DOUBLES TITLE IN VISITORS' HANDS AS FINALS ARE PLAYED

Winners of Today's Match Will Challenge Bull and Pell For Honors.

Out-of-town men will have the honor of capturing the victory in doubles at the Chevy Chase tennis tournament. Local racquets forced to see their favorites, Moore and Breck, go down to Davis and Kennedy, the Penn pair, have small consolation that Bull and Pell, the holders, will be challenged by visiting players.

Davis and Kennedy, of the University of Pennsylvania, who yesterday defeated H. C. Breck and Ballard Moore, in what is said to have been the most hotly contested five-set match ever witnessed on Chevy Chase courts, will meet Harold Throckmorton and Irving Wright for qualification for the challenge round.

In addition to eliminating the Breck-Moore combination, which was heralded by many as the team which would eventually meet Pell and Bull in the challenge match, the collegians early in the week defeated the formidable Doyle brothers in straight sets.

Willis Davis, of the Penn team, is one of the strongest of the Pacific Coast racquets ranked in the 1916 Pacific Coast rating number four. In being listed in this position, Davis was given precedence over R. Lindley Murray, who in yesterday's contest, grabbing the first two sets in whirlwind style, 6-2, 6-3, Breck and Moore were with them all the time, however, and finally found their stride in the third set, which they took with the loss of but two games.

Continuing at top pace the local team completed the "top act" by annexing the fourth set, 6-2, again.

In the fifth and deciding set both sides cut loose with everything at their command, in one of the grandest games ever staged on a local court. Finally, with victory hovering first on one side and then on the other, the score stood at 4-4. With the players tense and primed for the final struggle, and the gallery breathless, Davis and Kennedy swept through the last two games, bringing to a close a battle that had hung in the balance for two hours and twenty minutes.

To Davis must be given the major portion of the credit for the victory, although it must be said that he received splendid support from his less experienced partner. The Westerner's service was practically flawless, and his game throughout was of winning caliber.

Henry Breck gave a beautiful exhibition of overhead tennis, was like lightning in a close battle that had aggressive, masterly game all through the match. That the fiery-haired Californian is going to give Throckmorton the fight of his life for the club title in the final singles match, was the prediction made yesterday by those who saw his great work.

One of the upsets of the tourney occurred yesterday when Miss Ballin, who was already picked as the challenger for the title in women's singles, was defeated by Miss Taylor, of New York, in rather easy fashion.

Finals in the men's singles, mixed doubles and women's doubles will be played tomorrow, and on Saturday the challenge round in women's singles and men's doubles will be staged.

Pairings for today were: Throckmorton and Wright vs. Davis and Kennedy, 3:30 p. m.; Miss Ballin and Miss Gately vs. Miss Gately and Miss Gately, 4 p. m.

Mixed doubles—Semifinal round: Miss Boyd and Wirtz vs. Taylor and Throckmorton vs. Mrs. Bell and Chew, both at 10 a. m.

Women's doubles—Semifinal round: Miss Gately and Miss Downing vs. Miss Bull and Miss Taylor, 10:30; Miss Larner and Miss Morrison vs. Miss Boyd and Miss Ballin, p. m.

Yesterday's results: Men's doubles—Semifinal round: W. Davis and A. Kennedy, Philadelphia, defeated H. C. Breck and J. Ballard Moore, 6-2, 3-2, 4-2, 6-4.

Women's singles—Third round: Miss Bryan defeated Miss Boyd, 6-4, 6-2; Miss Gately defeated Miss Taylor, 6-4, 6-2; Miss Gately

How to Swing Club Is Vardon's Latest

Next Sunday Harry Vardon, the famous British golfer, will tell readers of The Times' sport page just how to swing the club in order to get the most out of them.

Many of you golfers have faults in swinging. Maybe some of them may be eradicated easily, if only you have a competent instructor. In that case, you cannot well afford to miss this article by Harry Vardon next Sunday.

Vardon knows all about the ins and outs of golf. Be sure and read his article in The Sunday Times' sport page.

defeated Miss Johnson, 6-4, 6-2. Semifinal round: Miss Taylor, New York, defeated Miss Ballin, New York, 6-2, 6-2. Fixed doubles—First round: Miss Ballin and Harold Throckmorton, New York, defeated Miss Taylor, New York, and R. L. James, Baraga Springs, N. Y., 6-2, 6-2. Second round: Miss Boyd, Richmond, and Irving Wright, Boston, defeated Miss Downing and Miss Gately, 6-2, 6-2. Throckmorton defeated Miss Moss and W. Davis, Philadelphia, 6-2, 6-2.

HIGH SCHOOLS GET ACTION TODAY FOR GAMES IN LEAGUE

Tech, Western, and Business Play Practice Battles on Foreign Fields.

By BRYAN MORSE. Three high school nines are taking on opponents today in preparation for the championship games. Tech, with a win over Eastern to its credit, meets the Georgetown Prep in a return battle on Georgetown Field; Business is slated to oppose St. Albans on Satterlee Field, and Western is tackling the Maryland Aggies' second team at College Park.

Business and Western are getting ready for their engagement at American League Park Saturday morning. The stenographers have improved greatly since Central defeated them before the holidays. Western has played several contests since Tech was defeated, and while Captain Peyton will be out of the line-up, will show a fairly capable combination.

Those who have seen all of the nines in competition declare the series this season is going to be a great battle all along the line. Tech has shown that it can be classed with the best. Central looks better than ever, while Eastern has to be reckoned with in every contest.

While Business appeared weak in the first battle, there is every indication that the team is coming through all right. Coach White got a late start this season, and has been handicapped by a lack of seasoned pitching material. Every game has seen Business getting stronger, until all five teams appear to be on a par.

Western and Central got away with clean sweeps in yesterday's tennis matches. Central defeated Friends in five matches, 6-3, 6-2, 6-2. After Central defeated Brown, Friends, 6-1, 6-4.

Doubles—Class-Dudley Central, defeated Boynton-Miller, Friends, 7-5, 2-6, 6-0. Jackson-Flischer, Central, defeated King-Krown, Friends, 7-5, 6-1. Western, Business, Western, defeated Carpenter, Business, 6-3, 6-1; Gardner, Western, defeated Perley, Business, 6-2, 4-6; Egan, Western, defeated Myers, Business, 6-3, 6-2.

Doubles—Gleeking and Brigham, Western, defeated Berkley and Carpenter, Business, 6-3, 6-2. Today Western meets Friends, and on Saturday journeys to Manassas to play the Eastern College team. Central is slated to meet Tome at Port Deposit, Md., on Saturday.

Tech got away with a 4-to-1 victory over Eastern in the third battle of the present high school series. The annual Trainers found Eastern more than a worthy rival, and were accounted lucky to get a win out of the engagement. Hirt, of Tech, and Tomlin, of Eastern, furnished a lively pitching duel. The Tech boys got nine hits, three of which were flukes, while Eastern got six, two being of the luck variety.

Hirt and Tomlin struck out eleven batters apiece, and otherwise pitched excellent ball. Error paraded the way for two of Tech's runs. Shewalter and Tech boys got nine hits, three of which were flukes, while Eastern got six, two being of the luck variety.

Infield Outs.

Only bad feature about a team leading the league is the distance it has to fall before reaching its rightful place.

There are not enough hazards in golf, so some wise bloke has invented the Southpaw Tournament, in which everyone plays with their left hand.

Fighting Scotts. "Death Valley" Jim. General Hugh L. Maig and Haig.

Can't see anything wrong with Alsmith's eyes. He can see Walter Johnson's shoots, which is more than any other player in the league can.

Some of the tortoise shell glasses we've noticed are pretentious enough to see around corners.

There's a Difference. Fans show that they are behind Joe Judge, but the umpire will tell you that is nothing to cheer about.

Washington is in Philadelphia today and Philadelphia is in last place, which proves that the first shall be last, etc.

Pests We Have Known. Tortoise Shell Glasses. Periscope. Folding Beds. Tie Games.

Here, the new players for Tech, lived up to their reputations. Johnny Eisenman, Tech's sterling second baseman, received a broken nose just before the game started. A batted ball hit Eisenman, and he was removed to the hospital.

Pete Carney, well known handicapper of the Middle Atlantic section of the A. A. U. for many years, will be the starter at the Maryland Aggies' games on Saturday. Carney has acted in a similar capacity for a great many seasons, and can be expected to get the boys off properly.

More than a thousand entries will be counted up for the Aggies' games, which are yearly taking on larger proportions. It is said that the meet may be conducted solely as a schoolboy proposition next year, with colleges left out entirely.

Those who counted Eastern out of the running are somewhat at loss to understand just how the Capitol Hill boys held Tech so closely yesterday. Early in the scoring second inning began nursing Eastern along with the idea of getting into fine fettle when the series started. Just how well the Eastern mentor succeeded may be judged from yesterday's performance. Tomlin came through with a nicely pitched game, and deserved a better fate. A little more pep in the outfield and Eastern would have held Tech even closer.

Tome, Tech, Central, and St. Albans are expected to figure in the point winning at the Aggies' meet on Baltimore has nothing to do with the runners from the schools mentioned. Brewer, Maxam, Carter, Rose, Matthews, Milstead, Kirby, Carr, Moon, Tibbott, Birtcher, and one of two others can be reckoned among the point winners.

Brooklanders to Meet Boston College Team

NEWTON, Mass., May 4.—Boston College will take of the Catholic University today in a return battle. The visitors are on a tour which includes Boston College and anxious to follow up yesterday's win over Lehigh with a victory today.

C. U. came up from South Bethlehem, Pa., today after handling Lehigh a 5-to-4 defeat. C. U. scored four runs in the third inning of yesterday's game. An error by Flahburn allowed two C. U. runners to score. Johnson and Fisher pitched for C. U. Kerrick will probably start for the visitors today.

Vigilants Will Play Cardinals Sunday

A good game is looked for Sunday when the crack Vigilants will journey to Alexandria and clash with the strong Cardinal A. C. in the first game of a three-game series.

Both clubs have been undefeated this season, and a red hot battle is expected. Manager Gauza will send King Brady or Lavrine to the mound with Wood or Myers doing the receiving.

Wants Games.

Manager C. A. Musselman, of the Company D, Fort Myer post team, would like to arrange a game with any strong team for this Sunday. Since the Napsos are without a game on this date, there is a chance of the two coming together, provided, of course, that they are not scheduled to play later on in the second. The Napsco management can have the game by getting in touch with C. A. Musselman, Troop D, Fort Myer, Va.

Huggins Finds Way To Get Around Rule

Miller Huggins, manager of the St. Louis Cardinals, has found a way to beat the rule requiring all National League clubs to have more than twenty-one players. This rule goes into force Monday.

On Monday morning two of the Cardinals will be suspended. If either or both are needed, one or two others will be suspended from time to time. In this way Huggins will carry twenty-three players, though the rules call for no more than twenty-one.

SEMI-FINAL WRESTLING ROUND ON AT GAYETY

Title Mat Features Start Tonight at Local Theater.

Young Lesco, who won a match earlier in the week, and Jack Holand, a winner also, will meet at the Gayety tonight in the semi-final round of the wrestling tourney now in progress. An exceptionally good bout is promised. The winner of tonight's match will be pitted against Alfred Garrius in the final round tomorrow night. The bout goes best two out of three falls. Garrius drew a bye in the tournament and will have a slight advantage tomorrow as he will rest up.

Soldier McCarthy, the speedy grappler from the Washington Barracks, proved easy picking for Alfred Garrius, the local middleweight, at the Gayety Theater wrestling tournament last night. Garrius gained two falls over wrestling newcomer in the local wrestling game in seven minutes, the first coming in four and one-half minutes, and the second in two minutes. Both falls resulted from a hammer lock.

Would Play Games.

The Mt. Rainier baseball team would like to arrange games with all strong teams in and near the District, averaging seventeen to eighteen years. Sunday games are preferred. C. B. Newman, Mt. Rainier, Md., is manager. The team has won five and lost one so far.
