

HUGHES VIGOROUSLY WARNS HYPHENATES

Candidate Tells Disloyal Voters Not to Vote for Him. Stands for Americanism.

Hughes Answers Hyphen Charges

Crowd Cheers As He Declares for Real Americanism and Spurns Disloyal Votes.

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—"An exclusively American policy in the service of American interests—that is the promise of Charles Evans Hughes, in answer to the Democrats' charges of hyphenism.

This, Hughes' latest and most vigorous contribution to the German-American controversy, was delivered before 1,000 persons, many of them Germans, in the Schuetzen Park Hall, at Astoria, L. I., and brought forth peal after peal of lusty cheering.

It was an answer to the claims that had been issued from the Democratic national headquarters as a result of Jeremiah O'Leary's visit to Mr. Hughes on September 17.

It was the first of Mr. Hughes' three rapid-fire addresses in this city yesterday. Having motored from Montclair in the late afternoon with members of his staff, he took up his quarters as before in the Hotel Astor, and then went to Astoria.

Large Crowds Greet Him.

His message of Americanism having been given in plain terms, he was off again in the direction of the New Star Casino in Harlem. His third speech was in Hunts Point Hall in the Bronx. In each of the three counties he encountered crowds which filled the halls and the surrounding streets and gave him uproarious greetings.

In his Schuetzen Park Hall speech Mr. Hughes, after having said any secret agreement had been made with any faction, said:

"I am an American, free and clear of all foreign obligations and commitments. I have an Administration which, while conducting our intercourse with all nations with absolute fairness, will not permit any American rights on land and sea. We shall not tolerate the use of our soil for the purpose of alien intrigues.

Wants Only Loyal Voters.

"As to any person whose allegiance to our flag is not simple and complete," continued Mr. Hughes in a warning tone, "who would not instantly champion the rights and interests of our country against any country on earth, who wants impunity for foreign aggression, or who would have the power of this nation held captive to any foreign influence or swayed by alien machinations, let him not vote for me."

His auditors were with him to the end when he said that. Up they jumped, some to chairs and benches, while Mr. Hughes had to wait for several minutes before they let him finish his speech.

His economic policies were voted with just as much vigor and just as sweeping an effect as his patriotic theme.

A Heckler Arises.

It was at this point that a heckler arose and demanded in a husky voice: "What did you do as governor of New York?"

When Mr. Hughes replied that he had done many things in Albany, the audience rose to him again.

"Mr. Chairman, there's a bug in the house," shouted somebody, and that finished the heckler.

"We had prosperity created by the European war," he said. "We don't want prosperity of an abnormal character. We want sound prosperity."

"We have today a vast amount of labor that is employed under this unhealthy stimulus. If the war should stop, this labor would have nothing to do. It would necessarily compete with other labor. We have had all through this land an abnormal purpose, a chasing power created by the fact that we had labor, due to this condition, stimulated in this artificial way."

Has Made Trade Easy.

"Now, that has made trade easy almost everywhere. That has made expenditures heavy as purchasing power increased. But one of these days we are going back to realities of a life of peace, and then America will be in competition with the most efficient and thoroughly trained and most efficient nations on earth."

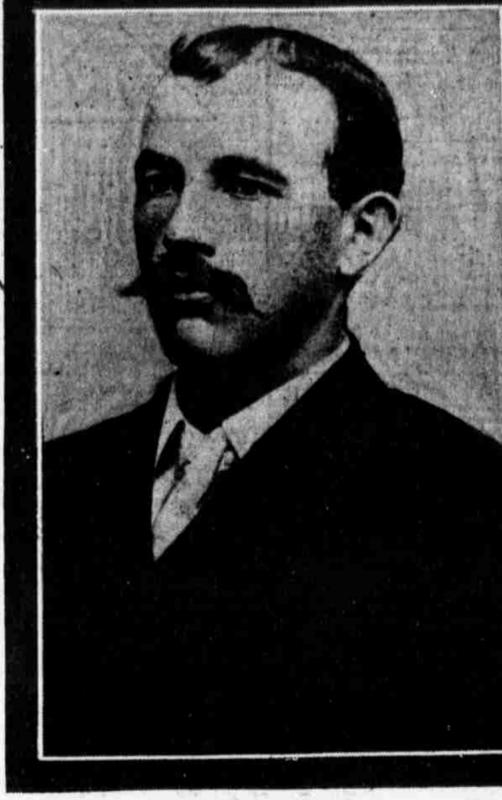

"We want protection, not for the sake of protection. We want production, not for the sake of production. We want protection to have production in order that we can bring about a basis for social justice and improvement. You cannot have it unless you have the basis in stability of enterprise."

"You can bring down your house; you can destroy the chance for any one man, small or big, to make a living; you can easily upset the tree of prosperity, but it is a different thing to take care in a sane and intelligent way of the fundamental basis of all American improvement, and that is what we propose to do."

W. C. T. U. Memorial.

At the afternoon session today of the forty-second annual conference of the Women's Christian Temperance Union of the District of Columbia, a memorial session for members of the union who have died during the past year was held, also the awarding of a prize banner to the union having the largest increase in membership was made.

ROOSEVELT MAY BE ASKED TO COME HERE

Officers of Hughes Club Plan to Get Colonel to Speak at Rally Monday.

Officers of the Hughes Club of the District of Columbia are considering inviting Colonel Roosevelt to address the big Republican mass meeting at Convention Hall Monday evening.

It is understood that Colonel Roosevelt will be in Baltimore that day of the next, and it has been suggested he might be willing to slip over to Washington.

Arrangements are being made to have Charles E. Hughes send a telegram of greetings to the colonel, and it is probable that an overflow meeting will have to be held.

In addition to Henry D. Estabrook, of New York, who will be the principal orator of the evening, Col. John G. Capers, who was commissioner of internal revenue in the Taft Administration, will speak.

The Young Men's Republican Club, No. 1, of the District, will meet tomorrow night at its headquarters, 14 Heckman street southeast, Benjamin I. Gaskins, president of the United Republican Clubs of the District, and Frank J. Hogan will speak.

Vigorous attacks were made on the Wilson Administration last night at the headquarters of the Young Men's Republican Club, 1412 H street northwest.

Col. John G. Capers, commissioner of internal revenue in the Administration of President Taft, assailed as ridiculous the claim of the Democrats that President Wilson "had kept the country out of war," and Miss Helen V. Boswell, chairman of the women's national Republican campaign committee, branded the Wilson eight-hour-law as a "sop to voters."

TRADE BOARD HEARS WATER FRONT PLANS

Colonel Harts Shows Drawings of Proposed Docks.

Means of co-operating in improving the Washington waterfront were discussed at a conference yesterday afternoon between Col. W. W. Harts, engineer officer in charge of public buildings and grounds, and a committee representing the Board of Trade.

Colonel Harts has made drawings of the proposed extension of shipping docks at the Seventh street wharves, which contemplated substitution of concrete buildings and wharves for the present wooden waterfront buildings. The Fine Arts Commission at a recent meeting urged the waterfront improvement.

The committee of the Board of Trade decided to report to the organization that a movement be fathered for appointment of a commission to make plans for the beautification of the waterfront along Washington channel.

WOODED BY 278 GIRLS, "PRETTY MAN" FLEES

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—William Garner has left Huntington, Long Island, without sending his address to the postmaster. It was William who advertised himself last week as a "pretty man" who wanted a wife.

On Saturday he got forty letters. On Monday he got 112. Yesterday he got tired. On his way to the station he stopped at the postoffice.

POSCHL BURNED ONLY RECENTLY, IS THEORY

Authorities Now Working on New Clue in Prince George's Mystery.

(Continued from First Page.) Mrs. Sommer to come upon his place, and they did so. Poschl working with Sommer about the little farm, and doing odd jobs for persons in the neighborhood when he was not busy there.

Poschl was regarded highly by his neighbors. He was an excellent farmer, and was considered an expert in vegetable planting and soil conditions.

"When his wife died," said Mr. Vesels today, "he seemed to go all to pieces, and never talked to any one if he could help it, but he still was a good workman and was much in demand. He was always busy at something."

He and Mr. Sommer had an agreement by which Sommer was to pay him $50 a year when he was not on the farm, but that Sommer was to pay him nothing for the place while he (Poschl) remained there.

"Since Poschl was always busy he was worth much more than $50 a year to Sommer."

Even those who hold to the murder theory are at a loss to assign any motive for the act. Poschl had no money, carried no life insurance, and owned nothing except the little eight-acre farm where he and the Sommers lived.

Cotton Ginned in U. S. Shows Marked Decrease

Cotton ginned in the United States from the 1916 crop, prior to October 18, amounted to 7,291,732 bales, against 5,708,730 for 1915, and 7,747,747, in 1914, according to the Census Bureau today.

Resinol healed her itching skin

"I had a terrible case of eczema which covered both my hands. My fingers began to itch, then tiny water blisters came which formed sores all over my hands. I suffered for two years, getting very little rest or sleep because of the terrible itching. I used very many remedies, but they all failed to give me any relief. I tried Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap and got immediate relief, my hands were completely cured. They are soft and white and without a blemish, and I shall never be without Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap in my home!" (Signed) Mrs. Jacob Schwartz, 1363 W. Cary St. Richmond, Va., Jan. 21.

All druggists sell Resinol Ointment and Resinol Soap. For a free sample of each, write to Dept. 5-B, Resinol, Baltimore, Md. You'd better try them.

SELECT OFFICERS FOR D. C. CAVALRY

Lieut. Col. G. Fred Cook and Le Roy W. Herron, Retired, May Be Recalled.

Lieut. Col. LeRoy Herron and Lieut. Col. G. Fred Cook, retired, who were prominent members of District national guard, are to be recommended to the War Department as leaders of Troops C and D of the "President's Own" cavalry squadron.

It became known today that recruiting officers had asked them whether they would accept positions in the cavalry, and that both had agreed to accept, provided they were offered the places.

Both men have a record of long service with the guard and District volunteers during the Spanish war.

Lieutenant Colonel Herron has been actively engaged in military organizations for some twenty years, his period of service beginning with the high school cadets.

Twenty-five Years' Experience. Lieutenant Colonel Cook has twenty-five years' experience in military training. Both men were retired, Colonel Cook about two years ago, and Colonel Herron one year earlier.

The men have been friends and associates in their military and business lives for many years. They retired with the same rank and may go back into service with the same rank. They will return as captains, several grades lower than the rank with which they retired.

Colonel Herron started his military career in the high schools where he served for three years. He became a member of the Morton Cadets, composed of men of the Second Battalion, N. G. D. C., in 1896. This troop won the drill championship of the country.

The next year he joined the team, in which Colonel Herron had become a sergeant, won the drill championship at San Antonio.

During the Spanish war Colonel Herron was a second lieutenant in Company G, First D. C. Volunteers. He participated in the battle of San Juan in 1898.

At the close of the war, he became a first lieutenant in Company B, District militia. Ranking as first lieutenant, he was made adjutant of the second battalion soon after, he was promoted to rank of captain to act as adjutant of the second regiment, which position he held for six years.

He then resigned, but about ten years ago he went back into the guard when he became adjutant of the commanding general. January 1, 1913, he again resigned. He is on the rolls of the National Guard as a lieutenant colonel of volunteers, subject to call as such.

The military record of Captain Cook parallels that of his fellow-officer so closely that one is but a repetition of the other. The only difference is that Captain Cook has about five years more military service behind him than has Captain Herron.

Both men are enthused over the prospects of the cavalry squadron, subject to call as such.

THEDA BARA'S CHARMS DIDN'T SWAY ASSESSOR

NEW YORK, Oct. 25.—Theda Bara, "vampire queen" of the movies, couldn't use her wiles successfully on the assessor of taxes, James J. Becker. Notified that she had been tentatively assessed for $20,000 on personal property she appeared before the commissioner and tried to swear off the assessment. Over her protest Becker held the movie star for $5,400.

DID NOT BELIEVE SHE WOULD LIVE

Startling Testimonial Given for the New Herbal Stomach Remedy, Plant Juice.

One of the most interesting recent statements made concerning the much-discussed preparation, Plant Juice, now being introduced in Washington, is that of Mrs. Alice Wilson, wife of Charles Wilson, who resides at No. 137 Fortieth street, Lawrenceville, a suburb of Washington.

"I never owned a man a nickel and owned his own farm. "As for its being suicide I can't believe it."

Mr. Reith is the proprietor of a meat shop in the Northeast Market. He indicated that robbery was a plausible cause for the "murder" as any.

MRS. ALICE WILSON

Pittsburgh. Mrs. Wilson is well known and a lady of the very highest standing among her friends. She had this to say: "If any one knows what stomach trouble is it is surely myself. For the past eight years I suffered from severe pain; at times it would become so bad that I was unconscious for hours at a time and my mind would fall me for days—a perfect blank. My circulation would almost stop and my hands and feet would become cold and clammy. Food would not lie on my stomach and I was compelled to subsist on liquids and a very light diet. I lost flesh and my weight was reduced from 136 to 148 pounds. My neighbors did not expect me to live, and gave me up to die. My husband, who was employed at the Clark Mills, brought me home a bottle of Plant Juice. Before I had used one-half of it I began to feel better and my strength to return. I have used Plant Juice now for the past five weeks and want to state publicly that I have entirely regained my health. I can eat any kind of food and digest it perfectly; do not have an ache or pain in my entire body. I am doing all my household work for the first time in the past eight years, and am so happy that I long for joy, for I am a well woman once more—entirely cured—and I give all praise for same to Plant Juice. I am recommending this medicine to all of my friends."

The Plant Juice Man is at The People's Drug Store, corner 7th and E streets, W. D., where he is daily meeting the local public, and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy.

DRIFT TO WILSON IN OHIO MEETS CHECK

Republican Campaign Directors See Hughes' Prospects Improving in Middle West.

Leaders of the Republican Congressional committee declared today the drift to Wilson in Ohio had been stopped, and now the tide was moving the other way, with Hughes' prospects for carrying the State improving, Herricks expected to beat Pomeroy for the Senate, and the situation as to election of House members not much different from what it was two years ago.

Ohio, as is well known, has become a chief storm center of the campaign. The Democratic campaign managers, concluding they could not win in New York, and the East, then set out to see whether they would be able to swing enough votes to Wilson in the West to offset loss of New York.

They have worked hard along this line, and nowhere harder than in Ohio, where it is admitted there has lately been a considerable swing of votes to Wilson.

The Democratic managers are declaring with much confidence that Ohio is sure to go for Wilson. That the State is entitled to be listed as doubtful is agreed by political wisacres generally.

However, the Republican leaders say that while the Democrats have been making big claims for Ohio in the last ten days or two weeks, they have been effecting an organization, something they had not done efficiently before.

Now, they say, the results are beginning to show, the trend is once more to Hughes, and he will win the State.
