

Happenings of the Day In Capital Smart Set

Items of Interest and Importance of Past, Present, and Future Among Official and Fashionable Folk.

Many Entertainments Are Planned by the Leaders of Society in Washington. Gossip of Hostesses.

Brig. Gen. Henry P. McCain, adjutant general of the army will leave Washington next month for an inspection trip through the West. Mr. McCain will accompany him as far as San Francisco, where she will remain some time. They will return to Washington about the 1st of November.

Mrs. Marcus A. Hanna was hostess at a luncheon party at Seal Harbor, Me., yesterday.

Paymaster Gen. Henry T. B. Harris, U. S. N., retired, and Mrs. Harris and William C. Morrow were guests at a luncheon which William H. McCormick gave at Narragansett Pier yesterday.

Mrs. Edson Bradley entertained at luncheon yesterday in Newport.

Charles I. Craig, W. Wheatley and Mrs. Julia Kellogg Bradley were among the Washington folk present at the collation last night in the ball room of the White House.

Mrs. Herbert Shipman was a guest at the luncheon at the Hill Top Inn, Newport, yesterday, when Mrs. Joseph Willard was the hostess.

Truxton Beale and Creighton Webb entertained at luncheon yesterday at the Casino at Narragansett Pier.

Frank C. Baldwin was host at dinner last night at the Manhattan in New York city.

Mrs. Frederic Crowninshield gave a large reception at Konkopet in Stockbridge yesterday for Lieut. Col. J. Reynolds Landis, U. S. A., retired, and Mrs. Landis. Colonel Landis was one time military attaché of the American embassy in Rome.

Mrs. Louise M. Cooper entertained at tea yesterday afternoon on the lawn of the Casino at the Hot Springs.

Miss Julia Whitely and Miss Alice Whitely entertained at luncheon yesterday at Seal Harbor, when their guests were Miss Helen Draper, Miss Caroline Ogden Jones, Miss Mildred McCormick, Miss Frances Travers, Miss Elsie Williams, Miss Newhall, and Mrs. Edgar Howard.

Senator and Mrs. Henry F. Lippitt, of Providence, brought Stephen Metcalf and Lauriaton Metcalf to Narragansett Pier on board their yacht, the Magnet, and entertained them at luncheon at the Casino, where they were joined later by Manton B. Metcalf, who came on board his yacht, the Sachem. Senator and Mrs. Lippitt are staying at their summer place in Beverly Farms, Mass.

The Austro-Hungarian Ambassador and Mme. Dumba were guests at the dinner party which Mrs. John E. Alexander gave at Spring Lawn, Lenox, Mass., last night.

Vigilant de Alite, minister from Portugal, Dr. Charles P. Hatcher, secretary of the Swiss Legation and Count Claes Bonde of the Swedish Legation were of the company when they were the dance at the Malvern at Seal Harbor.

Rear Admiral Cameron McR. Winslow viewed the Admiral Cameron in New York yesterday with ex-Commodore Henry Walters on the Narada.

Arthur D. Addison attended the stag dinner given in Bar Harbor last night by the members of the Pot and Kettle Club.

Mrs. Robert M. Thompson and her daughter, Mrs. Stephen H. Thompson, loaned their grounds and cottages which adjoin in Southampton, L. I., for a large entertainment and fair next Thursday for the benefit of the Southampton Fresh Air Home.

Mrs. Philip M. Pezet was one of the large number of society people who attended the fair for St. Peter's by the Sea, which took place on the church lawn yesterday at Narragansett Pier.

Personals.

L. Cabrera, S. C. Mead, and Louis Selbold, all of New York, are among the recent arrivals at the Shoreham.

Miss Katherine Holbrook left Washington this week for Lake Winnepauske, N. H., where she will remain until the first part of September. She will make a lengthy stop in New York before returning to Washington.

Thomas Jenkins will leave Washington tomorrow to spend the week-end in Maryland.

Miss Maud Foster went to Atlantic City Wednesday.

Senator F. A. Pezet, the minister from Peru, with Mme. Pezet and their son, A. Washington Pezet, an attaché of the legation, are stopping at the Vanderbilt Hotel, in New York, where they arrived yesterday aboard the United Fruit Company's steamship Almirante.

Walter R. Tuckerman is a guest of Miss Emily Tuckerman at her residence at Stockbridge, Mass.

Dr. and Mrs. John B. Dunlop spent yesterday at the Berwick Hotel, Rutland, Vt. They are motoring from Washington to South Hatley, Canada, where they will remain several weeks, and where their children have been since the first of the season.

Henry Coleman May, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry May, who is second secretary of the American embassy in Tokyo, has been transferred to Quito, Ecuador. Sumner Welles, of Islip, Long Island, has received his appointment as secretary of the American embassy at Tokyo. This is Mr. Welles' first appointment in the diplomatic service for which he came to Washington to prepare shortly after his marriage to Miss Esther Slater, daughter of Mrs. Nelson Slater last April at the home of Mrs. M. W. Massachusetts. While in Washington, Mr. and Mrs. Slater leased the house in Sixteenth street formerly occupied by Colonel Gage, the British military attache.

Baron E. de Nageli, who married Miss Julia Calhoun, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John C. Calhoun, of New York last autumn, has been assigned as attaché to the Netherlands legation at Petrograd, where he will go on August 15.

The Duchess of Manchester, who has been at Southampton, N. Y. for some time, plans to sail for England tomorrow.

The Brazilian ambassador, D. da Gama, has arrived in Washington, and is at the Shoreham.

Mrs. Chandler P. Anderson will arrive in New York August 13 to visit her sister, Mrs. Riano, wife of the Spanish ambassador.

Constantin Mavrodski Effendi, second secretary of the Turkish embassy will go to Lenox tomorrow for a stay of several days with the Austro-Hungarian Ambassador and Mme. Dumba.

Miss Gladys Ince will depart with a party to the White Sulphur Springs, Va., by automobile to spend the day.

Secretary of War Garrison left Washington Wednesday to join Mrs. Garrison at their cottage at Seal Harbor, Maine, until the first of the week. Mr. Garrison stopped at the Waldorf-Astoria in New York while en route to New Jersey, leaving there yesterday. Maj. Gen. Leonard A. Wood was one of his callers before he left for his train.

Judge Martin A. Knapp, who has been visiting his mother and Mrs. Charles L. Kellogg, of Syracuse, N. Y., his sister, at the Manhattan Hotel, in New York City, began a tour of the New England States by automobile yesterday.

SHAGGY CUR RESCUES BIRDS FROM STORM

Derelict of Dogdom Saves Sparrows From Drowning and Takes Them Into Hotel.

Somewhere between the corner of Sixth street and Pennsylvania avenue and the assure firmament seven tiny sparrows are thanking the luck stars today that they survived the storm of early Thursday morning after they were rescued from certain death by a homeless, shaggy cur.

Somewhere between the same corner and the countless back gates and byways known to the canine sort, the same nameless, homeless "purr" pauses in his solitary quest for bones to cock an ear, lest he be surprised by the heavy-soled oxford of the hated Genus Man.

Forget Their Due To Dog, the seven inhabitants of a feathered world have forgotten their due to the dog. And, in brute, unselfish dog oblivion, Tower (for we lack his Christian name), in his all-absorbing quest for bones, has no claim to being the hero of a "human interest" drama enacted at the National Hotel Thursday morning when dog and birds played major parts.

When the rainfall was beating its most resounding tattoo and the wind was literally raising the trees limb from limb, the terrified ranks of the huddled few gathered for refuge in the hotel lobby were broken by the entry of that more shaggy, wet-nosed brute, that men would call a veritable detest of dogdom.

Carries Prize To Lobby, in his protecting jaws as he came sauntering in, he carried a live, jaunty and wet-tailed though dripping wet, he carried his prize to the center of the lobby and deposited it tenderly on the flagging. The little creature thus liberated twined and fluttered but could not fly. The rain had nearly claimed its grim toll.

When the rain had nearly claimed its grim toll, the little creature thus liberated twined and fluttered but could not fly. The rain had nearly claimed its grim toll.

When he again went out into the storm many pairs of eyes that followed him saw that he had one more victim, that he saw the flutter of life. There were hundreds of birds, victims of the storm lying dead in the street.

Disappears After Rescue, he repeated his sally and return, each time bearing a live bird in his jaws until he had deposited seven of them side by side in the warmth of the sheltering lobby. After his seventh rescue Tower disappeared.

And what became of the birds, you ask? They were unmoistened, and when the rain had stopped and their wet bodies were partially dry, they instantly flew away out of the lobby and were caught by signal. Nothing was heard but a "weak-tweak," which in bird tongue, translated by those who heard, meant farewell.

And the moral of this strange tale is this: Though nothing but a brute of a dog, though nothing but a philosopher if nothing-but-dog can be accredited with such a stupendous application of the law of natural selection, all he had to give, that other breathing things might not perish—and he offered it willingly.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 6.—Walter Scott, an assayer, took several handfuls of sand from an excavation for a sewer in Ninth street, but it through an assaying process and extracted a quantity of gold. True, it was a small—very, very small—quantity, but it was unquestionably gold.

"I feel certain," Mr. Scott said, "that there is enough gold under Philadelphia to make investment profitable. I have made several experiments with sand taken out of holes in the streets and from the embankment of the old Fairmount reservoir, when it was torn down, and all of them have strengthened me in the opinion that Pennsylvania is a rich gold State, and that there is really a vein hidden away all through this section."

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 6.—The large planters and shippers of Blue Point oysters are attributing the promising condition of their oyster stock to the unusual abundance of rain this summer.

The rainfall has so freshened the water of the Great South Bay as to produce a fattening effect, and shippers predict that when the shipping season opens on August 15 the Blue Points will be much superior to those of last year.

Want Gold? Go to Philadelphia; Dig Right in Ninth Street Sewer Excavation You Can Get It, But It Won't Be Much.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 6.—Walter Scott, an assayer, took several handfuls of sand from an excavation for a sewer in Ninth street, but it through an assaying process and extracted a quantity of gold. True, it was a small—very, very small—quantity, but it was unquestionably gold.

"I feel certain," Mr. Scott said, "that there is enough gold under Philadelphia to make investment profitable. I have made several experiments with sand taken out of holes in the streets and from the embankment of the old Fairmount reservoir, when it was torn down, and all of them have strengthened me in the opinion that Pennsylvania is a rich gold State, and that there is really a vein hidden away all through this section."

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 6.—The large planters and shippers of Blue Point oysters are attributing the promising condition of their oyster stock to the unusual abundance of rain this summer.

The rainfall has so freshened the water of the Great South Bay as to produce a fattening effect, and shippers predict that when the shipping season opens on August 15 the Blue Points will be much superior to those of last year.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 6.—The large planters and shippers of Blue Point oysters are attributing the promising condition of their oyster stock to the unusual abundance of rain this summer.

The rainfall has so freshened the water of the Great South Bay as to produce a fattening effect, and shippers predict that when the shipping season opens on August 15 the Blue Points will be much superior to those of last year.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 6.—The large planters and shippers of Blue Point oysters are attributing the promising condition of their oyster stock to the unusual abundance of rain this summer.

The rainfall has so freshened the water of the Great South Bay as to produce a fattening effect, and shippers predict that when the shipping season opens on August 15 the Blue Points will be much superior to those of last year.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 6.—The large planters and shippers of Blue Point oysters are attributing the promising condition of their oyster stock to the unusual abundance of rain this summer.

The rainfall has so freshened the water of the Great South Bay as to produce a fattening effect, and shippers predict that when the shipping season opens on August 15 the Blue Points will be much superior to those of last year.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 6.—The large planters and shippers of Blue Point oysters are attributing the promising condition of their oyster stock to the unusual abundance of rain this summer.

The rainfall has so freshened the water of the Great South Bay as to produce a fattening effect, and shippers predict that when the shipping season opens on August 15 the Blue Points will be much superior to those of last year.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 6.—The large planters and shippers of Blue Point oysters are attributing the promising condition of their oyster stock to the unusual abundance of rain this summer.

The rainfall has so freshened the water of the Great South Bay as to produce a fattening effect, and shippers predict that when the shipping season opens on August 15 the Blue Points will be much superior to those of last year.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 6.—The large planters and shippers of Blue Point oysters are attributing the promising condition of their oyster stock to the unusual abundance of rain this summer.

The rainfall has so freshened the water of the Great South Bay as to produce a fattening effect, and shippers predict that when the shipping season opens on August 15 the Blue Points will be much superior to those of last year.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 6.—The large planters and shippers of Blue Point oysters are attributing the promising condition of their oyster stock to the unusual abundance of rain this summer.

The rainfall has so freshened the water of the Great South Bay as to produce a fattening effect, and shippers predict that when the shipping season opens on August 15 the Blue Points will be much superior to those of last year.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 6.—The large planters and shippers of Blue Point oysters are attributing the promising condition of their oyster stock to the unusual abundance of rain this summer.

The rainfall has so freshened the water of the Great South Bay as to produce a fattening effect, and shippers predict that when the shipping season opens on August 15 the Blue Points will be much superior to those of last year.

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 6.—The large planters and shippers of Blue Point oysters are attributing the promising condition of their oyster stock to the unusual abundance of rain this summer.

Army and Navy

ARMY.

So much of paragraphs 27, and 28, special orders, No. 172, as relates to Captains EDWARD C. CARRY, 1st Infantry, and THOMAS D. WISE, 2d Infantry, respectively, is revoked. Leave for eight days granted First Lieutenant HOLLIS J. E. R. MULLEN, Coast Artillery Corps.

Leave for two months, to take effect on or about August 16, granted Captain BERKELEY ENOCHS, 27th Infantry.

Leave for four months, to take effect upon his arrival in the United States, is granted Captain CLEVELAND C. COOPER, 1st Cavalry.

Leave for one month, to take effect on or about August 10, granted Captain GEORGE W. STUART, 7th Infantry.

Major CHARLES P. SUMMERALL, Field Artillery, will proceed from this city to Anniston, Ala., and Asheville, N. C., for duty pertaining to camp instruction for field artillery of the Organized Militia.

MOVEMENTS OF VESSELS.

Arrived at—Tangier Sound, Kentucky: P. Paz, Cleveland; Port Angeles, Albany; Manila, Supply; Whitehouse Land, Henley; Boston, Accomac; Thorton, Maryland; Rosebank, McCall.

Sailed from—Yantic, Hancock, Mich.; Bremerton, Salurn; Hampton Roads, Va.; Norfolk, Va.; Tangier Sound, Kentucky; Tangier Sound, Kentucky; Port au Prince, Connecticut; Chicago, Ill.; and Louisiana, La.

The fuel ship Brutus, now at the Norfolk yard, will leave about the 10th instant for the Eastern Mediterranean.

The fuel ship Kanawha, now at the Norfolk yard, is being ordered to proceed to Newport.

NAVY.

Commander J. H. DAYTON, detached command Saratoga, to home and wait orders.

Ensign R. H. HAWKINS, detached Chattanooga, to treatment Naval Hospital, Mare Island, Cal.

Midshipman CLAUDE D. KELL, detached North Carolina, to Dubuque, Keokuk, Iowa, to duty.

Passed Assistant Surgeon R. J. STRAETEN, detached Tennessee, to home and wait orders.

Passed Assistant Paymaster K. C. McINTOSH, detached Sava, Academy, to Tennessee August 31, 1915.

Passed Assistant Paymaster THOMAS WILLIAMSON, Jr., to Vermont.

Acting Captain E. S. BURKE, appointed acting captain in the navy from July 24, 1915.

Chief Boatswain J. C. LINDBERG, detached navy yard, Portsmouth, N. H., September 1, 1915, to Baltimore.

Chief Boatswain A. T. WEBB, detached Baltimore, to New Hampshire.

Boatswain J. E. CLARK, detached naval training station, Great Lakes, Ill., September 1, 1915, to Arkansas.

Boatswain M. J. BRESNAHAN, detached New Hampshire, to home and wait orders.

Chief Gunner CONSTANTINE CLAY, detached naval station, Guantanamo, Cuba; to home and wait orders.

Marchant W. M. SHIPLEY, detached navy yard, Portsmouth, to Delaware.

Chief Pharmacist RALPH T. AHERNATHY, detached Solace; to sick leave two months.

Pharmacist C. B. FURNELL, detached Naval Hospital, Canada; to home and wait orders.

Acting Pay Clerk F. S. SULLIVAN, appointed from July 1, 1915.

Acting Pay Clerk R. E. SMITH, appointed from July 1, 1915.

Acting Pay Clerk J. HARTER, appointed from July 1, 1915.

Acting Pay Clerk W. R. LOWTHER, appointed from July 1, 1915.

Cable from commander-in-chief, Asiatic Fleet, dated Shanghai, August 5, 1915.

Commander S. E. MOSES, detached captain of yard, Cavite, P. I.; to command Monterey.

Lieutenant Commander O. G. MURFIN, to command Saratoga.

Lieutenant Commander A. ST. C. BENTLEY, detached captain of yard, Olongapo, P. I.; to naval station, Cavite, P. I.

Lieutenant Commander H. K. CAGE, to captain of yard, Olongapo, P. I.

Plan for Joint Fair.

William R. Singleton Lodge, No. 29, F. A. M., and Friendship Chapter, No. 17, O. E. S., are preparing to give a joint fair October 13, 14, 15 and 16, 1915, for the benefit of the two orders.

OSTEOPATHS OPPOSE ELEVATED CAR STEP

Convention at Portland Goes on Record in Favor of Lower Arrangement of Entrance.

Sherlock Holmes must have been the original osteopath.

Nowadays almost any osteopath could tell you things about yourself that would have puzzled the deductive Sherlock, and put the aleopathic Dr. Watson entirely at sea.

For example, it is obvious to any osteopath which side of the street car you get off, whether you use street cars with high steps, and whether you are an habitual strag hanger.

"Thus, you see, my dear Watson, by process of eliminating the various lines, we come down to one where the steps are high, and one which is always crowded, and one where all the passengers get off the front right hand side. I must write a monograph about that."

And it is all very simple, Dr. Watson might continue. All this, and much more, can be deduced from the innominate bone and the sacro-iliac joint.

All this was brought out at the osteopathic convention at Portland, Oregon, by various osteopaths, and their reports were cordially echoed by Washington osteopaths.

High steps on street cars and strap hanging are wrecking the anatomy of the American people, said T. J. Howerton, president of the Washington Society of Osteopaths.

Therefore the osteopaths would have us translate the conductor's "Watch your step" to "Watch your innominate bone," and his warning of "Wait until the car stops" to "Be careful of your sacro-iliac joints." On behalf of their vertebrae all residents of outlying districts should protest vigorously against riding on cars where they must hang by straps.

High steps on street cars and strap hanging are wrecking the anatomy of the American people, said T. J. Howerton, president of the Washington Society of Osteopaths.

Therefore the osteopaths would have us translate the conductor's "Watch your step" to "Watch your innominate bone," and his warning of "Wait until the car stops" to "Be careful of your sacro-iliac joints." On behalf of their vertebrae all residents of outlying districts should protest vigorously against riding on cars where they must hang by straps.

High steps on street cars and strap hanging are wrecking the anatomy of the American people, said T. J. Howerton, president of the Washington Society of Osteopaths.

Therefore the osteopaths would have us translate the conductor's "Watch your step" to "Watch your innominate bone," and his warning of "Wait until the car stops" to "Be careful of your sacro-iliac joints." On behalf of their vertebrae all residents of outlying districts should protest vigorously against riding on cars where they must hang by straps.

High steps on street cars and strap hanging are wrecking the anatomy of the American people, said T. J. Howerton, president of the Washington Society of Osteopaths.

Therefore the osteopaths would have us translate the conductor's "Watch your step" to "Watch your innominate bone," and his warning of "Wait until the car stops" to "Be careful of your sacro-iliac joints." On behalf of their vertebrae all residents of outlying districts should protest vigorously against riding on cars where they must hang by straps.

High steps on street cars and strap hanging are wrecking the anatomy of the American people, said T. J. Howerton, president of the Washington Society of Osteopaths.

Therefore the osteopaths would have us translate the conductor's "Watch your step" to "Watch your innominate bone," and his warning of "Wait until the car stops" to "Be careful of your sacro-iliac joints." On behalf of their vertebrae all residents of outlying districts should protest vigorously against riding on cars where they must hang by straps.

High steps on street cars and strap hanging are wrecking the anatomy of the American people, said T. J. Howerton, president of the Washington Society of Osteopaths.

Therefore the osteopaths would have us translate the conductor's "Watch your step" to "Watch your innominate bone," and his warning of "Wait until the car stops" to "Be careful of your sacro-iliac joints." On behalf of their vertebrae all residents of outlying districts should protest vigorously against riding on cars where they must hang by straps.

High steps on street cars and strap hanging are wrecking the anatomy of the American people, said T. J. Howerton, president of the Washington Society of Osteopaths.

Therefore the osteopaths would have us translate the conductor's "Watch your step" to "Watch your innominate bone," and his warning of "Wait until the car stops" to "Be careful of your sacro-iliac joints." On behalf of their vertebrae all residents of outlying districts should protest vigorously against riding on cars where they must hang by straps.

High steps on street cars and strap hanging are wrecking the anatomy of the American people, said T. J. Howerton, president of the Washington Society of Osteopaths.

Therefore the osteopaths would have us translate the conductor's "Watch your step" to "Watch your innominate bone," and his warning of "Wait until the car stops" to "Be careful of your sacro-iliac joints." On behalf of their vertebrae all residents of outlying districts should protest vigorously against riding on cars where they must hang by straps.

High steps on street cars and strap hanging are wrecking the anatomy of the American people, said T. J. Howerton, president of the Washington Society of Osteopaths.

Therefore the osteopaths would have us translate the conductor's "Watch your step" to "Watch your innominate bone," and his warning of "Wait until the car stops" to "Be careful of your sacro-iliac joints." On behalf of their vertebrae all residents of outlying districts should protest vigorously against riding on cars where they must hang by straps.

High steps on street cars and strap hanging are wrecking the anatomy of the American people, said T. J. Howerton, president of the Washington Society of Osteopaths.

Therefore the osteopaths would have us translate the conductor's "Watch your step" to "Watch your innominate bone," and his warning of "Wait until the car stops" to "Be careful of your sacro-iliac joints." On behalf of their vertebrae all residents of outlying districts should protest vigorously against riding on cars where they must hang by straps.

High steps on street cars and strap hanging are wrecking the anatomy of the American people, said T. J. Howerton, president of the Washington Society of Osteopaths.

Therefore the osteopaths would have us translate the conductor's "Watch your step" to "Watch your innominate bone," and his warning of "Wait until the car stops" to "Be careful of your sacro-iliac joints." On behalf of their vertebrae all residents of outlying districts should protest vigorously against riding on cars where they must hang by straps.

High steps on street cars and strap hanging are wrecking the anatomy of the American people, said T. J. Howerton, president of the Washington Society of Osteopaths.

Therefore the osteopaths would have us translate the conductor's "Watch your step" to "Watch your innominate bone," and his warning of "Wait until the car stops" to "Be careful of your sacro-iliac joints." On behalf of their vertebrae all residents of outlying districts should protest vigorously against riding on cars where they must hang by straps.

High steps on street cars and strap hanging are wrecking the anatomy of the American people, said T. J. Howerton, president of the Washington Society of Osteopaths.

Therefore the osteopaths would have us translate the conductor's "Watch your step" to "Watch your innominate bone," and his warning of "Wait until the car stops" to "Be careful of your sacro-iliac joints." On behalf of their vertebrae all residents of outlying districts should protest vigorously against riding on cars where they must hang by straps.

High steps on street cars and strap hanging are wrecking the anatomy of the American people, said T. J. Howerton, president of the Washington Society of Osteopaths.

Therefore the osteopaths would have us translate the conductor's "Watch your step" to "Watch your innominate bone," and his warning of "Wait until the car stops" to "Be careful of your sacro-iliac joints." On behalf of their vertebrae all residents of outlying districts should protest vigorously against riding on cars where they must hang by straps.

High steps on street cars and strap hanging are wrecking the anatomy of the American people, said T. J. Howerton, president of the Washington Society of Osteopaths.

Therefore the osteopaths would have us translate the conductor's "Watch your step" to "Watch your innominate bone," and his warning of "Wait until the car stops" to "Be careful of your sacro-iliac joints." On behalf of their vertebrae all residents of outlying districts should protest vigorously against riding on cars where they must hang by straps.

High steps on street cars and strap hanging are wrecking the anatomy of the American people, said T. J. Howerton, president of the Washington Society of Osteopaths.

Parcel Post Mail Orders Bring Our Store to Your Door
Store Hours: 8:15 A. M. to 5:00 P. M. Daily
420 TO 430 7th ST
LANSBURGH & BRO
417 TO 425 8th ST
Leaders Then—Established 1860—Leaders Now

$100,000 Trade Event

Clearance of All Parasols

Our entire stock of Parasols is included in this final clearance. Plain colors, fancy combinations and Dresdens. All fitted with stylish handles and silk tassels. All the new shapes.

Values Up to $3.50	Values Up to $4	Values Up to $5
$1.50	$2.00	$2.39

Main Floor—Parasols.

$100,000 TRADE EVENT

To make the first week of this great event a glorious success we will include

Our Famous 2 o'Clock Sale

Be Here on the Stroke of 2 o'Clock—Sale Continues Until 5 o'Clock

This will, in all probability, be the greatest sale of Women's, Misses and Children's Ready-to-Wear Apparel in our history. These sales have become famous on account of the extremely low prices for reliable merchandise that is new and up-to-the-minute in style. The following items and many others too numerous to mention are included.

Remember Sale Starts Promptly at 2 o'Clock and Continues Until 5 o'Clock

Women's Pure Linen Palm Beach and Silk Pongee Automobile Coats

Those marked up to $4.95. 2 o'clock sale,	Those marked up to $6.95. 2 o'clock sale,	Those marked up to $9.95. 2 o'clock sale,
$1.96	$2.96	$3.96

Women's Wash Street Skirts

Plain white and plain black. Values to $1.50.	44c
All materials. All new models. Values to $3.00.	$1.44

Women's Wash Street Skirts

Including Goline Skirts, in white and old rose; Palm Beach Skirts and all other higher priced skirts. Values up to $6.50

$2.44