Prosecutors in Case of Riggs Bank Officers Confer to Fix Procedure.

Counsel for the Government and for the Riggs bankers completed details today for an expeditious hearing of the perjury charges against Charles C. Glover, William J. Flather, and Henry H. Flather, which begins tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock before Justice Sissons, in Criminal Court No. 1.

In a conference this morning in the office of District Attorney John E. Laskey, Government prosecutors outlined the manner in which they hope the trial will proceed. Mr. Laskey will be assisted by Assistant District Attorney James B. Archer and Assistant Attorney General William C. Fitta.

Based on Affidavit. The bankers are accused of perjury based on an affidavit presented during the trial of the injunction suit brought by the Treasury against Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo and others, which was heard before Justice McCoy last summer.

Gay Friars Go On Frolic This Month

Ascetic Members of Order Will Disport Themselves for Benefit of Club House Fund.

The Friars are frolicking again! In penitence for past sins and under the leadership of their stern and severe Abbot, George M. Cohan, assisted by the ascetic Rub Goldberg, "The Times" artist-humorist—the solemn and studious Lew Dockstader, the quiet and sedate Andrew Mack and the self-effacing "Bud" Fisher, the Friars Club, of New York, will frolic pretty much over the way of the well-known United States for the general benefit of the order.

The penitential journey starts, approximately, on quiet Sabbath evening, May 22, at the New Amsterdam Hotel, New York. Abbot Cohan will have charge of the devotions of the members of the order and he will be assisted by 100 devotees at the shrine of St. Francis.

Full Measure Not Taken. It may be regarded as doubtful if the stock market has taken the full measure as yet of the situation that now obtains. Friday's violent initial break was followed by a recovery and a subsequent interval of uncertainty, which may foreshadow much or little of the future.

Press Sees Nothing But Prosperity Ahead

While opinion still seems to be somewhat divided regarding the final outcome of the submarine controversy with Germany, the New York newspapers are practically unanimous in expressing the idea that American finance and industry is threatened with anything but prosperity.

The New York World, while admitting the possibility of a break, makes the following comment: Bankers and brokers of long experience and whose judgment is respected in the financial district, expressed the opinion on Friday that, in the event of a severance of diplomatic relations between the United States and Germany, a decline ranging from one to three points below the opening of that day would follow the first shock and that there would be an immediate rebound, which would prove the first step to a permanent recovery.

Last Week's Winners

Washington, D. C., May 1, 1916. Classified Advertising Manager, Washington Times. Dear Sir—There is absolutely no need to pay several dollars for a new umbrella.

Dear Sir—Following the "clean up, paint up" plan is an appropriate time to bring out that Panama of last summer and instead of throwing it away give the Ladies' Capital Hat Shop, 522 7th St. N. W., an opportunity to demonstrate their skill in cleaning and remodeling. Their expert ability in this particular line has been the revelation to me and continued patronage has proven a constant policy of good service and fair dealing. I would recommend a trial of this firm to the readers of The Times who wish prompt service, reasonable prices, and courteous treatment. Sincerely, FLORENCE FRENCH. 741 Fairmont St.

Mt. Rainier, Md., May 1, 1916. Classified Advertising Manager, The Washington Times. Dear Sir—Last year I began to look around for a Panama hat. I happened to stop in at the Vienna Hat Factory and found one Panama so cheap that I could afford to buy one for each of the family.

Dear Sir—Last year I began to look around for a Panama hat. I happened to stop in at the Vienna Hat Factory and found one Panama so cheap that I could afford to buy one for each of the family. They understood the hat business thoroughly, and if you do not find just what you like on their shelves they will make alterations to suit you. If you want good hats and good service at a reasonable cost remember the Vienna Hat Factory. B. C. HELM. 741 Fairmont St.

bullets or fragments of shrapnel to strike against, while its low pitch presents the smallest possible target for a direct hit from any direction. One of the drawbacks of the French helmet, owing to its higher dome is that the collection of air in the top of the helmet produced an uncomfortable coolness, while at the same time, the helmet was such a tight fit that the metal pressed unpleasantly on the head.

These drawbacks have been avoided in the scientifically designed headpiece, produced under the supervision of Mr. J. J. George. Ingenious devices have been employed to secure both a good fit and a comfortable one, and to avoid any distress to the wearer. Inside the dome of the helmet are fixed a number of rubber studs, so placed as to take up the shock of a blow struck from any direction. The wadding consists of a soft, spongy material which acts as a dressing. The helmet is secured on the head by means of a stout chin strap.
