

Beautiful Hair Tinting

Nothing so nice as a woman of her good looks and attractiveness as gray, streaked or faded hair. And there is no more reason for this than there is for a man to have a faded beard. The one hair tinting that stands out from the rest is "Brownstone." It is simple and easy to use. No mixing or brushing into your hair. It can be used on the hair of the face, neck, or scalp. It is a permanent tinting and will not wash out. It is a permanent tinting and will not wash out. It is a permanent tinting and will not wash out.

"Brownstone" will give any shade desired from light golden-brown to black. It is a permanent tinting and will not wash out. It is a permanent tinting and will not wash out. It is a permanent tinting and will not wash out.

STOMACH TROUBLES ARE DUE TO ACIDITY

Tells Safe, Certain, Speedy Relief For Acid Indigestion.

So-called stomach troubles, such as indigestion, gas, sourness, stomach ache and inability to retain food are probably nine cases out of ten simply evidence that excessive secretion of acid is taking place in the stomach, causing the formation of acid and acid indigestion.

Gas distends the stomach and causes that full, oppressive, burning feeling sometimes known as heartburn, while the acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach. The trouble lies entirely in the excess development or secretion of acid.

To stop or prevent the pouring of the food contents of the stomach and to neutralize the acid, and make it bland and harmless, a teaspoonful of bisulphate of magnesia, a good and effective remedy for acid stomach, should be taken in a glass of water after eating or drinking. This sweetens the stomach and neutralizes the acidity in a few moments and is a perfectly harmless and inexpensive remedy to use.

An antacid, such as bisulphate of magnesia which can be obtained from any druggist in either powder or tablet form enables the stomach to work properly without the aid of artificial digestants. Magnesia comes in several forms, so be certain to ask for and take only Bisulphate of Magnesia, which is especially prepared for the above purpose.

MEAT DEALERS MUST SELL AT FAR PRICES OR BE RULED OUT

By BILL PRICE
Shutting off supplies of meat dealers found to be charging excessive profits for meat in the District is the drastic step that may be taken by Clarence R. Wilson, local food administrator, as remedy for constantly increasing prices.

Mr. Wilson is not disposed to refrain from the use of this power if his investigations into District meat prices, shortly to begin, reveal that there is a tendency to profiteer on the public in an extortionate way.

Mr. Wilson was today thinking strongly of applying this step to dealers in all sorts of commodities who are bent on charging prices considerably above what Mr. Wilson and his staff of inspectors deem fair. He has three or four dealers under observation at this time and he will let them run until there is no doubt in his mind that they should be stopped from selling the public by notification in all wholesale dealers, and their licenses will be revoked if they sell goods to those under the ban.

As a whole Mr. Wilson finds that the Washington storekeeper is trying to play fair with the public and the Food Administration, but there are a number who have been found charging prices for sugar and other staples that are above what they should be. These men are among those who deliver orders and have a line of credit customers.

Meat Prices Alarming.
Mr. Wilson has been watching the meat situation for some time. Washington people have been complaining bitterly as to the steadily increasing prices. Almost the same conditions exist elsewhere, and the investigation to be made here is part of a nationwide affair being conducted under Food Administrator Hoover. Mr. Wilson will select his committee of investigation in a day or so, and will ask the committee to begin its work promptly that he may have the facts before him at the earliest possible moment.

The attack upon Washington prices has also begun in Congress. Representative Young of North Dakota, having secured the adoption of an amendment, the food production bill for the publication by the bureau of markets of a Washington market news service.

"The investigation of meat prices throughout the country, including Washington, is expected to settle definitely who is getting the profits and whether they are exorbitant. The packers are spending thousands of dollars in advertising the claim that the packer nets not over one-fourth cent per pound on a steer. The retailer is perfectly willing for the public to believe that all the money goes to the packer.

The public knows that it is being ground between the millstones somewhere in the country. The investigation for the exact facts from an official source that can be believed. It then wants protection by some method. If there are no existing laws affording this protection then the laws ought to be made. That view is the one heard everywhere in the homes of Washington and the country at large.

"There is a closed season for shooting rabbits," declared a Washingtonian today, "but the season for potting the public is always open."

Mr. Wilson would have added fresh meat to his list of published "fair prices" long ago, but for the confusing number of grades and cuts of meats which make it difficult to specify what is "fair" in a particular cut of meat. This grading of meats opens a great field for camouflaging the public, permitting the wide range of retail prices that are quoted in this city.

Beef, for instance, is rated as choice, good, medium and common. The rating is by no means infallible. What one expert might call choice another might term good or medium. Mr. Wilson had lain before him some cut of steak, sold all the way from choice to common. The man who brought it in, himself a meat dealer, willingly admitted that so far as appearance went they all looked alike and that he doubted if the taste would be different when cooked. One might contain more fat, but that did not necessarily mean it tasted better.

In England, it is stated, beef is no longer of many grades. All of it is "beef" and "fair cut" is a particular cut of a standard kind, so as to prevent camouflaging in that direction. Mutton is mutton there, too.

May Ask For Sales Slips.
Mr. Wilson's office is thinking seriously of calling on Washington housewives to submit to him their sales slips when they think they are overcharged for meat or commodities of any kind. He may call upon the wholesaler to supply him with sales slips issued to customers so that the cost and selling prices of food may be determined. This being the best evidence of either fair prices or extortion.

Complaints to Mr. Wilson are that many meat dealers are frequently making close to 100 per cent on their sales. This would be regarded by him as an excessive he would unquestionably call a dealer before him for explanation and warning. He has lately called in a good many dealers in other lines, and given them warning as to what may be expected from him. The warning that supplies may be cut off is usually effective.

Friday is Our Weekly Remnant Day

It is a day on which we gather together in each department of the store the small lots, broken-size assortments, damaged and soiled from handling and display, merchandise and place on each item, irrespective of its original cost, a price that will close it out.

To these we add special lots of goods secured from the makers at concessions for one reason or another, at unusually low prices.

All in all, it's a day of PROFITABLE SHOPPING, and we are quite sure you will find it so by a careful reading of the offerings for tomorrow.

We make only this suggestion: No C. O. D. or approvals. No mail or phone orders filled.
