GODDY WON'T APPEAR IN HILLTOP ELEVEN AGAINST VISITORS

Georgetown will tackle V. P. I. tomorrow at the Hilltop without the services of Goddy, who has been playing fullback all season. Paul Dugan, the freshman from Connelleville, Pa., has been selected to start in Goddy's place. However, this will be the only change from the line-up that defeated both Springfield Y. M. C. A. Training School and Lehigh.

A Sunday Feature

Sol Metzger, former captain and all-American end with the Pennsylvania University football eleven, is a regular contributor to The Sunday Times sport page. He coached the Washington and Jefferson eleven last year and is again with the Washington, Pa., team, turning out one of the strongest aggregations in the country.

"Metzger's stories in The Times are the best football stories I have seen," is what Graduate Manager Charles R. Cox, of Georgetown University, says about The Times' feature. "I haven't missed one of them."

Mr. Metzger was a great football player, is now a great football coach, and will eventually rank with the best football writers. I congratulate The Times on having his services," is what Albert A. Exendine, Georgetown's winning coach, has to say.

Watch for these stories. They're well worth reading. They appear on this page.

THIRD TITLE GAME ON TAP TODAY IN CENTRAL STADIUM

Technical and Western battle today on the field in the Central stadium in the third game of the high school championship series. For the first time in the history of high school football Western is putting a team on the field which compares favorably with Tech in the matter of weight.

The manual trainers play their first game in the present series while Western is making its second start. Business having been set back in the opener a week ago.

Dopsters are at loss in picking the winner. Tech is known to have a powerful eleven. The boys are considerably more rugged than Western's team, many of whom are playing their first games of football.

Tech has had unusually hard luck in having three crack players out of the line-up this fall. Gurevich, Barnes, and Shrider are on the injured list. Shrider is expected to play today and will probably start despite reports of his incapacity.

Western will probably start Slinpesson, who was injured in the Business game. While Western has won three out of its last four battles and Tech has lost all three of its starts, the Westerners have been up against much stiffer opponents.

Tech has a number of off tackle plays and some exceptionally good forward passes which should prove Western's undoing. The game is expected to be the closest and hardest fought of the series to date.

The teams are expected to line up as follows:

Technical. Pos. Western. Shrider.....L.E.....Pepper. Clarke.....L.T.....Spille. Gill.....L.G.....Brewer. Greenwood.....Center.....Myers. Moore.....R.G.....Hastings. Travenner.....R.T.....Fenwick. Wardwell.....R.E.....Groves. Adams.....Q.B.....Conlon. H. Carpenter.....L.H.....Simpson. Stuart.....L.H.....Wight. Bosley.....P.B.....Alexander.

Edmund Gibson will referee. William Cusack will umpire, and John Dugan will be head linesman.

HUGGINS YANKS' LEADER DESPITE RECENT DENIALS

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Miller Huggins has been signed to act as manager of the Yankees for the seasons of 1918 and 1919. Once more has the word of a baseball magnate been repudiated, for Colonel Ruppert denied most emphatically only a week ago that he had signed Huggins or would sign him. Jake claimed to be still in doubt as to what would happen to Bill Donovan. Today Huggins, last year at the head of the St. Louis National League club, is the announced manager of the Yanks for the next two years.

"Huggins comes and Donovan goes," said Colonel Ruppert to the assembled baseball writers. "Donovan will not be retained in any capacity, though he leaves with my best wishes and friendship. He has been exceedingly unfortunate while conducting the club, and it was not his fault that success did not crown his efforts. But the time has come for a change, and so I have obtained Huggins, who has been lucky and successful in the National League. We trust he will bring quite as much luck and success to the Yankees."

Will Collect $12,000. While the amount of Huggins' salary is not announced, it is believed to be $12,000 a year. The new boss brings Thomas J. Conroy, a scout for the Cardinals, with him to work with Joe Kelley and Bobby Gilks, who have been scouting for the Yankees under Donovan.

Miller Huggins conferred with Colonel Ruppert during the baseball draft season at Cincinnati last month. This conference gave rise to rumors that he had then signed with the Yankees. Apparently he had but named his terms contingent upon his failure to agree with President Branch Riekey. Finding no signs of agreement with Riekey, Huggins accepted Colonel Ruppert's proposition.

Huggins is the ninth leader of the Yankees since the American League came to this city. Clark Griffith, Norman Elberfeld, George Stallings, Hal Chase, Harry Wolverton, Frank Chance, Roger Peckinpaugh, and Bill Donovan have all gone before. Of this number Griffith and Stallings met with the greatest measure of success, but the others have been failures.

American League fans, except those attending National League games in two major cities, are unfamiliar with Huggins. For years he was the Cincinnati Reds' crack second baseman. He is one of the smallest men ever to have achieved a reputation in the big show, being smaller even than Nemo Leibold of the world's champion White Sox.

Huggins attracted the attention of the Cincinnati scouts in 1903 while playing with the St. Paul American Association club and was purchased. He made good almost at the start and for seven years played high-class baseball with the Reds.

In 1910 he was one of several players traded to the St. Louis Cardinals. In 1912 he was named to manage the Cardinals, though he continued to play second base until last season, when he became a bench manager. Huggins is popular with St. Louis fans for his quiet methods and his success with a mediocre team. Twice he has landed his team in third place when everybody booked it for sixth or seventh.

He has landed his team in third place when everybody booked it for sixth or seventh. Huggins' success with the Cardinals has been lost, Harvard is still champion at three-cushion caroms. In winning the last block from John Daly, 50 to 42, De Oro retained his title by a score of 150 to 129.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Alfredo de Oro is still champion at three-cushion caroms. In winning the last block from John Daly, 50 to 42, De Oro retained his title by a score of 150 to 129.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Camp Grant, of this city, and Camp Custer, of Battle Creek, Mich., will clash on the gridiron Thanksgiving Day in what will probably be the biggest game played by eleven made up of officers in the new national army. Camp Custer has played and won three games so far. Efforts are being made to obtain Comiskey Park, Chicago, for the game.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—John Torrie, Chicago promoter, is in New York today trying to arrange a bout between Benny Leonard and Charley White for the lightweight championship of the world. He has offered to guarantee Leonard $20,000 for his end of a ten-round scrap to be staged near Chicago.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Andy Dempsey, star fullback and mainspring of the Fordham football team, is today a private in the regular army. He deserted the team on the eve of the Rutgers game.

CHICAGO, Oct. 26.—Charley White, local lightweight, today was signed to take on any number of 25,000 opponents within the next few months. He received an appointment as boxing instructor at Camp Grant, Rockford, Ill.

Georgia Peaches Will Be Backed By Georgia Peach

"The Georgia Peaches," nine beautiful, languorous Southern belles, will appear on the vaudeville stage during the coming winter. Nothing remarkable about that, maybe, but yet again there may be. Tyrus R. Cobb, of Augusta, Ga., right "up on the hill," is a backer of a booking and producing vaudeville concern in New York, and the first thing it'll produce. So far as known, Cobb won't will be "The Georgia Peaches," travel around with the "Peaches."

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Alfredo de Oro is still champion at three-cushion caroms. In winning the last block from John Daly, 50 to 42, De Oro retained his title by a score of 150 to 129.

BOWIE PREPARING FOR SEASON'S LAST RACES

The Bowie track is being finished for the meeting run from November 14 to 30, inclusive, and there is every indication of a successful season. Bowie will close the racing in this section.

The track has been rescolled; 100 new stables have been built and the betting arrangements have improved. More than 900 applications for stable room have been received and more are coming in daily.

Joe Turner, middleweight champion, and Cal Farley, titleholder of the "Far Northwest," and a member of the Sixth Engineer Corps, Washington Barracks, meet tonight at the Bijou Theater in a finish wrestling bout, best two in three. Two preliminaries will be shown before the principals appear at 9:45.

NEW YORK, Oct. 26.—Alfredo de Oro is still champion at three-cushion caroms. In winning the last block from John Daly, 50 to 42, De Oro retained his title by a score of 150 to 129.

RED-HEADED INDIAN NOW PLAYING AT CARLISLE

CARLISLE, Pa., Oct. 26.—Harris, a red-headed Choctaw warrior, with a broad Southern dialect developed in Oklahoma, was given a trial at center in the Carlisle Indian football team yesterday to back up Fred Walker, the efficient Omaha pivot. The giant Montanans, Evans and Kip, were shoved into guard and tackle yesterday and worked out splendidly. Nick Laasa showed a good leg drive, and will alternate with Le Roy at kicking. Le Roy made 6 out of 10 goals from the 45-yard line. The Indian football players, who with the student body at Carlisle did not come in contact with the varied patient from New York, who has been quarantined since October 8, have not been allowed within a half mile of the School Hospital.

TWO PREP SCHOOL TEAMS LIST HARD GAMES SATURDAY

Two scholastic games are on the cards for tomorrow which should attract considerable attention. Army and Navy Preps are booked to battle Tech in the afternoon on Friends Field at 2:30 o'clock, and St. Albans is slated to meet Charlotte Hall team on Satterlee Field at 3:30 a. m. The Army and Navy Preps played some last Saturday and were beaten by 13 to 6. Today Tech will play Western and should have tough sledding in getting away with the Prep game tomorrow. The Tech team will be out-weighted in the battle tomorrow. St. Albans has been working diligently, and is expected to put up a good battle against the Maryland lads. The acquisition of Jack Schoers in the St. Albans' backfield has strengthened the team considerably. Little is known of the strength of the Charlotte Hall lads, as none of the high schools here has met the team. Two years ago St. Albans ran up a record score on the Charlotte Hall lads.

TRACK ATHLETES BEGIN PRACTICING AT PENNSY

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 26.—Penn's war losses in track athletes will be indicated to Coach Lawson Robertson when the Red and Blue holds its annual fall track and field handicap meet tomorrow at Franklin Field. Entries for the meet closed last night with a list of more than 100 aspirants for honors in the various events. Penn's team has been hard hit by the war, such stars as Earl Eby, Sewell Newletter, and many other point winners having left the university. Robertson has as a nucleus for this year's team Ralph McHale, the former Central High School star; McComb, another Central High School lad; Brooks, Price, Gustafson, Eavis, Smalley, Elmer Smith, and Sherman Landers the latter American indoor pole vault champion. Among the Freshmen track stars at Penn are Dewey Rogers, the colored flyer from Northeast High; Al Kivist, brother of the great Albi Kivist, and some of the best scholastic material from all sections of the country. All of these athletes, together with a great number of unknowns, are entered in tomorrow's meet, for which medals have been donated by the Athletic Association. The Penn cross country team will meet Dartmouth and Cornell within the next few weeks, and will also compete in the Intercollegiate run scheduled for New York on Thanksgiving Day.

A Million Men Proclaim The Famous Brockton Shoes To Be The Greatest Shoe Values In The World. BROCKTON SHOES AT FACTORY COST $3.00 to $3.50. GREATEST SHOE VALUES IN THE WORLD.

Yes! "Brocktons" are the greatest shoe values in the world. No shoes now being sold in Washington at from $1.00 to $3.00 more can compare with them. They are simply in a class by themselves, and for style, durability and service are equal to most shoes sold at $8.00 and $10.00. We want you to go to either our Avenue or Seventh Street store tomorrow, expecting to find the greatest shoe values you ever saw and you'll not be disappointed. Ask the man or woman who wears them or any of our competitors. They all wonder how we do it.
