Finley Shepard, Jr., To Get a Birthday

Nobody Knows How Old Former Waif Is, But He's Going To Be Regular Boy.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Finley J. Shepard, Jr., is a regular boy in every respect but having a birthday, and one is now to be picked for him. No one knows exactly how old he was when picked up a homeless waif on the steps of St. Patrick's Cathedral. Physicians employed by Finley's foster parents are unable to agree on his age. It's somewhere around four or five years, but that is as close as they come. "I think we'll give him a birthday," said Mrs. Shepard today.

MINE BUREAU AIDS HOSPITAL'S SERVICES

Director Manning Thinks Training Received Would Help in Case of War.

The United States Bureau of Mines is the greatest institution of the country for preparing men for war hospital service, declared Van H. Manning, the new director of the bureau, today.

This is one detail of the new "preparedness" program.

"In forty-eight hours" he said, "50,000 trained first-aid-to-injured experts could be mobilized in the great mining states of the country. I mean the trained mine rescue crews. Think what that would mean when this war has shown that economy in men is vital importance, and that the sooner a wounded man is given treatment the greater the chances are for his return to the firing line.

"Since 1908 the Bureau of Mines has done extensive demonstration and training work among men in the big mining companies throughout the country. Every mine of importance now has its corps of trained mine rescue men. These men are thoroughly expert in all sorts of bandaging, treatment of wounds and fractures, sterilization of wounds and probing for foreign objects in the body. In addition they are trained to use the oxygen helmet which will permit them to enter places where the air is too poisonous to be breathed. "It is most important this will be the present 'poison gas' method of warfare is developed for a greater use in the future.

"In all mining States there is an annual mobilization of these potential hospital workers. The drills are performed by the crews. This keeps the men in perfect training, accustoms them to working together and insures the certainty of quick mobilization in time of war. "These men form the finest field hospital corps among men in the world. They can move over all kinds of ground and overcome extraordinary difficulties.

"Another important feature of the drills is the use of the oxygen helmet which we are directly responsible for. It is a portable apparatus, containing the necessary supplies and having the certainty of a good nucleus for a complete service in wartime, and with scarcely any change in apparatus, they would be ready to carry the crews as near a battle front as need be. "It is not an interesting paradox, that we who have devoted our energies to saving men from the dangers of industrial pursuits, should have the same time trained a force capable of not only saving men from the dangers of warfare, but able to send them back to those same dangers again to continue their fight."

PURE FOOD EXHIBIT FIT FOR LUCULLUS

Elaborate Aerial Decorative Scheme Being Installed in Convention Hall.

"Lucullus had nothing on Washingtonians who will visit the food show at Convention Hall next week," observed Perry P. Patrick, its manager and secretary of the Retail Protective Association, as he fingered a bundle of invoices in his office yesterday.

With the food show only a week away, the grocers are receiving carloads of edibles from all over the United States, to be used as exhibits and for purposes of distribution during the two weeks of the show. Two carloads of sugar will be unloaded this morning that will be used in a picturesque display, and there are two carloads of flour at the Baltimore and Ohio yards from Minneapolis. The flour is done up in small packages, so that housewives may take it home and try it out in their kitchens.

Manager Patrick has made arrangements for additional stock room space at Convention Hall to take care of the samples that are coming to Washington for use at the show.

The work of installing the show was begun yesterday at Convention Hall by Marshall Rea, of this city, who has the contract for the booths and decorations. A force of men was engaged in working out what promises to be a wonderfully well planned aerial decorative scheme that will take two or three days for completion.

"Washington grocery stores have been supplied with 100,000 tickets good for the first week of the show, the distribution of which will be begun this morning. Banners proclaiming the coming of the food show will be flung from the sides of grocery and provision delivery wagons. These may be obtained from Manager Patrick in his downtown office, 515 Fifth street northwest.

Social Service Will Be Aim of Y. W. C. A. Clerks

Social service is to be the aim of the Council of Friendship Clubs, Y. W. C. A., during the coming winter. The council decided upon this plan at a meeting yesterday at Vacation Lodge at Chevy Chase, Va.

Talks were made by girl delegates as follows: Miss Florence Brown, general secretary of the local Y. W. C. A.; Miss Ruth M. Kenney, Christine Dann, Dorothy Wilson, Elsie Jarvis, Winifred Soleau, Irene Egan, Carolyn Smith, and Miss Mabel Thurston, of the Y. W. C. A. The officers of the council are the presidents of the five local high school clubs, and are: President, Dorothy Wilson, of Technical; secretary, Estelle Milne, of Business; treasurer, Miss Elsie Jane Egan, of Eastern; and secretary of the executive committee, Margaret Hefflin, of Central.

Minstrel Show to Be Given at Gonzaga Hall

"Mistah Bones" and "Mistah Tomatoes" are to be in evidence in Gonzaga College hall at the evening of November 17 and 18, when the Alumni Association will hold a minstrel show and dance. The proceeds will go to swell the fund for athletics.

A number of Washingtonians prominent in amateur theatricals will have a part in the program.

Turin Has Classes In Alpine Climbing

Italians Trained in Mountain Fighting So They Can Oppose Austrians.

TURIN, Oct. 25.—Turin's Alpine Club, which has many members fighting on the mountains against Austria, is now training young men in Alpine climbing, so that they may be fit for the kind of fighting that has fallen to Italy's lot. After a very successful course of summer climbing they have now started an autumn course of lessons, taking their members on the heights of the Maritime Alps, where snow already lies thick.

The movement is entirely voluntary and large numbers have joined the classes. The Austrians are still optimistic about invading Italy. Not long ago the Kaiser's men spent spare time learning Italian, and now Austrian soldiers must do the same. On the bodies of some Austrian officers killed on the Carso were copies of a little book of minute directions for their behavior when they have invaded Italy. It is more or less a replica of the German manual, but with additional technical directions to officers.

Mrs. Edith McCormick Rockefeller, who is an honorary citizen of Parma, Italy, was yesterday in Turin for the benefit of wounded soldiers belonging to Parma province. Mrs. Van Valkenburgh, of New York, has given 10,000 pairs of stockings to the Turin branch of the Italian Red Cross.

RED CROSS HELPERS TO RESUME ACTIVITY

Women of District to Meet in St. John's Church Parish House Wednesday.

The Red Cross helpers of the District, women who gave unstintingly of their time and energy all last winter in making clothes and bandages and doing other relief work for war sufferers in Europe, will resume their activities for the coming winter next Wednesday morning. The helpers will meet at 10:30 o'clock in the Parish house of St. John's Episcopal Church, 1325 F street N.W.

Planned last year, Miss Mabel Boardman requested the helpers to undertake the same task they had last year. A call for the meeting Wednesday was sent out by the organization. Miss L. C. Saxton, its treasurer, and Miss G. McMillin, secretary. Last year the helpers were organized into units of ten which met once a week to sew clothing, wind bandages, and do other needlework, largely for the hospitals. Each unit has a chairman.

U. S. Red Cross Asks Aid Of American Churches

The American Red Cross has made an appeal to American churches to contribute their Thanksgiving Day collections to the European war relief fund. Since the war began the Red Cross has expended $1,500,000 in relieving the suffering in Europe. This relief fund is approaching exhaustion, the Red Cross appeal says, "and this important work must cease unless the fund is replenished."

Mission at St. Paul's Will Last Two Weeks

The mission opened yesterday at St. Paul's Church, Fifteenth and V streets, by the Rev. Father Hubert, the Rev. Father James, and the Rev. Father Columban, Passionist missionaries from St. Michael's Monastery, Hoboken, N. J., will be continued two weeks, this week being devoted to services for the women, and next week to the men of the parish.

"GO-GO, STOP-STOP" STANDARDS WORKING

Police Signals in Place at Two Congested Downtown Traffic Junctions.

The "Go-Go" signs are working. One stands at Ninth and F streets, the other at Fourteenth and Pennsylvania avenue.

They were set up early today and for the next week or ten days will be given a try-out. If they are successful, Major Polkman intends to move them into other districts.

When the eight-foot standards, topped by the right angle placards bearing the "Go-Go" and "Stop-Stop" commands were set up today, for Crossing Policeman J. W. Kidwell at Ninth street, and Policeman J. H. Hartmann at Fourteenth street, some little difficulty was experienced in getting the teamsters and automobiles to pay attention to the silent warnings.

Camera Club Outing Attended by Over 300

More than 300 members of the Capital Camera Club assembled at Great Falls yesterday for the annual outing of the organization. A large number of the members brought their cameras with them and many motion pictures were taken of the rugged scenery in the vicinity of the falls.
