When We Capture the Kaiser

FIRST MAKE HIM RIDE FOR 30 NIGHTS IN AN UPPER BERTH.

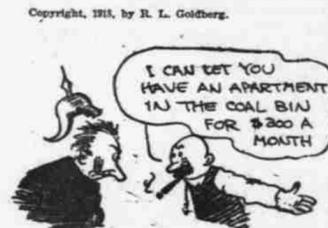

THEN, GET HIM INTO THE STAMP MERCHANTS' BRIGADE IN ANY GOOD-SEED TOWN.

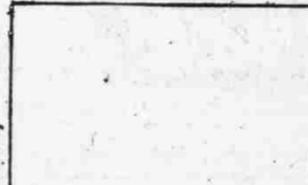

AFTER THAT, TURN HIM OVER TO A GOOD, LIME HAT BOY IN A BIG RESTAURANT.

NEXT FORCE HIM TO LISTEN TO A MIDDLE-AGED LADY TALK FOR HOURS ABOUT HER PET OPERATION.

THEY SEND HIM OUT TO RENT AN APARTMENT IN A MODERN APARTMENT HOUSE.

WE LEAVE THIS SPACE OPEN SO YOU CAN SELECT THE KAISER'S FINAL PUNISHMENT YOURSELF—OUR OWN IDEA IS TOO TERRIBLE TO PRINT.

Association. He was graduated from the Y. M. C. A. training school here prior to accepting his position at Troy. When a student at McKinley High School here he was made a lieutenant in Company B, of the cadets. He trained at Camp Hancock, Ga., and sailed for France in April, 1918.

VETERAN OF SPANISH WAR WOUNDED IN ACTION IN FRANCE

After going safely through the Spanish-American war and escaping uninjured in several skirmishes on the Mexican border, Private William J. Dougherty, 1294 Potomac street northwest, has been wounded in action, according to today's casualty list.

Dougherty enlisted at the outbreak of the Spanish-American war and saw service in Cuba and the Philippines. He received his honorable discharge after the war, but re-enlisted during the trouble with Mexico. He was assigned to the Field Artillery and left for the Mexican border from Fort Myer, Va. While on the border he took part in several skirmishes and came through "without a scratch." On returning from the border he was stationed at the Field Artillery camp at St. Asaph, Va. He went overseas early in January.

TWO FOWLER BROTHERS, ANACOSTIA NATIVES, WOUNDED ON JULY 18

"Dear Mother: I am writing to let you know that Milton and I are in a French hospital. We were both slightly wounded, but I suppose we will be out when this reaches you. That was some big drive we made on the 18th of this month."

The above letter, written last month from a French hospital behind the lines, was the first intimation to Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Fowler, of 1337 W street southeast, that their two sons, Milton W. and William Clagett Fowler, had been wounded. The boys were both hurt on the morning of July 18, when the big allied offensive was launched. The name of neither has appeared on the casualty lists issued by the War Department, nor has the customary official notification been received by their parents from the War Department here.

on the casualty lists issued by the War Department, nor has the customary official notification been received by their parents from the War Department here.

Letters written by the brothers a few days before informed their parents that both of them expected to go into the first-line trenches for the second time shortly.

Although aware that a third brother, Charles F. Fowler, is in the army, neither of the other two knew that he had recently arrived in France with a division from Camp Meade and will soon be ready for first-line duty. Another brother, John T. Fowler, Jr., who is the oldest of the four, is employed by the Southern railway here and makes his home with his parents.

of the Navy, in which capacity he served for four years. His term of enlistment was over in November and he immediately enlisted in his present unit. He sailed almost at once for France, leaving here on December 2 and arriving on the other side on Christmas morning.

SERG. LEMKE WOUNDED; BROTHER AND STEPFATHER ALSO FIGHT IN FRANCE

Sergt. Benjamin Lemke, reported wounded, degree undetermined, by the War Department today, fell during the severe fighting of the American offensive on July 18.

WOUNDED D. C. BOY ASKED DEMOTION SO HE COULD ENTER FIGHT

Sergt. Donald R. Green, a Washington boy, today reported "severely wounded" in General Pershing's casualty list, was demoted at his own request that he might get into action. He was wounded July 21. More than a month ago he was reported "killed."

Sergeant Green enlisted in June, 1917, and trained at St. Asaph, Va., in the artillery camp. He went to France with the Twelfth field artillery. He is twenty-one years old and was born and schooled in Washington. He lived at 1106 Columbia road northwest with his parents.

He was for five years an employee of The Times as a compositor. He was graduated from Technical High School, where he was prominent in athletics, especially baseball. Not very long ago he wrote to his mother, telling her that he had asked his commander to demote him, so he could get a chance to get into the real fighting. His request was granted, and he was transferred to a division in the thick of battle. Previous to this, his duties kept him in the rear, where he had charge of guns and horses.

LIEUT. DOUGLASS, FLYER, SEVERELY WOUNDED, WAS GOVERNMENT EDITOR

In the "severely wounded" class today appears the name of Lieut. C. W. H. Douglass, of Syracuse, N. Y. Lieutenant Douglass was associate editor of the American Forestry Magazine, published by the American Forestry Association, and a graduate of the New York State College of Forestry.

THEODORE ROCHESTER'S DEATH IN FRANCE DUE TO WOUNDS AND GAS

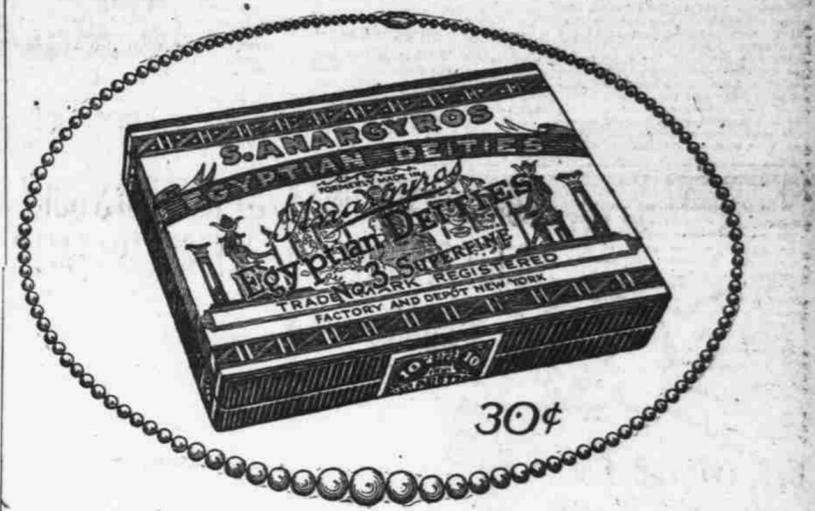

The name of Sergt. Theodore Rochester, of Seat Pleasant, Prince George County Md., is carried today on General Pershing's latest casualty list as having "died of disease."

Messages received by the parents of Sergeant Rochester, however, indicate that he died of wounds and gas poisoning incurred in early battles in France. Sergeant Rochester enlisted in the Seventy-ninth Field Artillery last April, immediately after the declaration of war. His brother is in the same regiment. They were stationed at various places until June, when the regiment went overseas. Shortly after they got into the fighting Sergeant Rochester was wounded and gassed. He went to a base hospital, where he died July 1. He was born in North Carolina, but had lived for years near Washington. He is survived by four sisters and one brother, Curas Rochester, who is a member of the Seventh-ninth Field Artillery, but is in this country. The substantial men of coming years will be those who formed the saving habit in their youth. Start with a Thrift Stamp today.
