanthropic motives.
