

BOARD TO TAKE UP ATTORNEYS' ROW

To avoid further displays of physical force in open court and to protect and uphold the dignity of the office, the Commissioners sitting in condemnation proceedings of land approaches the new Key bridge, at their session at the District Supreme Court today, will take under consideration the case of Attorney Henry W. Glasie, who, at the hearing last Tuesday, is alleged to have "laid hold" of Attorney W. C. Sullivan.

The case, which has created a sensation in court circles, will be submitted to one of the justices of the District Supreme Court, and the commissioners, Cuno H. Rudolph, J. Goldborough Gordon and Thomas M. Harvey, will be guided by the court's advice.

The controversy which led to the physical encounter between the two lawyers, grew out of the cross-examination of William H. Manogue by Attorney Sullivan. Manogue was a witness for the Government, and was represented by Attorney Glasie, while Attorney Sullivan appeared for the property owners.

Stenographic Report.

The following excerpt from the stenographic report of the proceedings gives the official version of the affair:

"One moment, I object to your stating to what these people thought or said. I have put a question that you said that you wanted to answer, and that question is whether you knew that the American Security and Trust Company threatened to sell out the property. That is the question."

Mr. Glasie—"You cannot assume that they threatened."

Mr. Sullivan—"I am not assuming; I am asking whether he knows."

Mr. Glasie—"The witness is going to tell the fact as to what kind of threat."

Mr. Sullivan—"You will get them all if you wait."

Mr. Glasie—"I insist that you read the testimony, if you read anything in regard to that case."

Mr. Sullivan—"You can do all the insisting you want to. I will conduct my cross-examination in my own way."

Charges Gag Attempt.

Mr. Glasie—"Here he is reading out a bill, and he wants to know about these facts. I submit he cannot ask about that fact and then close up the witness and say 'you cannot tell that.' He cannot make it appear that this property was thrown upon the market at a sacrifice when the witness knows to the contrary and is telling the commission that the company did not do anything for two or three years, and that he knows all about the condition of that oil loan carried on there for years and years by the original parties. He has to take his medicine when he asks about these facts, and this witness has a right to go on, whether Mr. Sullivan likes it or does not like it."

and tell what those facts are within his knowledge. He is not bound to take what some lawyer wrote, any allegation, which we all know overstates or states in a strong language as possible, in strong phrases, closing the paragraph after another, that they threatened to sell."

Mr. Sullivan—"Not if the lawyer observes his oath of office and is a truthful man."

Mr. Glasie—"We have to get what is in the facts. We have read the evidence in that case and it is going to be an enlightening piece of information for the commission, and this witness knows the facts and he has a right to state them; he has a right to say 'No, I think the word threatened does not represent the facts.'"

Mr. Sullivan—"I object to counsel telling the witness what to say."

Mr. Glasie—"If you don't stop insisting against me I will break your neck."

Sergeant Separates Men.

At this point Mr. Glasie laid hold of Mr. Sullivan, but the parties were separated by Sergeant Healan.

After order was restored the following occurred:

Commissioner Gordon—"I think under the circumstances it would be just as well to adjourn. I do not think Mr. Glasie was justified in attacking Mr. Sullivan. I do not think Mr. Sullivan meant anything special and I think the best thing to do now is to make up and let the matter be forgotten."

And, what is true of France is also true of England, Italy and all our other Allies.

Chairman Halts Reporter.

Mr. Sullivan—"If the commission please, I should never have deemed it necessary to have suggested the meaning of my language to anyone who knows and understands the English language as thoroughly as Mr. Glasie. It is an expression I heard in court time after time, and I say again that the remark of Mr. Glasie was in effect calling the attention of the witness to a situation which would assist him in answering the question, and nobody who desires to be fair could have construed it any other way."

Mr. Glasie—"Now, if he persists in intimating that I am guilty of suggesting to the witness what to say."

Commissioner Gordon (addressing reporter): "Don't put any of this down."

Mr. Sullivan—"I think this ought to go down."

(The chairman of the commission directed the reporter not to take anything further down.)

TWO FLYERS HURT BY FALL IN RIVER

Suffering from injuries incurred yesterday afternoon when their hydroplane fell into the Eastern Branch of the Potomac river, just across the bridge from Bolling aviation field, Lieut. W. J. Embleton, of the Naval Aviation Service, and his observer, Lieut. E. R. Smith, are today in the military hospital at Washington barracks.

Embleton and Smith had been flying over Bolling field for an hour and were preparing to make a final flight over the river before descending when their aircraft ever failed to work. Although Lieutenant Embleton, who was piloting the plane, tried to keep a straight course, it was impossible—the control rod had jammed too tight. The machine fell, and both men were bruised and shaken up.

The two officers were saved from the wreckage by the plane by a police launch which had been watching the maneuvers. They were taken to the Washington Barracks Hospital in an automobile. The wrecked plane was towed to the War College wharf, where a military guard was placed about it.

Editorial

The French people never used to whistle. They apparently didn't know what tuneful melodies could be produced with two puckered lips.

Then the Yanks came, and they all whistled. Pretty soon some Dough boys taught a little "Garcon" HOW and he showed the rest of the kids, then the men caught on and now all of France is whistling because the Yanks do.

Gee, what a mingling of French and American habits and customs this war is going to bring about to our mutual good.

France is a marvelous nation. They have many things we can do well to adopt and we can, no doubt, furnish them with an equal number of ideals to their good.

And, what is true of France is also true of England, Italy and all our other Allies.
