

Shaw and Boehling to Work--Huge Holiday Athletic Card--School Sports End

SHAW AND BOEHLING TO TACKLE YANKEES IN HOLIDAY CONTESTS

Washington Fans Will Have Small Chance of Seeing Connolly in Uniform Tomorrow Owing To His Recent Injury.

By LOUIS A. DOUGHER.

The Griffmen, being peevish at their recent tough luck on the diamond, plan to go after the Yankees tomorrow and win two games. This will take more than the team has shown in the last month, as they have yet to show power sufficient to win two successive games since the opening week.

Jim Shaw will, in all likelihood, twirl the morning game against Ray Caldwell, the Yankees' best pitcher. In the afternoon Joe Boehling will probably face Ray Fisher, one of the best pitchers in the American League.

Jim Shaw looked bad on his last essay against the Detroit Junglers, but he has never had any luck against the Tigers and Manager Griffith discounts that performance of his in Detroit. The Old Fox believes that Shaw will pulverize the Yankees, whom he generally trims in fine fashion.

Boehling looked good for a couple of innings in New York on the Griffmen's first trip to the big town, but he was hit hard after the fourth frame and he may have his troubles disposing of the foe. If Jim Shaw wins the morning contest, it is a good bet that Boehling will drop the afternoon clash, as it has been a long time since the Griffmen won two games in a row.

CONNOLLY IS OUT FOR A WEEK.

Washington fans have read a lot about Tommy Connolly, but they will very likely have to wait for another week before seeing him in action. Connolly is suffering from a bad case of "charley horse," and may not be able to play again until the team returns from Philadelphia. The Hilltopper can hardly walk, and it is impossible for him to do any fielding or batting while he is in this condition. Mique Martin, the safe and sane trainer of the Griffmen, thinks that Connolly will be in condition in about a week. Connolly is able to take his place in the garden, Merito Acosta will play left field whenever right-handed pitchers perform against the Nationals. Hank Shanks will oppose outpayers.

Many fans have believed that Acosta, after being carried by the team for two years, should be used. If he fails to make good, he should be discarded. If he makes good, he should have a regular place in the outfield. White Connolly is out of the game Acosta will have a chance. The few Cuban fans who have confidence in the world, and the betting is that he will make good.

Tuesday morning the Griffmen will depart to play three games in Philadelphia. The trip to the Land of the Nod was far from satisfactory. The Griffmen dropped two out of three games before leaving for Detroit. The Griffmen will go to Philadelphia on the 10:30 train, and will return on the 10:30 train. The Cleveland Indians will be the first Western team to hope to crawl up on the leaders at the expense of the Indians. Here is the way in which the visitors will tackle the Griffmen.

Washington fans will decide whether Morgan is to be retained at second base for the Griffmen. What some think holds true for "Thirty Days" Ansmith, yes, and the writer has heard a number of fans ask why some other Griffmen are retained in the regular line-up. But the principal complaint seems to be against Morgan and Ansmith, who have failed most disastrously.

Successful Year For School Sports Ends

Championships Have Been Evenly Distributed and Titles Have Hung in Balance Until Very Last of All Competitions.

By BRYAN MORSE.

The year 1914-1915 of scholastic competition in the various branches of sport goes on record as furnishing the closest of races in football, indoor track, basketball, baseball and outdoor track. Championships have been evenly distributed, and in none of the stretches for title honors have the champions been decided until the last games of the series or the final events in the track meets.

The last eight months of sport in the five high schools has seen Technical, Western, and Central capture the coveted titles. In no instance has there been a semblance of a walkover, and from the time that Referee Magoffin blew his whistle in the Central-Eastern football game last fall to start the youngsters on their way, until Fred Speidel, of Central, took his last jump at the bar in the polevault for a try at a record, the battles have been hard fought with the result ever in doubt.

Technical succeeded in establishing a clean lead for the championship in football last fall, Wayne Hart, a former Tech player, coaching the team to a triumph. Business succeeded in forcing Tech to the limit in a game during the season Tech scored 111 points to 54 for opponents in all games. The standing of the teams follows: Technical, 4 0 0 1.000; Business, 2 2 0 .500; Eastern, 2 2 1 .333; Western, 0 2 1 .000.

During the season a high standard of play was set by all of the teams in competition. Ray and Buck Wise, of the same school; Ochsensetter, of Tech; Roberts, Supple, and Rooney, of Eastern; and Baldwin, Fisher, and Clarke, of Eastern; Raymond Peck, John Whelchel, and Lawrence Grayson, of Western, and Ed Gibson, of Tech, were some of the stars of the series.

In the events indoors Western showed something more than the champion in the pole vault, but three of the five schools recognized basketball. Tech being represented by an independent organization, five teams composed the inter-school League. Western won the title from Business after an extra game was necessary to decide the championship. More than 4000 saw the Red and White defeat Business for the title and there was nothing to choose between the two, so closely contested was the race.

The standing of the league follows: Western, 2 2 0 .500; Tech, 2 2 0 .500; St. Albans, 2 2 0 .500; Eastern, 2 2 1 .333; A. N. P., 0 2 1 .000.

During the entire season Western won twenty-two games and lost five, scoring 1364 points in the thirty battles for an average of 35 points per game. So close were Business and Western on the season that but 1 point separated their final scores in the four games in which the two teams met. All of which is proof that the year was productive of close competition.

Central did well in the M. A. C. meet, May 1, and produced a number of winners in the Tomie meet at Port Deposit, Md., on May 8. Western won both the Georgetown and George Washington indoor meets in the scholastic events, but failed outdoors to a great extent.

In the high schools the following athletes stood out above the others in competition. Maxam, of Western, in the high jump; Speidel, of Central, in the sprint; Hunt and Blirbright, of Central, in the 40-yard dash; Sheehan, of Tech, in the distance; Tibbot, of Tech; Buell, of Central, and Maxam, of Western, in the broad jump; Wings, of Central, and Mealy, of Tech, in the high jump; Surree, and Gibson, of Tech, in the weights; and Speidel, of Central, in the pole vault.

Gala Sporting Card Awaits Washington Folks on Holiday

Tastes of Most Fastidious May Be Satisfied in Big Athletic Program to Be Enacted Here.

Washington will not want for sport attractions tomorrow, for a fine card will be offered for those inclined to be fastidious. Baseball, tennis, golf, racing, and a regatta on the upper Potomac will draw a full quota of admirers and there is every indication that the events offered will find many supporters, even to the wily small and big-mouthed bass, who gets ready for the open season which follows June 1.

Clark Griffith's Nationals will tackle Bill Donovan's flying Yankees at the baseball yard at 10 o'clock, and will rest for a while and come back in the afternoon game at 3 o'clock. Those inclined to see one of the best amateur teams at work will follow Manager Charles Baylis and his United States Marines, who go over to Fort Myer, Va., to tackle a picked team from the post. The Marines have been displaying a wonderful brand of baseball, and are expected to land the District title. Two amateur league games are offered for the faithful.

There was but one match in the South Atlantic championship singles at Columbia Country Club yesterday, and the tournament is expected to be in full swing all day. All of the courts will be occupied and tennis fans will get their share of the excitement.

Several inter-club matches have been scheduled for tomorrow, closed affairs, which draw from smaller communities. The Columbia Country Club, which holds its regatta in the Potomac, will start its first closed tennis tournament. Six entries have been received for singles and doubles and the events will be run off today and tomorrow.

There will be golf galore tomorrow. The Washington Country Club, at Jewell, Va., where the President spends most of his golfing time, will have a closed tourney for its players. The course has been arranged so that the first and last holes will be available for the matches. Allan Lard and Sam Daisel recently played off their best scores in the Lard, Lard going the 18 holes in 73, which is not only an

Cornell's Team Has a Walkover for Point Cup

PHILADELPHIA, May 30.—Ted Meredith's brilliant victories in the quarter and half mile runs overshadowed the winning of the team championship by Cornell and a new record in the high jump by W. M. Oler, of Yale, in the fortieth annual intercollegiate track and field games yesterday on Franklin Field. The Ithacans totaled 46½ points and Yale second with 26 points and Princeton third with 21 points. The other intercollegiate winners finished as follows: Michigan, 14; Dartmouth, 14; Columbia, 10; Maine, 3; Penn State, 3; Johns Hopkins, 2; Massachusetts Institute of Technology, 1 and Bowdoin, 1.

The performances of Meredith, who wore the Red and Blue of the University of Pennsylvania, were little short of phenomenal. One has to go back into the early '90s to find a similar performance, and the times made then appear colossal beside the marks of today. Every one knew that Meredith was a horse for work, but even the most optimistic considered the task the runner had cut out for himself as far beyond human possibilities. Entered against such a field as Wilcox, of Harvard, and Wilkie, of Yale, in the quarter mile, the Pennsylvanian had to open up in order to capture the event, and he did the distance in forty-eight seconds, thereby equalling the present intercollegiate record held by C. D. Reidpath, of Syracuse. He had a three and a half yard lead at the finish.

An hour and a half later this same runner defeated Speidel, of Cornell, and Hayes, of Princeton, in the half mile in his splendid time of one minute fifty-four and two-fifths seconds, just one second more than the record. His competitors in this event had him well boxed until he rounded the corner into the home stretch, when Ted was forced to cut around two runners before he could start to overhaul Speidel. He cut down the few yards' advantage of the Ithacan despite a stubborn resistance and he breasted the tape five yards in the lead.

Another record in addition to the one made yesterday in the hammer throw by Bailey was broken twice yesterday. Oler, of Yale, cleared 5 feet 4½ inches in the high jump and Richards, of Cornell, did 8 feet ¾ inches, both of them thereby breaking the former mark of 5 feet ¾ inches made in 1907 by T. Moffit, of Pennsylvania.

Special mention must be given to several representatives of the various schools for their general excellence in athletics this year. Buck Wise, of Business, is selected as the best all-around performer in the schools. Wise starred in football, was one of the best basketball players on the floor this winter, played a creditable game at second on the baseball team, and yesterday came through with fifty but two days' training.

Others who have gained prominence in three sports during the year are Ralph Grayson, of Western, and J. W. Bur, of Columbia, of the same school; Jakey Roberts, Pat Rooney and Harold Supple, of Tech; Norman Roddy, Worcester, and Edwyn Tibbot, of Eastern; Raymond Peck, Richard Sergeant and Tom Peyton, of Western. Central had no all-around performers, but Bill Foley's athletics handled by Tech yesterday, although the meet was in doubt almost to the final event.

Central did well in the M. A. C. meet, May 1, and produced a number of winners in the Tomie meet at Port Deposit, Md., on May 8. Western won both the Georgetown and George Washington indoor meets in the scholastic events, but failed outdoors to a great extent.

Army's Big Guns Keep Navy Baseball Down

WEST POINT, May 30.—The army's big guns kept the navy off yesterday, the contest ending the annual baseball game from the middies for the seventh successive time by the score of 6 to 5. The navy threatened several times and came near sinking the army craft. Pitcher Bob Neyland incidentally takes credit for his third win from the navy having beaten them here in 1913 and in Annapolis last year. Neyland pitched good ball today except during the first half of the third frame, when he threatened to go to pieces.
